Game Changers With Kevin Frazier

(3) (19) 11:30 a.m.

Kevin Frazier celebrates professional athletes and sports fans who give back to their communities. This unique program also explores how sports can have a positive impact on individuals and communities as a whole.

Patricia Heaton Parties

(60) FOOD 12:30 p.m.

Patricia Heaton hosts a luau-inspired party in this new episode. She welcomes guests Amy Aquino and husband Drew McCoy, actor Diedrich Bader and wife Dulcy Rogers, who all lounge poolside as Heaton serves up delicious treats.

The Faldo Series

(2) (5) (5) (19) 1:30 p.m.

In this new edition, boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 21 get the opportunity to nurture their golf game. All of the participants look forward to the possibility of becoming the sport's next great champion.

30 for 30

(3) (3) (4) 4:00 p.m.

ABC presents the network premiere of this documentary about the small group of school children from Washington who won the 1982 Little League World Series. Acclaimed filmmaker Al Szymanski finds out what happened to those teammates.

Heaven Sent

(8) (10) (53) 8:00 p.m.

This premiere program follows skydiver and precision flyer Luke Aikins as he tries to test the limits of human potential. He plans to jump from an airplane at 25,000 feet with no parachute and no wing suit, only the clothes on his back.

For Love and Honor

(43) HALL 9:00 p.m.

PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH
GARRETT COLLEGE

Garrett College is a two-year community college located in scenic western Maryland, near Deep Creek Lake. Between its credit and noncredit divisions, it serves more than 5,000 students annually. The College offers a variety of degree and certificate programs designed to prepare students for transfer or a career; it also offers a variety of noncredit classes and programs ranging from workforce development to personal enrichment. The 62-acre main campus is in close proximity to the forests, lakes, farms, and whitewater rivers that are the outdoor classrooms for its "signature" A.A.S. degree programs in Adventure Sports Management and Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology.

Garrett College is also committed to STEM education and recent additions to its program offerings include an A.A.S. degree program in Cybersecurity and a certificate program in Electro-Mechanical Technology. A new STEM education building is scheduled to open in 2018. It is also worth noting that Garrett was the first community college in Maryland to add residential facilities to its McHenry campus.

The College prides itself on the quality of the education it provides. Its graduates are well prepared for success in their chosen careers. In fact, Garrett students who transfer to Maryland four-year public colleges or universities have, on average, typically earned higher grades than transfers from other Maryland community colleges. Garrett College is truly a great place to learn, a great place to work, and a great community partner.

For additional information and how-to-apply instructions, visit the Garrett College homepage (www.garrettcollege.edu) and click on the Presidential Search button.

ORDER TO POST

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District 1, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to Rodney A. Sweitzer and Barbara Sweitzer on May 1, 2015:

All that lot, piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 1, known as Lot No. 6, Jennings Randolph Overlook Subdivision, containing 7.93 acres, more or less, and described in a quit claim deed from Erich D. Dawson and Mary Lou Dawson to William T. Bush dated December 29, 2010, and recorded in Liber 1565, folio 150, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six (6) months and one day from the date of the sale has expired.

It is thereupon, this 11th day of July 2016, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland,

ORDERED that the notice be posted on the property by the Sheriff before the 10th day of August 2016, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 9th day of September 2016, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances. 7/14-28(3)

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL PROPERTY KNOWN AS NO. 52 GLENDALOCH LANE MCHENRY, MD 21541 CASE NUMBER 11-C-15-014261

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Lewis C. Hibbs, Jr., Susan Hibbs, La Loch LLC, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1341, folio 487, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Mark S. Devan, Thomas P. Dore, Christine Drexel, Brian McNair, and Angela Nasuta as Substituted Trustees, the Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse Door-Alder Street Entrance, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, 21550 on Monday, August 1, 2016, at 03:20 p.m.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, as described in the Deed of Trust recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, in Liber 1341, folio 487, also being further described in a Deed recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1260, folio 97. The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to any existing building violations, restrictions and agreements of record. The purchaser assumes all risks of loss for the property as of the date of sale. Neither the Substituted Trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representations or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property. The Substituted Trustees shall convey insurable title.

TERMS OF THE SALE: A deposit in a form acceptable to the Substituted Trustee in the amount of $50,000.00 will be required of the purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, at the time and place of sale. Any amount tendered at sale in excess of the required deposit will be refunded and not applied to the purchase price. Unless the purchaser is the Holder of the Note or its assigns, the balance of the purchase price shall be paid immediately with available funds within ten (10) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence. The purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, shall pay interest at the rate of 7.50000% per annum on the unpaid portion of the purchase price from the date of sale to date of settlement. Real property taxes and assessments shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Ground rent, water and/or sewer charges public or private, if any, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be paid by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property.

In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. If the purchaser defaults the entire deposit is forfeited. The Substituted Trustees shall resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees, all other charges due, and incidental and consequential damages. Defaulting purchaser also agrees to pay the Substituted Trustees' attorney a fee of $250.00 in connection with the filing of a motion to resell.

In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of the deposit. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the Holder or its Servicer has entered into any agreement with, or accepted funds from, the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract, Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION

NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
General Permit for Discharges from Mineral Mines, Quarries, Borrow Pits and Concrete and Asphalt Plants

The Department proposes to reissue the State/NPDES (National Pollution Discharge Elimination System) 10MM (NPDES No. MDG49) General Discharge Permit from Mineral Mines, Quarries, Borrow Pits, and Concrete and Asphalt Plants with the new 15MM General Discharge Permit. The 15MM permit applies to stormwater and wastewater discharges from mineral mines, concrete and asphalt plants, and stormwater runoff from associated co-located or appurtenant activities in the state of Maryland.

The permit requires specific control measures at the facility based on facility type. This updated permit requires process water meet certain standards, and that pollution of stormwater be minimized based on certain best management practices. The proposed permit requires monitoring and corrective actions based on benchmark parameters based on the facility operation.

There are also requirements for inspection and reporting. The discharge monitoring reports must be submitted electronically to the Department. Quarteriy visual examinations of stormwater discharges and comprehensive annual inspections are required.

The Department will hold a public hearing concerning the tentative determination on September 9, 2016 at 1:00 PM in the Aqua Conference Room 1005 at the below address.

Any hearing-impaired person may request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting the Office of Fair Practices at (410) 537-3964 at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date. TTY users should contact the Maryland Relay Service at 1-800-201-7165.

The draft permit is available on MDE's website and can be found at http://bit.ly/MDE-MMGP through the below comment period. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department at the below address, on or before September 16, 2016. Any questions should be directed to Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Industrial Permits, Baltimore, MD 21230-1708, Attn: Paul Hlavinka, at paul.hlavinka@maryland.gov, or by telephone at 410-537-3323 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. READERS ENJOY A WHITEWATER ADVENTURE – Kitzmiller library Summer Reading Club participants were recently treated to a pretend whitewater trip, guided by Winston Ernst from the Garrett College Adventuresports Institute. Dressed for a trip down the river, Ernst demonstrated how to get into and out of a kayak, and talked about the five necessities of a kayaking trip: skirt, helmet, personal flotation device, kayak, and paddles. To simulate what it might feel like to ride the rapids, he took the kayak and youngsters outside and allowed each one to sit in the vessel while he moved it up and down and around. Pictured are Quinlin Miller (left) and Ryleigh Sines enjoying their "trip."

Gov.'s Office On Service, Volunteers To Offer Assistance

The Garrett County Health Department is inviting representatives of local nonprofits, community leaders, and all volunteer-supported groups to an information sharing session in Garrett College's Continuing Education Building, Room 205, on Monday, Aug. 8, at noon.

The Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism will provide information about grant funding, free resources for volunteer recognition, and the expansion of volunteer programs with the help of AmeriCorps.

This state office helps communities celebrate the contributions of volunteers with service awards, proclamations, volunteer certificates, and state-wide events. Representatives of all organizations that benefit from volunteer time and effort are encouraged to attend.

The event is being hosted by the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett College. Reservations are appreciated, but not required, and can be made by calling 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

MONEY Rates Frostburg State A "Best Value"

Frostburg State University was recently rated one of America's 2016-17 "Best Value Colleges" in MONEY magazine's "new, uniquely practical analysis" of the best-performing colleges and universities in the country.

Of its 705 "best colleges for your money," MONEY says each school delivers "the most value – that is, a great education, at an affordable price, that prepares students for rewarding careers."

"This rating confirms what Frostburg students and alumni have known for decades: FSU is a remarkable value, and we equip our graduates with the knowledge and confidence they need to lead satisfying lives with successful careers," said FSU president Ronald Nowaczyk. "I'm proud to see Frostburg State University listed among so many outstanding institutions."

Only about a third of America's roughly 2,000 four-year colleges and universities survived MONEY's initial cut, which eliminated all institutions with fewer than 500 students, below-median graduation rates, or in current financial distress.

For the best-performing institutions, MONEY then combined the most accurate available pricing estimates and graduates' likely earnings ,with a unique analysis of the "value" added by a college compared to peer institutions. The analysis measured 24 separate factors within three categories: educational quality, affordability, and outcomes. Each category received equal weighting in the analysis.

MONEY's ratings system was developed in partnership with Mark Schneider, president of College Measures and vice president of American Institutes for Research. Data for the analysis were sourced from the U.S. Department of Education, Peterson's, PayScale.com, and MONEY/College Measures calculations.

Frostburg was tied at 622 with Mercyhurst University, a private institution in Erie, Pa.

Frostburg's ratings page can be viewed online at new.time.com/money/best-colleges/profile/frostburg-state-university/. The complete ratings page can be viewed at new.time.com/money/best-colleges/rankings/best-colleges/.

Frostburg State University, one of the 12 institutions of the University System of Maryland, is a comprehensive, residential regional university and serves as an educational and cultural center for western Maryland.

A CAPTIVE AUDIENCE – The fracking discussion is ongoing in Garrett County, often with emotions running high, but the talk was more light and breezy this week at the Garrett County Agriculture Fair. That's where two good-natured Edwards men, Senator George and his son Commissioner Paul, were truly held captive in the Hospice Jail 'n' Bail cell as Katie Aiken Ritter gave them the lowdown on "the massive financial risks" fracking can be to farmers. Ritter and Michelle Wright have a site at the fair this week titled "Farm to Fable" that offers information to help educate local farmers on how fracking could impact their properties, should they enter into a lease with a gas company. The pair are speaking one-on-one with local farmers and landowners about potential downsides to fracking land they are currently farming or considering industrializing. "The information is designed to show that not all leases result in fortune, and some come with obstacles and problems that landowners may be unaware of before signing on the dotted line," said Mark Stutzman of Engage Mountain Maryland (EMM), who took the photo. The women were not sponsored by EMM, Stutzman noted. "They took it upon themselves to research the issue, and were inspired to spread the word," he said. EMM does have information available regarding the risks of fracking, which is available at the women's fair booth. Persons may also obtain the information materials by sending an email to EngageMountainMaryland@gmail.com. EMM did donate $20 toward the elected men's bail bond – after the talk was completed, of course.

FAIR ROYALTY CHOSEN – Sara Carr was crowned the 2016 Garrett County Farm Queen during Sunday's ceremony at the Ag Heritage Building at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. She is pictured with outgoing queen Miranda Rounds. Carr is the daughter of Rodney and Stacy Carr, Accident. The family owns a small, but growing farm where they focus on egg, produce, and livestock production. Carr is entering her junior year at Northern, where she is an active member of the Northern Garrett FFA Chapter. The first runner-up was Alana Harman, daughter of Ben and Michelle Harman, Frostburg. Man Seriously Injured When Struck By Boat

A Pennsylvania man was seriously injured in the McHenry Cove of Deep Creek Lake after he dove off a water-skiing boat last Friday.

According to a report filed by Maryland Natural Resource Police, Kevin Vincent Eckenrode, 56, Carrolltown, Pa., was struck in the back, abdomen, and chest by the propeller of the boat, which was being driven by a family member. Witnesses told investigators that while others were giving water skiing lessons, Eckenrode had hopped over the side of the boat unnoticed.

An officer, who is an emergency medical technician, was on the scene in less than a minute and assisted the victim until local first responders arrived.

Eckenrode was flown by a Maryland State Police helicopter to Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W. Va., where he underwent surgery.

Boundless Energy Team Performs On Broadway Stage

The Boundless Energy Dance team from Brenda's Body Shop in Oakland, under the direction of Brenda Brosnihan and coach Alissa Gank, recently performed with Dance the Magic on Broadway. The group joined dancers from around the United States, Canada, and Panama for an opportunity to dance at the New Amsterdam Theatre, home to the musical Aladdin.

The four-day trip included dance workshops lead by Disney dance artists from Aladdin, along with a current dancer from the Rockettes, all in the historic theatre that is one of the oldest on the Broadway stip.

"The workshops were amazing, the girls learned so much, and had a blast doing it," said Lexi Torrisi, assistant director at Brenda's Body Shop and mother of dancer Arianna Torrisi. "The instructors were masters of their craft. We all walked away inspired and full of joy and laughter!"

Brosnihan said the highlight of the dancing experiences was the production number choreographed by Josh Horner, the Australian ambassador for Dance the

by William Pope, M.D., Deputy Health Officer

The climate in Garrett County does not provide a survivable habitat for the type of mosquito that transmits the Zika virus, according to reports from the Garrett County Health Department. However, that does not mean that Garrett County residents will not be affected by the virus. In order to protect the unborn in Garrett County, it is necessary that women from the local area who are or could become pregnant do not travel to areas of active Zika transmission.

Persons may find a current list of those areas by going to CDC.gov/Zika/.

When talking about West Virginia's first case of Zika virus occurring in a pregnant woman, Dr. Rahul Gupta, state health officer and commissioner of the Bureau for Public Health, said the woman was confirmed to be positive for Zika virus following an international mission trip to an area where the disease is endemic.

Many Garrett County residents travel to these tropical areas for mission or service work, or as tourists. A woman traveling to these areas must be fully aware of the Zika risks for an unborn baby, and be sure she is not pregnant,

Lake Board Rejects Request To Remove PWC Time Restriction

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board voted last week to reject a petition to lift the current operating hours of personal watercraft (PWCs), which prohibit use between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. on high-season weekends. The petition had been submitted by Carol Jacobs, president of the Aquatic Center, and has been on the board's agenda for the past year, provoking strong reactions from lake property owners on both PWC hours of operation, as well as a range of other boating and safety concerns.

When the petition was first discussed, the organization Friends of Deep Creek Lake (FoDCL) conducted a public opinion poll of lake property owners. Of the 293 people who responded, 89% opposed lifting the current restrictions.

"What is stunning is that 57% of the respondents also took the time to submit comments about their position, as well as to express many issues about boating uses, types and impacts of newer boats, and impacts of boats on safety and recreational enjoyment at the lake," said Barbara Beelar, FoDCL director.

The petition was placed on the PRB agenda in October of last year, at which time many stakeholders showed up to voice their opinions on this matter. But Jacobs asked the board to delay voting on the issue.

In response to Jacobs' request, new PRB chair Greg Snook formed a PWC Committee tasked to gather information and submit recommendations for consideration by the full board. The majority of committee members are from the business sector, with only one representing lake stakeholders. Jim Bailey, PRB member and current Garrett County Chamber of Commerce board member, was appointed chair, and named co-chair was Bob Browning, who serves as the chamber

Appalachian Crossroads Receives Full Three-Year Accreditation From CARF

Appalachian Crossroads/ Appalachian Parent Association (APA) recently received a full three-year accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) International. A site visit was conducted in May, with two outside independent surveyors, who recommended that a three-year accreditation be awarded to Appalachian Crossroads after touring the facility, speaking to stakeholders, and reviewing records.

CARF International, founded in 1966, has surveyed hundreds of thousands of human service organizations across the globe, and according to the CARF website, accreditation from CARF signifies not only a high quality of services provided, but also having a continuous improvement mindset within the organization. CARF is recognized as one of the leading accrediting agencies in the Human Services field, ensuring that any institution earning the CARF accreditation delivers quality services that are focused on the satisfaction of the persons served.

Appalachian Crossroads' core Accreditation Team – executive director Scott Hollingsworth, director of day programs Stacy Wilson, manager of business and employment services Connie Hoalcraft, and community employment manager Patty McCoy – met repeat-

Garrett Regional CEO Named To Rural Health Bd.

The Maryland Rural Health Association has announced that Mark Boucot, president and CEO of Garrett Regional Medical Center, is the newest member of its board of directors. He was also recently appointed to a American Hospital Association board.

"The Maryland Rural Health Association is excited to add Mark Boucot to the leadership team, as he adds the depth and breadth of his background and experiences that will help move the organization forward toward its mission," said Lori Werrell, board chair.

The association is a non-profit organization whose mission is to educate and advocate for the optimal health of rural communities and their residents, and is made up of rural community members and organizations. Membership is composed of local health departments, community and regional hospitals, community health centers, area health education centers, health professionals, and community members in rural areas throughout Maryland.

Of Maryland's 24 counties, 18 are considered rural by the state, and with a population of over 1.6 million they differ greatly from the urban areas in the state, Werrell noted.

Boucot has also been appointed to the American Hospital Association's (AHA) Regional Policy Board for Region 3, which includes Delaware, the District of Columbia, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, and North Carolina. Boucot said he is pleased to be assuming a leadership role at AHA

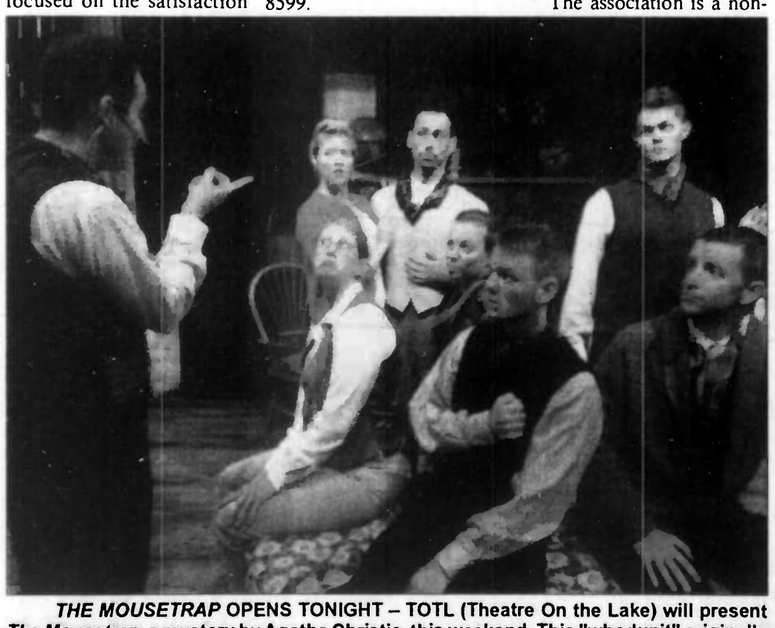
Driver Charged After Vehicle Hits Pedestrian

An Accident man was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a motor vehicle accident involving a pedestrian being struck in a local business parking lot.

Deputies responded to the parking lot on Service Center Drive outside Oakland at approximately 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. Investigation revealed that Gary Allen Bittinger, 34, had been operating a vehicle from a parking space located at Reliable Property and Construction, when the vehicle struck and injured Robert Weider Ingram, 61, Aurora, W.Va. Ingram had reportedly been kneeling at the time he was struck, and Bittinger allegedly could not see him when he pulled from the parking space. He was reportedly dragged 21 ft. before Bittinger was stopped.

Ingram was transported to Garrett Regional Medical Center, Oakland, prior to being transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown,W.Va., where he remains a patient. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also assisted at the scene.



THE MOUSETRAP OPENS TONIGHT – TOTL (Theatre On the Lake) will present The Mousetrap, a mystery by Agatha Christie, this weekend. This "whodunit" originally opened in 1952 in London, and has been performed continually ever since. The play is known for its twist ending, which traditionally the audiences are asked not to reveal after leaving the theatre. In the photo at left, with his back turned, is Brandon Stump. Seated, from left, are Leah DeLauder, Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson, Todd Hull, and A.J. DeLauder. Standing in the same order are Cassie Hackbart, Daniel Crowley, and Casey Johnson. The production dates for The Mousetrap are Aug. 4, 5, and 6 at 7:30 p.m. The shows are presented at The Barn at Ridgeview Valley, located at 912 Gravelly Run Road, McHenry. For more information or to purchase tickets, persons may visit www.totltheatre.org or call 304-680-1002.

STOPPING BY GOOD MORNING AMERICA – The Boundless Energy dance team of Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland, took in the sights and sounds of the Big Apple last week, as the young women took part in Dance the Magic, a Disney affiliated event in New York City. The dancers were given the opportunity to perform on a Broadway stage, in the historic New Amsterdam Theatre. Several members of the group also got up early one morning of the trip and went to the Good Morning America studio to watch the live taping of the show. This photo was taken at that event, where the Garrett Countians met up with dancers from the show. See story. Pictured from left are Krystal Boone, Brenda Brosnihan, Kenzl Smith, Aaliyah Rhodes, Ainsley Brantner, Brooklyn Baker, Elizabeth Bird, and Layla Luciano, who was a guest fitness trainer on the show that day. The unidentified man at right was working out with Luciano in her segment. See more photos on page A-14.

Judge Moylan Hears Variety Of District Court Cases

A number of cases have been processed in Garrett County District Court in Oakland over the past week, with sentences handed down by Judge Stephan M. Moylan for a variety of offenses.

Aaron Scott Kisner, 20, Swanton, held an "other" plea to a charge of theft of less than $1,000.

Kisner was charged on April 23 by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office after Lt. Zimmerman responded to reports of a theft.

According to the report, the victim's pig cooker was stolen by Kisner two days earlier and was sold to Double M Recycling.

Moylan handed Kisner a "stet" verdict on June 6 with the condition that a restitution of $57.40 was to be paid to Double M Recycling through the court.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following cases are DUI/DWI traffic violations that took place throughout the month of July

Nicholas John Bone, 24, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced Bone to 60 days in the Garrett County Detention Center, 50 of which were suspended, and ordered two years of probation to be supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation. Moylan also ordered a fine of $500, $350 of which were suspended.

Richard Dale Tasker, 22, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced Tasker to six months in the GCDC, all of which was suspended, and ordered nine months of unsupervised probation. Moylan also ordered a fine of $500, $250 of which were suspended.

William J. Wrobleski, 54, Pa., pleaded not guilty to a merged DUI and DWI charge.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced Wrobleski to 60 days in the GCDC, all of which was suspended, and ordered nine months of unsupervised probation. Moylan also ordered a fine of $500, $250 of which were suspended.

Russell Eugene Yost, 53, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced Yost to 60 days in the GCDC, all of which was suspended, and ordered nine months of unsupervised probation. Moylan also ordered a fine of $500, $250 of which were suspended.

Bobbie Jo McNabb, 19, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a DUI charge.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced McNabb to 90 days in the GCDC, all of which was suspended, and ordered 18 months of unsupervised probation. Moylan also ordered a $500 fine, $350 of which were suspended.

Hafer Attorney Issues Statement About Charges

The lawyer for former Pennsylvania state treasurer and gubernatorial candidate Barbara Hafer responded this week following criminal charges that federal investigators have filed against Hafer, stating that the charges are based on "little more than simple lapses in her memory."

Pittsburgh attorney John A. Knorr made that assertion in a written statement issued a day after Hafer, 72, of Indiana, was indicted in U.S. Middle District Court on charges that she lied to FBI and IRS agents during an interview in May.

The agents were interviewing Hafer as part of an ongoing probe of corruption in state government that already resulted in the arrest of another former state treasurer, Rob McCoy. They claim that Hafer lied to them about more than $500,000 in payments a businessman made to her consulting firm after she left the treasurer's office in 2005.

The charges against Hafer were filed at the same time the federal agents charged Coatesville businessman Richard W. Ireland with bribing McCord. The Philadelphia Inquirer reported Friday that Ireland is also the man who channeled money to Hafer's consulting firm.

Knorr's statement on the Hafer charges is as follows:

"The allegations made this week by agencies of the U.S. government against my client, Ms. Barbara Hafer, are based on little more than simple lapses in her memory of events from 12 years ago and do not reflect any criminal, civil, or ethical violations.

"It is important to point out that the government's claims do not include any accusations whatsoever regarding Ms. Hafer's conduct as a public official, either as state treasurer, auditor general, Allegheny County commissioner, or as a candidate for governor. What's more, there are also no accusations regarding her business practices in the private sector at any time after leaving government. Any and all contracts she entered into in her private consulting business were subject to a thorough legal review and were found to be entirely appropriate.

"Furthermore, Ms. Hafer met voluntarily with federal investigators in an informal interview on May 9. In that conversation, she spoke freely and without declining to answer any of the questions put to her, as was her right. She was then, and continues to be now, fully cooperative and transparent with investigators in their exploration. We are confident that a proper examination of the facts surrounding this matter in forthcoming legal proceedings will fully exonerate her."

Knorr said he would have no further comment as the case is in litigation.

Hafer has been a home owner at Paradise Point, Deep Creek Lake, since 1986. She is a member of the Garrett College Foundation board of directors, the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association board, and the Deep Creek Lake Yacht Club. She has also served as a member of the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board's finance committee.

State Official To Offer Class On Volunteerism

Jeff Griffin, director of the Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism, will visit Garrett County to meet with nonprofits, community leaders, and volunteer-supported groups in an information sharing session at noon on Monday, Aug. 8, in the Garrett College's Continuing Education Building, Room 205. Lunch will be provided.

Griffin will give an overview on how his office helps communities celebrate the contributions of volunteers with service awards, proclamations, volunteer certificates, and statewide events. Representative of organizations that benefit from volunteer time and effort are encouraged to attend.

The event is being hosted by the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett College. Reservations are appreciated, but not required, and can be made by calling 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

NEW MOBILE DINING TRAILER DELIVERS – The Garrett County Public Schools Summer Food Service program introduced its new mobile dining trailer this summer, using the vehicle for a meal site in places where there are no sheltered eating areas. The enclosed trailer has booth-type seating to make a small dining area where the children can come in out of the weather. The trailer makes three stops each weekday. See story for the trailer's schedule and other information.

GC Public Schools Using New Trailer For Meal Program

A new mobile dining trailer is being used each day to offer meals to children at sites that have no sheltered eating areas. The Garrett County Public Schools Summer Food Service program introduced the trailer this summer.

The enclosed trailer has booth-type seating to make a small dining area where the children can come in out of the weather. To meet the Summer Food Service requirements, children must stay on site to eat their meals.

The trailer was purchased with funds from several benefactors, including a grant from No Kid Hungry - Share Our Strength, donations from Hilltop Fruit Market and the Farmers' Market in Garrett County, and Johnnie's Restaurant & Hotel Services in Chambersburg, Pa.

The trailer is averaging over 30 meals a day in its three stops, which are as follows: Liberty Mews in Oakland at 11 a.m., then to the Crellin Methodist Church parking lot at 11:35 a.m., and then to the last stop at the Oakland town parking lot at 12:10 p.m. These three are among the total of 11 stops made across the county by the Summer Food Service program, which serves more than 210 children every day Monday through Friday. The program will be in operation through Aug. 24.

The sites are open to all children age 18 and younger, even if they are not from the area, a spokesperson noted.

"Keep an eye out for us this summer," a food service spokesperson said. "If you see the trailer going down the road, give us a wave or stop by and join us for a meal."

Persons may listen to WKHJ for the menus or see menus and locations at www.garrettcountyschools.org/summer-food-service. They may also call 301-334-7652 or 888-262-2792 for more information.

New Maternity Unit Named For Dr. H. Leighton

The new maternity unit at Garrett Regional Medical Center will be named the Herbert H. and Dorothy B. Leighton Family Centered Maternity Suite.

Garrett Regional Medical Center president and CEO Mark Boucot announced the grand opening and dedication for the new Family Centered Maternity Suite will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 16, at noon. The public is invited to attend.

The new unit's name is in honor of Dr Herbert Leighton's long term medical career at the hospital, primarily in the area of maternity and delivery services.

"We are thrilled with the opportunity to honor Dr. Herbert Leighton and his family through this naming opportunity," Boucot said. "For many years Dr. Leighton was the only delivering physician at the hospital. He has the record of 6,510 deliveries during his tenure at Garrett Regional Medical Center. Dr. Leighton delivered the first baby at GRMC in February of 1957, and his last one in April of 1996, prior to retirement. It is unlikely that this record will ever be matched by a single delivering physician."

The new unit is located on the second floor and has been designed to provide hotel-like accommodations for families to celebrate new babies. The unit houses five LDRP (labor, delivery, recovery, postpartum) rooms, an exam room. and four private patient rooms.

The LDRP concept allows a patient to remain in the same room throughout her hospital stay and avoid the inconvenience of transitioning to different rooms throughout the delivery process. Each room in the new unit is nearly double in size to those of the previous unit, and is designed with efficiency and patient comfort in mind.

"While the accommodations in the new family centered maternity suite will be a dramatic change, the high level of quality patient care will continue to be the personalized, patient-centered care the hospital is well known for," said Boucot.

Accident Library To Offer Free Gardening Class

The Accident branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will offer a free gardening class titled "Seed Saving" on Monday, Aug. 15, at 2 p.m. The class will be presented by the Garrett County master gardeners from the University of Maryland Extension Office.

The University of Maryland Extension programs are open to any person and will not discriminate against anyone because of race, sex, age, color, sexual orientation, physical or mental disability, religion, ancestry, national origin, marital status, genetic information, political affiliation, and gender identity or expression.

Those interested in signing up for the gardening class may contact Crystal at 301-746-8792 or crystal@rel.net. Readers are also encouraged to follow the library on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RuthEnlowLibrary.

Education Board To Hold Regular Monthly Session

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 9, at the central office in downtown Oakland.

The board will begin with an hour in executive (closed) session from 4 to 5 p.m. The work session, which is open to the public, is set to start at 5:30 p.m.

A review of closed session summaries will be given, followed by the science standards and service learning update.

Routing software for the transportation department will be discussed at about 5:35 p.m., followed by various policies and procedures, including the procedure for issuing student bus passes and the permission slip procedure.

At about 6:30 p.m., the board will consider feedback and comments made concerning the Commission to Review Maryland's Use of Assessments and Testing in Public Schools.

Public comment will be accepted at approximately 6:40 p.m.

The work session of the meeting is set to adjourn around 6:50 p.m., with the business meeting to begin at 7.

The superintendent's report will be presented at about 7:05 p.m., followed by general announcements. More public comment will be accepted at 7:10 p.m.

Action will be taken on Child Protection Units and Second Step Program lessons on safety.

Other items to be discussed are the student board member's report, the MABE report (Maryland Association of Boards of Education), and the school calendar.

Adjournment is set tentatively for 7:35 p.m.

The agendas for the work and business sessions can be accessed on the Garrett County Public Schools website at www.garrettcountyschools.org (go to the Board of Education page and select the links to Agendas).

They can also be accessed at BoardDocs: www.boarddocs.com/mabe/garrett/Board.nsf/Public. Agendas are not considered final until the board takes action to accept them at the start of each meeting. Part or all of the meeting may be closed, pursuant to Maryland state law.

Docs, What Say You?...

Last week this column invited the opinions of our local farming community surrounding the natural gas extraction process known as fracking. The ag community was "targeted" primarily because some of them would have the most to gain financially from lease agreements since farmers typically own relatively large tracts of land, but also acknowledging that many of them may well be in a quandary about fracking because of the various threats the process poses to soil, water, and air, farmers' most prized "possessions." We did receive a response from the Amish community, which appears on this page.

There is, however, another group that has been ominously silent with their opinions about fracking; a group that one would think would have strong opinions and great concerns about this subject. These are our local health professionals – physicians, nurses, hospital employees, health department personnel, and even our local emergency service/rescue crews. It is interesting that the members of the Chesapeake Physicians for Social Responsibility (CPSR), which consists of the very folks just listed, is adamantly opposed to fracking and is among many groups working hard to ban the practice in the state of Maryland.

Even more interesting is the fact that the members of CPSR reside in the Bay area, far from the Marcellus shale region of Garrett County and part of Allegany County, and yet they are among the most vocal advocates opposed to fracking. So what about our local docs, those who live and work here, those who reside on top of the Marcellus shale layer and thus, right in the middle of "ground zero" for fracking in the state of Maryland? Why have you all been so silent? Are you not concerned about having to deal with a seriously ill or injured patient without being told what is causing such suffering?

As has been noted in this column before, it is outrageous that, by law, the oil/gas industry is not required to reveal the contents of its toxic fracking liquid, even to the medical community; to those persons who will be responsible for treating patients who arrive in their offices or in the emergency room in some kind of distress caused by contact with this poison that has perhaps contaminated their water supply and invaded the soil on their property. The patient might well be an employee of the industry who accidently comes into contact with this liquid via a spill or a vehicle crash. The patient might be a pregnant woman whose unborn child exhibits low birth weight or some other kind of strange malady. The patient might be one who, for no other good reason, has developed a lung ailment of some kind that could very well be connected with breathing air polluted via fracking. The patient might exhibit an awful rash and discomfort that turns out to be benzene poisoning. Does this not greatly concern you, local docs?

An absolute fact about the presence of fracking is that it places large trucks on rural roadways, making thousands of trips to and from wellheads, which creates a huge health hazard, as these trucks will absolutely cause or be involved in horrendous vehicular accidents. There will be horrible injuries; there will be fatalities. Doctors, what say you?

The fact that the industry was successful in securing legal protection from having to reveal the contents of fracking liquids clearly means that the industry has something to hide, something that drillers know is hazardous and would at the very least make people uneasy.

The widespread use of non-disclosure agreements by the industry is also telling. Said agreement is that the industry pays off persons who have conclusively been harmed as a result of fracking, in exchange for silence on the part of the affected persons. So it is hush money, a buyout, a bribe. Once again, if the industry has nothing to hide about its practices, then what is the problem with being transparent?

No industry should be permitted to hide the harmful effects of its practices from the general public – and certainly not from the medical community. What do you think, Garrett County physicians?

The deafening silence of our local health care providers has the appearance of some kind of threat or gag order against them. Surely not.

Please, please, local physicians, write a letter for this page. Even if you have no qualms about fracking, we would like to hear that from you. Have the courage to jump into this fray. Your opinions are important. Please share them with our – with your – community.

To the Editor:

Thank you for your editorial in last week's Republican. A handful of farmers who aggressively advocate hydraulic fracturing in Garrett County are tainting the image of all farmers in the county.

Wendell Berry says "a community has to do with belonging; it is a group of people who belong to one another and to their place." Berry continues that "an essential element of trust in community life is that neighbors will help one another." Farmers are critical to the Garrett County community, and they receive significant support from the community.

Maryland has a program where farmland is valued for property tax purposes at use value, not market value like other properties. As a result, many farmers pay property taxes on just 10 percent of their market value. All other property taxpayers in the county pay a higher property tax because of this relief provided to our local farmers.

Garrett County has added a tax credit program that entirely eliminates any property tax payments for qualifying farms. One hundred and seventy-five farms totally escape paying property taxes under this program. The president of the GC Farm Bureau has nearly 150 acres enrolled in the program, and our delegate has approximately 185 acres enrolled in the program. They pay no property taxes on this land. All other landowners in the county pay higher property taxes so these farmers can escape property taxation.

It is troubling that a few of these farmers are willing to throw these same neighbors under the bus in their pursuit of money. Berry argues that "to extend Saint Paul's famous metaphor by only a little, a healthy community is like a body, for its members mutually support and serve one another." These farmers have taken willingly from their neighbors, but now feel no responsibility to the community. They are free from "constraints of community life – constraints implied by consideration for the needs and feelings of neighbors; by respect for the privacy, dignity, and propriety of individual lives; and by affection for a place, its people, and its nonhuman creatures."

Many farmers in the county feel a stewardship responsibility to protect the land for future generations. They oppose fracking in Garrett County. We need to hear from them. We cannot have policy made by a handful of farmers who take from the community and then refuse to consider the impact of their narrow pursuit of self-interest on the community.

Sincerely,
Michael Bell

To the Editor:

Cindy's Fund would like to thank Mel and Autumn at the Oakland Golf Club for inviting us to serve as bartenders and waitresses again this year. The event was a huge success and a lot of fun, as usual. Thank you for being so generous and offering this opportunity to local non-profit organizations.

To the Editor:

Anybody in a position of authority who supports fracking in our county should be required to visit Williston, North Dakota. I drove through there a few years ago, and it is obvious that the development that is associated with this industrial activity is totally incompatible with recreational tourism.

I don't know if the level of fracking proposed for Garrett County is on a par with that of Williston or even of that taking place in Pennsylvania. But I certainly would not trust the word of politicians who receive large campaign contributions from the oil and gas industry or who would otherwise put their financial interests ahead of the welfare of our citizens.

Victor Fickes

To the Editor:

Regarding the current fracking debate, you – the editor – were wondering what those of us in the Amish community are saying about this issue.

I am reminded of an Amish farm family in Ohio who refused the offer from the gas company for several million dollars. Their reason was that they want their children to grow up knowing how to work for their living and not have everything handed to them for "free."

"He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house..." – Proverbs 15:27

"Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished, but he that gathereth by labor shall increase." – Proverbs 13:11

"He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: This is also vanity." – Ecclesiastes 5:10

Thank you for spreading awareness about the physical dangers of fracking. Perhaps there would also be a spiritual danger in accepting it. (?)

To the Editor:

It was recently noted on a popular morning news program that three times during a foreign affairs briefing with a top advisor, Donald Trump asked why the U.S. couldn't use a nuclear weapon to quell violence abroad. He also complained that the U.S. has such an arsenal, but has not deployed it as of yet. The advisor stepped down from working with Trump, claiming he is too unpredictable and indecisive to lead.

Retired U.S. Air Force 4-Star General Michael Hayden (also former director of the NSA) explained on the same program that the process by which the president deploys nuclear arms is designed for speed and efficiency, and little debate revolves around the president's decision ordering a nuclear attack. Hayden recommended that Americans planning to vote for Donald Trump be "very cautious" with their vote.

The fallout of a nuclear attack would change life on Earth as we know it. Japan is still reeling with the destruction that the atom bomb rained down on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Even those not killed in the initial blast suffered severe mutations and cellular decay from the fallout of the blast. It also changed Japanese culture forever and remains an area of debate surrounding the inhumanity of war.

Modern nuclear weapons are more powerful and more destructive than the atom bomb deployed during World War II. Many of these weapons rely on nuclear fission, which splits an atom into smaller parts and pulls apart anything in its path with terrifying efficiency. If you've seen the film 72 and watched as an explosion melted an entire city and stripped flesh from bone, you have some idea of the intensity of a nuclear detonation.

Then comes the fallout, which can alter the course of Earth's climate and cause a ripple effect leading to everything from nuclear winter to extended periods of drought or the presence of radioactive rain. There is a reason we've only turned to such arms once and a reason why they have no place being used in the 21st century. For those who wonder what life during the fallout of a nuclear event is like, I recommend the film The Road, starring Viggo Mortensen (of Lord of the Rings fame). If this is the future you would like for your family and friends, by all means, vote for Donald Trump.

edly to review policies and procedures, ensuring that the services offered either met or exceeded the high expectations of CARF standards. More than a year of work by the core team, support staff, department heads, and board members led to the site visit by CARF surveyors.

Two CARF surveyors reviewed the program of work offered by APA. During the site survey, interviews with consumers, family members, employers, funding partners, agency staff, and community members were conducted; surveyors visited work sites around the county; the agency's facilities were toured and reviewed; and policies and procedures, records, and service plans were reviewed against the CARF ASPIRE and Program Standards.

Appalachian Crossroads was recognized for many strengths within its programs, including the focus on its mission and the individuals it serves.

"APA has an extremely passionate and deep commitment to its mission, vision, and core values; to providing quality services; and to quality improvement," said the report. "It is evident that staff members genuinely care about providing quality services. There is an overall atmosphere of respect for the client's dignity and rights. The staff members genuinely and actively listen to the client's needs in order to provide a well-rounded approach to services. The staff members are very responsive to the client's needs and the employers with whom they work, following up immediately upon being contacted regarding any issue at a job site."

The board of directors were noted as being "extremely dedicated to its mission, supports it operations, and have been a driving force to maintain programs and APA's stability. APA benefits from a diverse and committed board of directors. The board includes members who have strong professional backgrounds in addition to historical knowledge of the organization."

APA was further applauded for the policies and procedures to support the organization's business operations and services. It was commended for its collaborative partnership with the local school system to provide work experience for clients who are transitioning.

"The organization has developed an impressive relationship with a local hospital that provides a broad array of work experience opportunities to many of the clients in the collaborative," the report said.

The programs reviewed and receiving full accreditation are community employment services: job development, community employment services: employment supports, employment planning services, and employee development services. Accreditation will extend through May 31, 2019.

"APA is heartened to know that our focus on the individuals we serve and our mission and vision has been recognized by an agency as experienced and well versed as CARF International," said an APA spokesperson. "We remain committed to continually improving our services and our organization to serve our community with professional standards and quality care for individuals."

Conifers To Be Topic Of Plant Society Meeting

KEVIN DODGE

The Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at New Germany State Park on Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 7 p.m. at the Lake House. The guest speaker will be Kevin Dodge, professor of wildlife and biology at Garrett College. His presentation titled "Pining for the Mountains: The Conifers of Western Maryland" will begin promptly at 7 p.m. The public is welcome to attend this free program.

As part of the Maryland Native Plant Society's "Year of the Conifer," Dodge will present an introduction to the conifers found in the mountains of western Maryland. Using both images and specimens, he will cover the identification, distribution, and ecology of the conifers – the cone-bearing, needle- and scale-leaved evergreen trees and shrubs – that grow in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

Dodge received a bachelor of science degree in biology from Southwest Missouri State University in 1981 and a master of science degree in biology from Michigan Technological University in 1983. He pursued further studies in wildlife biology at West Virginia University from 1983 through 1987.

He has worked since 1987 at Garrett College, where he is the director of the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program. He teaches various courses in natural history and ecology, including wildlife biology, dendrology, herbaceous plant identification, plant taxonomy, herpetology, regional songbird identification, and general ecology.

Dodge's courses emphasize field experience, and many classes include field trips to other parts of the mid-Atlantic/Central Appalachian region. He has also taught classes at Frostburg State University and West Virginia University.

Dodge's past research focused on habitat use by wood warblers in Isle Royale National Park and the impact of gypsy moth-induced habitat change on forest birds in eastern West Virginia. At Garrett College, he and his students have studied the breeding biology, habitat use, and fall migration of northern saw-whet owls since 1991. Dodge has also studied the impact of acid mine drainage and its mitigation on wetland plants and animals. In addition, he participates in a number of bird surveys in Garrett County.

Dodge is actively involved in natural resources issues in Garrett County and the surrounding area. He is a board member of the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association, chair of the Savage River State Forest Citizens' Advisory Board, co-founder of the Garrett Natural History Association, and a past member of the Garrett County Marcellus Shale Natural Gas Advisory Committee. He is a frequent local consultant to The Nature Conservancy.

Dodge leads numerous hikes and presents programs for state parks, state forests, and The Nature Conservancy, as well as for local schools and other groups. He has presented his popular "Night Sounds of the Appalachians" program to many groups throughout the region.

Dodge has traveled extensively, studying the natural history of many locations and sharing his knowledge with others. He served as a leader on nine Towson University Alaska travel/study ecotours, and has traveled with his students on spring break trips to Florida, Louisiana, and Texas, and, for the past 21 years, to southeast Arizona.

He lives in Bittinger with his wife Carolina and their daughter Rhiannon.

The Maryland Native Plant Society promotes awareness, appreciation, and conservation of Maryland's native plants and their habitats, working to preserve Maryland's natural heritage through education, research, advocacy, and service activities. MNPS sponsors programs, workshops, field trips, and an annual conference. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats. More information can be found online at mdflora.org.

The Western Mountains Chapter has formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of this region, are invited to join. For more information, persons are invited to contact Liz McDowell, chapter coordinator, at 301-895-3686.

Info Sought On Destruction Of MLP Mailbox

Garrett County sheriff's deputies are investigating an incident involving the destruction of a mailbox in Mtn. Lake Park last week.

At approximately 1:30 a.m. last Thursday, deputies received a report of an explosive device going off in the mailbox at 704 N Street. A witness saw the suspect run in the direction of the Pinewoods (Garrettlands Inc.) apartments.

Anyone with information concerning this crime or others is asked to contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911 or online at garrettcountycrimesolvers.org. Tipsters may remain anonymous.

HELP FIGHT CURE SMA

SMA Facts:

• SMA - Spinal Muscular Atrophy - KILLS more young children than ANY other inherited disease - 50% die by their first birthday, 90% by their 2nd.

• 1 in 40 people UNKNOWINGLY carry the SMA gene - few have any known family history.

• SMA is degenerative and terminal. Although born healthy, babies eventually lose the ability to walk, sit, eat, breathe and even swallow. The mind is NEVER affected and children with SMA are bright and social.

• There is NO treatment and NO cure, but there is HOPE for a MIRACLE!

• The National Institutes of Health (NIH) has declared SMA as the disease "CLOSEST" to "TREATMENT".

• Researchers say a CURE is possible in a few years — IF given adequate funding.

• SMA is considered a "model" disease and many scientists believe it is a "gateway" to answers for countless other diseases, including: ALS/Lou Gehrig's, spinal cord injury. Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, the muscular dystrophies, and even some forms of cancer.

Board Rejects

representative on the PRB.

Patty Manown Mash, past chair of the chamber board, was appointed to represent the chamber on the committee. Marta Schoyer from the PRB Board also served, along with two business owners with direct financial stake – Bill Meagher, owner of PWC rental business, and Parker Jacobs from the Aquatic Center. Robert Sutton served as the representative from the DCL Property Owners Association.

"How is it possible that representatives of two businesses which will directly benefit from lifting of hours of operation were named to this committee?" said Brian Greenberg, property owner in Green Glade. "This is a clear issue of conflict of interest."

The committee held two public meetings, the second of which was attended by 47 people, with 24 speaking on the topic. Of those, 80% spoke against making any changes to current limitations on hours of operation. At this meeting, Carol Jacobs acknowledged that she had requested the delay of consideration because she felt that the new Hogan administration-appointed members to the PRB would be more "pro-business."

At the April meeting, Bailey provided an interim report, with a request from the committee to expand its scope of work to review the range of boating-related concerns raised in the FoDCL poll and other comments they had received. However, Snook asked the committee to focus only on the PWC matter.

At last week's meeting, Bailey presented the recommendation from the committee to "delay action on the matter until a poll was taken of permit holders and other stakeholders."

After discussion and a presentation from Mark O'Malley, head of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Boating Services that explained the multi-stage process, PRB board member Robert Kelly said, "It was not fair to PWC owners to keep kicking the can down the road. It is no decision."

Bob Hoffmann, president of the DCL Property Owners Association, proposed a resolution that the PRB in essence table the issue, which was passed by a 6 to 1 vote, with Del. Wendell Beitzel being the only board member supporting lifting limitations on hours of PWC operation.

Bailey commented after the meeting that he was surprised the vote was taken, but added, "If we held another poll, we would likely get the same results as we have from the FoDCL poll, and hundreds of comments from those who attended the hearing or sent emails," he said. "So it made sense to go ahead with the decision."

The lake's boating carrying-capacity level, a measure of number of boats on the lake at a given time, was central to the PWC discussion. Eric Null, lake manager, reported that the capacity level is 424 boats, and that on the 4th of July, one weekend in late July, and over Labor Day, if there is warm weather and sunshine, the number of boats on the lake will exceed that capacity. He projected that lifting hours of PWC operation would add about 100 additional boats, and could contribute to more days where boats on the lake exceeds capacity.

The last carrying-capacity study at the lake was done in 2003, according to Beelar, who said, "We need a study which goes beyond counting the number of boats to an assessment of the various kinds of boats on the lake, and how they impact recreational safety and environmental impacts, such as shoreline erosion. There is a huge difference between at 25" wakeboarding boat and a sailboat or a kayak; between a boat used for tubing with a fishing boat or pontoon boat."

The issue of boating capacity was the top concern to DNR when the state purchased the lake in 2001, according to Beelar.

Paul Durham, lake manager at that time, reported that the DNR was looking at ways to limit the number of boats launched at DCL State Park because DNR's assessment was that the lake was nearing capacity then. The Code of Maryland was amended in 2001 to include a section on DCL management. In this section, management principles included the following guidelines – "It is recognized that the highest and best balance for DCL as a recreational use shall take into consideration a balance between greatest possible level of recreational use ... and quality of recreational experience. This balance can only be achieved by providing some type of control of the level of usage as the saturation point is approach."

"The question unanswered by the Policy and Review Board consideration of lifting PWC hours of operation is whether the lake has now reached or is approaching saturation levels, a view many lake property owners have today," said Beelar.

In the public comment section, lake property owner Alan Silverman from Beckman's Cove, Richard Matlick and Bill Alsop from Green Glade, and Brian Greenberg from Thousand Acres spoke of the declines in recreational and environmental amenities in their areas. Silverman spoke of what he described as the failure of Natural Resource Police coverage which had led to dangerous conditions around his dock, noting that his wife can no longer swim there and that his grandchildren have been complaining about the growth of aquatic weeds.

The others brought in samples of various weeds now filling their coves, as well as algal blooms now appearing. Each had photos of their area to show the board the unpleasant conditions they are now facing. Matlick commented that he brought in the samples and photos because none of the current members of the PRB are located in the southern sections of the lake.

Beelar, whose property is located in Chadderton School Cove, responded to a comment made by PRB member Bob Kelley about the serious problem of the spreading and negative impacts of the resident Canada geese population.

"For the past five years when I served on the PRB, we worked with DNR to take measures for population reduction," she said "Unfortunately, this issue has not been on the PRB agenda for this year, and so we have probably lost a year in this struggle. The DNR concept of hunting the geese on the lake proved to be a total failure, with no shots fired and no geese killed in 2015. For the past five years, I have urged a watershed approach and have found several farmers willing to host efforts to substantially reduce the population."

The next meeting of the PRB will be on Monday, Oct. 24, 6 to 8 p.m., at the Discovery Center. Any comments about lake management issues should be addressed to Chair Greg Snook at gsnook@nfis.com. These meetings are not available for tele-conferencing for those unable to attend in person.

The birth of one baby was announced this week.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Maryland's Best Promotion Noted For Restaurants

The Maryland Department of Agriculture's Maryland's Best program has launched a new state-wide seasonal promotion with restaurants. "Maryland's Best Restaurants" will run through October, encouraging restaurants to source, purchase, prepare with, and promote local Maryland specialty crops on their menus and online.

"We're encouraging restaurants to buy from and promote their support of local farmers who are now offering seasonal specialty crops, such as melons, tomatoes, and sweet corn," said Joe Bartenfelder, secretary of agriculture. "Restaurants participating in this campaign will not only appeal to customers who want to eat local but also contribute to the economic growth of Maryland."

Participating restaurants can sign up at www.marylandsbest.net/marylands-best-restaurant-promotion. Benefits include the following:

• Maryland's Best window decal, stickers and check inserts to publicize support;

• Maryland's Best grocery bag for farmer's market shopping;

• Maryland's Best Restaurants live link listing on Maryland's Best and mentioned on all MDsBest social media accounts;

• Maryland's Best logo for use on restaurant web and social media sites;

• Maryland's Best Restaurants listing on a future mobile app (software application) being developed by MDA for consumers to find eateries cooking with local produce.

Using social media, the department is also encouraging Maryland restaurateurs to snap "selfies" with their favorite farmer, specialty crop, and/or local summer produce menu item and post them on the Maryland's Best Facebook page and on Instagram and Twitter using @MDsBest and the hash-tags: #BuyLocal, #FarmersMarket, #MDsBest #GetYourFreshOn.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture's Maryland's Best program will monitor the contest to determine the restaurant with the most posts, to be announced in November.

According to a spokesperson, the late summer/early fall months are traditionally strong months for Maryland farmers, selling carrots, peaches, grapes, watermelons, tomatoes, sweet corn, cantaloupes, honeydew, a wide variety of berries, pumpkins, beets, pears, plums, apples, sweet corn, garlic, potatoes, eggplant, honey, and all types of squash and greens.

For more information, persons may visit the Maryland's Best website.

Preston County Farm Bureau Picnic

The annual Member and Family Picnic of the Preston County Farm Bureau will be held on Sunday, Aug. 7, at 1:30 p.m. at the summer home of Philip and Janet Gregg in Masontown, W.Va. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish. The meat and drinks will be provided. Persons who plan to attend are asked to call Philip at 304-864-5657 or Becky at 304-864-5462 to make sure there is enough food to go around. All members and family are invited to attend. "A fun-filled day has been planned, and the more the merrier," a spokesperson said.

School Begins

Schools in Preston County will begin the 2016/2017 year on Wednesday, Aug. 11. Drivers should be on the alert for students waiting for school buses, and school buses stopped to pick up these students.

Chet Roth Mountain Music

Two more music events with Chet Roth and friends are left on the summer schedule: Aug. 13 and Sept. 24. Both begin at 10 a.m. at Mt. Grove and run all day. Guests should bring a covered dish for lunch and a lawn chair.

Aurora VFD Gun Bash

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Gun Bash on Aug. 20. Doors will open at 11:30, with the first drawing to be held at noon. There will be a chance to win 22 guns and a 5500W Generac generator with every ticket purchased, plus additional floor guns will be given away the day of the bash.

Each ticket is $25, with one additional guest adding an additional $10; tickets for children 12 and under are $5. The ticket includes all the food one can eat. Tickets may be purchased from any fireman, or by calling Harold George at 304-851-6727 or Mike Gallagher at 304-698-9807.

"The VFD appreciates all the support of the community," a spokesperson said.

Aurora Project Presents

A free historical presentation will be given on Sunday, Aug. 21, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Aurora Community Building. It will consist of "The Deakins Line: How West Virginia Put a Whuppin' on Maryland" and "W.Va. History Alive: Living History Portrayal of Henry David Strother, aka Porte Crayon."

The presentation explains that most people are familiar with the Mason-Dixon Line, the famous boundary between the North and the South, but there is also another line in Preston County – the straight-line boundary with Garrett County.

This boundary is called the Deakins Line, and was supposed to extend north from the headwaters of the Potomac. However, there were arguments for over 100 years about where exactly that was. Don Teter, a historical surveyor from Randolph County, will share the history of this boundary line.

For the second half, Teter will portray Henry David Strothers, who was born in Martinsburg and traveled throughout the world in the late 1800s writing about travel for Harper's magazine.

Preston School Survey

The newly formed levy committee of the Preston County Schools wants public input on a possible levy to be placed on the November general election ballot. A short questionnaire can be found on the Facebook page.

AAHS Class of '66 Meets

A total of 11 members of the class of 1966 met to celebrate their 50th graduation anniversary at the Stemple Ridge Church pavilion on July 30. Five deceased class members were remembered, and Virginia Martin, retired teacher, read "Crossing The Bar" by Alfred Lord Tennyson. Other teachers participating in the evening were Tom Wotring, Allen (and Helen) Lipscomb, and Martha Bolyard.

Members reminisced about happy times at Aurora High School, sang the school song, and heard their class wills and history read.

Reunions

The 98th Nordeck-Shaffer reunion will be held on Sunday, Aug. 7, at Neil and Bonnie Winters' pavilion along Fingerboard Road in Hutton. A covered-dish lunch will be shared at 1 p.m. Family and friends are welcome.

The annual Fike family reunion will be held on Aug. 7 at 1 p.m. at the Jones' Barn located along Rt. 219. Family and friends are invited to share in the fun.

Annual Sisler Reunion Slated In Terra Alta

The 91st annual Sisler family reunion will be held Sunday, Aug. 14, at the Terra Alta Community Building in the town park. This reunion has been held each year since 1926.

The event will begin at 1 p.m. with all Sislers, their families, and friends invited. All are asked to bring food to share and photos. There will be children's games and prizes awarded in various categories.

NEW HELIPAD AT MON GENERAL – Heart and vascular patients are transferred to Monongalia General Hospital from towns and cities across West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, and now can get to the facility quicker, thanks to a new helipad on the hospital campus. Located adjacent to the hospital's east parking lot, the helipad was cleared for service by HealthNet Aeromedical Services following a test landing on July 23. "The helipad on campus will facilitate more timely transport of our patients without unnecessy delays that could occur if the helicopter had to land at the airport or at another site," said Mon General chief operating officer Sarah Woodrum. "We want to get these patients into our emergency department or our cardiac catheterization lab as quickly as we can to provide the best possible outcomes for them."

The Mullenax family will meet on Aug.14 at the Mt. Grove pavilion for the annual reunion. Church services will begin at 11 a.m., with the meal following at 12:30. Families are asked to bring items for the auction.

News Submission

To report family and class reunions, as well other news and events, persons may contact Linda Lewis at 304-735-6931, or P.O. Box 25, Eglon, WV 26716.

Terra Alta Pubic Library

The "Get on Your Mark, Get Set, Read" Summer Reading Program for students and adults has concluded. Twenty-four students signed up to participate, with 11 completing and 226 books and recorded.

Wednesday's "Fun Days" featuring local entertainers were well attended. The first week, Pastor Ed Calhoun and his son Isaac entertained the audience with magic tricks and invited several children and parents to participate.

The second week, JoAnn Dadisnian held a story hour, which included eight mini stories and assistance from the audience. She brought snacks for the students, who made a craft related to the stories.

The third Fun Day featured Denise Cole, director of Summer Camps in Kingwood. This was her first time at the library. Cole based her program and experiments on science, oxygen, and nitrogen. The participants decorated air planes, witnesses an egg-in-the-bottle experiment, and go to dissect an owl foot.

At the last Fun Day, author Jake Stump, formerly of Terra Alta, read his book Musket's Big Adventure: A Quest To Find the Gold and Blue Mountains. The book's illustrator, Brad Stalnaker, was also in attendance. He talked about the process of illustration and guided the children in making their own pages.

A recognition day was held for the Summer Reading Program participants. The library was closed for two hours so that the children could have a lunch together and play games.

Alden Strawser, a third grader, was recognized for attending the first night of the program, participating in all Fun Day activities, following all the directions on the sign-up sheet, and reading and recording the most books.

Certificates and a bag of supplies were given out to each program participant.

The adult reading program was held concurrently with the student program. Eleven signed up, with seven completing the program. Sixty-one books were read and reported on. To celebrate, the participants held a dinner and played games.

The library also recently hosted Cpl. Susan Mitter, Preston County Sheriff's Office, and her K-9 Dixie. Mittner provided a description about Dixie and her training and duties. The children got to pet Dixie before they headed outside to watch her at work, tracing the location a young man who was "hiding" outside in the rear of the building. Sheriff Dan Loughrie was instrumental in establishing the K-9 program, according to a library spokesperson.

Persons who recently donated books, periodicals, DVDs, and other items to the library are Harvey Galinn, Chelsie Harsh, Rod Bourne, Virginia DeLauder, Linda Lipscomb, Brian Schoolcraft, Syp Sypolt, Troy Aikman, John Lofink, Cindy Cramer, Linda Weaver, Penny Kelly, Susan Eichorn, Phyllis Feather, Hildegard May, Dorotha Adams, Doug and Pat Auvil, Linda Kope, Erma Funk, and Barbara Beerbower.

The library board of directors and Terra Alta/East Preston High School Alumni Association are compiling graduating class pictures, which will be displayed at the library.

A few of the Terra Alta/East Preston High School 1881-1991 Yearbook by Barbara Beerbower are still available for purchase a the library.

Annual Stemple Reunion Slated For August 27

The descendants of Johann Gottfried "Godfrey" Stemple and Mary Margaret Speck will hold their annual reunion on Saturday, Aug. 27, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 46 German Settlement Way, Aurora. The event will begin at noon, with lunch scheduled for 1 p.m.

"Bring a covered dish for lunch and to share with family and friends," a spokesperson said. "Also, please bring along photos, stories, and genealogy research that you wish to share."

The church will be open to visitors, as well as the Aurora Cemetery and the old Pioneer Cemetery across the road.

Corinth Church To Host Special Guest Speaker

The Corinth Pentecostal Holiness Church will feature special speaker Clay Todd on Sunday, Aug.14, at 6 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

"Clay will be sharing his heart to all ages," said Pastor Cathy Snyder.

Todd is a 2015 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and a rising sophomore at West Virginia Wesleyan College, where he is majoring in religion and philosophy.

He is president of West Virginia Wesleyan's FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes), vice president of the Wesleyan's Religious Life Council, and a member of the college's men's basketball team. He has been featured on ESPN's SportsCenter "Top 10 Plays."

While at college, Todd attends the Christian Fellowship Church, where he is a youth leader.

"Clay's desire is to become an evangelist and spread the good news of the gospel of Christ to anyone and everyone through various events and outreaches," Pastor Snyder said.

Corinth Pentecostal Holiness Church is located about 4½ miles east of Terra Alta off Rt. 7 at 2403 Russ DeBerry Road in Corinth.

For more information, persons are invited to call Snyder at 301-334-2496.

All Are Invited To Mountain Maker Fest In Accident

The second annual Mountain Maker Fest will be held at the Garrett College Career Technology Training Center in Accident on Saturday, Aug. 13. The event is a coming-together of those participating in, or those who want to learn more about, the growing maker movement in the region. This event is free and open to the general public, and is appropriate for all ages.

Makers are defined by fest organizers as those who create things, such as students, artists, woodworkers, hobbyists, artisans, entrepreneurs, and technologists, and who make things for fun, self-help, or for profit.

"The Garrett County area has a large number of sometimes 'hidden' makers in all areas and involved in a variety of activities," said Mike Tumbarello, one of the primary fest organizers.

The interactive Mountain Maker Fest, part of the ongoing Power of Possibilities series of events, will have over 30 exhibitors, including LEGO Team 1629, the Garrett College Robotics Team – Project Kraken, artists, craftsmen, leather workers, 4-H clubs, woodworkers, and others. The inaugural event held last August attracted about 400 attendees.

"The Maker Fest is basically a supercharged 'carnival' that engages attendees in all aspects of STEAM – science, technology, engineering, arts, and mathematics," said Tumbarello, who added that the hope is that everyone who attends will come away enriched after interacting with makers and other attendees and participating in various maker activities.

"The Maker Fest is appropriate for all age groups and is a perfect way to spend a summer Saturday for local citizens, incoming vacationers, those vacationers heading home, and those in the broader region who wish to learn more, hone their skills, and have some fun as makers," said Sarah Myers, another organizer of the event.

The Mountain Maker Fest will be held fiom 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Career Technology Training Center on Industrial Drive in Accident, located in the business park. Persons are advised to look for signs and balloons along U.S. Rt. 219 or go online to www.4ruralsuccess.com for more information. They amy also contact Tumbarello at 301-387-3167 or mike.tumbarello@garrettcollege.edu, or Myers at 301-387-3771 or sarah.myers01@garrettcollege.edu.

Medical Assistant Classes To Begin At Training Ctr.

The Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College announces new opportunities for persons to train for entry-level health care careers in the allied health field. Classes will prepare students for work as a medical office assistant, a certified medical administrative assistant (CMAA), and a certified clinical medical assistant (CCMA).

All who are interested in learning about the training for these careers are invited to attend an orientation and information session next Tuesday, Aug. 9, from 2 until 3 p.m., or on Wednesday, Aug. 10, from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. at the Garrett College Career Technology Training Center in Accident.

The orientation and information sessions will provide an opportunity to learn about the various duties in these careers, the differences in the training length, complexity, and skills involved. Scholarship opportunities will also be explained, and those requesting funding are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.

"We have spent a great deal of time researching employment trends and local employer needs, and believe that these new courses will help fill critical needs in our community," said Carol Mowbray Brooks, director of workforce development at Garrett College. "Students who finish their training will be prepared to take the National Healthcare Association Certification exams, which are recognized nationally."

Orientation sessions for those wanting to become a certified nursing assistant (CNA), paramedic and EMT, veterinary assistant, welder, machinist, or apartment/building maintenance technician will be held later in the month.

For additional information or to register for an orientation session, persons are invited to contact Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development at 301-387-3770.

during such a critical time.

"The AHA has shaped health policy to promote access to care, and enhance quality and maintained focus on patient-centered care," he said. "The healthcare industry is changing really fast, and being part of the policy board is a great opportunity to represent the needs of the patients we serve."

The AHA is a not-for-profit association of healthcare provider organizations that are committed to health improvement in their communities. The AHA is the national advocate for its members, which include more than 5,000 hospitals, healthcare systems, networks, and other providers of care, according to the an association spokesperson.

Founded in 1898, AHA provides education for healthcare leaders and is a source of information on healthcare issues and trends. The role of the AHA policy board is to foster communication between the AHA, its members, and state hospital associations. The regional policy boards provide input on public policy issues considered by the board of trustees of the AHA, serve as policy development committees when appropriate, and identify needs unique to a region and assist in developing healthcare programs to meet those needs.

Boucot has been with the organization since December 2013. His leadership facilitated GRMC's new clinical affiliation with West Virginia University Health System to bring additional specialty services, most notably cancer care, and the WVU Heart and Vascular Institute to the region.

He received his bachelor of science degree in organizational management from Cabrini College, and a master's degree in business administration from New Jersey Institute of Technology.

Boucot holds the fellow certification with the American College of Healthcare Executives, is a certified Lean Six Sigma yellow belt, and is a certified master personal fitness trainer.

Merling Trio Next In MPA Series

Music at Penn Alps will present the Merling Trio in concert on Saturday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall of Spruce Forest, Grantsville.

The trio players are Renata Artman Knific, violin, Bruce Uchimura, cello, and Susan Wiersma Uchimura, piano. A truly international trio, it brings together musicians from Polish, Japanese, and Dutch backgrounds.

The trio made its New York debut in Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall in 1993, and was named a finalist for the Naumburg Foundation Chamber Music Award in 1994.

The Merling Trio has given numerous recitals throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe. Members have performed with orchestras such as the English Chamber Orchestra, the Honolulu Symphony, the BBC Scottish Symphony Orchestra, the Concerto Soloists of Philadelphia, and the South Carolina Philharmonic; and under the baton of conductors such as Daniel Barenboim, Simon Rattle, and Christoph Eschenbach.

Performances by the Merling Trio have been broadcast on television and radio, including WNYC, WFMT 98.7 in Chicago, Interlochen Public Radio, and Peachstate Public Radio.

Several contemporary composers have written works for the Merling Trio, and in 1993, the musicians commissioned and premiered C. Curtis-Smith's Second Piano Trio. In February 1998, the trio returned to Carnegie Hall for a sold-out performance of a new work by Terry Winter-Owens, commissioned by the Merling Trio with a commissioning grant from the American Composers Forum.

Recent trio performances include concerts for the Lagerstrom Concerts Series at Caltech, the Texas Friends of Chamber Music Series, the Jewel Box Series in Chicago, the Charleston Chamber Music Society, Merkin Hall, and the Antioch College Professional Piano Series.

In 2003, the trio premiered Frank Proto's Quartet for Piano and Strings with bassist Tom Knificat St. John's Smith Square in London, England. The trio performed the complete piano trios of C. Curtis-Smith for a gala concert at the Gilmore International Keyboard Festival in 2010.

The Merling Trio takes its name from the Danish violin maker, Paul Merling. Currently, Uchimura performs on an Enrico Marchetti cello, made in Turin, Italy, in 1899. Knific's violin, fashioned by Vincenzo Postiglione in Naples, Italy, dates from 1898.

The group will play pieces by Brahms, Hermann, Schubert, and Mancini, among others.

Tickets are $20, with those age 19 and younger admitted for free. Tickets may be purchased by credit card online at musicatpennalps.org or at the gift shop at Penn Alps. Cash and checks may be used at the door. For more information or directions, persons may go to musicatpennalps.org or call 443-414-3955.

Highland Arts Unlimited To Launch Season

Pan Jammin' Steel Drums will open the 44th season of Highland Arts Unlimited on Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 6:30 p.m., on the Plaza of the Church-McKee Arts Center at Potomac State College, Keyser, W.Va., with a free concert.

The group is under the direction of Fred Kesner, who started the steel drum movement in Keyser several years ago when he organized Teal Steel at Frankfort Middle School. He now offers classes for beginning and more advanced players in Keyser, and the groups have performed widely in the area.

Those attending are encouraged to bring lawn chairs. In the case of inclement weather, the concert will be held in the auditorium of the Church-McKee Arts Center.

Persons joining Highland Arts the evening of the concert may deduct 10% from their membership category this evening only.

Other programs in the 2016-2017 season are as follows: Thursday, Sept. 15, Landau Eugene Murphy Jr., who is returning to Keyser by popular demand, a spokesperson said, and with the addition of Glenn Leonard, former lead singer of the Temptations; Friday, Oct. 14, The Skyliners, a doo-wop group from Pittsburgh, Pa.; Sunday, Dec. 11, River City Brasstacular, also from Pittsburgh, Pa., for a holiday program; Sunday, March 28, Don Stephens, pianist, at the Keyser Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m.; and Saturday, April 29, Johnny Staats bluegrass music at the Church McKee Arts Center.

Highland Arts will also bring an October program for elementary school students in Mineral County, "Toying With Science," starring Garry Krinsky, a performer specializing in bringing the arts and sciences to life for young audiences.

Highland Arts Unlimited is a non-profit volunteer group dedicated to bringing quality music, drama, dance, and visual arts programs to the community, as well as providing free arts programs to Mineral County Public Schools. The programs are funded by membership and corporate contributions, financial assistance from the West Virginia Division of Culture and History, and the National Endowment for the Arts with approval from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts; financial support from the Mineral County Board of Education, with in-kind support from Potomac State College of West Virginia University.

For more information concerning Highland Arts, persons may call 304-788-3066 or 304-788-9465.

Annual Barter Camps At OTT Set This Month

Our Town Theatre will host its annual barter camps this month, with offerings for two age groups. The camps will have the theme of "Once Upon a Time," with theatre activities, improv, and other on-stage exercises.

The "tuition" for the camps consists of different items donated to the theatre each day, such as stamps, paper towels, envelopes, and other things needed by the nonprofit organization. This payment process is why the program is a "barter" camp, organizers said.

Barter camp for children entering kindergarten through fifth grade is slated for Monday to Friday, Aug. 15 to 19. It will be held at Our Town Theatre, located along Center Street in Oakland, from 10 a.m. to noon every day.

Barter camp for 6th-12th grade students will take place the same week, although will begin on Tuesday rather than Monday. The hours for the older group will be 4 to 6 p.m. daily.

Pre-registration is required, and the registration form is available online at ourowntheatreblog.wordpress.com on the Kids' Stuff link. For more information, persons may leave a message at 301-334-5640.

BRYAN ELIJAH SMITH AND THE WILD HEARTS are set to perform this Friday, Aug. 5, at 7 p.m. at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion, Oakland, as part of the Little Yough Summer Music Festival. This alternative-American band is based in Dayton, Va. "Smith's unabashedly genuine songwriting and voice go hand in hand with the Wild Hearts' raw energy, making this band one worth not only listening to but experiencing live," the band's website notes. Pictured from left are Jay Austin, fiddle and guitar; Justin Shiflett, drums; Smith, guitar and vocals; and Jeff Miller, keyboards, banjo, and backup vocals. Admission to the concert is free, but donations are accepted to help defray the cost of the festival. Food vendors will be available beginning at 6 p.m.

YOUNG WRITER HONORED – Delaney Rinard was recently honored by West Virginia Public Television for her entry in the PBS Kids Writers Contest. Her story was titled "The Christmas Miracle," and was judged among other third grade entries from throughout the tri-state area. "The Christmas Miracle" earned the fourth place award, and Delaney was invited to an awards ceremony at WVPT in Morgantown, W.Va. The winners were treated to a reception and a tour of the station. They also got to make crafts, get their faces painted, and go on a scavenger hunt. Delaney is pictured with Kate FitzGerald, WVPT director of education. Delaney is entering the fourth grade at Yough Glades Elementary School. She resides in Oakland with her parents, Tracy and Kendra Rinard, and her brother Patrick.

OAKLAND CENTENNIAL WEEK -- AUGUST 8 TO 14

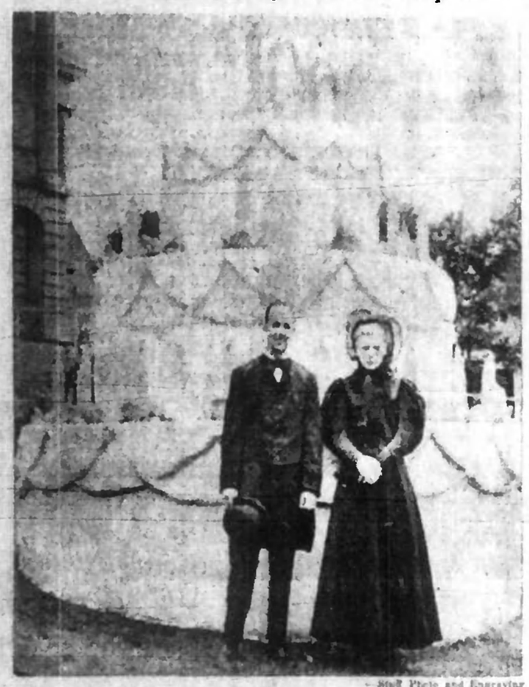
THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 73. OAKLAND'S HUNDREDTH YEAR THE REPUBLICAN'S SEVENTY-THIRD OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., AUGUST 4, 1949. NUMBER 23

A Hearty Welcome . . . . .

We say it plainly, but most sincerely, we heartily welcome you all to Oakland's Centennial. May your visit here be one of the most pleasant occasions of your life. May it be an experience long to be remembered by all residents and guests.

Oakland's Birthday Cake Completed



Staff Photo and Engraving

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Davis, who will portray the characters of Col. and Mrs. Isaac McCarty in the pageant, "Song of the Oaks," next week, stand before Oakland's huge birthday cake. Col. and Mrs. McCarty are honored as Oakland's founders, so the cake is really for these pioneer settlers.

Oakland's huge three-tiered birthday cake has been completed on the Court House lawn by Aza Stanton, in readiness for the 100th anniversary celebration next week.

The cake measures 12 feet in height, with the first tier, 28 feet in circumference and 4 feet high, the second tier 20 feet in circumference and 3 feet 3 inches high, the third tier 16 feet in circumference and 2 feet 9 inches high.

Decorated with 30 electrically lighted pink papier mache candles set in holders of rose petals and leaf design, with pink and green festoons around the sides of each tier, it is topped by a silvered ornament, and a cut-out of "100" two feet high and 4 feet wide.

A white banner, framed in white, bearing the lettering in red "Oakland's First Century," is topped by the silvered cut-out word "celebrating."

The framework contains 700 linear feet of lumber, 250 feet of chicken wire, 210 feet of electric wiring and about one ton of old newspapers. The covering required 25 gallons of paste, 5 gallons of paint, 5 pounds of diamond dust, 2 pounds of silver dust, and 2 pounds colored glitter. It required three weeks for construction.

The idea was presented to the Centennial committee by Aza Stanton, member of the publicity committee, and an Oakland youth, studying art at the Maryland Institute of Art in Baltimore for three years. During that time he has been a part time artist and designer in the advertising and display department at the executive offices of the Cannon Shoe company.

Mr. Stanton said Thurl Tower had assisted in formulating the plans, while Variety Woodworking Shop and Acorn Associates had made contributions of a portion of the paint and cut-out work. Wiring was done by Carl Thrasher, Garrett Truck and Implement company gave the use of a pick-up, and Mr. Stanton was assisted by David Full in making the papier mache.

Named to Committee

Two scouts were named this past week to the Centennial reception committee, giving due recognition to the youth of the town. A girl scout and 4-H youth were named previously.

Lewis R. Jones, scoutmaster, named Sammy Moore, Oakland, and Robert Shaffer, of Crellin. Susan Turner represents the 4-H club and Elaine Graham the Girl Scouts.

Setting up Pageant Lighting

Firemen's Parade Attract Many Bands and Companies

Large Number Already Have Accepted Invitation Here on Wednesday, August 10

Acceptances of large numbers of bands and fire companies to participate in the Centennial parade here on Firemen's day, Wednesday, August 10, indicate one of the largest processions in the town's history, according to T. J. Stanton, parade committee chairman for that day.

This will be the second parade for that day, the first one being scheduled for 2 p. m., as a parade of 10 youth organizations and floats, each one depicting a decade of Oakland's 100-year history.

Mr. Stanton said the Firemen's parade would be held at 7 o'clock, and would be led by Hon. J. Glenn Beall, State Senator Neil C. Fraley, former State Senator Lawrence M. Fraley, and Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh.

Up to yesterday a total of 18 bands and 30 fire companies, with 35 to 40 pieces of equipment, and four ladies' auxiliaries had accepted the invitation to attend. Bands will come from Scottdale, Salisbury, Somerset, Fairchance, Parsons, Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, Romney, Barton, Keyser, Terra Alta, Westernport, Accident, Oakland. Fire companies are also coming from those areas, with departments also from Flushing, O.; Cresaptown, Baltimore Pike, Cumberland; Grafton, Davis, Kingwood, Bloomington, Gorman, Tunnelton, Friendsville.

Also in the procession will be Buck Dreyer's lifesaving squad, the Oakland national guard unit, old style hand drawn equipment from College Park, Bloomington Ladies' auxiliary, Friendsville ladies' auxiliary.

Seven hundred sixty dollars in prizes will be awarded, with first, second and thirds of $150, $75 and $25, for best appearing fire company with most men in uniform, and best band. Other prizes of $100 and $50 for oldest piece of equipment running on its own power or horse drawn, $35 for best appearing fire truck, $50 for fire company coming longest distance with 20 or more men, $25 for best ladies' auxiliary.

Names and addresses of units will be announced by Charles L. Briner over public address system as they approach the judges stand, corner of Second and Liberty streets.

Bungleville Department

The Bungleville fire department of Keyser will put on a comedy act during the demonstration to be held at 4 o'clock, and will appear in the parade in the evening.

The parade will form on Fifth and Oak streets, proceed to Third, to Alder, to Second, to Crook, to Third, to Centennial grounds. Mr. Stanton asked that if any local business man or organizations wished to enter floats in the parade to please contact him not later than Saturday, August 6.

During the morning of firemen's day there will be a marbles tournament and a demonstration teaching class at the log cabin school.

There will be a demonstration of fire fighting equipment, featuring old and new apparatus, gathered from a wide area, and presented by Allegany County firemen, and members of the State Forestry Department.

Sues Taxi Owner

Miss Etta May Moon, through her attorneys Neil C. Fraley and Walter W. Dawson, has entered suit against Emile Germain, trading as Oakland Taxi Service, for $15,000, as the result of the death of her son, Bernard W. Moon, after he was struck on the Crellin highway on March 19.

Moon died the following day. The suit charges that Daniel Riley, driver of the taxi, was driving in a speedy, careless and negligent manner. The suit was docketed Saturday and will come up for trial presumably at the September Term of court.

In two other suits filed recently by the same attorneys, Mrs. Ruth Sanders has sued Arthur Savage for $5,000 and William Francis Sanders, infant, by his mother, Mrs. Ruth Sanders, has sued Savage for $20,000.

The bill was filed as the result of William Francis Sanders while on his bicycle having been struck by an automobile driven by Mr. Savage, at the intersection of Green street and the alley between Second and Third. The boy's leg was fractured as a result. Savage is charged in the suit with having driven in a reckless and negligent manner.

Infantile paralysis in the nation is running far ahead of 1948.

School Days of Hundred Years Ago

--Staff Photo and Engraving

School days of 100 years ago will be depicted at the log school house constructed on the lawn of the William-James hotel during Centennial Week, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. As a sample of how they would look the following gathered there Tuesday for the above scene. Sitting on the ground, left to right are Herbert Leighton, Billy Kildow and Jack Welling. Mrs. Ralph Weber, teacher, is in the doorway. Others, left to right, are Jane Hanst, Dickie Castlow, Cynthia Nace, Diana Weber of Washington; Florence Slek and Mrs. Frederick Thayer.

Christian Adventure Camp Being Held

Meeting at Mt. Lake Park this week is a group of some seventy young people in a Christian Adventure camp. They are attending from the Moorefield district of the Methodist church.

Advance worship, community service and advance in recreation are some of the studies. Students are from Garrett, Preston, Tucker, Pendleton, Hardy, Hampshire and Mineral counties. Rev. Harry S. Myerly, Keyser, is director.

Miss Nilce Borges do Val, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, is serving as guest staff member. She has been in the United States for nine months and is choral instructor at Westminster choral college, Princeton, N. J. Other staff members are Rev. D. Fay Zinn, Romney; Mrs. Robert L. Greynolds, Parsons; Miss Sara Jane Beach, Piedmont, Miss Roberta Hicks, Buckhannon; Rev. O. S. Parsons, Franklin; Rev. S. D. Sawyer, Springfield; Rev. R. D. Prince, Elk Garden; Miss Thelma Shay, Keyser; Manning Muntzing, Rev. Joe Dryfield, Mrs. Dryfield, B. A. McCullough, all of Moorefield; Rev. W. Reece Burns, and Mrs. Burns, Rowlesburg. Rev. Burns, former pastor at the Park, and his family are located in the Deaconess Home.

Library To Have Educational Display

Several hundred new books are being prepared for display at the Centennial educational exhibit tent, it was announced. The committee in charge of arrangements for the Garrett County Free Library includes Mrs. F. D. Bittle, Mrs. Prentiss Porter, Miss Elizabeth West and Mrs. Veronica Robertson.

There will be a hostess at the desk at all hours for those desiring to check out books while at the exhibit. The latest in fiction and non-fiction for adults and young folks will be available, and also new books of all sorts for the small children.

Pass Tenderfoot Tests

Five scouts of the Oakland troop passed their Tenderfoot requirements at camp and were awarded their badges during camp fire ceremonies last Thursday. An investiture ceremony was arranged by Harold Lantz, scoutmaster of the Crellin troop.

New Tenderfoot scouts are Wayne Biser, Sam Moore, David Nace, Billy Schaeffer and Thomas Turney.

Fifteen members of the Lions club were at the camp that evening for volleyball and softball and a special dinner. Following the campfire program the entire group had ice cream and cake, the latter being baked and decorated by Arlie Fike, camp cook.

Lake Group To Meet

Earl Glotfelty, officer in the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association, has announced a meeting of property owners at the Fulcher Smith property near Glendale Bridge, on August 17, at 7:30 o'clock.

He said important matters regarding all property owners would be discussed.

Thirteen To Attend Annual Club Week

4-H club week for Maryland boys and girls will be held at College Park, August 8th to 13th. Over a thousand 4-H'ers are expected to attend. There will be a full program of activities covering all phases of 4-H work. Visitors' day will be on Friday.

Those attending from Garrett county are: Arlene Georg, Jeanne Lohr, Martha Miller, Jane Bowman, Grantsville; Retha Groer, Accident, Elaine Lewis, Oakland, Evelyn and Phyllis Custer, Harland Beachy, Robert E. Harvey, Earl Harvey, Jr., Swanton; Wayne Fratz and Allen E. Auli, Accidednt.

Leaders attending from this county are: John D. Lough, Assistant county agent, who will have charge of boys from this county; Miss Arlene Georg, Senior Girls' local leader from Accident, and Miss Ella Fazzalari, who will have supervision of the girls. Others are Ina Claire Jenkins, of Friendsville, and Jeanne Lohr, of Grantsville.

Vo-Ag Instructors Conclude Conference

A summer conference of Maryland vocational agriculture teachers was in session at the Pleasant Valley recreational area, having started on Monday, and concluded today.

The conference theme is "Progress In the Year Ahead."

R. Bowen Hardesty, county superintendent of schools, officially extended greetings to the 60 in attendance on the opening day.

Merle Garletts, Grantsville, presided on Monday. Prof. Arthur M. Ahalt, University of Maryland, discussed "Rethinking Agricultural Contests", and a symposium was under direction of O. T. Graser, Oakland. Topics discussed by five members of the panel in his program were: use of content, bulletins and material distributed by commercial concerns; use of more and better classroom, laboratory, experiments and demonstrations; better planned field trips; better use of blackboard wall charts, wall pictures, etc.; better use of departmental contests for development of specific areas of interest.

Monday afternoon, Prof. Arthur Hamilton, University of Maryland, presented bulletins dealing with improving Maryland's vo-ag instruction in farm management, other use of source units developed in connection with the University summer school.

Other topics for conference included latest development in truck and garden crops, pupils' supervised farming record books, F.F.A. problems on local level and state level, and reports and recommendations.

Dr. Floyd Cromwell, state supervisor of educational and vocational guidance, delivered a talk Wednesday on "Right Ways to Reach Wrong Conclusions." The conference is closing today with a tour of the county recreation and resort areas.

Potato Price Support

The deadline date for applying for Potato Price Support has been extended to September 1, according to Dorsey Guard, chairman, Garrett County A. C. A. Committee. All farmers interested in price support for their 1949 potato crop should contact the county A. C. A. Office before the above date. No applications will be accepted after September 1, he said.

OAKLAND IN READINESS FOR OPENING OF CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION MONDAY

Official Opening Will Be Heralded By Ringing of Bells, Blowing of Fire Siren and Rifle Salute by National Guard

After months of planning and weeks of effort, Oakland is about ready to observe the 100th anniversary of the township with a seven-day celebration beginning Monday, August 8, and continuing through Sunday, August 14.

The scope of the week's activities is widespread.

Official Centennial opening ceremonies are scheduled Monday morning, August 8, at 10:00. The City church bells, augmented by fire sirens and aerial bombs, will herald the opening. A salute by riflemen of the Garrett County Unit, Maryland National Guard, will be followed by an invocation by The Rev. [illegible], president, Maryland District Christian Association. Mayor J. Glenn Beall, Governor Oscar Ewing, Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson and Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh will also greet thousands of visitors. Mayor Hinebaugh and J. B. Rathbun, general chairman of the celebration, the Centennial Central Committee, composed, in addition to Mayor Hinebaugh and Mr. Rathbun, of Dr. H. H. Bittinger, Mrs. George Hanst, N. A. Coplin and R. J. Bowman, will be introduced.

A number of other features of the opening day have been arranged for Monday morning and planned [illegible] to start off with a bang, with features the [illegible] most.

Monday has been designated as Wild Life Conservation and Fraternal Day. Special exhibits of early firearms have been arranged. Local fraternal and veterans' clubs will [illegible] open house. Fly casting and trap shooting contests are also on Monday's schedule.

At 10 o'clock there will be an [illegible] rifle shoot, with prizes of $25, $15 and $10 offered. A [illegible] for boys and girls under 15 years of age, sponsored by the Oakland Lions club, near William-James hotel, will be held at 11 o'clock, with W. R. F. Weber as the old fashioned teacher and Mrs. Playford Ryan as the modern teacher. Pupils will be in appropriate costume. The same demonstration will be given on Wednesday and Friday mornings.

At 11 o'clock the first day a trap shoot will be held. At 2 o'clock there will be an exhibition aerial rifle shoot, by Kurtis Reed, age 15. Apples, oranges, walnuts, small wooden blocks and other objects will be tossed into the air and pulverized with rifle bullets before they strike the ground. He will also draw a picture of an Indian head on a piece of tin with the rifle.

At 3 p. m. there will be exhibition bait and fly casting by Miss Annalee Causey, Sidney, Ohio.

Fraternal organizations are holding open houses at their lodge homes while the Rotary, Lions and Business and Professional Women's Club members are having open house at the William James hotel from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and again at 10 o'clock, a free aerial act has been engaged. The Silver Condors, youthful and agile high trapeze performers, will present a unique and daring offering. This act will be repeated twice daily at the same hours through Saturday, August 13.

Another daily feature will be a display of fireworks each evening at 10:30 o'clock. Beanie's attractions will operate a continuous carnival daily from 10:00 a. m. until midnight, Monday through Saturday.

Individual stories about Farm and Home Day, Firemen's Day, B and O. Day, Veterans' Day, Homecoming Day and Church Day are contained in this issue of The Republican.

On Sunday, August 7, and Sunday, August 14, a water sports show is scheduled on Deep Creek Lake, near Oakland. August 11 will feature [illegible] with a professional [illegible] from the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore.

[illegible] features listed, [illegible] commercial, farm and home exhibits displayed [illegible] in the exhibition grounds.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are [illegible] with [illegible] Maryland [illegible] Lake Park and extending toward Gorman.

Note from Hoover

Material for the time capsule to be buried on Friday, August 12, was augmented this morning by the arrival of a note from former President Herbert Hoover from Stanford, California.

The capsule, a project of The Republican, will be opened in the year 2049.

Mr. Hoover enclosed with his letter two speeches for the time capsule, entitled "The Crisis in American Life" and "The Meaning of America." He commented, "It may entertain the openers 100 years hence to contemplate the futility of all prophesy and alarms."

Old and New In Farm Equipment To Be On Parade

The old and new in farm equipment complete in all units, from earliest modes to the most modern will be depicted in the unusual parade, to be held on Farm and Home day of Centennial week, Tuesday, August 9th.

The old to the new will be shown in transportation, preparation of the ground, sowing, cultivating, harvesting of corn, hay and grain, and the advance of power will be displayed.

Howard J. White and Miss Eleanor Dearborn, co-chairmen for this day, announced that all units have been arranged and pointed out that the parade would not be just a trades display, but is being limited to historical progress in various phases of farm and home activities.

They emphasized it would not be just a succession of models of various machinery or automobile companies. The units will be interspersed with floats. Cash prizes are being offered for non-commercial floats, and will be awarded at the speakers stand after the parade. Floats are being entered by the Oakland Homemakers, the Girl Scouts, several 4-H groups, Brownies, West Maryland Power, and B. and O. railroad.

Robert Hoffman and Robert Lohr are ground marshals. H. D. Swartzentruber and Audley Riley will be the mounted marshals. Grantsville and Oakland bands also are expected to participate.

Placing and securing of equipment have been in charge of Allen Paugh, Bixby Ridder, H. G. Gortner and Hobart Bishoff, with John Carter and Frank Kley assisting in the overall arrangements with various dealers. Mr. White emphasized the cooperation of all implement dealers.

Prize judges were named as Mr. Emerson Bishoff, L. Bush Swisher and Merle Garlett. The reviewing stand for the parade will be at the William-James hotel grounds.

Tydings Is Speaker

U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings will be the speaker. He will arrive in the Cincinnatus at [illegible] and will be escorted to the William-James hotel where a luncheon is being held in his honor.

The parade will follow immediately after which Senator Tydings will deliver his address at [illegible] on the exhibition grounds. He will be introduced by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of University of Maryland. Dr. T. B. Symons, head of the Extension service of the university, will be introduced.

There will be a number of [illegible] cial exhibits in the [illegible] arranged by Deep [illegible] Bowyer and [illegible] Snyder. Among the distant companies to exhibit are the Celanese Corporation and the Glaser company. Mr. White said the Wild Life and Forestry division will occupy one of the exhibition tents, it was stated. Educational motion [illegible] will be shown in the exhibition tent from 2 to 10 p. m.

Submits Low Road Bid

[illegible] job at [illegible] two received by the State Roads Commission.

The lowest bidder, Charles [illegible] Va., submitted a low bid of $[illegible] for resurfacing 2.8 miles of state route 560, beginning at [illegible] mately two miles south of Mosser Lake Park and extending toward Gorman.

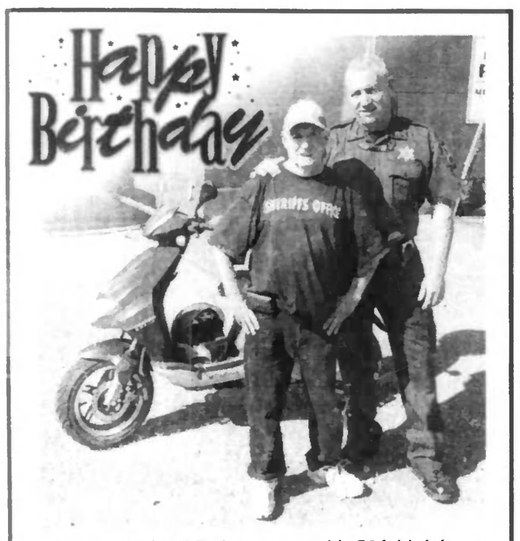
Televisions, Tools, Equipment Stolen From Local Homes

Maryland State Police are seeking information concerning two residential burglaries that reportedly occurred at Garrett County homes in the past month.

Sometime between June 26 and July 2 in the area of Glendale Woods Road, Oakland, multiple flat-screen televisions were stolen, as well as yard equipment. A John Deere 245 Model riding mower, a Stihl weed eater, a Troybilt pressure washer, and numerous household items were among the items taken. Anyone with information concerning this incident is asked to contact Tfc. Brennan at the MSP McHenry Barrack.

Tfc. Whetzel is investigating the second burglary that reportedly occurred this past Saturday in the 3000 block of Friendsville Road. Multiple chain saws and various power tools were reportedly taken from a storage building in the area.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the assigned officer at the MSP McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.



As "Fast Bobby" Eslin races past his 75th birthday on Monday, Aug. 8, don't forget to extend best wishes to him, as he continues to serve the community that he loves and has no intention of slowing down anytime soon!

Bobby was born in Bangor, Maine, on August 8, 1941, and has been a resident of Oakland since 1979. Nearly every day of the year he can be seen in Oakland, mowing grass, shoveling snow, raking leaves, delivering meals, selling newspapers, cleaning up litter, and doing whatever he can to earn a living and help his fellow citizens in the process. He has been named an honorary member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and is pictured above with his motor scooter and Sheriff Rob Corley.

Persons desiring Bobby's services – or just wanting to wish him a happy 75th – need only call Fast Bobby's Delivery Service at 240-321-5755.

Adorable Adoptables

FELINE FAMILY LOOKING FOR NEW HOMES – Four feline housemates are currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. From left are Priscilla, a very shy 1-year-old female; Lulu, a grey/white tuxedo; Simon, a white male; and Lucy, a female tortiseshell. "All of them were given up together by their owner, who had too many cats to take care of," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokesperson. "These and other pets are available at the county animal shelter. Please adopt from your local shelter or rescue and not a pet shop. These pets are truly homeless, and when one is adopted, it makes room for another animal to come in." For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Photos courtesy of the Garrett County Humane Society, a nonprofit volunteer organization.

Preventing Defects

and will not become pregnant while in these areas.

This may sound simple and matter-of-fact, but in Maryland more than half of conceptions are not planned, and few can tell if they are pregnant in the first weeks or months of pregnancy. Women of fertility age should consider their life-time reproductive goals. If a period of deferral is possible, there are many ways to accomplish the delay of pregnancy for a period of service or travel.

The current estimates of risk of a birth defect of the unborn when the mother has Zika infection is about 1 in 10. However, this is a preliminary and crude estimate which varies with many factors, including the history of past viral infections, and the trimester in which the infection occurs.

The recommendation to "consult a healthcare provider" means to review one's risks of contracting Zika, one's lifetime reproductive goals, and the effectiveness and acceptability of the contraception that may be chosen.

A woman should take pregnancy-preventing precautions for several months before travel, while in an area of transmission, and for a couple of months after travel to be sure she is not putting an unborn at risk. If she does contract Zika while protected from pregnancy, she will develop immunity to the virus and therefore will not pass infection on to a child if exposed again during a later pregnancy.

Avoiding mosquito bites may be the next best option for a pregnant woman if she must travel to an area of Zika transmission, but ways to avoid bites are not totally reliable and this poses risks on the unborn. Altering travel plans, either by changing locations or travel times, remains the best recommendation.

Birth defects from Zika infection only occur following acute infection of a pregnant woman with the Zika virus. The virus can be passed to the unborn from the pregnant mother. It can be transmitted to the mother either from the bite of a recently infected Aedes mosquito or by sexual contact with a Zika-infected person.

Zika infection transmission by mosquitoes is extremely unlikely in Garrett County. The mosquito species most likely to be capable of transmitting this virus are extremely rare, if they exist at all, in this county. For a mosquito to become infected, it must first have a blood meal from a Zika-infected person within the first week or two of that person's Zika infection, while the virus is still circulating in an infected person's blood.

An infected mosquito has a very restricted flight range of less than a quarter of a mile, and a short life span in which to pass along infection. No Zika infection has been detected so far in Garrett County, and only a few persons who traveled to tropical areas have been identified as having the disease in Maryland. The people being reported in the media with infections have recovered from the disease, and are no longer contagious, but show evidence of immunity.

Several areas in the U.S. do have the necessary conditions for active mosquito-borne transmission of Zika. These areas in southern Florida and along the Gulf Coast to Texas have already experienced infections by a similar virus. Authorities in Florida recently identified a few cases of Zika infection spread by local transmission in a very small area. Officails are responding with re-invigorated mosquito control efforts. Testing of residents of this area who show no symptoms of Zika has revealed that the infection has silently spread to more than a dozen persons so far.

The most likely source of infection within Garrett County would be sexual contact with travelers returning from areas of active Zika virus transmission. There are many challenges in attempting to understand and control this form of transmission. Four of five persons who contract Zika have no symptoms, and because of the high cost and lack of easy access to testing, few travelers from these areas are tested for "silent" infection. There is little information on how long the virus remains active in various body fluids other than blood and urine.

The current recommendations are that male travelers who have had symptoms and tested positive for Zika avoid unprotected sexual contact for six months, and men and women travelers without Zika tests or symptoms avoid such contact for two months after returning from areas of active transmission.

The Zika infection in children and adults is remarkably mild, despite the national attention given to the illness. Only one in five persons infected with Zika virus show any symptoms, and even then the infection is so mild persons usually do not seek medical care, and are very rarely hospitalized. Most carriers of the infection are therefore not identified.

Those who have had the infection appear to have a strong and long-lasting immunity, including those who may later become pregnant. Hospitalization is rare; death from complications is extremely rare and probably occurs because of other pre-existing illnesses.

PromisedLand Quartet To Sing At Shady Grove

The PromisedLand Quartet will present a southern gospel concert at Shady Grove Church of the Brethren on Saturday, Aug. 13, beginning at 7 p.m.

The church is located three miles north of Bruceton Mills along W.Va. Rt. 26. Although there is no charge for the event, an offering will be collected to help defray the groups expenses.

For more information, persons may contact Pastor Barry M. Adkins at 304-288-5757.

DUI, Possession Of CDS Charges Issued To Driver

An Oakland man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a traffic stop last weekend.

A stop was conducted on a vehicle driven by Daniel Tyler Lewis, 23, at the intersection of Oak Street and S. 6th Street, Oakland, at approximately 3 a.m. He was reportedly stopped for crossing the centerline.

Investigation led to Lewis being charged with CDS (controlled dangerous substance) possession of not marijuana, CDS possession of paraphernalia, driving under the influence, DUI per se, and driving while impaired. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

THE SANDY DOUGLAS MEMORIAL INVITATIONAL FLYING SCOT REGATTA
by Dan Muss

This regatta is an annual event on Deep Creek Lake; it reminds us of the designer and first builder of the Flying Scot, and it's the only regular regatta here in which boats are invited to attend from off the lake. This past weekend there were eight visitors of the 44 boats that competed.

The principle race officer (PRO) for this regatta was Bruce Spinnenweber. The signal boat was manned by Quoc Tran and John Mandryk, and the chase boat was run by Ed and Judy Wetzel. This experienced and skilled team did a great job.

The forecast for Saturday was not propicious – light wind with a good chance for a thunderstorm in the afternoon. The storm held off until the Masters were off the water, and we had about 4–12 knots SW... perfect!

With my son Andrew crewing, we got a good start in the Masters Fleet and thought we were first around the first windward mark, when Vandall came up with an overlap, so we had to give him room. Then began a tight downwind match with Vandall rounding the first leeward mark just ahead of us. We duked it out with Vandall until the last windward leg, when we caught and passed him. We then covered him to get a hard-earned first.

In the afternoon race, the Challenger Fleet remained mostly tightly packed until that squall swept through the course with high winds and pelting rain. The swirling winds capsized Flying Scot 14, which was racing in her first regatta in her 60-year pleasure-sailing career. She was being skippered by Anthony Celo, with a pick-up crew who were caught with their spinnaker still up when the squall dunked them in the drink.

Winds were again SW and about 3–8 knots on Sunday, and, at times, quite variable in direction; e.g. on the second "downwind" leg we were all close-hauled for a while.

A few minutes before our start, I heard a "thump" from the stern; our rudder had come loose from the bottom gudgeon. At first we thought we could fix it on the water, but in order to reset the Flying Scot rudder one has to remove the tiller; so even if we started head-to-wind, the boat would turn one way or another and we would be helpless without being able to steer. So we headed to the nearest dock where a couple were watching the racing. We tied up, fixed the rudder, and said goodbye to the couple who had welcomed us warmly onto their dock.

We got a great start on Sunday and were out front until a series of bad tacks left us in last! We managed to eke out a fourth.

Mike Gellar filed this report from the Silver Fleet:

"This is my first year racing in the Silver Fleet, and my crew was Fred Paul. Our best, most exciting and memorable race of the regatta was the second. We got a great start a few boat-lengths from the pin and were out front. We did a good job of maintaining our lead and covering the boats behind us, and seemed to stay in phase with the windshifts.

"Things got exciting starting on the second downwind leg when a squall hit and the winds picked up considerably. We debated for only a couple seconds if we should raise the spinnaker and decided we could handle it. Soon after putting it up, the wind came up and we went for the ride of our lives. Neither of us had ever planed like that before, and we were flying! It was exhilarating, with a touch of concern

JOSH CUSTER TOURNEY AGAIN SUPPORTS WARM THE CHILDREN – The proceeds from the annual Josh Custer Memorial Softball Tournament totaling $1,200 were donated for the second year to Warm the Children (WTC), a program that provides new winter clothing and footwear to local children in need. This was the 6th annual tourney, which is held each June at the Broadford field in memory of Josh Custer, son of Bob and Pat Custer, who died in a car accident on Sept. 7, 2010. He was an active member of the community and the Oakland Softball League. The double-elimination tournament is organized by Doug Copeland, a longtime friend of Josh. Eight teams took part this year, with the winning team, pictured below, coached by Keith Chapman Jr. A total of $1,200 was donated to WTC, which is operated by the Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican newspaper. "A special thanks goes out to all who attended, participated in, and volunteered at this year's tournament," Copeland said. For information about next year's event, persons may contact him at 240-321-3868. Pictured above from left are Bob Custer; Pat Custer, who last year became a volunteer shopper for WTC; Betty Ellington, WTC volunteer coordinator and co-director; Mary McEwen, WTC co-director; and Copeland.

QDMA BANQUET SCHEDULED – The local branch of the Quality Deer Management Association (QDMA) will hold its 7th annual banquet on Saturday, Aug. 13, at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad hall. Doors will open at 5 p.m. "Once again, our community has come out in full force supporting our mission of ensuring the future of white-tailed deer, wildlife habitat, and our hunting heritage," said A.J. Fleming, branch president. "Furthermore, we are excited, knowing that a sense of awareness has grown, which continues to create improved age structure in the white-tailed deer herd and a more intense focus on predators that impact that population." The banquet will once again feature a live auction, as well as a silent auction. In addition, multiple firearms will be raffled off at the event. For ticket and/or sponsor information, persons are invited to contact Fleming at 301-387-5465 or afleming13@verizon.net.

Magic.

"The girls participated in a professional Broadway routine with a choreographer that was direct and a bit intense," Brosnihan said. "The theatre setting was incredible seeing how all the technical staff work together to put on productions. And the results were amazing. Josh pulled together an intricate and entertaining opening number with more than 170 dancers of various abilities. It was very impressive."

In addition to the group production number, each dance school had an opportunity to perform two of their own dances. Boundless Energy performed a fast-paced athletic sportaerobic routine, as well as a character dance with Rubix cubes to the Huey Lewis and the News song, "Hip to Be Square."

This is the local group's third Dance the Magic event, Brosnihan noted.

"And each time, our dances have stood out among the traditional genres of dance. The crowd and the organization love the energy and precision of sportaerobics," she said.

She said the events are affiliated with Disney and organized by director Debi Barr, a veteran dance teacher and event organizer.

"Her attention to detail and positivity for the dancers and their families is certainly true to the Disney standard," said Brosnihan.

The group was treated to orchestra seats at the Broadway show Aladdin, a VIP tour of the Empire State Building, a bowling party, double-decker city bus tours, and a dinner cruise on the Hudson rIVER with a view of the city skyline.

In addition to the events offered in the Dance the Magic package, several of the girls and their families saw the 9/11 memorial, museums, Central Park, and additional Broadway shows.

"We made the absolute most of every minute in New York," Brosnihan said. "The last day we had to stay near the hotel, so several of us decided to visit the nearby Good Morning America studio. We were outside jumping up and down, trying to be seen. It was reported by several of the girls' family members back home that they were indeed visible.

"All and all it was an amazing experience for a wonderful group of young ladies and their families," Brosnihan said. "We are grateful for all the love and support to make the trip possible by our friends, families, and community."

DANCING ON BROADWAY – Several young Garrett Countians danced their way onto a Broadway stage in New York City last week, as the members of Brenda's Body Shop's Boundless Energy dance team took part in Disney's Dance the Magic. The four-day program included workshops with professional dancers, sightseeing in the city, and the performance of two of the local team's own routines that were very well received by the international crowd, according to Brenda Brosnihan, coach and owner of the shop. See story on page A-1. Some of the local athletes are pictured above as they complete a routine on the stage of the New Amsterdam Theatre, one of the oldest performance spaces in New York. Shown from left are Ainsley Brantner, Kenzi Smith, Jordan Landis, Kaitlin Shaffer, and Brooke Holland. In the photo below, the team members gather under the marque bearing the local business's name. FLYING SPINNAKERS on Flying Scots is always an indication that the prevailing winds are substantial, and those were among the conditions at Deep Creek Lake on Saturday for the annual Sandy Douglas Memorial Invitational. Pictured above are the members of the Gold Fleet with their colorful, inflated spinnakers vying for the lead. Further evidence of strong – and in this case, swirling – wind conditions is the picture below showing a capsized Flying Scot #14, which was competing in "her" very first regatta. about rolling the boat. In hindsight, we should have moved back to sit on the transom, as waves were coming over the bow. We successfully got the chute down and rounded the leeward mark to head up for the finish.

"The wind was blowing harder by then and it was raining hard, and I was spilling the mainsail a lot upwind, fighting the waves and staying upright. I soon noticed that the mainsheet somehow got through the block twice! This was a big concern; if the mainsheet got stuck, we definitely would have gone over. We focused our attention to try to fix this, but couldn't untangle it. Fortunately, it was still functioning, so we then put our attention back to the finish. We had so much water on our glasses it was hard to pick out the committee boat in the driving rain. During our mainsheet distraction, another boat beat us to the finish ... but we came in second. That was a race to remember!"

HART For Animals Adoption Wing: The Dream Finally Becomes A Realty

"The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated. I hold that, the more helpless a creature, the more entitled it is to protection by man from the cruelty of man." – Mahatma Gandhi

by Renee Shreve

Thanks to the hard work, dedication, and generosity of hundreds of donors, volunteers, government agencies, and other supporters, the HART Adoption Wing came to fruition this past spring.

"The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams," said HART for Animal's executive director Paula Yudelevit at the April 15 ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The nonprofit organization was founded in 2003 with just two members, local residents Candy DeGiovanni and Caroline Robison, who began rescuing pets from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. Over the years, HART has saved the lives of more than 7,000 animals. DeGiovanni is now chair of HART's governing board of directors, and Robison is manager of the Adoption Wing and rescues.

The Chrostowski Family Adoption Wing is part of the 12,000-square-foot HART Animal Center, located near the Garrett County Airport at 1265 Bumble Bee Road. The facility currently has about 30 employees and 150 volunteers.

HART launched a fundraising campaign about 10 years ago to construct a "beautiful, unique" facility that would "operate with a staff dedicated to the wellbeing of animals and people-friendly policies." The group's mission is to "improve the lives of animals in western Maryland."

"The HART Center is the physical manifestation of what is inside our hearts," said Mercedes Pellet, HART's development director/treasurer. "This is something that was done for the love of animals, but also for the love of Garrett County."

She acknowledged that one would have to be "a little bit crazy" to take on such a huge challenge. The ambitious $3.5 million project, however, was accomplished in two phases. Phase I, completed in February 2014, consisted of the Bredel Veterinary Clinic, Bed 'n Bark Inn, Muttworks grooming salon, and related service areas and offices.

Phase II was the Adoption Wing. Outdoor canine exercise areas with fencing still need to be completed. The wing can house up to 60 cats, 60 dogs, and multiple litters of kittens and puppies. Many of those pets come from the Garrett County Animal Shelter, which, because of lack space, is not a no-kill facility.

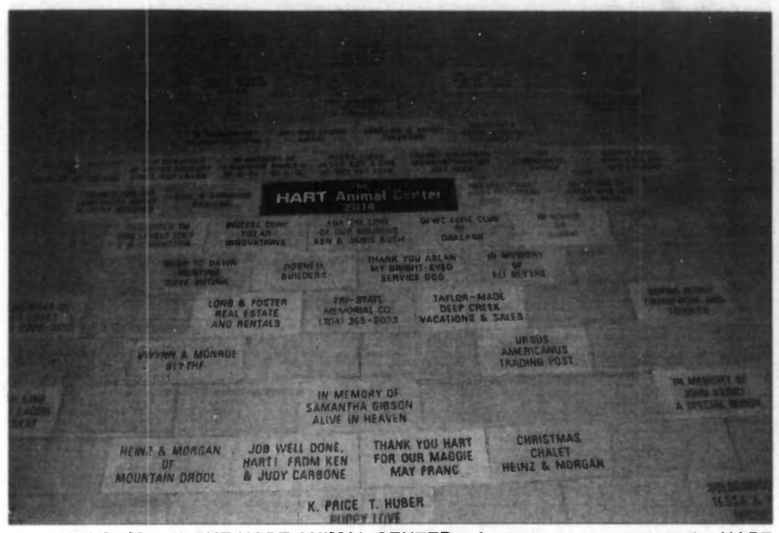
Funding sources for the center included a $1.62 million USDA Rural Development loan; numerous local, state, federal, and organizational grants; and, of course, private donations. A former Board of Garrett County Commissioners donated land for the center. Businesses and individuals have also contributed furnishings, artwork, expertise, and equipment. For example, Garrett Regional Medical Center donated one of its operating room lights to the vet clinic.

HART members may be dreamers, but they are also realists. As a former business owner, Mercedes keeps a close eye on the bottom line and adheres to a strict business plan. Loan installments, bills, and employee salaries have to be paid. And there has to be money coming in to cover those expenses. Much of Mercedes' time is spent applying for grants and researching other fundraising opportunities.

Before the center was even built, HART's goal was for the Bredel Vet Clinic, Muttworks, Bed 'n Bark, and HART Shoppe to help fund the Adoption Wing costs.

"It's working," Mercedes said about attracting clients to the center.

She noted that people are coming from as far away as Virginia and Pennsylvania to utilize the facilities or to adopt a pet. She indicated that the center's beautiful setting and welcoming atmosphere have been conducive in peaking people's interest.



WELCOME TO THE HART ANIMAL CENTER – As soon as one enters the HART for Animal Center, it is apparent that much time, effort, thought, and care went into the 12,000-square-foot facility. Phase I of the $3.5 million was completed in February 2014 and consists of the Bredel Veterinary Clinic, Bed 'n Bark Inn, Muttworks grooming salon, and related service areas. A ribbon-cutting ceremony for Phase II, the Chrostowski Family Adoption Wing was held on April 15. Above left, are pavers near the center's reception area that donors have purchased to honor/memorialize their loved ones and cherished pets. Numerous other opportunities are available to help HART's mission to "improve the lives of animals in western Maryland." See story for details Above right, Bed 'n Bark Inn guest Lady enjoys a cozy mid-morning nap in the sunlight-filled cat room. Below left, kittens in the Adoption Wing's kitten room vie for the attention of potential adopters. Below right, Simon, a bassett/beagle mix awaits his "forever home" in his clean, spacious dog den, which allows access to an outside fenced-in kennel. Shortly after these photos were taken, Simon and one of the kittens were adopted.

Mercedes quickly acknowledged, however, that donations have been "few and far between" since the center opened. She attributes the downturn to the fact that many people seem to think that since the center is up and running, that HART no longer needs money. That's not the case.

"We knew it was going to be a tough year going in," Mercedes said.

The wing does not generate any income. It is HART's "labor of love" and its purpose. Each pet awaiting a new home costs HART a minimum of $50, depending on its physical and medical condition.

It costs HART about $22,300 a month to operate the Adoption Wing. The approximate expenses are as follows: staffing, $13,092; food for 20 dogs and 20 cats, $900, medications for 34 dogs, $2,988; medications for 20 cats, $1,595; spays/neuters, $2,416; and microchips for 54 animals, $1,350.

All pets adopted from the wing are spayed or neutered at the Bredel Vet Clinic, treated for ticks and worms, vaccinated, and microchipped. In addition, adoptions manager/animal behaviorist Debbie Snyder and her volunteers help prepare the cats and dogs for their new homes.

It costs $175 to adopt an animal from HART because of all the time and effort spent in preparing it for a "forever home." Mercedes stressed that the work is necessary to help prevent the pet from being "dumped along the road somewhere." In addition, those who adopt a pet are encouraged to return it if issues arise.

HART also spends about $2,500 a month to evaluate, medicate, and transport animals from the county shelter. Some of them are brought to the wing. Others are transported to no-kill facilities down state. Recently, HART took 39 kittens to the Last Chance Animal Rescue in Waldorf.

Pets brought into the Garrett County Animal Shelter are quarantined for seven days and evaluated for adoptability. HART then transports some of them to the wing, where they are held another seven days in "Healthy Living" for further evaluation. The Adoption Wing is located far from the Bed 'n Bark, and adoptees do not come in contact with pet hotel guests, Mercedes stressed. There are even different air supply systems for the two areas.

Bed 'n Bark is open seven days a week for convenient check-ins and check-outs, and 24-hour security is provided. There are 25 "luxury" dog dens and suites with heated floors, doggie doors leading to private patios, and four outdoor runs. Multiple walks are provided, plus lots of "hugs and love."

For cats, there are spacious two-level condos for sleep and play, and an open sunlight-filled play area to keep the guests happy and alert.

Also available to the canine boarders and others is Muttworks, a full-service grooming spa for dogs of all sizes and shapes. Experienced local groomer Lindy Moebs oversees the operation, which is open Tuesdays through Saturdays.

The Bredel Vet Clinic is also open to the public and provides preventive and healing services for cats, dogs, and "pocket pets," and includes consultations, examinations, surgeries, vaccinations, spay/neuter surgeries, dentals, digital radiographs, and laboratory tests.

The clinic also provides low-cost and no-cost spays/neuters for pets whose owners have demonstrated a financial need. The procedures are paid for through grants and donations.

HART's Spay/Neuter Program began in 2009. Last year, 600 of the procedures were performed. So far this year, 400 have been done, according to Mercedes. She noted that the program opens each year in January, and by the end of the month most of the appointments for the first half of the year are booked.

There are several ways for individuals and businesses to assist HART. One unique way is through its naming opportunities campaign. Donations can be made in honor/memory of a person or pet. A plaque will be engraved and placed next to the structure/item in an area selected by the donor. Areas include exam and quarantine rooms at the vet clinic, cat condos and dog dens in the Bed 'n Bark, and cat condos and puppy pads in the Adoption Wing.

Names can also be engraved on pavers that are located in front of the center's reception desk.

"Dreams become reality one choice at a time," notes HART's website. "We've made the right choices for 10 years to turn the dream of the HART Animal Center into a reality. Please make a giving choice to help save the lives of homeless animals. Your support is essential."

For information about making a donation, persons are invited to contact HART board member Michael Pellet at 301-387-0805 or michael@hartforanimals.org.

PLAYING IT SAFE

A child trusts her parents to protect her from harm – they know the dangers that are out there. Her parents bring her to God's house each week. As a family, they learn of God's will for their lives, they bring peace and wellbeing to their home, and they introduce their children to God so they can grow up with His love and strength. What better source of protection is there? Play it safe and worship as a family.

Bound for Adventure

Humans are made for adventure. We all love a good adventure story, and if you are a student of history, you know that human beings have been seeking adventure from the dawn of history, and probably before, if the prehistoric cave paintings are any indication. What prompts one person to set off on foot over the range of mountains and another to fashion a boat or raft and set off across the ocean must be some sort of innate wanderlust. Whatever it is, we all have a hankering for adventure. This can be satisfied in big or small ways. Sometimes we set off on a path through the woods in our own backyard or decide to take our bicycle somewhere we've never been. Other times we opt for the adventure vacation, perhaps hiking in a remote wilderness or exploring an unfamiliar city. Of course the notion of adventure is relative. What one person considers wildly adventurous another may consider child's play. In any case, we should all indulge our spirit of adventure—safely, of course. It's not for nothing that the Bible is filled with great stories of adventure, from Noah's ark to Paul's shipwreck in the Mediterranean. God favors the bold.

— Christopher Simon

"I have been constantly on the move. I have been in danger from rivers, in danger from bandits, in danger from my fellow Jews, in danger from Gentiles; in danger in the city, in danger in the country, in danger at sea; and in danger from false believers."

— 2 Corinthians 11:26 NIV

Cameron Crowe brings his love of music to the small screen in 'Roadies'

By Jacqueline Spendlove
TV Media

They say you should write what you know, which is just what writer/director Cameron Crowe did when he penned the Oscar-winning screenplay for the 2000 film "Almost Famous." The semi-autobiographical drama draws from Crowe's time working as a journalist for Rolling Stone in his teens and has gained considerable acclaim.

Now, Crowe is returning to his music industry roots with his first scripted TV series, "Roadies." As the title concisely suggests, the dramedy shines a light on a group of roadies as they accompany a big-name band around the country, setting up lights, making soundboard magic happen and generally ensuring that the show goes on. A new episode of "Roadies" airs Sunday, Aug. 7, on Showtime.

Even as a young writer, Crowe landed a lot of major interviews in his green Rolling Stone days, from his first cover story on the Allman Brothers Band to Led Zeppelin to Lynyrd Skynyrd. He credits the roadies — the crew of technicians and support personnel that travels with a band on tour — with orchestrating a lot of these behind-the-scenes meetings, and, as such, wound up spending a lot of time with them.

"Roadies" is an extension of Crowe's glimpse into that world. It's easy to see a band perfonn, looking and sounding amazing, without considering the long hours, hard work and fierce dedication that goes on before and after the show to make it all happen. As Showtime touts, the show puts a spotlight on the "reckless, romantic, funny and often poignant lives" of these unsung heroes, giving a look at the music world through their eyes.

"I always fall in love with that backstage crowd," Crowe said in an interview with Entertainment Weekly. "The band is usually the least interesting group of people because they're there to work, but the other people are creating this magical spell around them."

To keep the focus on the titular roadies and their various goings-on, the fictional Staton-House Band is seldom seen and never heard. Luke Wilson ("Old School," 2003) steps away from the big screen and puts his affable persona to good use as Bill, the road-weary tour manager for the arena-level band.

Playing Bill's work-wife is Caria Gugino ("Night at the Museum," 2006) as Shelli, the production manager, brains of the operation and constant fire putter-outter. The two of them have a bit of a will-they-won't-they thing going on, but Shelli is married to a guy who himself is a far-flung roadie for Taylor Swift. Nonetheless, Bill and Shelli take on the "mom and dad" role in the makeshift family made up of the rest of the ragtag crew.

This includes Kelly Ann (Imogen Poots, "Need for Speed," 2014), an electrical guru who rigs a mean light and skates a mean board, and her twin brother, Wesley (Colson Baker, "Beyond the Lights," 2014), the band's coffee guy and "manny" for the lead singer's horrific son.

Tough and no-nonsense Donna (Keisha Castle-Hughes, "The Almighty Johnsons") is the sound engineer, Milo (Peter Cambor, "NCIS: Los Angeles") is the bass guitar tech, and loud and grizzled Phil (Ron White, "Horrible Bosses," 2011) is the band's seasoned road manager.

In "Roadies," the gang must contend with Reg Whitehead (Rafe Spall, "Shaun of the Dead," 2004), a slick corporate suit sent in to overhaul tour expenses by making the crew do more with less. Unsurprisingly, he's met with hostility by the tight-knit group, who want nothing to do with him or the cuts he's out to make for the sake of the almighty dollar.

The series debuted In June, and though there's no doubt that it has a lot of potential, ratings have been unimpressive and reviews mixed. The common critique is that the writing simply falls flat, and so far the show hasn't done enough with the available material and talent. In fairness, though, it can be a challenge to do justice to such a sizable main cast, and though the first three episodes were particularly heavily criticized, the series really hadn't had enough time to properly flesh out the individual characters and get us invested with them.

> Still, with so much big-name talent both onscreen and off
> — Hollywood

Still, with so much big-name talent both onscreen and off — Hollywood juggernaut J.J. Abrams is a longtime friend of Crowe's, and one of the show's executive producers — there's definitely time to turn things around. After all, this is an angle that's seldom been given proper attention onscreen, and if "Roadies" can just find its footing and tighten up its writing, there's no doubt that it can become great.

"Roadies" may not have hit its stride yet, but it's definitely a show to root for. Catch a new episode of Crowe's small-screen debut when it airs Sunday, Aug. 7, on Showtime.

Three actors return for a third season of 'American Crime'

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Crime, times three: The third season of "American Crime" will have a familiar look. The critically acclaimed ABC crime drama (which shouldn't be confused with the similarly named "American Crime Story" on FX) is still in the planning stages for its third season, but a number of actors who have starred in the first two have signed up to make it a hat trick.

Richard Cabral ("Paranormal Activity: The Marked Ones," 2014) is the latest to sign up for the anthology series' third season. His performance in the show's first installment earned him an Emmy nomination, and in the second he played a computer hacker.

Emmy winner Felicity Huffman ("Desperate Housewives") has also signed on for a third season, along with Regina King ("The Leftovers"), who took home a Best Supporting Actress Emmy for her performance in the show's first season.

"American Crime" is one of a wave of anthology shows that have become popular in the past few years. Much like "American Horror Story," each season of "American Crime" is self-contained, telling its own story that is not connected to the others. Although many of the same actors stay from season to season, they play different characters each time, giving them a chance to really stretch their proverbial acting muscles.

Although details of the third season's plot are scarce, a few details have leaked out. This season of "American Crime," which will likely premiere midseason like the previous two, will be set in North Carolina and deal with individual rights, economic inequality and topical labor issues.

"American Crime" has never shied away from exploring some of the most explosive issues of the day, and it's looking like the third season will be no different. Its cast of familiar faces in all new roles will likely make its debut midway through the upcoming TV season.

Back in 'Black': A celebrated actor is heading to the emergency room — as a doctor, not as a patient. CBS's medical drama "Code Black" returns for a second season Wednesday, Sept. 28, and when it does, Rob Lowe will be the newest face in the ER.

Lowe earned a Best Actor nomination at this year's Golden Globes for his role in "The Grinder," but that's only the latest of his numerous recognitions. Most famously, he starred in "The West Wing" during its first four seasons, a role that netted him several nominations.

After his departure from the White House drama, he's kept busy starring in "Brothers & Sisters," "Parks and Recreation" and lending his voice talents to the animated series "The Lion Guard."

In "Code Black," Lowe will play Col. Ethan Willis, a research doctor who has been brought back from Afghanistan to share with the doctors at Angels Memorial Hospital some of what the military has learned about combat medicine. His character is described as a rule breaker with an aggressive style who has trouble fitting in with most of the other doctors in the emergency room.

"Code Black's" second season will see the stars of its first season reunite. Marcia Gay Harden ("Mystic River," 2003), Melanie Chandra ("The Brink"), Luis Guzmán ("Anger Management," 2003), Hany Ford ("Louder Than Bombs," 2015), Jillian Murray ("Murder in the First"), Benjamin Hollingsworth ("The Joneses," 2009) and William Allen Young ("District 9," 2009) are all returning.

"Code Black" is a medical drama set in the emergency room of the Angels Memorial Hospital, where a group of doctors and first-year medical residents not only have to deal with the constant medical issues that all emergency rooms have, but also the stress that comes from being understaffed.

The second season of "Code Black," with new cast member Lowe, premieres Wednesday, Sept. 28, on CBS.

Saturday

Say Yes to the Dress: Atlanta

(54) TLC 9:00 a.m.

TLC kicks off Saturday with eight back-to-back episodes of this bridal fashion series. In this rebroadcast, country singer Stephanie has only 13 days until her wedding to find the perfect dress. Also, Krischell's online vision board features 500 dresses.

The Kitchen

(60) FOOD 11:00 a.m.

The hosts invite viewers to chill out in the summer heat in this new episode. Learn to make Marcela Valladolid's cilantro pesto pasta salad, Jeff Mauro's sweet corn summer gazpacho and Katie Lee's chilled "beet" the heat soup

Last Man Standing

(3) (4) (4) 8:00 p.m.

Mike (Tim Allen) builds Vanessa (Nancy Travis) a "she shed" in their yard when he believes she's using too much space in their home to work in this rebroadcast. Elsewhere, Kyle (Christoph Sanders) has trouble coping with a surprise.

Rush Hour

(3) (5) (3) (19) 8:00 p.m.

Justin Hires stars as Det. Carter, a maverick LAPD cop who's paired with Det. Lee (Jon Foo), a by-the-book detective from Hong Kong. Also starring Wendie Malick and Aimee Garcia, this action comedy is based on the feature film series of the same name.

Anthony Bourdain: Parts Unknown

(31) CNN 8:00 p.m.

Travel the world with Anthony Bourdain as CNN presents an evening of this fascinating series. In this rebroadcast, he tours Bahia, an area known as the "African heart of Brazil" because of its Afro-Brazilian music, art, design and food.

My Summer Prince

(43) HALL 9:00 p.m.

After a prince's (Jack Turner) partying ways land him in hot water, the royal family hires a PR consultant (Lauren Holly) to do damage control in this premiere movie. When the consultant falls ill, her assistant (Taylor Cole) steps in.

Boston EMS

(3) (4) (4) 10:00 p.m.

Some of Boston's most seasoned first responders allow cameras to follow them as they help citizens in trouble in a new episode of this documentary series. Find out what really happens after people dial 9-1-1.

Jack Turner and Taylor Cole in "My Summer Prince"

Strange BUT TRUE

* It was notorious American self-described "gonzo journalist" Hunter S. Thompson who made the following sage observation: "Life should not be a journey to the grave with the intention of arriving safely in a pretty and well-preserved body, but rather to skid in broadside in a cloud of smoke, thoroughly used up, totally worn out, and loudly proclaiming 'Wow! What a ride!'"

* Spread out your fingers as far as you can, then measure the distance between the end of your thumb and the opposite side of your palm. That distance is known as your shaftment.

* Roto-Rooter, the plumbing and drain service company, conducts an annual survey of its technicians to find out what sorts of things are being found in customers' pipes. Among the more interesting items over the years have been Barbies, false teeth, TV remotes, alligators and six-packs of beer.

* Over the past 100 years, the life expectancy of the average American has risen from 47 to 78.

* Those who study such things say that, on a per-capita basis, Canadians consume more macaroni and cheese than citizens of any other country in the world.

* Railroads in Japan have a persistent problem: turtles. It seems the reptiles have a habit of wandering onto the tracks, and many of them get stuck between the switching rails. This prevents the switches from closing properly, causing train accidents. To address the problem, the West Japan Railway Company consulted with the Suma Aqualife Park in Kobe; together, they created tunnels under the tracks to allow the turtles to pass freely without endangering railway passengers -- or themselves.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Aug. 14, 1784, a Russian fur trader founds Three Saints Bay, the first permanent Russian settlement in Alaska. In 1867, Secretary of State William H. Seward signed a treaty with Russia for the purchase of Alaska for $7.2 million, a bargain at 2 cents an acre.

* On Aug. 10, 1846, President James Polk signs the Smithsonian Institution Act into law. In 1829, James Smithson died, leaving behind a will giving money to the United States for the creation of the "Smithsonian Institution" and a fortune worth well over $500,000.

* On Aug. 13, 1899, Alfred Hitchcock, the macabre master of moviemaking, is born in London. His innovative directing techniques made "The Master of Suspense" one of the most influential filmmakers of the 20th century.

* On Aug. 11, 1965, in the Watts neighborhood of Los Angeles, two white policemen scuffle with a black motorist suspected of drunken driving, sparking a riot. Five days of violence left 34 people dead, 1,032 injured and nearly 4,000 arrested.

* On Aug. 8, 1974, with impeachment proceedings underway, President Richard Nixon announces he will resign as president of the United States.

* On Aug. 9, 1985, Arthur Walker, a retired U.S. Navy officer, is found guilty of espionage for passing top-secret documents to his brother John, who then passed them to Soviet agents. John Walker, also a Navy veteran, had been involved in spying for the Soviets since 1968.

* On Aug. 12, 1990, fossil hunter Susan Hendrickson finds three huge bones jutting out of a cliff near Faith, South Dakota, part of the largest and most complete Tyrannosaurus rex skeleton ever discovered. Nicknamed "Sue," the skeleton is 42 feet long, and its massive 2,000-pound skull has 58 teeth. It can be seen today at the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago.

When Is Best Time to Train Your Dog?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I've tried to work in obedience training with my puppy, "Spaetzle," during her morning and evening walks, because I read somewhere that this is the most efficient way to do it. But she doesn't seem to pay attention, and I feel like we're not getting very far. Am I doing something wrong? -- Don in Chapel Hill, North Carolina

DEAR DON: It's not that you're doing anything wrong, it's that maybe training during walks isn't right for Spaetzle. Observe your dog throughout the day for a few days. Are there times when she appears to be more receptive to your commands? More responsive? Are there times when she is really hyper and times when she is very relaxed? Take note of these behaviors and the time of day when they seem more common. Then, adjust your behavior training to take place during these times and see how she responds. Some dogs are extremely focused on certain core tasks, like, "Hey, it's time to eat. I'm pretty sure it's time to feed me. I need to eat. I can't think of anything else until you feed me!" Or, when Spaetzle is out for her walk, she may be focused on finding the perfect places to pee or poop. That's where her attention is going. So more complex commands may go right past her. You can work on simpler behavioral training and commands throughout the day. During walks, of course, is the best time to train her to heel, sit and stay. At treat times, teach a command before giving a treat. Train when the opportunity presents itself. Most of all, be patient and encourage her, always. Send your tips, questions or comments to ask@pawscorner.com.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: My grandmother was raised in Weymouth, Massachusetts. In 1909, when she got married, she received three vases crafted by William Henry Grueby, a Boston potter. Although I am not all that familiar with pottery from this period, I think all three are in the Arts and Crafts style. Are Grueby pieces worth keeping? -- Ramona, Augusta, Maine

A: According to Schroeder's Antiques Price Guide published by Collector Books, your vases could be quite valuable.

William Henry Grueby began working with tiles when he was about 15 years old. He later founded the Grueby Faience Company in Boston and began experimenting with art pottery. He developed glazes in blue, gray, yellow, brown and cucumber green. What made his glazes unique is they were executed in soft shades without gloss. In 1900, Grueby exhibited his work at the Paris Exposition Universelle, where he won three gold medals.

Grueby's pottery was hand-thrown and hand-decorated. While making art pottery, he also continued to design and produce tiles. I can't find any evidence that his art pottery was made after about 1910. Depending on the style of your vases, they could be worth several thousand dollars each. For example, a six-sided vase with leaves in green recently sold for $2,000. Some of his others have sold for even more. I suggest you hire the services of a good certified personal property appraiser and get them documented for insurance purposes.

Q: I am enclosing pictures and need you to identify and tell me what these two pans were used for. I bought them at auction about 35 years ago and have never seen others like them. I also need a price range value. D-Linda, Darlington, Indiana

A: Your question is a little like showing me a picture of a brick and asking me what kind of structure it came from. Your pans could have been used to prepare food on a working farm. My grandmother had several such pans, which she used when preparing apples for cider and grapes for juice. I don't make appraisals, and since it is not known where your pans were made or by whom, I can't provide any additional information.

Peanuts in the Shell

Nothing brings birds into your yard like raw or roasted unsalted peanuts in the shell. Birds cannot resist them. And these are not just the bigger birds like blue jays, crows and woodpeckers. I've seen smaller birds like wrens, titmice and cardinals carry these gems off as well.

A LABOR OF LOVE AND HONOR – When 8-year-old Samantha "Sam" Paige, daughter of Alex and Tammy Mellott, Oakland, (pictured) spends time with her Gram, Carolyn Mellott, in Battle Creek, Mich., they often work on quilts together. Gram makes quilts for wounded soldiers for the Quilts of Valor project. Her sewing group made and donated over 50 quilts last year to that organization. Sam's Uncle Tim served in Iraq and came home with some injuries, so supporting military veterans has become important to the members of her family. Sam decided last year that, with the help of Gram, she was going to make a quilt for a veteran. Sam chose the colors, and Gram helped her sew. They did a little bit at a time, and finally, after all the piecework was completed, Gram made sure that the quilting was done to perfection. The finishing touch was adding the special patch identifying who made the quilt, and why. Gram asked her granddaughter if she really wanted to give away her very first quilt, and Sam said she was sure. "She smiled so big when she held it up to show it off," said Gram, "and she hopes that the vet who receives it has a big smile, too!"

Hogan, Franchot Call Attention To Tax-Free Week

Maryland Governor Larry Hogan will join Comptroller Peter Franchot in Frederick next Wednesday, Aug. 10, to promote the annual Shop Maryland Tax-Free Week, which will run from Sunday, Aug. 14, through Saturday, Aug. 20. During that week, any single, qualifying article of clothing or footwear priced $100 or less – regardless of how many items are purchased at the same time – will be exempt from the state's 6 percent sales tax.

"I'm delighted Governor Hogan will join me to let Marylanders know about an opportunity to keep more of their hard-earned money as they shop back-to-school sales for their children or themselves," Franchot said. "A break on the cost of clothing and shoes can make a real difference and help stretch family budgets. Local retailers also benefit with increased foot traffic."

Cailey Locklair Tolle, president of the Maryland Retailers Association, said "Tax-free week is an excellent opportunity for Marylanders to take advantage of apparel and footwear tax savings priced at less than $100 per item. The week provides a much-needed boost to brick-and-mortar retailers in our state, and we encourage all consumers to support their local businesses."

Resulting from legislation passed by the Maryland General Assembly in 2007, the tax-free week is held annually during the second full week in August.

Businesses selling items that are not eligible for inclusion in the tax-free week can still participate in Shop Maryland. Under "Sellers Privilege," other unqualified merchandise can be sold tax-free, but the retailer is responsible for paying the sales tax owed to the state.

For more information on qualifying items, persons are invited to visit the Comptroller of Maryland's website at www.marylandtaxes.com, e-mail taxhelp@comp.state.md.us or call 410-260-7980.

Town Hall

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

The office of the town of Mountain Lake Park will be closed on Friday, Aug. 12, and Monday, Aug. 15.

The last brush and sticks pickup for 2016 will be Friday, Aug. 26. This pickup is limited to small amounts of limbs and sticks, which must be placed along the roadway for pick up. The pile is limited to four feet wide, four feet high, and 12 feet long (4x4x12). If large piles exist, the homeowner will be responsible for removal. The town will not pick up brush resulting from tree removal or lot clearing. Brush may not be put along the roadway until the day before the scheduled pick up.

A yard sale permit is required to have a yard sale at any residence. Residents are allowed only one yard sale per calendar year. The cost of a permit is $10. The only sign permitted in town is one placed at the residence. No other signs may be placed anywhere within the town.

ANOTHER CUTE BABY? Well, not everyone would agree on the cuteness part when looking at this baby copperhead that was discovered Sunday in Sharon Baum's woodpile at Turkey Neck. While copperheads are not often seen in the county, clearly they are at times, and are one of two "local" poisonous snake species. The other is the rattlesnake, usually the timber rattler. Ruth Enlow Libraries To Participate In One Maryland One Book Project

The Ruth Enlow Library will participate in this year's One Maryland One Book project – a program designed to bring diverse groups of Marylanders together in library, school, or community settings to share a common reading experience by discussing a work of literature and participating in related events.

Several programs are planned around this year's selected book – All American Boys by Jason Reynolds and Brendan Kiely. Two adult book discussions will take place, one at the Accident branch of the library on Thursday, Sept. 8, from 5:30 to 7 p.m., and the other at the Oakland library on Monday, Oct. 17, from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Two teen book clubs will discuss the selection on Wednesday, Sept. 7, with the Accident Teen Book Club to meet at 5:30 p.m. and the Oakland Young Adult Book Club at 6 p.m. The library will also partner with Our Town Theatre to present a Readers' Theater using a script adaptation of the book. The show is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m.

All events are free and open to the public, and copies of the book are available for participants at the Accident and Oakland libraries. Registration is required for the book discussions by contacting Crystal at the Accident library at 301-746-8792 or crystal@relib.net; Bonnie at the Oakland library for the adult discussion at 301-334-3996, ext. 117, or bonnie@relib.net); or Susanne Kight for the teen discussion 301-334-3996, ext. 101, or skight@relib.net). Teens or adults interested in participating in the Readers' Theater should email Michael Virts at jvirts@hotmail.com.

Krista McKenzie, instructional and reference librarian at Garrett College will facilitate the adult discussions in both Accident and Oakland. A former children's specialist and branch manager for the Ruth Enlow Library, McKenzie earned her bachelor of science in English, philosophy, and secondary education from Frostburg State University in 2001. Several years later, she achieved her master's in education and an MBA from FSU, and a master's in library and information science from Drexel University in 2010. A member of the American Library Association and the Maryland Library Association, McKenzie has presented at the local, state, and national levels and is a board member of the Young Adult Library Services Association.

"This year's OMOB selection tells the powerful and relatable story of two highschoolers brought together by injustice," said a spokesperson. "What would you do if you witnessed something you never would have believed? And how do you know you're doing the right thing?"

Reynolds earned a BA in English from the University of Maryland, College Park, before moving to Brooklyn, N.Y., to pursue a career in writing. He is the author of the critically acclaimed When I Was the Greatest, for which he was the recipient of the Coretta Scott King/John Steptoe Award for New Talent. He received the Coretta Scott King Author Honor Book award for Boy in the Black Suit and All American Boys (co-written with Brendan Kiely), and As Brave as You.

Kiely received his MFA from the City College of New York. He is the author, with Reynolds, of the Coretta Scott King Author Honor Book All American Boys. His debut novel, The Gospel of Winter, has been published in 10 languages and was selected as one of the American Library Association's Top 10 Best Fiction for Young Adults 2015. It was also a Kirkus Reviews selection for the Best of 2014. Originally from the Boston area, Kiely now lives with his wife in Greenwich Village, N.Y.

One Maryland One Book is Maryland's only statewide community reading project and is the signature program of the Maryland Center for the Book at Maryland Humanities. Initiated in fall 2008, this yearlong project culminates with two months of public programs, using literature to spur conversations in communities around the state.

More information about the program and author tours is available at www.mdhumanities.org/programs/one-maryland-one-book.

Our Town Theatre is funded in part by grants from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Additional support for this program is provided by Western Maryland Regional Library, the regional resource center for the public libraries of Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties.

A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library is available on the website at www.relib.net. Readers are also encouraged to follow the library on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RuthEnlowLibrary.

Summer To Be Celebrated With Special Service

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will offer a special musical service this Sunday, Aug. 7, beginning at 10 a.m. The service is titled "Of the Land and Seasons," prepared by Revs. Stephen and Beth Folkemer of Gettysburg, Pa., according to the pastor of St. Mark's, Rev. C. Scott Robinson. The congregation uses the service to mark each season of the year, with this service to celebrate summer.

The music is set to traditional folk tunes, and the liturgy is based on evangelical Lutheran texts that paraphrase settings of the Holy Communion service inspired by the four seasons and the "rural rhythms of work and life," the pastor said.

The songs and hymns will be accompanied by traditional Appalachian instruments, as is intended, such as violin, guitar, hammered dulcimer, and mandolin, as well as piano.

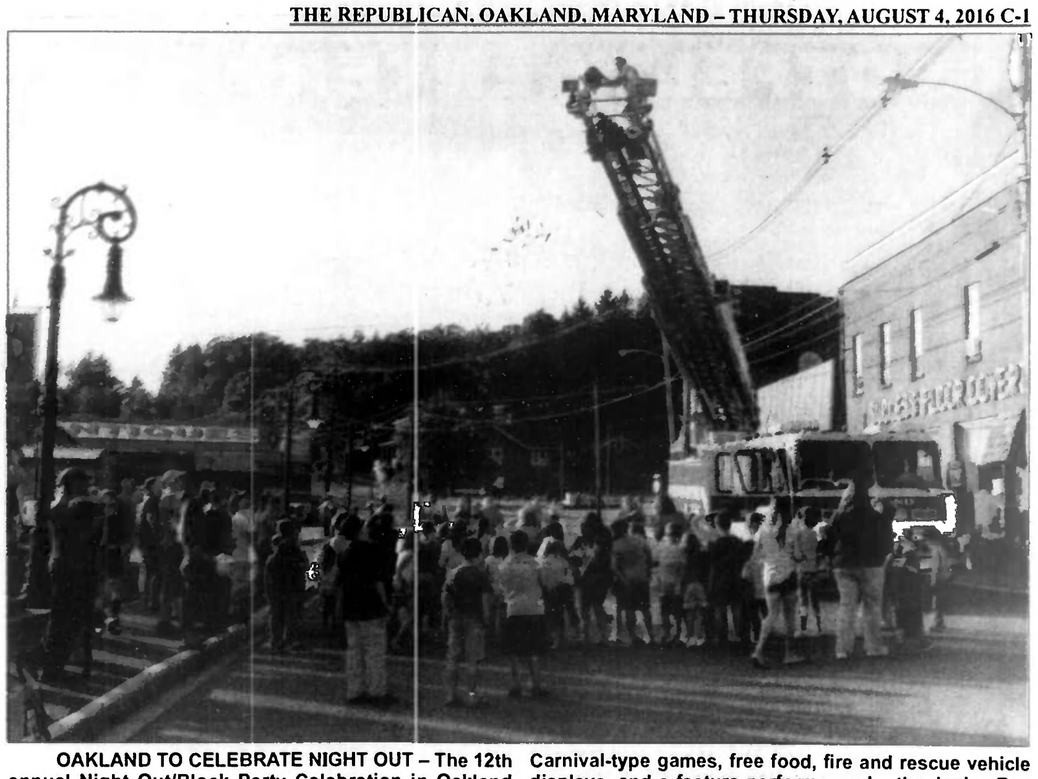
"The service is designed to be a reminder of our shared dependence on the Earth and our creator," Pastor Robinson said.

Musicians to perform are Robinson on guitar, Tim DeWitt and Jeff Gilbert on mandolin, Laura Robinson on piano, Mike Broderick on violin, and Susan Peterson on flute.

The church choir, directed by Jim Tong, will sing an anthem, as well as lead the singing for the special service.

Dr. Steve Folkemer is director of music at the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, and his wife Beth is an alumna of the seminary and is assigned to the Lower Susquehanna Synod of the ELCA (Evangelical Lutheran Church in America). She has written several hymns and service music, usually set to English or Appalachian folk tunes.

All are invited to attend the service, and all are welcome to receive Holy Communion. The church is located at the corner of Second and Center streets in Oakland. The office can be reached at 301-334-2668.



OAKLAND TO CELEBRATE NIGHT OUT – The 12th annual Night Out/Block Party Celebration in Oakland will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 9, from 6 to 9 p.m. in front of the Oakland train station. Last year's candy drop from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department's ladder truck is pictured. This event is designed to strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships, a spokesperson said. Officers from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police will be on hand to help lead the activities and be part of the community. Carnival-type games, free food, fire and rescue vehicle displays, and a feature performance by the Janice Ray Band will all be part of the night's events. Oakland's Night Out is being sponsored by Club 21550 with financial support from the Town of Oakland, the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #99, and a mini-grant from the Garrett County Health Department. For more information, persons may contact Kendra McLaughlin, Linda Costello, or Heather Berg at the health department at 301-334-7730.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the website: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.asp. The center also has a Facebook page.

Friday, Aug. 5

• 11 a.m. – Creating an Owl. Guests can join the naturalist and discuss the adaptations and secrets of owls. Then meet one of the Discovery Center's owls up close and create a model of it. Develop nature journaling skills through observation and drawing or just come for fun.

• 1 p.m. – Deep Creek Loop Hike. All are invited to meet at Park Headquarters (898 State Park Rd., Swanton) to join the park ranger on an invigorating 2.5 hour, 5-mile hike through the northern hardwoods forest at Deep Creek Lake. Walkers will see blooming wildflowers along this moderate trail up to the Thayerville fire tower past the Brant Mine, then back down through the Indian Turnip Trail. Sturdy hiking boots and water are recommended.

• 2 p.m. – Tie Dye on the Beach. Meet on the beach to make a personal tie-dyed shirt with an original conservation message. Cost is $12 per shirt. (1 hour)

Saturday, Aug. 6

• 11 a.m. – Hungry Critters. Guests are invited to meet the naturalists inside the Discovery Center as they feed the center's animals. Participants may be able to touch a live reptile or amphibian. Free.

• 2 p.m. – Little Guard. Children ages 5 to 12 years old are invited to meet at the beach and learn the skills of a lifeguard. Kids will run a relay, practice throwing a lifesaving device, learn how to recognize a troubled swimmer, and more. No swimming required. Free.

• 8 p.m. – Campfire Program: Scales and Tales. Guests are invited to join the naturalist to meet a few of the center's resident animals, hear their stories, learn facts, and take photos. Afterwards there will be free marshmallows for roasting.

Sunday, Aug. 7

• 11 a.m. – First Impressions. This interactive program shows that even "creepy crawlies with bad reputations" have their own important roles in nature. For all ages.

• 2 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to learn about the center's birds of prey, hear stories, and watch the raptors eat.

Monday, Aug. 8

• 10 a.m. – Fishing with the Naturalist. Guests age 7 and older are invited to join the park naturalist for a course on fishing basics. Poles, bait, and tackle are provided. The cost is $4 per person, and adults (16+) must have their license. Preregistration is required, as space is limited.

• 2 p.m. – Aquatic Adventures. Guests are invited to join the naturalist in the Discovery Room of the center for this activity. The group will head to the docks to use the aqua scopes and dip nets into Deep Creek Lake to catch fish and other animals that live there.

Tuesday, Aug. 9

• 10 a.m. – What's That Reptile? Guests are invited to come to the Discovery Center to learn about the reptiles and amphibians that reside there, and perhaps have a chance to touch the cold-blooded creatures.

• 2 p.m. – Butterflies and Flowers. All are invited to join the naturalist for a walk around the Discovery Center grounds observing the butterflies that use native plants. The difference between native and non-native plants and their effects on the environment will be discussed.

Wednesday, Aug. 10

• 8 a.m. – Birding at Deep Creek. Guests will learn how to bird by sight and sound as they listen for distinctive songs on a stroll through the park. Experienced and beginner birders can meet around the Discovery Center. Birders should bring their own binoculars.

• 10 a.m. – Story, Craft, and Animal Meet & Greet. All are invited to join local author Deborah Brenneman as she reads from Fidgets Foley, a book about peregrine falcons; make a craft; and meet the center's falcon. Free.

• 2 p.m. – Buzz Into Pollination, Bzzzz, Bzzzz. All are invited to "come see what all the buzz is about." There are more pollinators than just bees, and there would not be most of the current crops without these small creatures. Guests may come learn all about it, and make a special craft to take home and plant to help support wandering pollinators.

Thursday, Aug. 11

• 9:30 a.m. – Brant Mine Hike. Guests can join a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. The hike begins in the center's mine room. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that was operated in the 1920s, as well as possibly some wildlife along the way. Moderate walking. (Approx. 2 hours)

• 1 to 3 p.m. – Smokey Bear Visit. Smokey will be at the Discovery Center during these two hours. All are invited to stop by for a photo and to meet this important bear.

HERRINGTON MANOR/SWALLOW FALLS STATE PARKS

Herrington Manor State Park, located at 222 Herrington Lane near Oakland. The office can be reached at 301-334-9180, or persons may visit the website: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/herrington.asp. Some activities are at Swallow Falls State Park. located close to Herrington. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice, and are weather dependent. Hiking shoes are recommended for the guided hikes. Children age 14 and younger must be accompanied by a parent at all times.

Saturday, Aug. 6

• 8:30 p.m. – Campfire Program. Visitors may meet at Herrington Manor Campfire Ring and join the park ranger for some s'mores. This gives all campers the opportunity to meet and greet some fellow cabin or campground neighbors, and to ask questions and find out what happenings and events are taking place in the local area.

Sunday, Aug. 7

• 3 p.m. – Guided Hike Along the Green Trail. Hikers should meet at the Herrington Manor Ranger Station to join the park ranger on a guided hike along the Green Trail. Walkers will see some of the local flora and learn about one of Herrington Manor's newest projects – the Wildflower Meadow

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

Look Good, Feel Better Workshop Set For Aug. 16

Garrett Regional Medical Center and the American Cancer Society will hold the next Look Good... Feel Better workshop on Tuesday, Aug. 16, from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. at the Wellness Education Center located behind the hospital along Pythian Ave. The workshop is for individuals currently undergoing treatment for cancer.

Look Good... Feel Better is a national public service program dedicated to teaching women and teenage cancer patients techniques to help restore their appearance and self-image, and how to deal with the sociological side effects they experience during treatment. Volunteer cosmetologists help with the workshop that includes a 12-step skin and makeup program. Cosmetics for the program are free of charge, courtesy of the American Cancer Society, the Cosmetics, Toiletry & Fragrance Association Foundation, and the National Cosmetics Association.

The program is offered free of charge, and each participant receives a complimentary makeup kit valued at $250. For those who cannot attend a workshop, self-help materials, including a video and instructional booklet, are available. Preregistration is required. To register and/or obtain more information, persons are invited to contact Bev Rasel at 301-533-4366 or Gina Artice, RN, cancer patient navigator, at 301-533-4133.

Local Principal Attends DEN Event

Karen DeVore, principal of Northern Middle School, joined 49 fellow principals from around the world for the 2016 DEN (Discovery Education Network) Summer Institute (DENSI) Principal Summit, an immersive, four-day professional development and networking experience. She is pictured with Lance Rougeux, vice president of learning communities and innovation for Discovery Education.

A global community of education professionals supported by Discovery Education, DEN connects members across school systems and around the world through social media, virtual conferences, and in-person events, fostering networking, idea sharing, and inspiration, a spokesperson said. The professional learning experience was held July 14 to 17 at Loyola University in Chicago, Ill.

At the event, DeVore learned new strategies for using technology and digital content. Participants engaged in dialogue on topics such as supporting teachers through the digital transition, digital literacy across the curriculums, building a school's brand, and how to showcase a school's success to the community.

"I am honored to have been selected to participate in the DENSI 2016 Principal Summit. During this experience I learned from and connected with other innovative principals from across North America who share a passion for using the latest technologies and digital content to support the success of each learner," said DeVore. "I am excited to share these new, creative strategies and techniques for advancing student achievement with my colleagues at Garrett County Public Schools, so even more students can benefit from this great professional learning opportunity."

DeVore was selected to attend the DENSI Principal Summit through a competitive application process which involved written and video explanations of how she is helping transform teaching, learning, and culture at her school, and how she will share with others what she learned during the summit.

"Karen's selection for the DENSI Principal Summit demonstrates her outstanding leadership and commitment to using the latest technologies and innovative teaching strategies and techniques to improve student achievement," said Rougeux. "Her participation in DENSI 2016 will help increase student engagement across Garrett County Public Schools, and support her district's effort to prepare all learners with the critical skills they need to succeed beyond the classroom."

For more information about the DEN Summer Institute, persons may visit www.discoveryeducation.com/what-we-offer/community/connect-with-the-den/den-summer-institute.cfm.

To learn more about the DEN and Discovery Education's other services and initiatives, persons may go to www.discoveryeducation.com.

Did Nancy Hufford Kill Three of Her Husbands?

by James Rada Jr.

Editor's note: This is the first of two articles about Grantsville's alleged black-widow murderess Nancy Hufford.

"If looks could kill..."

Many people thought that Nancy Woodin found a way to make that turn of a phrase come true. Married four times, she must have been attractive enough to catch the eye of many men. The problem was that three of her husbands seemed to die before their time.

Nancy Woodin was the daughter of William and Sally Woodin. William was born in Howard County, but he came to present-day Garrett County to work as an innkeeper and merchant.

Records are not complete about Nancy At some point, she married John Yeast. He died on July 22, 1833. He left no will, so the court appointed John Layman to administer his estate.

Jacob Brown, a lawyer in the Grantsville area, wrote that Yeast was a young man who had enjoyed "perfect health and strength, yet death came in early manhood and with it grave suspicions of foul play, insidious poison supposed to be the cause of his sudden death, the wife in later years strongly suspected of being the author of his death, as well as similar ones."

Only seven months after Yeast's death, Nancy married Layman. Layman, like William Woodin, was a successful innkeeper along the National Pike. During this marriage, Nancy bought a lot along Main Street in Grantsville in her own name. While somewhat unusual for the time, she may have used the inheritance from her father to make the purchase.

Nancy's second marriage ended after 11 years when Layman died on Sept. 23, 1845. No suspicions seem to have been raised at the time, and Nancy inherited all of her husband's property.

In 1848, Nancy married for the third time – to Samuel Hufford.

"By 1850, she is a woman of considerable wealth; Nancy Woodin Yeast Layman Hufford owned a third of John Yeast's estate, a third of John Layman's property, and probably a fourth of her father's," Mrs. John A. Cupler Sr. wrote in Journal of the Alleghenies.

This marriage lasted less than three years, as her third husband suffered an untimely death.

It wasn't until the next death that Nancy was connected to that suspicion, and accusations arose.

When Rebecca Engle became violently ill on Sept. 22, 1851, Nancy came to care for her Doctors couldn't figure out why the pregnant woman was in such pain. She wasn't miscarrying the baby or going into labor, but she was wasting away.

"Meanwhile, Nancy stayed on, 'taking care' of the invalid, carrying medicine, cups of tea, and bowls of milk-toast, which she caused Rebecca to swallow," Cupler wrote.

The baby was eventually born, but Rebecca didn't recover from the childbirth. She died a week later.

"Suspicions at once arose in and out of the Engle mansion that there had been foul play," wrote the Cumberland Evening Times in a 1907 article about the case.

It was those suspicions that would begin unraveling the questionable deaths in Nancy's life.

Watch for the conclusion in next week's issue.

WOODMEN DONATE FLAGS – The Oakland chapter of WoodmenLife recently presented enough flags to the towns of Kitzmiller and Loch Lynn to line their streets sufficiently. The flags were presented to Kitzmiller prior to Memorial Day, and to Loch Lynn prior to the Fourth of July. At are some of the flags on Main Street in Kitzmiller, and at right is a flag near the Loch Lynn playground.

DANGEROUS PLACES
by Dr. Stephen L Parks

Q. Thirty years ago, a bad accident melted down a nuclear reactor in the Soviet Union. Is it still dangerous to go there? What's going on there now?

A. It's hard to believe, but some of the world's most dangerous places are also the safest. Dangerous for people, but safe for wildlife.

It's a fact of existence in this world that if you are an animal with any economic value, or if you live on a piece of real estate that humans covet, you are at risk of being killed or evicted. Few really wild places remain. "Wilderness areas" and "nature preserves" exist entirely by leave of some human agency, foundation, or government. Or so it seems.

There are exceptions: places that humans have no current use for, because they are either too cold, or dry, or deep, or dangerous. Chernobyl is the last of these – too dangerous.

Chernobyl was a Soviet nuclear-powered electric generating station. No reactor in America, Europe, Japan, etc. was akin to it. The design showed a shocking disregard for safety, and the management was sloppy, causing a meltdown and fire. After the accident, the Soviet government's knee-jerk reaction for secrecy and control made things even worse. As a result, a county-wide area became highly radioactive, and significant fallout occurred as far away as Sweden.

The ruins of the reactor were eventually encased in a huge, thick concrete "sarcophagus" and worst-contaminated areas were made off-limits to anyone not wearing protective clothing. At first, while the radiation was highest, plants and animals died. But as radioactivity decreased, things turned around. Because humans were no longer using the land and shooting the game, wildlife came back; even some rare species on the brink of extinction are thriving there. A few mutations are apparently a small price to pay for being left alone!

In Bermuda, a sea bird – the cahow – was thought to be extinct for three centuries. Then someone bold – or foolish enough – dared to set foot on an islet used as a military target range. They found a breeding colony of cahows on the islet. The tradeoff of a little danger for a lot of being left alone worked pretty well for the cahow. The islet is now a nature preserve.

There are similar stories about bombing ranges, volcanoes, and other dangerous places. The gigantic explosion of Mt. St. Helens in 1980 was called "the equivalent of a 50-megaton blast." A generation later, the forest and wildlife came back even better than before. The Korean DeMilitarized Zone (DMZ) has become a winter migrating post for rare white-naped cranes, a haven for 1/3 of only 2,500 red-crowned cranes left in the world, and home to almost 200 species of birds and 52 species of mammals.

Mother Nature finds a home where humans fear to tread.

Dr. Parks has a Ph.D. in solid-state physics, and most of his career has involved the design of sensors and instrumentation. Side interests include molecular biology, exotic travel, and nature study.

A MILLION THANKS

"A Million Thanks" supports our active, reserve and veteran military by sending millions of letters of thanks and encouragement directly to our service members. It is very uplifting for our troops to continue to receive support from us at home. The letters make a big difference in their morale.

Oakland Nursing and Rehabilitation Center has partnered with them to be a drop-off location in the state of Maryland. There is a mailbox in our lobby in which letters can be placed. The letters will be forwarded and distributed to service men and women.

ONRC with community help would like to show our troops how much patriotism Garrett County and surrounding area residents have by supporting them and letting them know how proud we are that they are serving our country and keeping each of us safe!

There are a few guidelines:

1. Do not include postage.
2. Do not send edible items or other care package items… letters and cards only.
3. Do not use glitter, confetti, or anything that is not securely attached to the letter or card.
4. Please send positive and encouraging messages only.
5. Be creative!!! Draw pictures, talk about you, and let them know their service does not go unnoticed.
6. Include your address or email address if you wish. Most military will write back to you!
7. Attention parents and /or teachers of young children: We ask that if children are too young to include a message of thanks, please write one on their behalf so our service members can get a message along with the drawing.

"CHRISTMAS IN JULY" HELD – The Goodwill Retirement Community hosted a "Christmas in July" party last week for Operation Christmas Child, a ministry that reportedly is "reaching children in over 100 countries with the gospel and love of Jesus." The residents, family members, and volunteers packed 100 shoe boxes with school supplies, hygiene items, clothing, and toys. Area coordinator Debbie Welch, along with her husband David and volunteer Joyce Nutter, directed the assembling of the shoe boxes. Operation Christmas Child is a ministry of Samaritan's Purse, a nondenominational evangelical Christian organization providing spiritual and physical aid to hurting people around the world. Since 1970, Samaritan's Purse has helped meet the needs of people who are victims of war, poverty, natural disasters, disease, and famine. To learn more about getting involved with Operation Christmas Child, persons may visit www.samaritanspurse.org. Pictured above left in the front row with their packed boxes are residents Vera Beltzel, Alice Deal, Luke Bender, Freda Maust, Melvin Custer, and Ruth Yoder. In the back row are volunteers. Pictured above right are several residents and voluteers "shopping" to fill the boxes.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
KNOWN AS NO. 1253 NOAH FRAZEE ROAD
FRIENDSVILLE, MD 21531
CASE NUMBER 11-C-16-014342

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Christy Y. Pagano, Kennith W. Pagano, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1675, folio 1, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Mark S. Devan, Thomas P. Dore, Christine Drexel, Brian McNair, and Angela Nasuta as Substituted Trustees, the Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse Door-Alder Street Entrance, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, 21550 on

Monday, August 22, 2016 at 03:20 PM:

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, as described in the Deed of Trust recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, in Liber 1675, folio 1, also being further described in a Deed recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1674, folio 497. The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to any existing building violations, restrictions and agreements of record. The purchaser assumes all risks of loss for the property as of the date of sale. Neither the Substituted Trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representations or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property. The Substituted Trustees shall convey insurable title.

TERMS OF THE SALE: A deposit in a form acceptable to the Substituted Trustee in the amount of $23,000.00 will be required of the purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, at the time and place of sale. Any amount tendered at sale in excess of the required deposit will be refunded and not applied to the purchase price. Unless the purchaser is the Holder of the Note or its assigns, the balance of the purchase price shall be paid immediately with available funds within ten (10) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence. The purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, shall pay interest at the rate of 3.75000% per annum on the unpaid portion of the purchase price from the date of sale to date of settlement. Real property taxes and assessments shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Ground rent, water and/or sewer charges public or private, if any, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be paid by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property.

In the event settlement is delayed for any reason , there shall be no abatement of interest. If the purchaser defaults, the entire deposit is forfeited. The Substituted Trustees shall resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees, all other charges due, and incidental and consequential damages. Defaulting purchaser also agrees to pay the Substituted Trustees' attorney a fee of $250.00 in connection with the filing of a motion to resell.

In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of the deposit. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the Holder or its Servicer has entered into any agreement with, or accepted funds from, the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract, Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit.

AHOY, MATEYS! The second annual Friendsville Flotilla parade took place on July 23 on the Yough River that flows through the town. The parade featured "anything that could float" down the river. Inner-tubes, inflatables, and, as shown above, empty barrels all did the trick. Captain Alex Phares pilots the Kuhnle Colony Craft (aka Swiss Family Robinson) down the Yough with Chris Nichols, Drew Phares, and Lisa Nichols onboard. The colorful and well-attended event was sponsored by Precision Rafting, All Earth Eco Tours, Friendsville Liquor Store, Friendsville Pharmacy, S&S Market, Jazzercise, and Garrett College Adventure Sports. FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Veterans Memorial Project

The Friendsville Veterans Memorial Project Committee is asking for donations to complete the veterans' memorial in Friendsville. The memorial being constructed is for all veterans – combat veterans and stateside veterans.

This memorial centerpiece will have the images of the six young soldiers from the town of Friendsville, who lost their lives in Vietnam, etched on the six sides of the memorial. Behind the centerpiece on the second row will be a plaque with a portrait of Captain Thomas Bratten, honored for his service to his country and his work with the Maryland Veterans Affairs. The back walls will be made of bricks with etched names of a veteran. Bricks can be purchased by donation from the website, or persons may pick up a brick form at the Sunset Inn at 818 First Avenue in Friendsville.

Sisler Reunion

The Grover Cleveland and Jessie Sisler reunion will be held this Sunday, Aug. 7, at the Friendsville park. The covered dish meal will begin at 1 p.m. All relatives and friends are invited to attend and enjoy the day.

Meet & Greet

There will be a meet and greet event sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Club on Thursday, Aug. 11, at 6:30 p.m. at the Friendsville Town Park pavilion #1. Refreshments will also be provided.

Potato/Taco/Dessert Bar

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad will host a potato, taco, and dessert bar on Friday, Aug. 12, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the rescue squad building in Friendsville. Those attending will pay for a baked potato and all the fixings, taco salad fixings, and dessert. The meal is all-you-can-eat, and the cost is $8 per meal, $4 for those 12 years and under, and free for those 3 years and under. There will also be a baked goods sale to benefit the NHS Relay for Life. All proceeds of the all-you-can-eat bar will benefit the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad equipment fund.

Town News

Anyone wishing to share pictures on the Friendsville Facebook page or Friendsville website may send them to townoffriendsville@qcol.net. Particularly pictures of the Friendsville Days parade or activities in the park would be appreciated.

Friendsville Days

The Friendsville Days committee extends thanks to everyone who helped in any way (donations, helping, attending, etc.) to make the event a success again this year. The community support is much appreciated. Winners of the parade, tournaments, auction items, and raffles will be announced next week.

Annual Shrimp Feast

The Northern Garrett Rescue Auxiliary will be hosting an "all-you-can-eat" shrimp feast on Sunday, Aug. 28, from 1 to 5 p.m. Shrimp will be served from 2 to 4 p.m. The cost is $20 per person, and the event will be held at the Grantsville American Legion. The menu will consist of steamed shrimp, fried chicken, french fries, cole slaw, and soda/water. There will be musical entertainment, tips, and raffles. There will be no take-outs. A cash bar will be available to those 21 and older.

EAT RIGHT, BE STRONG! – Participants at the Friendsville library's Summer Reading Club recently learned about the merits of eating well to build strong muscles and bones. In keeping with the club's theme, the presentation was titled "On Your Mark, Get Set ... Eat Right, Be Strong!" It was presented by Christy Thomas and Amy Ritchie of the Garrett County Health Department health education and outreach office, along with the Garrett County/Allegany County Dairy Maid Samantha Wilt, who is shown standing at left reading to the children. The presenters discussed foods rich in calcium, such as milk and yogurt, and how to make healthy choices in eating. They also pointed out the importance of exercise to build up muscle and bones, and had the children engage in several physical activities. Jacob Wilt, Samantha's brother, came dressed as a cow and rang a bell to signal that it was time to switch activities.

Accident Library To Resume Its Teen Book Club

Hogan Allocates Grants To Fight Heroin Epidemic

Maryland governor Larry Hogan announced this week that his administration is providing $3 million in state grants to help eradicate the heroin epidemic in Maryland. A total of $931,371 will go toward funding a heroin coordinator in law enforcement agencies in every region of the state. In addition, a total of $2,070,397 will go to nine jurisdictions to continue the Safe Streets Initiative, an offender-based program that tracks down and arrests the most serious, violent, and repeat offenders while connecting those offenders struggling with substance abuse to drug treatment, health care, education, and other services. This year, five Safe Streets sites will be funded to hire peer recovery specialists to integrate treatment into the model.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office will be awarded $20,000 to hire a heroin coordinator, while in neighboring Allegany County the Cumberland Police Department will receive $84,180 for the same purpose.

Both of the aforementioned state programs will support the recommendations of the Heroin & Opioid Emergency Task Force, which released its report after holding regional stakeholder summits to hear firsthand about the ravages of the epidemic on communities throughout the state.

The Heroin Coordinator Grant Program will support one of the 33 recommendations made by the task force: the state should designate the Baltimore-Washington High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) as the central repository for all Maryland drug intelligence by providing funds for salary or overtime support for a heroin coordi-

OLYMPIC CHAMPION ROMPS AT DEEP CREEK – This tweet from Olympian Michael Phelps' mother Debbie (a native of Westernport) was making the rounds this week on Facebook among Garrett Countians, who were excited to show how much the record-breaking swimmer loves to play at Deep Creek Lake. The photo is of Phelps and his sister Whitney having fun at the lake on July 4, 2013. The Towson-area family vacations on the mountaintop fairly often, along with many Marylanders who find their way to the western-most scenic part of the state. Phelps made history this week at the international games in Rio, earning his 25th medal (21 gold) and becoming the most decorated Olympian of all time.

Local Man Faces Numerous Theft, Driving Charges

A Loch Lynn man faces multiple theft and traffic charges following two back-to-back arrests by Garrett County sheriff's deputies and Maryland State Police this week.

Jordan Andrew Buckman, 31, was charged on July 29 with failure to furnish a valid ID, failure to locate and notify owner of vehicle damage from a motor vehicle accident, and failure to stop and remain at the scene of a vehicle accident with damage. Buckman was then stopped by deputies last Friday afternoon when he reportedly was observed using a hand-held telephone while driving along Oak Street in the area of 6th Street, Oakland.

During the course of the stop, he was allegedly found to be under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance. He was charged with driving while impaired by drugs, alcohol or drugs and alcohol, DWI by a CDS, driving on a suspended license, possession a suspended license, and using a

MDOT Announces Grants Available To Towns, Counties

Maryland transportation secretary Pete K. Rahn announced on Tuesday that the Hogan administration is making $25 million in grants available for local roads in Baltimore City and municipalities and counties from western Maryland to the Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Department of Transportation has just released the application that must be submitted by Tuesday, Aug. 30. The grants will be awarded to jurisdictions based on the existing formula for the distribution of Highway User Revenues.

"One of my top priorities is investing in roads and bridges across the state," said Gov. Larry Hogan. "This funding is essential for local jurisdictions that depend on them for many long-overdue local road projects."

The $25 million in grants are in addition to the estimated $177 million in Highway User Revenues local jurisdictions are set to receive in fiscal year 2017. These new funds for local roads are above and beyond the $1.97 billion investment in road and bridge projects that Hogan announced in June 2015.

"We encourage you to get your applications in quickly so we can get this funding in your hands where it can make a difference for all Maryland-

Garrett Hospital Now Offering PET/CT Scans

Garrett Regional Medical Center, in association with West Virginia University (WVU) Medicine is now scheduling patients for PET/CT services. PET/CT scan is a combination of two noninvasive imaging tests, positron emission tomography (PET) and computed tomography (CT); and is used to diagnose illness, evaluate patient response to treatment and to look for a recurrence of several medical conditions, including cancer.

PET/CT services are widely used with cancer patients, as the procedure can help determine the size and location of the cancer, whether the disease is spreading, what is the best form of treatment, and how the treatment is working. The testing can also show if there has been a recurrence of cancer.

"With the opening of the WVU Cancer Institute earlier this year, it was evident that having PET/CT services available locally is important; having to travel out of town for the testing creates a host of problems for our patients who already have compromised health due to their particular illness," said Mark Boucot, CEO and president of GRMC. "Providing patient-centered care is a priority, and providing the needed services locally is a part of that process. We're proud to offer a PET/CT imaging option close to home."

For scheduling PET/CT services, patients should call 866-245-5995. In addition to newly offered PET/CT services, Garrett Regional Medical Center offers a full suite of radiologic imaging services including CT, X-ray, nuclear medicine, and ultrasound.

4-Year-Old Killed In Single-Vehicle Accident Thursday

A 4-year-old boy was killed in a single-vehicle accident investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last Thursday morning.

Deputies responded to the 1900 block of Green Glade Road at approximately 9:30 a.m. Preliminary investigation revealed that Brittany McDaniel, 21, Jennings, had been operating a 2013 Dodge passenger vehicle, that for unknown reasons traveled off the roadway and struck a tree. McDaniel and two small children were transported to Garrett Regional Medical Center, Oakland, where the older child, Corey P.J. Stephens, succumbed to his injuries. The accident remains under investigation.

A funeral service was held for the child at Pine Grove Church of the Brethren, Oakland, on Monday, Aug. 8. A full obituary can be found on Page A-6 of today's issue.

Correction Noted; Driver Not Charged Following Incident

An accident involving Gary Allen Bittinger and Robert Weider Ingram was reported incorrectly in last week's (Aug. 4) issue.

The article incorrectly stated that Bittinger was charged following the incident. There were no charges filed by police or Ingram, who was accidently struck by a vehicle driven by Bittinger. The error is regretted.

Commissioners To Hold Next Mtg. At Avilton

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners will hold its next public meeting this-Monday, Aug. 15, at the Avilton Community Center. The meeting is to open at 6 p.m. and is slated to last a half-hour.

The agenda items include approval of public, administrative, and executive meeting minutes, program funding for Pathways to Homeownership, a request for a property tax credit regarding the Garrett County Agriculture Fair, and a board appointment to the Garrett County Commission for Women.

The next commissioners' meeting is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 4 p.m.

TOURNEY PROCEEDS DONATED – First United Bank & Trust sponsored the 28th Annual Charity Golf Tournament at the Oakland Golf Club last month. This was the 18th year that First United has organized this event. Over its 27 years, the tournament has raised over $470,000 for Garrett County charities, with nearly $23,000 generated this year for United Way of Garrett County. Pictured from left are Carissa Rodeheaver, chief executive officer/president First United Bank & Trust; Cindy Wall, First United; Robin Murray, senior vice president at First United and United Way member; Gary Ruddell, First United director and United Way member; Mary Beth Pirolozzi, executive director of United Way; and Janet Marsh of First United. "The First United golf tournament volunteer team did a fabulous job," said Frank Shap, United Way Campaign co-chair. "United Way of Garrett County is so appreciative of this annual event, as it provides a great launch to the 2016-17 annual campaign. A big thanks to the sponsors and golfers who, with their generosity, make a difference in the lives of thousands of our residents in Garrett County." The first place low-gross team was the Moran Coal Co. team, which won a $1,000 gift certificate for the Oakland Pro Shop. The first place low-net team was Mtn. State Auto Auction, which was also presented a $1,000 gift certificate for the Oakland Pro Shop.

Sediment Removal From DCL To Be Topic Of Saturday Forum

With the arrival of August at Deep Creek Lake typically comes the departure of recreational access to a number of coves in the southern area of the lake. According to the Friends of Deep Creek Lake (FoDCL), the loss of access is driven by nine decades of sediment and pollutant accumulation in those coves, which reduces water depths available for boating, swimming, and fishing. Deep Creek Hydro annually begins lowering the level of the lake water in late summer.

Billed as the "most important meeting in DCL's 91 years," FoDCL and an emerging alliance of home owners associations and other groups will host a community forum on sediment removal from DCL this Saturday, Aug. 13, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Wisp Resort Himalaya yurt, located just behind the hotel.

According to Ellen Williams, chair of FoDCL, the purpose of the forum is "for all of us to become better informed about lake dredging, a widely accepted and cost-effective best management practice for lake sustainability."

"There are no examples of dredging of Maryland-owned and managed lakes we can use as a model for work that is needed at DCL," she said.

The forum will feature sediment removal and restoration work that has been done at the following regional lakes:

The three Maryland lakes owned by the Columbia Association, presented by John McCoy, Columbia Association Watershed manager;

Lake Needwood, Montgomery County, presented by Andrew Frank, section chief, Park Development Division, Montgomery Parks Department;

Lake Liganore, a reservoir owned by the city of Frederick, Frederick County, and the Liganore homeowners association, presented by Cecelia Donovan, executive director of technical and environmental services of Maryland Environmental Services; and

The Reston, Va., Lakes, owned by Reston Association, presented by Martin Firth, president of Lake Services Inc.

Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzel have been invited to talk about their role in securing a major shift in state policy, which now allows for sediment removal projects in state-owned lakes and funding for such efforts from the Waterway Improvement Fund.

"They will also suggest what additional efforts are needed in Annapolis to ensure that the state assumes its responsibility for the dredging of state-owned Deep Creek Lake," said Williams.

An overview on why sediment and pollutant accumulation is a major threat to Deep Creek Lake will be covered by FoDCL director Barbara Beelar. She will also briefly discuss the eight years of work on this issue and what she deems as the critical importance of community involvement and formation of the Alliance for Citizens for Environmental Action and Restoration at DCL.

"This new alliance will serve as the lake stakeholder framework to ensure that we will secure commitment from the state to a multi-year sediment removal project for all 10 sediment-impaired coves," Beelar said.

More information on Saturday's community forum can be obtained by sending an email to contact@friendsofdcl.org.

Natural Resource Police Note Arrests Of Driver, Boater

Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) officers arrested a reportedly impaired driver and boater in separate incidents in Garrett County over the past week.

A Pennsylvania man was arrested for drunk driving Sunday after an officer on patrol in Garrett County noticed erratic behavior.

According to the NRP, John Joseph Wilson, 26, North Huntingdon, stopped for an extended period at a flashing red light on Route 219 in McHenry, signaled a left turn, and then turned right, drove on a raised portion of the road separating turn lanes, and crossed over the yellow center line.

The report alleges that Wilson failed field sobriety tests and refused to take a breathalyzer test. He was charged with two counts of impaired operation and one count of failing to drive right of the center line.

A court date has not been set. If found guilty of all charges, Wilson could be fined as much as $2,500.

Also on Sunday, an NRP officer on patrol on Deep Creek Lake arrested a Pennsylvania man and charged him with three counts of impaired boating and one count of negligent operation.

Kirk John Bittel, 36, Pittsburgh, was stopped near the Glendale Bridge after an officer saw a passenger hanging off the stern of a moving boat, trying to grab a loose rope, according to the report.

Bittel failed field sobriety tests and registered a blood alcohol content of .10 on the breathalyzer test; the legal limit is .08.

He is scheduled to appear in Garrett County District Court on Oct. 19.

Letters Of Thanks To Emergency Workers Sought

The dedication of a mural in Oakland that pays tribute to the area's emergency first responders is being planned for Sept. 24. Organizers are asking members of the public to write letters of appreciation to the first responders of the area, and some of the letters will be shared as part of the dedication ceremony.

The mural, created by professional graphic artist Mark Stutzman, is located on the south wall of the Oakland Town Hall.

"This just seems like a great opportunity for building community pride and to honor those who serve the public," Stutzman said.

People may submit thankyous for acts of heroism, compassion, caring, and protection.

"So many people are quietly served, so they may appreciate a way to publicly thank their volunteers and department staff who are first on the scene to help them," the artist said.

Letters of appreciation may be sent to the Oakland Town Hall, First Responders Ceremony, Attn: Michelle Ross, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550. They also may be sent via email to Ross at mainstreetgoba@gmail.com.

Friendsville Man Charged With CDS Possession

A Friendsville man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on controlled dangerous substance charges last Thursday.

Jehu Michael Fultz, 27, was taken into custody on two counts of CDS possession of not marijuana, CDS possession of paraphernalia, and possession of CDS administering equipment. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Driver Charged Following Traffic Stop In Oakland

A Swanton man was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies following a traffic stop along Maryland Highway, Oakland, Monday evening.

Randall Jeffrey Frye, 45, was stopped at approximately 8 p.m. near B Street. Investigation revealed that Frye had been operating the vehicle without a valid license, for which he was charged, in addition to driving an uninsured vehicle. It was also discovered that he had a outstanding warrant for his arrest in Colorado.

Frye was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Moylan and Price Hear Variety Of District Court Cases

A number of cases have been processed in Garrett County District Court in Oakland over the past week, with sentences handed down by Judges H. Jack Price Jr. and Stephan M. Moylan for a variety of offenses.

Christopher Nicholas Rondeau, 36, McHenry, pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property less than $1,000.

Rondeau was charged by the Maryland State Police on April 25, when Ofc. Fitzwater responded to a report of and assault and malicious destruction of property to a cell phone charger.

According to the report, a verbal altercation in the car escalated until Rondeau had kicked the driver's side door into the victim and broke the victim's cell phone charger which was valued at $35.

Price found the defendant guilty on July 26, and sentenced Rondeau to 60 days in the Garrett County Detention Center.

Terry Wilson Riggleman, 37, Bloomington, pleaded guilty to a charge of resisting/interfering with arrest.

Riggleman was charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on Feb. 27, when Ofc. Bryan Ridder pulled over a car with no rear registration.

According to the report, Riggleman had a suspended license and was wanted in Lincoln County, Tenn. While being placed under custody, the defendant said, "I can't do it," and then attempted to run from the officer.

Ridder placed Riggleman in custody following a brief, on-foot chase.

Moylan found the defendant guilty on July 20, and sentenced Riggleman to 18 months in the GCDC, one month of which was suspended, and ordered two years of probation to be supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation. Moylan also ruled a criminal fine of $500, $300 of which was suspended.

James Martin Lynch, 37, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace/hindering passage.

Lynch was charged by the GCSO on May 1 when Ofc. Casey responded to a report of a shirtless man walking in the middle of the roadway.

According to the report, Lynch was intoxicated and had a partial vicodin pill in his pocket. The defendant was walking in the middle of the road and holding up traffic.

Moylan found the defendant guilty on July 27, and sentenced Lynch to 60 days in the GCDC, all of which were suspended, and ordered a criminal fine of $500, $400 of which was suspended.

Peter Quichocho Masga II, 21, Oakland, held an "other" plea for a charge of second-degree assault.

Masga was charged by the GCSO on May 8, when Ofc. Ridder was dispatched in response to a report of a domestic disturbance.

According to the report, Ridder encountered Masga walking alongside the road in only socks and underwear. Masga said that there was nothing more than a verbal argument.

The victim stated that Masga got angry after they drank some alcohol earlier that night. The victim had a minor cut on the left elbow, and had left the scene on foot, according to the report.

Moylan ruled a "stet" verdict on May 20, with the conditions that the defendant must obey all laws, complete 40 hours of community service within six months, and have no violent contact with the victim.

Michael Eric Paugh, 52, Oakland, held an "other" plea for a charge of second-degree assault.

Paugh was charged by the GCSO on May 9, when Ofc. Friend responded to a reported assault.

According to the report, Paugh claimed he was the victim and showed small abrasions and cuts on his left elbow. However, the victim said he was defending himself after Paugh got angry while the victim tried to park a truck frame next to their garage.

Moylan ruled a "stet" verdict with the condition that the defendant must not have any unlawful contact with the victim.

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair.

Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
If so we saw it there.

Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
That anyone could say.

Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day.

Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

Special thanks to all who helped make the last days of Ruby Evans Skinner's life so very special, including the nursing staff, administrators, therapists and aids at Dennett Road Nursing Home. To Pastor C. Scott Robinson and friends and family members who visited. To Dr. Margaret Kaiser and Jeanne Devine, CPA, whose professional help was outstanding. To Pastor Robinson, Mike Broderick, the Fellowship Committee and volunteers of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Chris and Sherri Fredlock and the many friends and relatives who made Ruby's memorial service and reception exceptional.

McEwen Studies Pulsars Abroad; Wins Scholarship

Alexander McEwen, Oakland, has been awarded a $2,000 scholarship from the dean's office of the West Virginia University Eberly College of Arts & Sciences for the 2016-17 academic year. The award was given based on McEwen's academic achievements at WVU.

A physics major, the student has spent the summer abroad in the Pulsar Timing Research Exchange Program, beginning mid-June with a trip to South Africa, where he traveled with several other WVU physics students. They spent a week exploring the country, where they visited animal refuge sites and national parks, and then attended the International Pulsar Timing Array (IPTA) Conference in Stellenbosch, South Africa.

The IPTA is a consortium of worldwide pulsar timing groups who pool their expertise and resources with the aim of detecting gravitational waves through the long-term monitoring of several millisecond pulsars.

After the conference, McEwen traveled on to Bielefeld, Germany, where he has since conducted pulsar research under the tutelage of Dr. Joris Verbiestat at Bielefeld University. He will return home this Saturday, Aug. 13.

The student will begin his senior year at WVU next week. Among a number of academic honors and in addition to receiving the recent scholarship, McEwen was inducted this past spring into the Sigma Pi Sigma National Honor Society in Physics. He is also pursuing a minor in English, and was inducted into Sigma Tau Delta, the international honor society in English, in November 2015.

A 2012 graduate of Southern High School, he is the son of John and Mary McEwen, Oakland, and the grandson of Hannah Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park, and Alice McEwuen, Morgantown, W.Va.

BB&T WILL BE A CORPORATE SPONSOR of this year's Autumn Glory Craft and Gift Sale, to be presented by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce on Saturday, Oct. 15, and Sunday, Oct. 16, at the GC Fairgrounds. The craft show that will be set up at Ag Heritage Hall will have a variety of contemporary crafts and gifts including woodworking, candles, painted décor, jewelry, specialty foods, and much more. From left are Jeanna Henderson, BB&T market leader; Kathy Getty, BB&T market president, Nick Sharps, membership development manager for the chamber; and Tracy Bemiller, BB&T business service officer.

Walker Promoted To Manager Post By First United

R. L. Fisher, senior vice president and chief lending officer of First United Bank and Trust, and Josh C. Bosley, vice president and commercial relationship manager – team leader, have announced the appointment of Blake S. Walker to the position of commercial relationship manager serving the Grantsville area.

Walker began his financial services career in 2011 at First United Bank as a pool teller. After graduating from Frostburg State University, he was promoted to community office manager.

Outside of his professional work, Walker is actively involved in the community. He is a board member of the Mountain Laurel Medical Center and the Greater Grantsville Business Association. He is also a member of the Grantsville Lions Club and is president of the Grantsville Revitalization Organization.

"Blake's role as commercial relationship manager will be to deliver customized financial solutions to business owners and their businesses," said Bosley. "His banking experience, coupled with his understanding of the market and businesses within, make him a tremendous asset to our commercial banking team."

Walker earned a bachelor of science degree in small business and entrepreneurship, with a minor in accounting, from FSU, from which he was awarded a master's degree in business administration in 2013.

During his free time, Walker is a basketball coach at Northern High School and enjoys paddle boarding and golfing. He resides in Grantsville.

First United Corporation operates one full-service commercial bank, First United Bank & Trust. The bank has a network of community offices in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Berkeley, and Monongalia counties in West Virginia. The corporation posted assets of $1.32 billion in March.

Kevin Dodge To Give Talk About Pines At NGSP

Kevin Dodge, professor of wildlife and biology at Garrett College, will present a special program titled "Pining for the Mountains: The Conifers of Western Maryland" at New Germany State Park next Tuesday, Aug. 16. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the New Germany Lake House, located at 403 McAndrews Hill Road, Grantsville.

Dodge will present an introduction to the conifers found in the mountains of western Maryland, including the identification, distribution, and ecology of the conifers that grow in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

Lions Club Notes '16 Schedule For Concession Stand

The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club met Monday at the the Broadford Park Lions' pavilion. Schedules and assignments were handed out for this fall's concession stand events, starting Sept. 2 with the Southern Rams' season-opening varsity football game against Allegany. The concession stand will be open for all home football and soccer games/matches. In addition, it will open at 5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 15, for the annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands.

This past year, the Lions donated over $33,000 for the purchase of eyeglasses, to fund scholarships, and to various organizations.

The club's 2016 officers are: Gene Flinn, president; Wayne Mobray, 1st vice president; Brandon Wolf, 2nd vice president; Frank Lewis, 3rd vice president; Leon Cardiff, secretary; Brian Boal, treasurer; Mark Marucci, membership chairman; Paul Macy, Tail Twister; Richard Harris, Lion Tamer; Ryan Wolf, immediate past president; Chuck Olson and Sean McCreery, two-year directors; Regis Marucci and Tom Kennedy, one-year directors; Jack Riley, LCIF; and Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, chaplain.

The next major event of the club will be its annual Halloween parade, games, and treats, which is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the Oakland Community Center.

Benefit Planned At Red Barn For Glenn Hardesty

A benefit dinner has been planned for Glenn Hardesty of Working H Meats & Market, who is currently a cancer patient.

The dinner will be hosted by Local Farms & Foods of Garrett County at the Red Barn, 456 Springs Road, Grantsville, on Sunday, Aug. 28, from 4 to 8 p.m.

The evening will include a corn hole tournament at 4 p.m. for a donation of $10 per person; a local foods dinner at 6 p.m. for a donation of $20 per adult and $10 per child age 10 and under; live bluegrass music by Second Wind; and a silent auction from 4 to 8 p.m.

A Good Start...

As a result of recommendations made by the Heroin and Opioid Emergency Task Force appointed by Maryland Governor Larry Hogan, $3 million in state grants has been allocated by his administration to help eradicate the heroin epidemic in Maryland. About one third of that money will be used to hire what are called heroin coordinators for jurisdictions throughout the state, while the other two thirds will be spent in nine jurisdictions to continue the Safe Streets Initiative, a double-focused program that tracks down drug dealers and the most serious, violent, and repeat offenders, while helping those struggling with substance abuse/addictions receive treatment, education, and other services.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office will receive $20,000 to finance a heroin coordinator, an amount that would suggest that the coordinator position will likely be filled by a current deputy or other sheriff's office employee. Meanwhile, the Cumberland Police Department will receive $84,180 for that purpose.

While one could argue that $20,000 might prove to be insufficient to cover the cost of this new program, the truly positive and encouraging thing about the awarding of any funding by Gov. Hogan for this purpose is that he clearly understands a lot about drug addiction, that he recognizes that addiction to harmful drugs is an illness, and should be treated as such.

"Throughout Maryland, from our smallest town to our biggest city, heroin is destroying lives," said Gov. Hogan in the news release that appears on the front page. "A coordinated law enforcement and treatment response is essential to our administration's ability to help fight this epidemic and provide our citizens with the lifesaving support they need."

He understands that far too many people with this horrible illness are sitting in jail cells because of drug charges. They receive little to no treatment/rehab services for their addiction while sitting there. Thus, upon their release, so many of them resume using and end up right back in the same cell on new drug charges.

A significant number of heroin users were at one time law-biding users of legal prescription drugs, often over-prescribed by those in the medical community. But legal prescription drugs can only be obtained by prescription, by stealing them, or by forking over huge sums of money for them on the street. So heroin, which can be purchased for a fraction of the cost of pills, makes for a "good" substitute.

Keeping drug addicts out of our prisons and getting them into rehab/treatment programs is not only the right thing to do, but it would also make a huge impact on the problem – and the expense – of over-crowded prisons throughout the country. A large percentage of inmates are there because of their addiction to drugs and alcohol, a condition that can lead to committing a long list of crimes. Theft, burglary, assault and battery, and even murder are frequently committed as a direct result of a person's addiction to drugs. The money that can be saved in the cost of housing ill people in jail could and should be redirected to helping victims receive treatment in hospitals and rehab centers.

It is hoped that Gov. Hogan and other Maryland elected officials will also look into the establishment of what is commonly known as "drug court" in all jurisdictions of the state. Some counties already have drug court, which combine intensive judicial supervision, mandatory drug testing, treatment, and incentives to help offenders with substance abuse problems break the cycle of addiction and crime. But the grant awards announcement this week is a good start in the right direction.

To the Editor:

I offer a couple of comments about last week's overwrought editorial on your favorite topic: hydraulic fracturing.

You virtually beg local physicians to weigh in on the fracking issue. Perhaps the Garrett County physicians have the wisdom and humility to understand that their education and experience in healing human disease and injury does not give them special expertise in critiquing a complex industrial process which has been studied and approved by the Obama EPA and numerous states. Or perhaps these local doctors have failed to observe in their patients from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, states where fracking is widespread, any of the vast number of ailments which you claim fracking causes.

You also claim that trucks associated with fracking will cause "horrendous vehicular accidents" with "horrible injuries." Please! Trucks have been crisscrossing Garrett County for the last 100 years carrying all kinds of stuff, including coal, timber, and the building materials for Deep Creek Lake and the thousands of buildings constructed around the lake. I must have missed the flood of horrendous accidents with horrible injuries. If lots of vehicular traffic on Garrett County roads creates an unacceptable risk to life and limb, I suggest we drain Deep Creek Lake and send the tourists packing with their SUVs and their credit cards. Based on your assumptions, they must be at least as much of a risk as a few truck drivers hired by fracking companies.

To the Editor:

I would like to thank The Republican for acknowledging Chesapeake Physicians for Social Responsibility's efforts to keep fracking out of our state. As the Maryland statewide affiliate of Physicians for Social Responsibility, we seek to bring the health perspective to policy discussions on an array of issues, with a focus on issues where prevention of harm is the only way to protect communities.

I would also like to thank the 97 health care providers, researchers, and public health professionals from across the state, including western Maryland, who have signed on to the health professional letter released earlier this month asking the governor, the president of the Maryland Senate, and the speaker of the House of Delegates to support legislation in 2017 to prevent fracking from beginning in Maryland. We invite those who may not yet have seen this letter to sign on at www.chesapeakepsr.org and to share it widely with colleagues.

Western Maryland will be ground zero if fracking begins. As such, residents living in this beautiful region deserve immediate protection. However, other parts of the state will also be affected, as fracking infrastructure, including compressor stations and pipelines, gets built throughout the state. Furthermore, recent assessments indicate there are gas deposits in at least 15 other counties in Maryland. Fracking is a statewide issue, so we are all in this together.

The life-cycle processes involved in unconventional gas development and production, from drilling and fracking to processing, storage, transportation, and end-use, all result in toxic releases to air, water, and soil. The vast majority of the peer-reviewed scientific studies on the impacts of these processes, most of which were published in just the last three years, show significant risks and harms to human and animal health and safety. There is no evidence that any regulatory framework can adequately protect the public.

For health professionals who work long hours caring for individuals in their communities, it can be difficult to find time to participate in policy debates, even if one is deeply concerned about the issue. But our perspectives and our voices are indeed important. We at CPSR hope to be a valuable resource for those who would like to become more informed or more actively involved in the efforts to keep fracking out of our state. Please feel free to contact us here www.chesapeakepsr.org.

To the Editor:

Next Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 7 p.m., the Mountain Top Cooperative Parish will be holding a "Prayer for the Nation" service at Bethel United Methodist Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Prayer doesn't just give us the opportunity to come before our Heavenly Father asking for His blessings upon our lives and for the life of our nation. Prayer can also help prepare us for hard times that we might have to face in the future. We have seen an example of the devastation that nature can cause, with the floods that happened in West Virginia and just recently in Ellicott City. No one knows what the future might hold for any of us.

I realize that many people and many churches pray daily for our nation, and I am very thankful for that. Please come out and join us as we add our prayers to yours. As Christians we come together not to debate politics, but to pray for God's guidance, protection, and blessing.

Local Investment Groups Supports Donut Factory

The Mountain Maryland Angel Investment Group (MMAIG), which consists of local and regional investors seeking to invest in start-up or early-stage ventures in Garrett County, recently announced its first funded deal. The deal, funded by a dozen individual "angels," provided seed money for the launch of Deep Creek Donuts, a new venture started by local entrepreneur Bill Meagher.

Meagher, who also owns Lakeside Creamery and a number of other local establishments, said he sought to bring "a new taste" to the area in the form of custom-crafted donuts made to order via an on-site micro factory.

Deep Creek Donuts is located next to the Popcorn Factory in the former Yoder's General Store location. Meagher and his team spent a number of months researching recipes and production methods, and also brought in outside "donut experts" as consultants to ensure the product met his specifications and standards.

"I wanted to bring a new and exciting concept to the area and asked my colleagues in MMAIG if they wished to participate in the funding," Meagher said, "the goal being to get some funding traction for our angel group and also try to spread the word that we are open for business and seeking quality investments that help Garrett County grow jobs and businesses."

Andrew Sherman, a Washington, D.C., attorney with a second home in Garrett County and a co-founder of MMAIG, shared the angels' interest in looking at viable, scalable local deals with a strong business model and management.

"We formed this angel group a few years ago, and have been anxious to get a deal done," Sherman said. "Our local and second-home members hope to 'do well by doing good' and help small business start-ups in the area. We have come close a few times, but for one reason or another, a deal didn't happen.

"We think there is great opportunity for small business in Garrett County," he continued, "and have welcomed the help Garrett College has provided in the form of expertise and effort to help small business formation and growth in the county."

Meagher said that the proposal brought to MMAIG to "help get the ball rolling, so to speak."

"We are all actively engaged in the community and we want to see and, it is hoped, fund prospective deals in any industry," Meagher said. "We generally look for early-stage funding needs up to $200,000, and are happy to take an equity position or a convertible structuring. The key is that we need strong management with a viable plan and a reasonable exit opportunity for MMAIG a few years into the deal."

For more information on Deep Creek Donuts, persons may contact Bill Meagher at 301-501-2580 or lakesidecr@aol.com. For information on the process and requirements for pitching an investment to MMAIG, persons are invited to contact Mike Tumbarello at 301-387-3167 or mike.tumbarello@garrettcollege.edu.

Tumbarello is the director of the Garrett College Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation, and works with small-business people seeking funding.

Funds Available For Emergency Food, Shelter

Garrett County has been awarded federal funds made available through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)/Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) under the emergency food and shelter national board program.

A total of $5,657 has been granted to the county to supplement local emergency food and shelter programs.

A local board will determine how the funding will be distributed among the local emergency food and shelter programs. The board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds made available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the national board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must be nonprofit, eligible to receive federal funds, have an accounting system, practice nondiscrimination, and have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs.

Staff persons for local nonprofit agencies who are interested in obtaining more information about eligibility and/or how to apply for funding are invited to contact Carrie DiSimone, Service Coordination Division director for Garrett County Community Action. The deadline for applications is Wednesday, Aug. 31.

nator to do the work of data input and analysis. Sharing and analyzing this data across jurisdictions will make it easier for law enforcement to identify drug traffickers, according to a spokesperson for the governor's office.

The Peer Recovery Specialist Program also fulfills the task force's recommendation that peer recovery specialists be integrated into the Safe Streets model. These recommendations are part of a holistic approach that balances law enforcement, treatment, and prevention programs. The goal, according to the spokesperson, is to track down drug traffickers, protect young people from becoming involved with illegal drugs, and provide treatment and resources for those struggling with substance abuse and addiction.

"Throughout Maryland, from our smallest town to our biggest city, heroin is destroying lives," said Governor Hogan. "A coordinated law enforcement and treatment response is essential to our administration's ability to help fight this epidemic and provide our citizens with the lifesaving support they need. These heroin coordinators will work to ensure that every drug seizure, arrest, and investigation is documented and uploaded into extensive shared databases to give us a clear picture of the paths these deadly drugs take to get into our communities. And our peer recovery specialists will work to ensure offenders with addictions get the treatment and support they need to get on the road to recovery."

"Governor Hogan and I are committed to the Safe Streets Initiative because it is a model program that works, and we're pleased to be able to integrate a drug treatment component into our Safe Streets program – an important recommendation by the Heroin and Opioid Emergency Task Force," said Lt. Governor Boyd Rutherford, the Task Force chair. "Identifying offenders who have an addiction from the moment they are arrested gives us the time we need to help them turn their lives around."

"Until now, it was typical for law enforcement agencies to conduct and analyze their investigations and information on the illegal drug trade independently and in their own jurisdictions," said Glenn Fueston, executive director of the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention, which administers the Safe Streets funds. "This is no longer the case. The Heroin Coordinator Grant program will promote an integrated law enforcement and investigative strategy among all Maryland jurisdictions through extensive data-sharing. This, in turn, will advance statewide investigations and prosecutions of drug traffickers, as well as referrals for treatment for individuals struggling with addiction."

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the website: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.asp. The center also has a Facebook page.

Friday, Aug. 12

• 11 a.m. – Creating an Owl. Guests can join the naturalist and discuss the adaptations and secrets of owls. Then meet one of the Discovery Center's owls up close and create a model of it. Develop nature journaling skills through observation and drawing or just come for fun.

• 2 p.m. – Tie Dye on the Beach. Meet on the beach to make a personal tie-dyed shirt with an original conservation message. Cost is $12 per shirt. (1 hour)

• 9 p.m. – Perseid Meteor Shower. Stargazers may meet in the Discovery Center parking lot to watch this annual meteor shower. All should bring chairs or blankets. Telescopes will be provided. The Perseid shower is predicted to be the best in many years. This event is weather dependent.

Saturday, Aug. 13

• 11 a.m. – Hungry Critters. Guests are invited to meet the naturalists inside the Discovery Center as they feed the center's animals. Participants may be able to touch a live reptile or amphibian. Free.

• 2 p.m. – Little Guard. Children ages 5 to 12 years old are invited to meet at the beach and learn the skills of a lifeguard. Kids will run a relay, practice throwing a lifesaving device, learn how to recognize a troubled swimmer, and more. No swimming required. Free.

• 8 p.m. – Magnificent Moths of Mountain Maryland Campfire with Matt Tillett. Guests may join Ranger Tillett in the Discovery Center to celebrate "It's a Bug Life Weekend" around the campfire. The ranger will talk about the small creatures that gather around everyone's porch lights at night that most people do not know much about.

Sunday, Aug. 14

• 11 a.m. – First Impressions. This interactive program shows that even "creepy crawlies with bad reputations" have their own important roles in nature. For all ages.

• 2 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to learn about the center's birds Sunday, August 14

• 10 a.m. – Fishing with the Naturalist. Guests age 7 and older are invited to join the park naturalist for a course on fishing basics. Poles, bait, and tackle are provided. The cost is $4 per person, and adults (16+) must have their license. Preregistration is required, as space is limited.

• 2 p.m. – Aquatic Adventures. Guests are invited to join the naturalist in the Discovery Room of the center for this activity. The group will head to the docks to use the aqua scopes and dip nets into Deep Creek Lake to catch fish and other animals that live there.

Tuesday, Aug. 16

• 10 a.m. – What's That Reptile? Guests are invited to come to the Discovery Center to learn about the reptiles and amphibians that reside there, and perhaps have a chance to touch the cold-blooded creatures.

• 2 p.m. – Butterflies and Flowers. All are invited to join the naturalist for a walk around the Discovery Center grounds observing the butterflies that use native plants. The difference between native and non-native plants and their effects on the environment will be discussed.

Wednesday, Aug. 17

• All-Day Scavenger Hunts. Guests may come to the Discovery Center desk for instructions.

Thursday, Aug. 18

• 9:30 a.m. – Brant Mine Hike. Guests can join a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. The hike begins in the center's mine room. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that was operated in the 1920s, as well as possibly some wildlife along the way. Moderate walking. (Approx. 2 hours)

• 2 p.m. – Edible Weeds Talk & Stroll. All invited to join master gardener Jerry Knutson for a walk through the Discovery Center grounds identifying weeds for their edible value. All should meet on the Discovery Center deck.

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

The following activities have been scheduled at New Germany State Park, located along Rt. 495 near Grantsville. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. Further information can be obtained by calling the park office at 301-895-5453, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/newgermany.asp. The park also has a Facebook page.

Friday, Aug. 12

• 6 to 8 p.m. – Painting Party. Local artist Dawna Rodeheaver will lead this painting class inside the New Germany Lake House. Participants will have several options to choose from, ranging in price from $25 to $50. All materials and instruction is included. Persons may text or call 240-321-3763 to sign up before Friday.

Saturday, Aug. 13

• 8 a.m. – Moonshine Classic 10K. The registration for this annual 10K run and 2-mile fun run/walk will begin at 8 a.m. at the Big Run Pavilion, located at 10345 Savage River Road, Swanton. The race will begin promptly at 9 a.m. Sponsored by the Queen City Striders running club, the race is a 6.2-mile run alongside the Savage River. Registration forms are available online. The race will be followed by an awards ceremony and sponsored picnic. Participants are encouraged to bring food to share.

• 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. – Coyote Adventures. This Coyote Adventures Family Outing is for families with children ages 7-14, designed to help children experience and connect with the natural world. Children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian at all times. Participants should dress appropriately for the outdoors and bring a backpack with drinking water and a packed lunch. The use of cell phones and other electronic devices will not be permitted during the activity. Families are encouraged to preregister by calling New Germany State Park at 301-895-5453. Another outing will take place on and Sept. 3.

Tuesday, Aug. 16

• 7 p.m. – Pining for the Mountains. Kevin Dodge, professor of wildlife and biology at Garrett College, will present "Pining for the Mountains: The Conifers of Western Maryland." He will speak about the identification, distribution, and ecology of the conifers that grow in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. The program will be held in the New Germany Lake House, located at 403 McAndrews Hill Road, Grantsville.

Attention Garrett County Second-Home Owners and Vacationers:

Ban Fracking Now!

For generations, families across Maryland have made our way to Garrett County to share its natural beauty – to ski, boat, hike, hunt, and fish, or just relax on a deck, renewing body and soul.

But today, Garrett County's natural bounty, recreational activities, and economic health are facing their most serious threat in decades.

In October 2017, the state's two-year moratorium on hydraulic fracturing (fracking), the risky method of extracting natural gas, will terminate.

Hundreds of research studies confirm fracking's threat: polluted wells and aquifers, dechning property values, lost tax revenues, respiratory illnesses, earthquakes, endless traffic delays, excessive noise, and more.

If the Maryland legislature does not enact a permanent ban on fracking in the legislative session that begins in January, upwards of 450 wells could be fracked on dozens of large-scale drilling pads. This county-wide patchwork of industrial sites, connected by miles of deforested pipeline rights-of-way and caravans of large diesel trucks, could forever change the landscape, rivers, streams, and the peaceful allure of Garrett County.

Years of activism by full-time Garrett County residents and business owners won the fracking moratorium. They stood up to the energy company lobbyists who seek to cover up the fracking threat.

Now, these dedicated men and women are asking our help -- to win a permanent ban on fracking in Maryland. A bill will be introduced in Annapolis in the coming session to do just that.

What can we do?

- Become better informed. Visit the websites of Citizen Shale, Engage Mountain Maryland, Don't Frack Western Maryland, Friends of Deep Creek Lake. and the Maryland Sierra Club.
- Contact your home county's legislators. Hand-written postcards, letters, and phone calls are most effective. Find your legislator at http://mgaleg.maryland.gov. If you own property in Maryland, but don't vote here, Senate President Mike Miller can speak for you. Call 410-841-3700 or write to him at State House H-107, Annapolis, MD 21401-1991.
- Talk to your neighbors. Encourage your HOA to support a fracking ban.
- Attend the Md. House Environmental and Transportation Committee's public forum on fracking, which will be held Tuesday, Aug. 30, 6:30 p.m., in the Garrett College Auditorium, 687 Mosser Road, McHenry.

THE CURRYS ARE SET TO PERFORM this Friday, Aug. 12, at the Little Yough Summer Music Festival, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. The band developed its unique style of homegrown, harmony-rich Americana through summers of writing and performing on the Florida Gulf Coast. Brothers Jimmy and Tommy Curry and their cousin Galen Curry began with acoustic performances in local restaurants and oyster bars, but over time their sound evolved into the fully orchestrated folk-rock sound, as evidenced on their debut album, Follow. "The Currys' first full-length effort captures the spirit of contemporary folk music, reviving its rich musical thread with a pop-rock sensibility and tightly knit family harmonies," one reviewer noted. Admission to the concert is free. Food vendors will be set up before and during the performance.

The Arts

Ismar Gomes, Cellist, And Wan-Chi Su, Pianist, Next At Penn Alps

Music at Penn Alps will present cellist Ismar Gomes and pianist Wan-Chi Su in concert this Saturday, Aug. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall on the campus of Spruce Forest in Grantsville.

Gomes performs throughout the U.S. and Europe as soloist, recitalist, and chamber musician, and has been hailed for his "impressive virtuosity, energy, and a handsome tonal range." As a recording artist, Gomes made the premiere recording of a chamber opera by Pulitzer-Prize-winning composer, David Lang, in collaboration with the Harlem Quartet last year.

Taiwanese pianist Wan-Chi Su has had an active career as a solo and chamber musician, having performed at many venues in Asia, Europe, and the United States. Besides her regular activities as a solo performance major, Wan-Chi is a sought-after performer on the East Coast as a chamber musician and vocal accompanist.

Wan-Chi and Ismar perform compositions that span a wide range, and the each of the duo's programs is driven by a creative, thematic idea, a spokesperson said.

The Duo traveled throughout the U.S. in 2015, performing debuts on several series, making several return engagements and premiering a work they commissioned from New York composer William Weigel.

They recorded their debut album late last year.

Tickets are $20, with those 19 and under being admitted for free. Tickets may be purchased by credit card online at musicatpennalps.org or at the gift shop at Penn Alps. Cash and checks may be used at the door.

For more information or directions, persons should go to the web pages at musicatpennalps.org or call 443-414-3955.

AN EVENING WITH LENNON AND McCARTNEY – Two of Us, a tribute to the music of John Lennon and Paul McCartney, will be presented at the Preston Community Arts Center, 123 South Price Street, Kingwood, W.Va., by Jed Duvall and Gene Cari Feldman on Saturday, Aug. 20, at 7 p.m. Audiences will watch the two famous artists as they spend an evening together making music, a spokesperson said. See story for details.

Bear Hill Band, Heather Hill To Give Local Show

There will be a free bluegrass concert offered at 302 Spring Lane in Oakland on Saturday, Aug. 13, from 5 to 9 p.m.

The Bear Hill Bluegrass Band and Maryland State Fiddle champion Heather Wharton Cory will provide the entertainment. The public is invited to attend with lawn chairs and a covered dish.

It is asked that no alcohol or drugs be brought to the event. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3208 and ask for Nancy.

Ricky Howsare To Perform At G'ville Senior Ctr.

Entertainer Ricky Howsare will headline a rock and roll Las Vegas style show Friday, Aug. 19, at the Grantsville Senior Center.

Only 100 tickets are being sold for the show, with all proceeds benefitting Garrett County Meals on Wheels program, as well as activities at the county's senior centers. The show will run from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Additional entertainment will be provided by Rockin' Rodney and the Durst Brothers Band.

Tickets are $10. They can be purchased at the Grantsville Senior Center or by calling 301-895-5818 or 301-334-9431, ext. 6139. Children under 10 will be admitted free. Light refreshments, including pizza and pepperoni rolls, will be available at the concert.

Howsare is a native of Bedford, Pa. He has been performing publicly for more than seven years as a singer and entertainer. He performs in a number of musical genres, including '50s rock and roll classics, since his debut performance at a Bedford nursing home in 2009.

Howsare recently earned his bachelor of music degree in vocal performance at the University of Louisville. He studied under the direction of world-renowned operatic tenor Daniel Weeks and operatic baritone and Julliard graduate Chad Sloan.

He has also performed in or served as musical director for numerous regional plays and musicals, including Hairspray, Godspell, and Guys & Dolls. He was recently the subject of a cover-story feature in the Cumberland-based Allegany Magazine.

Howsare remains active on the regional music scene, performing at festivals, reunions, churches, and various community celebrations. For more information on him, persons may visit www.rickyhowsare.com.

Meals on Wheels and the Senior Centers promote the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of creating an environment where vulnerable Garrett County residents have shelter, food, access to health care and support with life skills, thereby increasing the number of families and individuals who are economically self-sufficient and able to live independently, a spokesperson said.

Brookside Church To Host Mullet Family Singers

The Mullet Family Singers from Broadway, Va., will perform at the Brookside Church of the Brethren this Sunday, Aug. 14, during the 11 a.m. worship service.

Everyone is welcome to attend the service in Aurora, W.Va., and more information can be gathered by calling Robert E. Snyder at 301-334-8487.

EXHIBITS

The Garrett County Arts Council's Pop-Up Gallery Shop. This temporary home for the GCAC and its many artists is located at 25227 Garrett Highway in McHenry, next to Archie's Barbeque. The hours are Monday to Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sundays, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Stuck Enterprises is allowing the GCAC to use this space as a temporary home from now until Dec. 31. Carriage House Antiques has provided the antique furniture for displaying the artwork.

CAMPS

Monday to Friday, Aug. 15-19: Barter Camp for K-5th grade students, Our Town Theatre, Center Street in Oakland, 10 a.m. to noon every day. The theatre will offer theatre activities for children who will be going into kindergarten through 5th grade in the fall. "Once Upon a Time" is the theme for this year's camp. Admission is a different item each day, such as stamps or paper towels, needed to sustain the theatre. This payment process is why the program is a "barter" camp, organizers said. Pre-registration is required; the registration form is available online at ourtowntheatreblog.wordpress.com on the Kids' Stuff link. Music Scholarship Program Taking 2016 Applications

The Music at Penn Alps Private Lessons Scholarship program will be accepting applications for the fall semester until Monday, Aug. 15. Supported by a grant from the Community Trust Foundation's Naylor Family Trust Fund, the program is intended to provide scholarship aid for students who would otherwise not be able to study music privately.

Awards are limited to $500 per year and are available to students in grades K through 12 who live in the Allegany/Garrett County area. A total of 44 students were honored with continuing scholarship awards.

Photos of the local winners of the last round of scholarships will be published in next week's issue of The Republican.

A limited number of awards will be available for the fall semester. Any applications received after Aug. 15 will be eligible for consideration for the spring semester, for which the deadline is Dec. 15.

For more information, persons may go online to musicatpennalps.org or call program administrators Jean Miller at 301-722-4184 or Sean Beachy at 301-707-8015.

McCartney, Lennon Tribute Artists To Perform At PCAC

Two of Us, a tribute to the music of John Lennon and Paul McCartney, will be presented at the Preston Community Arts Center, 123 South Price Street, Kingwood, W.Va., by Jed Duvall and Gene Carl Feldman on Saturday, Aug. 20, at 7 p.m.

Duvall, an award-winning tribute artist with over 30 years of on-stage experience, has been performing as Sir Paul McCartney since 2010. He has performed across the country both as a solo performer and as part of his full band act called Speed of Sound: the Paul McCartney Experience.

Gene Carl Feldman will portray Lennon, and the two will recreate what an intimate evening together with Lennon and McCartney might have sounded like during their early days together, a spokesperson said.

"With just two instruments and two voices, the Two of Us celebrate the genius of Lennon and McCartney with a passion and energy that is sure to get audiences singing along to the songs that are the soundtrack of generations of fans," the spokesperson said.

For more information about Two of Us, the Lennon/McCartney Tribute, persons may go to www.facebook.com/twoofustribute.

The show is the final performance in Preston CAC's Summer Tribute Artists Series. The door opens at 6 p.m. Tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for students. They are $5 more at the door. A limited number of tickets are being sold on a first come, first served basis. Persons may purchase tickets by calling 304-376-1435; at the Book Mark'et, Oakland; Fawley Music, Morgantown, W.Va.; or Brew Ha Ha Cafe, Kingwood.

The Summer Tribute Artists Series is supported in part by the Greater Morgantown CVB with assistance by River House Lodge.

PLAYING DEAD
by Elizabeth Greenwood
C. 2016, Simon & Schuster, $26, 247 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Your wallet is genuine, original faux-leather from faux-Venezuela. It matches the pleather jacket you love so much and your favorite fake-silk shirt, which you like to wear when you drive the car you bought and can barely afford, but that looks great for appearances. Life is sometimes all about pretending but, in Playing Dead by Elizabeth Greenwood, faking your demise isn't quite as easy.

Loaded down with student loans in the six figures, former teacher Elizabeth Greenwood was desperate: That kind of debt terrified her, and she began to toy with an idea that many consider. Rather than let the owed-money scare her half to death, maybe she could just fake her death instead.

But faking a death is so drastic, one expert told her, and it leads to more problems. Instead, just disappear, which is "a very different act..." Faking is fraud; disappearing is easier, often legal, and you can still keep in contact with loved ones (though it won't erase the debt). Disappearing doesn't even have to be expensive, the expert said; in fact, the poorer you are, the better. Money, he believes, is one of the main reasons people disappear; the other is violence. Love is an "outlier."

"Faking your death almost never works," said another expert. That man's job is to track down fraudsters, and he's only been stumped once – which is to say that death-fakers are almost always caught. Some turn themselves in after being "dead" a short time; others are nabbed because they trusted someone who couldn't keep a secret. Many "dead" people are found because they do something dumb to blow their cover.

Men attempt "pseudocide" more than do women.

The bottom line, Greenwood discovered, is that being dead before you actually take your last breath is hard work. You'd have to leave everything behind: family, pets, hobbies, and career; change your appearance and "disconnect" completely. You can never be "you" again, in any form. That takes "serious planning" and serious commitment – not to mention the "heartbreaking" effects it has on those you've left behind...

All fun aside – and a lot of what's inside Playing Dead is fun – how many times have you thought of chucking it all, grabbing a plane, and lying on an anonymous beach for the rest of your life? It sounds perfect, doesn't it? And who knew an entire industry existed to help you do it?

But before you pack, heed the info that author Greenwood found. Her research goes from someone who helps people vamoose, to someone who helps find them. Elvis, Michael Jackson, and Andy Kaufman make appearances here, while Greenwood goes to prison, to Filipino morgues, and the surface of WITSEC. Through it all, she lends humor and eager lightheartedness to her findings, but with a niggling vein of semi-seriousness and the question: Could you?

See if that thought doesn't tickle your brain while you're reading this book; the answer might surprise you. In the meantime, dream, and know that Playing Dead isn't one of those books you'll just pretend to like.

TO GIVE CONCERT – The Mountaintop Seventh-day Adventist Church will host a free concert this Saturday, Aug. 13, at 4 p.m., featuring young violinists Alexander Marte, 18, Berkeley Springs, W.Va., above left, and Geofrey Cua, 26, of southern California, right. Both currently students at Washington Adventist University, both young men have studied for many years with notable instructors and have received numerous performance awards. Both are members of the New England Youth Ensemble and have traveled to Australia, Germany, Puerto Rico, and Italy over the past several years to share their musical talent. At last year's Oakland concert, the same pair presented a program of classical music interspersed with Biblical narration. This year's concert will include familiar/favorite hymns. The public is invited. There will be a freewill offering to help cover the performers' expenses. The church is located five miles north of Oakland along U.S. Rt. 219. More information can be obtained by contacting Mary Brown at 814-634-0585.

AURORA/EGLON

Recycle Saturday

The monthly recycle date for August is this Saturday, Aug. 13. Hours are from 9 to to 11 a.m. at the Aurora School.

Sustains Injury

Brian Corbin, Elk Garden, son of Richard and Sue Corbin, Eglon, was critically injured while working in New Jersey last week. A large piece of metal fell on him, crushing his pelvis and breaking several ribs. He remains in St Joe's Medical Center, 703 Mam Street, Patterson, NJ 07503, facing more surgery.

Chet Roth Mountain Music

Two more music events with Chet Roth and friends are left on the summer schedule: Aug. 13 and Sept. 24. Both will begin at 10 a.m. at Mt. Grove and continue all day. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish for lunch and a lawn chair.

Aurora VFD Gun Bash

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Gun Bash on Aug. 20. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m., with the first drawing to be held at noon. There will be a chance to win 22 guns and a 5500W Generac generator with every ticket purchased, plus additional floor guns will be given away the day of the bash.

The cost of each ticket is $25, with one additional guest adding an additional $10. Tickets for children 12 and under are $5. The ticket includes all the food one can eat. Tickets may be purchased from any fireman, or by calling Harold George at 304-851-6727 or Mike Gallagher at 304-698-9807.

According to a spokesperson, the VFD appreciates all the support of the community.

Aurora Project Presents

A free historical presentation will be given on Sunday, Aug. 21, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Aurora Community Building. It will consist of "The Deakins Line: How West Virginia Put a Whuppin' on Maryland" and "W.Va. History Alive: Living History Portrayal of Henry David Strother, aka Porte Crayon."

The presentation explains that most people are familiar with the Mason-Dixon Line, the famous boundary between the North and the South, but there is also another line in Preston County – the straight-line boundary with Garrett County.

This boundary is called the Deakins Line, and was supposed to extend north from the headwaters of the Potomac. However, there were arguments for over 100 years about where exactly that was. Don Teter, a historical surveyor from Randolph County, will share the history of this boundary line.

For the second half, Teter will portray Henry David Strothers, who was born in Martinsburg and traveled throughout the world in the late 1800s writing about travel for Harper's magazine.

Samuel Myers Reunion

A total of 43 members of the Samuel Myers family met for a reunion on July 23. The oldest member present was Jessie Myers Fedorow; the youngest were the 3-year-old triplets of Doug and Jennifer Myers. Traveling the farthest were Denise Teets Lewis and children of Houston, Texas.

Following the reunion was the 50th birthday party for Jessie Fedorow with desserts served by the Aurora UMC ladies group.

Reunion

The Mullenax family will meet on Aug. 14 at the Mt. Grove pavilion for its annual reunion. Church services will begin at 11 a.m., with the meal following at 12:30. Families are asked to bring items for the auction.

News Submission

To report family and class reunions, as well as other news and events, persons may contact Linda Lewis at 304-735-6931, or P.O. Box 25, Eglon, WV 26716.

Oakland Oaks To Face Orioles In PenMar-WV Championship

The Oakland Oaks (18-2) swept the Potomac Pirates last weekend to advance to the best-of-three PenMar-WV Championship series on Aug. 13-14, where the team will take on the Cumberland Orioles (17-9), who swept defending-champion Tri-State in its semifinal series.

The first game will begin on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Legion Field in Cumberland. The second game will take place on Sunday at 1 p.m. at Garrett College, with game three beginning after the conclusion of game two if it's necessary.

The two teams met six times during the regular season with the Oaks winning all of the first five meetings.

However, the Orioles won the final meeting in a 12-2 romp on July 23 to give Oakland one of its only two regular season losses.

Both teams have forged different paths throughout the regular season to make it to the championship.

The Oaks enjoyed a strong start to the season by winning the first 12 games by an average margin of 7.4 runs per game during that stretch.

The Orioles started off 5-7, but the team turned everything around and won 12 of its last 14 games, with one of those losses being to the regular-season champion Oaks.

Oakland's strong regular season was highlighted by strong performances throughout the lineup, and several Oaks finished near the top of league in various statistical categories.

Nathan King had the league's best ERA with a 0.25 mark and the most wins with five. King also struck out 35 batters, good enough for second in the league.

Scott Cooper also had a solid year on the mound finishing fifth in the league in ERA (3.70), fourth in wins (3), and fifth and strikeouts (26).

Ed Dutkewyiz and James Bolander finished third and fourth in the league in RBIs, knocking in 11 and 10 respectively.

Matthew Jeffrey and Alex Beiler had the second and third-most runs with 17 and 12 each.

Alex Banko had a league-high seven stolen bases while Beiler came in third with five stolen bases.

The winner of the championship series will advance to play in the Maryland Semi-Pro Baseball State Tournament.

Northern and Southern To Play Inaugural Alumni Football Game

Football season is going to feel like it's coming early this weekend, as Alumni Football USA has helped put together the inaugural alumni football game between the Northern Huskies and Southern Rams.

The two Garrett County rivals will clash on the gridiron this Sunday, Aug. 14, at 6 p.m. at Northern High School in a full-contact, full-pad game between alumni from both teams.

Northern will be captained by Zach Fratz, a graduate of the class of 2009.

During Fratz's final season in the fall of 2008, the Huskies closed the year with a 53-0 win over Southern.

The Huskies defeated the Rams during all four years of Fratz's high school career by an average margin of 26.75 points per game.

Southern will be captained by Seth Kisner, a graduate of the class of 2014.

Kisner helped the Rams snap a losing streak against the Huskies and achieved back-to-back wins over their rivals during his junior and senior seasons, winning 7-0 and 12-3.

Both captains have experienced success against their rival team, with eight years of hard-hitting football between the two of them.

Though Northern has had the upper hand in the recent years of the rivalry, the series begins to even out heading back farther into its history, making this one of the more intense, historic rivalries in the region.

The event is run by Alumni Football USA. Since 1985, the organization has put over 100,000 players back into the action and have raised over $2.1 million for schools and charities across the country.

Players have ranged in age from 19-63 in these games as different generations and styles have meshed together for these unique football games.

Concessions will be operated by the Mad Dogs Pop Warner football team.

Any football alumni interested in playing can join the Northern Alumni Football or Southern Alumni Football Facebook page, depending on one's school. Fans can also check out the Northern vs. Southern Alumni Football Game Facebook page for more general information about the game itself.

WGW DONATES TO SCHOLARSHIP FUND – The WGW Community Youth Cup was recently able to donate to the Chris Lantz Memorial Fund, which annually presents a deserving, college-bound student with the Chris Lantz American Excellence Scholarship. In the photo above, Chris's mother Mary Lantz accepts the donation from WGW representative Tom Woods. The 5th annual WGW Golf Tournament was held in June at the Lodestone and Oakland golf courses. Those interested in signing up to play in next year's event, volunteer, participate in the 5-K run/walk, or make a donation can do so by going online to www.wgwgolf.org. The 2017 Community Youth Cup tourney will be held on June 23-24.

New Germany To Host Hunter Education Course

New Germany State Park will be hosting a three-day Maryland Hunter Education Course on Sept. 6, 8, and 10. The class is for first-time hunters obtaining their hunter education certification.

Students must attend all three sessions to be eligible for hunter certification. Any student under the age of 13 must have an adult (21 years or older) accompany him/her during all sessions. Students must pre-register for the course online.

The course will include instruction in hunter responsibility, firearms and ammunition, firearm handling and safety, marksmanship and shooting fundamentals, principles of wildlife management, bowhunting, muzzleloader hunting, tree stand safety, safety and first aid, water safety, and federal and state legal requirements.

In order to pass the course, students must pass a 50-question multiple choice test with a grade of at least 80 percent, demonstrate to the instructor the ability to safely handle a firearm through practical exercises, and participate in live firing.

Students must also be recommended by the instructor to obtain certification by demonstrating responsibility and the maturity to be a safe, responsible, and ethical hunter, a spokesperson said.

Those with questions about the course are welcome to email Justin.Carrico@Maryland.gov.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

NOT MY BEST SAILING
by Dan Muss

As we left the mooring on a reach, I felt, once again, that lift I get from being in a boat under sail ... no engine noise, just the wind in the rigging and the gurgle of our wake.

It was a rainy morning on Saturday, but there was a nice breeze, and our PRO, Melanie Dunham, set the traditional windward-leeward course in the "slot" between Thousand Acres and Turkey Neck. Our Masters Fleet of nine boats got off on time, with no one over early. Gregory got in the lead, which turned into a "horizon" job, i.e., he was so far ahead we could barely see him. But Meehan, Riebel, Peters, Silverman, and Muss battled upwind and down. At one point on a downwind leg, we were lined up as though posing... although Peters was the first around that leeward mark.

On the last beat to the finish, I experienced a major problem; we had been in a pretty good position, when a combination of factors slowed us down. We hit a "knock" (unfavorable wind shift) at the same time as a motorboat wake slammed into us. I should have quickly borne off to keep momentum through the wake, but I was distracted by the mainsheet, which had become wrapped around my ankle.

After practically coming to a halt, I decided to take a long tack left while my competition went right. We then met about 50 feet from the finish line, but we were on port and they were on starboard with the right-of-way I thought I could clear Silverman, but they had to change course to avoid hitting us ... foul #1. I had not seen Peters barreling down. He had to change course ... foul #2. After our penalty turns, we finally finished; I'll bet the committee enjoyed watching this imbroglio!

Sunday looked iffy, but at race time we had a breeze, so we rigged and headed for the race course. Alas, it was not to be; the only breeze we had was thermal in nature and came from every which direction. Our PRO, Frank Meehan, cancelled and we headed home ... slowly.

LITERACY IN THE LAUNDROMAT – A free book station will be available at select laundromats around Garrett County in coming weeks. Pictured above is Jackie Wolf, coordinator of the project and AmeriCorps member at the Garrett County Health Department, showing off some the books which will be available for parents to borrow to read with their children. See story.

Book Exchange Program Set Up At Laundromats

Public laundromats in Oakland, Grantsville, and Friendsville will soon be offering a free book station for children from infants through those in fifth grade. Through a project called Literacy in the Laundromat, parents will be able to pick a book for their child, read with them at the laundromat, or take the book home to read there.

The Literacy in the Laundromat project is an A STAR! AmeriCorps program coordinated by Jackie Wolf, AmeriCorps member at the Garrett County Health Department.

"I remember those boring days at the local laundromat as a child," Wolf said. "As an AmeriCorps member, I chose to change that by promoting parent-child reading with this program. The project supports our Developmental Asset program, since Asset #25 is 'Reading for Pleasure.'"

Developmental assets are the qualities and experiences that enable young people to develop into successful, contributing adults, Wolf said. Developmental Asset #25 promotes a young person reading for pleasure for three or more hours per week.

Books will be available in select laundromats throughout Garrett County beginning Aug. 8. Parents will be able to take a book home, then bring it or another book back when finished. Parents are responsible for previewing/approving the books their children take.

The Literacy in the Laundromat project is sponsored in part by the Governor's Office for Children and the Garrett County Local Management Board, coordinated by the Garrett County Health Department, and hosted by the laundromats. The new and gently used books were donated by the Ruth Enlow Library, GCC Technologies LLC, and individuals.

For information about this project, persons may contact Venessa Stacy at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Orientation For Freshmen Slated At Southern High

Southern Garrett High School will hold an orientation for incoming freshmen and their parents on Tuesday, Aug. 23, from 1 to 3 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Students will have the opportunity to find their classrooms and their lockers, and learn the location of the health room, attendance office, main office, guidance office, and other areas.

phone while driving. He was taken into custody and later released on bond.

He was then served a summons by MSP troopers charging him with theft of $1,000 to under $10,000. After he was taken into custody for the second time, he was charged with 24 additional counts of rogue and vagabond, stealing/using another's credit card, theft of less than $100, theft less than $1,000, theft of $1,000 to under $10,000,and theft scheme: $1,000 to under $10,000. He is currently being held at the Garrett County Jail.

Adorable Adoptables

THESE FURRY FOUR are waiting patiently to be adopted from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. Above left is Tom, a neutered male Tabby who was picked up as a stray in Oakland. Above right is Bruiser, a young male pitt-boxer who is playful and energetic and loves to bark. His owner became too ill to care for him, and he is in need of a home with a fenced in yard and lots of play time. On the top far right is Sammi, a female grey longhair who was picked up as a stray in the Mtn. Lake Park area. Casey, pictured at the bottom right, is shy but friendly. She also comes from an owner who became too ill to care for her properly. Casey is used to a quiet home. For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Photos courtesy of the Garrett County Humane Society, a nonprofit volunteer organization.

Book Signing, Reading Set At G'ville Library

The Grantsville Library will host a book reading and signing with local author Debbie Brenneman on Monday, Aug. 22, at 6:30 p.m. Copies of her children's books, Look What's Under My Bed and Snakes Give Me a FREAK OUT!, will be available for sale by the author, at $8 each or two for $15 (a back-to-school special price).

The book description of Look What's Under My Bed reads, "Darling little stuffed animals come alive at night under a little girl's bed and keep her awake. She gently tells them to go to sleep as they playfully keep her up all night long."

The book also includes character education activities for parents and teachers.

The book description of Snakes Give Me a FREAK OUT! reads, "Do snakes give you a freak out? This children's book brings the purpose of snakes to life through its rhyme and beautiful illustrations. Read a short story and learn about various snakes with the information guide. This book helps the reader learn to 'just chill' and enjoy snakes."

Brenneman, who has lived in Garrett County her entire life, has been an early-childhood educator and a middle school environmental/Earth science teacher, and is presently a science teacher at Hickory Environmental Education Center, Accident.

The book signing/reading event is free and open to the public. More information may be obtained from the Grantsville Library at 301-895-5298 or email kim@relib.net.

A listing of events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library is available on the website at www.relib.net, and persons are invited to follow the library on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RuthEnlowLibrary.

Drivers Are Not Securing Loads On Road, Says AAA

More than 200,000 crashes involved debris on U.S. roadways during the past four years, according to a new study released by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety. Road debris has resulted in approximately 39,000 injuries and more than 500 deaths between 2011 and 2014. AAA is calling on drivers to properly secure their loads to prevent dangerous road debris.

AAA researchers examined common characteristics of crashes involving road debris and found that:

•Nearly 37 percent of all deaths in road debris crashes resulted from the driver swerving to avoid hitting an object. Over-correcting at the last minute to avoid debris can increase a driver's risk of losing control of their vehicle and make a bad situation worse.

•More than one in three crashes involving debris occurs between 10 a.m. and 3:59 p.m., a time when many people are on the road hauling or moving heavy items like furniture or construction equipment.

•Debris-related crashes are much more likely to occur on interstate highways. Driving at high speeds increases the risk for vehicle parts to become detached or cargo to fall onto the roadway.

About two-thirds of debris-related crashes are the result of items falling from a vehicle because of improper maintenance and unsecured loads. Crashes involving vehicle related-debris increased 40 percent since 2001, when the foundation first studied the issue. The most common types of vehicle debris are:

•Parts becoming detached from a vehicle (tires, wheels, etc.) and falling onto the roadway

•Unsecured cargo like furniture, appliances, and other items falling onto the roadway

•Tow trailers becoming separated and hitting another vehicle or landing on the roadway

Drivers can decrease their chances of being involved in a road debris crash by:

•Maintaining their vehicles: Drivers should have their vehicles checked regularly by trained mechanics. Badly worn or under-inflated tires often suffer blowouts that can leave pieces of tire on the roadway. Exhaust systems and the hardware that attach to the vehicle can also rust and corrode, causing mufflers and other parts to drag and eventually break loose. Potential tire and exhaust system problems can easily be spotted by trained mechanics as part of the routine maintenance performed during every oil change.

•Securing vehicle loads: When moving or towing furniture, it is important to make sure all items are secured. To properly secure a load, drivers should:

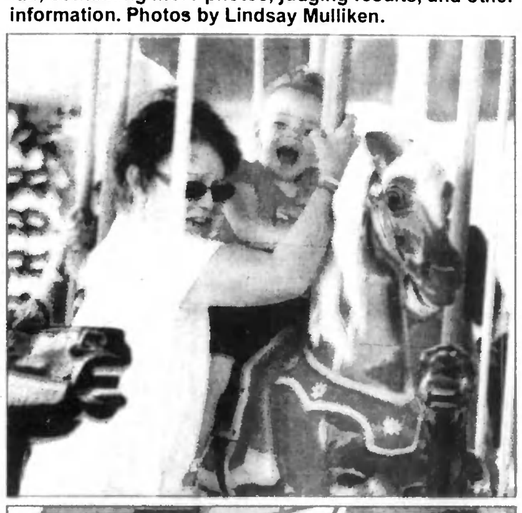
1. Tie down load with rope, netting or straps
2. Tie large objects directly to the vehicle or trailer
3. Cover the entire load with a sturdy tarp or netting
4. Don't overload the vehicle
5. Always double check load to make sure a load is secure

Currently every state has laws that make it illegal for items to fall from a vehicle while on the road. Most states' penalties result in fines ranging from $10 to $5,000, with at least 16 states listing jail as a possible punishment for offenders.

Maryland's statute does not include the possibility of jail time, but a $500 fine will be imposed. Height restrictions of the vehicle and load may not exceed 13 feet 6 inches. Passenger-type vehicles may not be driven on any highway while carrying a load that extends beyond the line of the fenders on the left side of the vehicle, or six inches beyond the right side.

Additional tips on defensive driving and how to report road debris to the proper authorities are available online at AAA.com/PreventRoadDebris.

FUN, FUN, FUN was literally written across the faces of thousands of folks who attended the 2016 Garrett County Fair last week in McHenry, especially those who paid for a "ride-as-many-times-as-you-want" ticket for the numerous and varied midway amusement machines on site for all ages. Included in next week's issue of The Republican will be an entire section devoted to the fair, containing more photos, judging results, and other information. Photos by Lindsay Mulliken.



MSP Seeking Info On Items Stolen From G'ville Home

Maryland State Police are seeking information concerning a reported burglary that occurred at a Grantsville home this past week.

Sometime between Sunday and Tuesday of this week, unknown suspects reportedly forced entry into a residence along National Pike/Rt. 40, just outside Grantsville. Items stolen from the home include coins, steel bear traps, a quilt, and a bear-skin rug.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Tfc. Nelson, MSP McHenry Barrack, at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101. A reward is available for information leading to the return of any property.

JOHN SMITH

LARS BYRNE

Smith And Byrne Will Be Speakers At B&O Museum

The Oakland B&O Museum will host the third presentation of its speaker series for the 2016 season next Thursday, Aug. 18, at the station/museum located along Liberty Street. The speakers will be John W. Smith and Lars Byrne.

Smith, who is the founder and president/CEO of the Durbin & Greenbrier Valley Railroad (DGVR), has a background in the transportation industry reaching back into the 1960s, and has conceived and developed numerous transportation-related business ventures over the past 44 years. These include advanced freight forwarding, warehousing and distribution, small-package delivery services, heavy-haul logistics, international shipping, zero-inventory (featuring on-time delivery), bulk distribution, manufacturing, and fleet operation and management.

He was awarded dozens of transport authorities, both from the Interstate Commerce Commission and Surface Transportation Board, was a forerunner in the development of hub-and-spoke distribution in the early 1970s, and opened new freighting opportunities in four states and Canada.

Byrne is the senior dispatcher for the West Virginia Central Railroad (WVC), which is is operated by the DGVR and is headquartered in Elkins, W.Va. The DGVR also operates an excursion line along the Greenbrier River out of Durbin, and was the corporation's first railroad venture.

The Shenandoah Valley Railroad (SVRR) is a freight short line operated by the DGVR, connecting businesses in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley at Staunton, Va., with CSX Transportation via the Buckingham Branch Railroad and at Harrisonburg with Norfolk Southern Railroad.

The WVC is primarily a tourist excursion line mostly within Monongahela National Forest, but also has limited freight services out of Elkins and connects with CSX Transportation through an interchange with the Appalachian and Ohio Railroad at Tygart Junction.

Byrne has been with the DGVR since 1999 and has held several positions within the railroad as both a volunteer and as a full-time employee. He also serves as the company's historian, and is a certified conductor on the Saturday night dinner train known as the "Mountain Explorer."

Byrne is a newspaperman by trade, and with his brother Bob owns the weekly newspaper in Philippi, W.Va., where he resides. He still works at the newspaper one afternoon each week and serves as its editor.

The WVC is owned by the state of West Virginia through the state department of transportation and the West Virginia State Railroad Authority. The WVC runs from Tygart Junction, just up river from Philippi, and travels along the Tygart River through Belington (mechanical base for WVC) and on to Elkins (passenger base). From Elkins, the WVC goes through Cheat Mountain via Kelly Mountain Tunnel No. 1 and then upgrade along the Shavers Fork of Cheat River to the top at Summit Cut.

The Cass Scenic Railroad at Cass, W.Va., along the Greenbrier River, has been part of the WVC since 2015.

The DGVR has operated the West Virginia Central since 1998.

Next Thursday's program will be a PowerPoint presentation narrated by Smith and Byrne, which covers the varied operations of the Durbin and Greenbrier Valley Railroad out of Elkins, Durbin, Cass, and Staunton. Their talk will begins at 7 p.m., and there is no admission fee.

Previous speakers in this summer series have been Bruce Elliott from Green Bank, W.Va., and Daniel Toomey from Baltimore. Elliott spoke about "The West End" of the B&O from Mtn. Lake Park to Grafton, while Toomey spoke about the Lincoln funeral train.

For more information about the program, persons are invited to call Terry Helbig at 301-616-0661.

THE 18TH ANNUAL WESTERN MARYLAND TRUCK SHOW will roll into Grantsville on Friday, Aug. 26, with many events planned for the entire weekend. The Big Rig Show and Shine on Saturday will celebrate the "big trucks that handle big jobs" (pictured above). A Kids' Power Wheels Derby will also be held on Saturday afternoon (pictured below). This year, the event will give away two new Power Wheels to kids who want to enter the derby but don't have a vehicle. One will be awarded to a boy and one to a girl, each between 3 and 10 years of age. Entry forms can be obtained at the Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, First United Bank in Grantsville, Grantsville Town Hall, or online on the "News" tab of the event website at www.westernmarylandtruckshow.com. See story for more details.

Western Maryland Truck Show To Return To Grantsville Aug. 26 - 28

The Western Maryland Truck Show will return to Grantsville the weekend of Aug. 26 to 28. The 18th annual festival, which is family friendly, kicks off on Friday afternoon.

Friday night events include the Lawn Mower Pulls starting at 6 p.m. and a Movie Under the Stars at 8:30 p.m. Specatators can bring their own lawn chairs, popcorn, and blankets.

Saturday's events begin at 9 a.m. with children's activities, vendors, and the Big Rig Show and Shine that celebrates the "big trucks that handle big jobs." From dump trucks to show trucks, flatbeds to antique rigs, spectators can get up close for photos and talk to the truckers.

"With slick custom paint jobs and mirror finish chrome, these tricked-out large cars are what the weekend is all about," a spokesperson said.

The Truckers Convoy will leave the park on Saturday at 11:30 a.m. and travel 30 miles through Frostburg and the countryside.

A Kids Power Wheels Derby will start at 1 p.m., followed by a candy drop at 3 p.m. for the children.

This year, the event will give away two new Power Wheels to kids who want to enter the Power Wheels Derby but don't have a vehicle. One will be awarded to a boy and one to a girl, between 3 and 10 years of age. Entry forms can be obtained at the Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, First United Bank in Grantsville, Grantsville Town Hall, or online on the "News" tab of the event website at www.westernmarylandtruckshow.com.

One registration is allowed per child, and forms must be returned to the truck show by Aug. 21. The drawing will be made by the Greater Grantsville Business Association on Aug. 23 at its monthly meeting.

Power Wheels will be on display prior to the Power Wheels Derby at 1 p.m. on Aug. 27.

Big rig registration opens at 3 p.m. on Friday, followed by the lawn tractor pull competition at 6 p.m., with youth and adult categories.

The gates will open on Saturday at 4 p.m. for the country music concert featuring Jason Michael Carroll, Ol' Buzzard Band, Corey Hager & the Wild Cards, and Country Express.

Nashville country star Jason Michael Carroll will headline the show at 8:45 p.m. He released his debut album in 2006, which produced three Top 40 hits, "Alyssa Lies," "Livin' Our Love Song," and "I Can Sleep When I'm Dead."

The Ol' Buzzard Band will perform at 7:45 p.m. An ensemble from western Maryland and Pennsylvania, the band notes that its influences range from Hank Williams to Freddie Mercury. The Ol' Buzzard Band has been featured on 100.1The Wolf, 94.1QZk and Morgantown, WV 97.9 WKKW radio.

Corey Hager & the Wild Cards will take the stage at 6:45 p.m. Hager released his debut contemporary country album in 2015, and has opened for country stars including Sam Hunt, Joe Diffie, Easton Corbin, Chase Bryant, and Sammy Kershaw.

Country Express will open the show at 5:50 p.m., and will also play at the official After Party at the Grantsville American Legion, starting at 10 p.m.

At the end of the concert, the Big Rig Light Show will be featured.

"We are always trying to make our event bigger and better for spectators and participants," said organizer Jim McFarland.

All events take place at the Grantsville Town Park, 174 Miller St., Grantsville, and are free to the public except the concert on Saturday night, with ticket prices $10 in advance and $15 at the gate. Those under 8 will be admitted free, and must be accompanied by an adult.

Persons may purchase tickets and obtain additional information at www.westernmarylandtruckshow.com

Along the boardwalk and over the dunes, suddenly the sea appears in all its glory. Hidden until you are almost on top of it, it is always there waiting. Our Creator is always there waiting, too, even though we may become tired and discouraged because the path is not always clear. Learn more of God's path for you at your house of worship this week. He can lead you to a life of beauty and peace; He will help you find your way.

True Confessions

A confession, to be genuine and true, is usually something which is shameful for us to admit because it reflects poorly on our character, and something for which others may not forgive us. The minor faults and foibles which are easy to confess and easy to forgive are window-dressing on the true confession. The true confession is the actual window on our soul which says to others, as it were, "take a look at the real me. This is the horrible thing that I did, or failed to do, or merely thought, and I am ashamed." Shame is not something which we praise or advocate much in our modern culture, but when we confess our deepest and darkest sins we will probably be ashamed, and perhaps that is the mark of a true confession. One should face the prospects of confession with fear and trembling, and not expect that one will be forgiven immediately, if ever. A confession which lowers you in the eyes of others is probably a more genuine one than one which makes you look good. We should also be wary of the confession which builds us up as it goes along, or offers extenuating circumstances for what we did. A good confession is honest, penitent, and while accompanied by a certain amount of shame it's also likely to be cathartic.

– Christopher Simon

"When I kept silent, my bones wasted away through my groaning all day long. For day and night your hand was heavy on me; my strength was sapped as in the heat of summer Then I acknowledged my sin to you and did not cover up my iniquity."

'The Making of the Mob: Chicago' chronicles Capone's rise

By Kyla Brewer
TV Media

Known as The Windy City, Chicago is famous for a lot of things — deep dish pizza, the L train and Oprah Winfrey to name a few. But the city is also infamous for being the setting of the rise of one of North America's most notorious organized crime syndicates: The Chicago Outfit.

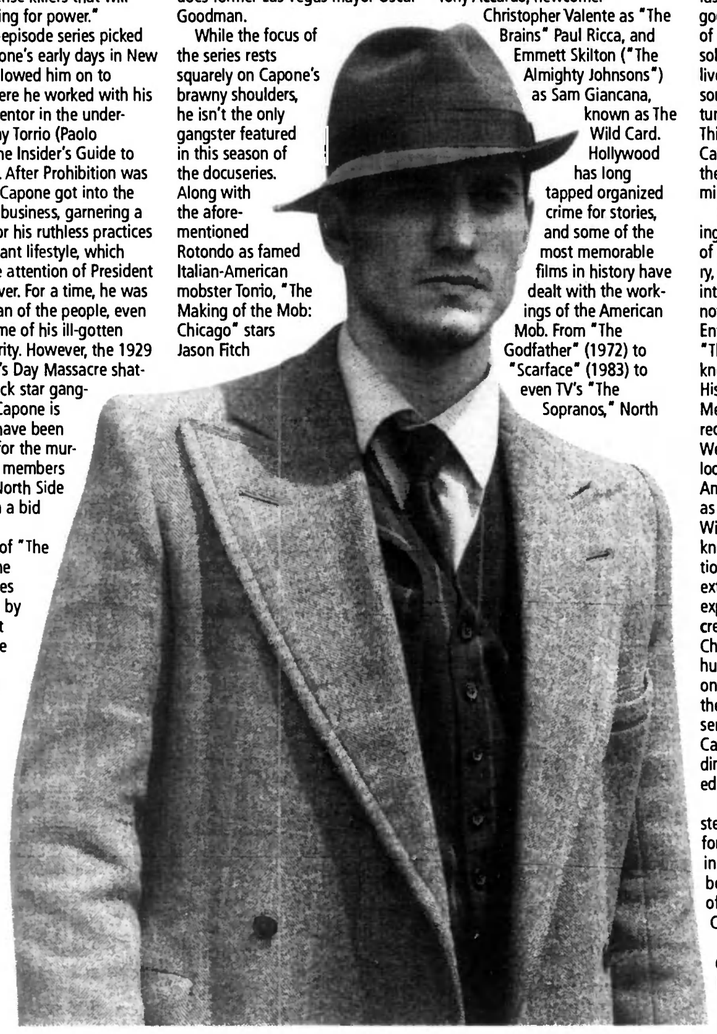
A new docuseries offers viewers a dramatization of the events that led to the rise and fall of one of the Mob's founding members. Michael Kotsohilis ("The Dark Side of War," 2009) stars as iconic gangster Al Capone in a new episode of "The Making of the Mob: Chicago," airing Monday, Aug. 15, on AMC. In addition to dramatic reenactments, the program features archival footage and photos, as well as interviews with historians, authors, law enforcement personnel and actors famous for their portrayal of gangsters.

Actor Ray Liotta ("Goodfellas," 1990) narrates the series, which is now in its second season. The first season focused on the rise of the New York Mob, particulariy with reference to Lucky Luciano, who was credited with revolutionizing the Big Apple's organized crime hierarchy by forming alliances and creating the Five Families. Attracting around a million viewers per episode, the debut season was a respectable success for AMC, so it came as no surprise when the show was renewed.

"The histories and the spectacular personalities inside the American mafia provides a fascinating real-life look at organized crime, and allows us to expand the storytelling beyond New York City," said AMC executive Joel Stillerman. "Al Capone is one of the most notorious crime figures, and 'The Making of the Mob: Chicago' showcases the canny criminal minds and brutish no-nonsense killers that will stop at nothing for power."

The eight-episode series picked up with Capone's early days in New York, and followed him on to Chicago, where he worked with his childhood mentor in the underworld: Johnny Torrio (Paolo Rotondo, "The Insider's Guide to Happiness"). After Prohibition was established, Capone got into the bootlegging business, garnering a reputation for his ruthless practices and flamboyant lifestyle, which attracted the attention of President Herbert Hoover. For a time, he was seen as a man of the people, even donating some of his ill-gotten gains to charity. However, the 1929 St. Valentine's Day Massacre shattered that rock star gangster image. Capone is believed to have been responsible for the murder of seven members of the rival North Side Irish Gang in a bid for power.

Season 2 of "The Making of the Mob" features appearances by actor Vincent Pastore ("The Sopranos") and Michael Madsen ("Reservoir Dogs," 1992), both famous for their portrayals of Capone-like gangsters. Jonathan Eig, a New York Times best-selling author and a renowned Capone expert, also shares his thoughts, as does former Las Vegas mayor Oscar Goodman.



While the focus of the series rests squarely on Capone's brawny shoulders, he isn't the only gangster featured in this season of the docuseries. Along with the aforementioned Rotondo as famed Italian-American mobster Torrio, "The Making of the Mob: Chicago" stars Jason Fitch ("Shortland Street") as enforcer Tony Accardo, newcomer Christopher Valente as "The Brains" Paul Ricca, and Emmett Skilton ("The Almighty Johnsons") as Sam Giancana, known as The Wild Card.

Hollywood has long tapped organized crime for stories, and some of the most memorable films in history have dealt with the workings of the American Mob. From "The Godfather" (1972) to "Scarface" (1983) to even TV's "The Sopranos," North American audiences seem to be fascinated with the Mob, which is good news for AMC. "The Making of the Mob" appears to have a solid following, with about a million live viewers per episode last season, and another 500,000 or so tuning in at their convenience. Things appear to be on track for Capone's turn in the spotlight, as the opener attracted close to 1.2 million viewers.

Cable has recently been pioneering this type of program: a hybrid of drama and real life, mixing history, dramatic reenactments and interviews with experts and other notables. Stephen David Entertainment, which produces "The Making of the Mob," is also known for the highly successful History Channel miniseries "The Men Who Built America." AMC recently wrapped "The American West," a similar series that took a look at the lives of famous native Americans, cowboys and lawmen, as well as notorious outlaws in the Wild West. While it's impossible to know the whole truth in such situations, programs like these consult extensively with historians and experts. The Huffington Post has credited "The Making of the Mob: Chicago" with taking a more human look at Capone's rise. Based on his actions, there's little doubt the man was ruthless, but AMC's series presents a multi-faceted Capone as opposed to the one-dimensional killer he's often depicted as in other TV shows and films.

Learn how the legendary gangster and his cohorts set the stage for decades of organized crime rule in the Windy City and what became of them in a new episode of AMC's "The Making of the Mob: Chicago," airing Monday, Aug. 15.

Bubblegum and paper clips

CBS's 'MacGyver' reboot has assembled its cast

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Bubblegum and paper clips: CBS's "MacGyver" reboot is piecing together its cast. The new iteration of the classic show had a good enough pilot to get itself ordered to series, but the cast and crew have been shaken up in preparation for the anticipated premiere, airing Friday, Sept. 23.

Lucas Till ("X-Men: First Class," 2011) is set to star as the iconic Angus MacGyver, a brilliant man who creates the Department of External Services (DXS) to combat any and all threats to the nation and to the world. MacGyver uses his incredible scientific knowledge and unconventional problem-solving skills to always win the day, no matter how desperate the odds stacked against him may seem.

A diverse cast of actors join Till on the DXS team. Sandrine Holt ("House of Cards") has been cast as DXS director Patricia Thornton, a boss who's not afraid to get her hands dirty in the field and have a little bit of fun herself.

Of course, at every agent's side is a good partner, and MacGyver is no exception. George Eads ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation") stars as Jack Dalton, a former CIA agent who's no stranger to the sorts of high-risk missions that he frequently finds himself caught in the middle of with MacGyver.

Justin Hires ("21 Jump Street," 2012) has been cast as MacGyver's roommate, a constant source of amusement for the busy DXS agent.

The original "MacGyver" series ran for seven seasons and has become an iconic TV program of the late 1980s and early 1990s. Even the word "MacGyvering" has entered the lexicon of many people, meaning the act of taking ordinary, everyday objects like paper clips, and using them for something outside of their intended use — the sorts of things that MacGyver did frequently in the show.

The reboot of "MacGyver," starring Lucas Till in the title role, premieres Friday, Sept. 23, on CBS.

From FBI to CIA: "Quantico" is trading one agency for another. The ABC thriller, in which rookie FBI agent Alex Parrish (Priyanka Chopra, "Don 2," 2011) was framed by someone in her own agency for the biggest terrorist attack since Sept. 11, is gearing up for its second season, set to premiere Sunday, Sept. 25. Chopra's Parrish is back, now with a CIA agent's badge rather than an FBI one, but a lot of new faces are set to join her — no surprise, considering the body count of the first season.

Blair Underwood ("L.A. Law") has been cast as CIA operative Owen Hall, an agent revered by new operatives. Russell Tovey ("Being Human") plays the mysterious Harry Doyle, and South African actress Pearl Thusi ("Tremors 5: Bloodlines," 2015) steps in as an ambitious lawyer who struggles to fit in at her law firm.

But those three aren't the only new faces — not by a long shot. David Lim ("Criminal Minds"), Tracy Ifeachor ("The Originals") and Mexican telenovela star Aarón Díaz have also joined the cast for season 2.

Lim has been cast as future CIA agent Sebastian Chen, a man who is focused on his goals and confident in his abilities. Ifeachor is Lydia Bates, a financial analyst, and Díaz is set to play the smoldering Léon Velez, a photojournalist who lives wherever life takes him.

All in all, it's a lot of new faces for the show that was one of last season's hits. Its star, though, is still on board: Chopra was the breakout star of the show last season, winning a People's Choice Award for her performance; not bad for a former Miss World winner and Bollywood star who was virtually unknown in America only a year ago. "Quantico" returns to ABC Sunday, Sept. 25.

Saturday

The Pioneer Woman
(60) FOOD 10:00 a.m.

Ree Drummond has been working on her store and deli, and everything seems to be full speed ahead in this new episode. She cooks to keep the construction going. She prepares spicy fried chicken sandwiches piled with crunchy coleslaw.

My Cat From Hell
(58) ANPL Noon

Spend an afternoon with cat behavior expert Jackson Galaxy as Animal Planet presents four back-to-back episodes of this series. First, he meet's Finn's owners, who are exasperated that his cries often wake them up at 4 a.m.

U.S. Senior Open
(8) (10) (53) (10)

2:00 p.m.

Golfers 50 and up prove they've got what it takes on the course of the Scioto Country Club in the third round of the U.S. Senior Open. Last year, Jeff Maggert of the United States won the prestigious tournament.

Rush Hour
(2) (5) (5) (19)

8:00 p.m.

Dets. James Carter (Justin Hires) and Jonathan Lee (Jon Foo) are on the case when seemingly upstanding citizens are being publicly humiliated in this new episode. The pair must find the mystery man who is apparently targeting people with secrets.

Dr. Ken
(5) (4) (4) 8:30 p.m.

Dana Lee guest stars as Ken's (Ken Jeong) dad, who shakes things up when he arrives for an impromptu stay in this rebroadcast. He takes on some chores that Ken hasn't gotten around to, such as buying and installing a much-needed dishwasher.

The First 48: Drugs Kill
(41) A&E 9:00 p.m.

Check out past episodes of "The First 48" that have been updated with new footage from the investigations. In this episode, Dets. Scott Sayers and Esteban Montenegro investigate the death of an unidentified girl in Dallas.

Summer in the City
(43) HALL 9:00 p.m.

Juliana Guill stars as a young woman who leaves her small town for the bright lights of the big city in this premiere movie. Unfortunately, her attempts to adopt a big-city personality fall flat. Vivica A. Fox also stars

The Dead Files
(49) TRAVEL 10:00 p.m.

In this new episode, Steve and Amy look into reports of distressing paranormal activity at a home in North Carolina. This series follows a self-proclaimed psychic communicator as she works with a hard-n

Strange BUT TRUE

* It was beloved English author and humorist P.G. Wodehouse, probably best known for his tales of Wooster and Jeeves, who made the following observation: "Judges, as a class, display, in the matter of arranging [divorce settlements] that reckless generosity which is found only in men who are giving away someone else's money."

* Brides in ancient Rome carried sheaves of wheat, not bouquets of flowers.

* Andrew Jackson, the seventh president of the United States, had a pet parrot with a questionable vocabulary. In fact, Poll (the pet in question) was so foul-mouthed (-beaked?) that it disrupted Jackson's funeral. According to Rev. William Menefee Norment, who presided at the service, "Before the sermon and while the crowd was gathering, a wicked parrot that was a household pet got excited and commenced swearing so loud and long as to disturb the people and had to be carried from the house."

* The reasons why aren't clearly understood, but it seems that people with high blood pressure rarely get cancer.

* Glass-bottom beer tankards were invented during medieval times. Evidently, some taverns were so rough that patrons felt the need to be able to see the other drinkers even when turning the mug bottoms-up.

* Those who study such things say that when you're sleeping, a quarter of all your blood is in your liver.

* It's pretty common knowledge that it's the male seahorse, not the female, that gives birth to the young. Not many people realize, though, that a male seahorse can deliver a brood of a thousand or more babies in the morning, and then be pregnant again that night.

Moments in time
THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Aug. 16, 1896, while salmon fishing in Canada's Yukon Territory, George Carmack reportedly spots nuggets of gold in a creek bed. His lucky discovery sparked OKlondike Fever,Ó the last great gold rush in the American West.

* On Aug. 17, 1915, Charles F. Kettering, co-founder of Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company (DELCO), is issued a U.S. patent for his "engine-starting device" -- the first electric ignition mechanism for automobiles. Prior to his invention, drivers had to use iron hand cranks to start their engines.

* On Aug. 20, 1920, seven men, including legendary football star Jim Thorpe, meet in Canton, Ohio, to organize a professional football league, the forerunner to the National Football League.

* On Aug. 19, 1953, the Iranian military, with the support and financial assistance of the United States, overthrows the government of Premier Mosaddeq and reinstates the Shah of Iran. Iran remained a Cold War ally of the U.S. until a revolution ended the Shah's rule in 1979.

* On Aug. 15, 1961, two days after sealing off free passage between East and West Berlin, East German authorities begin building the Berlin Wall to permanently close off access to the West. For the next 28 years, the heavily fortified Berlin Wall stood as the most tangible symbol of the Cold War.

* On Aug. 21, 1971, antiwar protestors associated with the Catholic Left raid draft offices in Buffalo, New York, and Camden, New Jersey, to confiscate and destroy draft records. The FBI and local police arrested 25 protestors.

* On Aug. 18, 1991, Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev is placed under house arrest during a coup by high-ranking members of his own government, military and KGB secret police. The coup collapsed three days later, but Gorbachev's days in power were numbered. He resigned in December 1991.

Should Dogs Drink ap Water?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Recently you advised against using human toothpaste to brush dogs' teeth because, for one thing, the fluoride in toothpaste is toxic to them. With this in mind, what are the ramifications of dogs drinking fluoridated water? -- Rich, via e-mail

DEAR RICH: That's an excellent question, and one that all pet owners should consider. About 67 percent of the U.S. population receives municipal drinking water with added fluoride, according to a 2012 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention report. Opinions on fluoride and its effect on people and pets is an emotional issue, for understandable reasons. And that can leave pet owners even more confused about whether they should be protecting their pets from tap water. The Merck Manual of Pet Health details the effects of fluoride at toxic levels (for pets, that can be as low as 1 milligram per kilogram). But that does not address fluoride in water. If municipalities fluoridate their water, it is diluted at 0.7 parts per million, which is very small -- but many people are concerned that those small amounts can build up in one's system over time, causing long-term health effects. For the short term, you can simply avoid giving pets tap water every day -- use filtered or bottled water instead. But bottled water has its own set of issues (such as plastic filling up landfills). How can you find out if your drinking water has added fluoride? Contact your local water utility provider and ask (the number is on your water and sewer bill). Or, check out the CDC's My Water's Fluoride website, which has fluoridation data supplied by 39 participating states.

Q: I have a set of jigsaw puzzles featuring Uncle Wiggily that was given to me during the 1940s when I was a child. The set of three is complete and in excellent condition. I have been offered $50, but can't decide if I should sell or keep the puzzles. -- Jerry, Pine Hills, Florida

A: Uncle Wiggily was created in 1910 by Howard R. Garis, a syndicated newspaper columnist. Uncle Wiggily Longears was an elderly rabbit, complete with a tailcoat and top hat. His adventures originally appeared in the Sunday funny papers, but soon expanded to include story books, puzzles, cereal bowls and party games. Uncle Wiggily's friends included Fuzzy Wuzzy, Sammie and Suzie Littletail, Grandpa Goosey Gander, Billy Wagtail, Jackie and Peetie Bow-Wow and a host of others. When I was about 7 and in bed with the measles, my grandmother brought me a book, "Uncle Wiggily Has the Measles." I cherish it to this very day. Uncle Wiggily was my pal, and I thought he was swell. I still do.

There were three puzzles issued in the same box, according to the "Official Hake's Price Guide to Character Toys" by Ted Hake and published by House of Collectibles. According to Hake, the puzzles are worth in the $25-$100 range, depending on condition and if complete. Should you sell them? Only you can determine that.

Q: I have a letter and three telegrams sent by Theodore Roosevelt to Captain Charles L. Cooper in the spring and summer of 1898. The letter is dated July 18, 1898 and is signed by Roosevelt when he was the Chief Quartermaster in Denver, "Headquarters Department of the Colorado." His full title was "Lt. Col. & D.Q.M. Gen'l U.S. Army, Chief Quartermaster." The letter is requesting Capt. Cooper to furnish original correspondence regarding transportation of Major H.B. Hersey, 14 officers and 342 men from Santa Fe, New Mexico Territory, to San Antonio. The three telegrams are dated May 4 and May 7, 1898. Do these documents have any value? -- Robert, McArthur, Ohio

A: I recommend you contact Heritage Auctions, a company that specializes in the appraisal and sales of historic documents. Contact is 445 Park Ave., New York, NY 10022, and 212-486-3500.

Peanuts in the Shell

Nothing brings birds into your yard like raw or roasted unsalted peanuts in the shell. Birds cannot resist them. And these are not just the bigger birds like blue jays, crows and woodpeckers. I've seen smaller birds like wrens, titmice and cardinals carry these gems off as well.

PROUDLY SERVING OUR COMMUNITY AND REGION SINCE 1971

Garrett's Ruby, Students Attend Bucknell Events

Ashley Ruby, academic success advisor at Garrett College, participated in the annual Bucknell Community College Partners Conference last month at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa. For the past three years, Ruby has represented Garrett College at the conference, as GC is one of five community college partners in the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program.

During the visit, Ruby had the opportunity to catch up with the four Garrett College students represented in Bucknell's summer session as part of the BCCSP program: Cassondra Hoffman of Mountain Lake Park, Elaine Marple and Amy Skidmore of Oakland, and Kelsey Birmingham of Columbia.

A summer send-off reception was held in their honor on May 5 on the McHenry campus. In attendance were the four summer scholars, parents, family members, friends, faculty advisors, administration, GC Foundation and board members, and others from the college community.

The students were presented with tote bags and t-shirts from the Garrett College Foundation, as well as GC pins from Ruby, who is also the coordinator of the BCCS program at GC.

"I take on my role of coordinator of this enterprise with great pride, a wealth of heart and compassion, and I truly do believe in the life-changing influence the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program has to offer," Ruby said at the reception. "I look forward to celebrating the many achievements of these young scholars, both today and into the foreseeable future."

These four young women attended Bucknell University from June 9 to July 22, which was the first phase of the BCCSP program. During that six-week program, the students resided in the residence halls, enrolled in two writing-intensive college courses each, maintained above-average grades, and participated in social cohort requirements every week. The four will return to Garrett College this fall to complete their associate degrees.

ATTEND SUMMER SESSION AT BUCKNELL – Four Garrett College students who were selected for the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program recently completed a six-week summer session at Bucknell as part of that program. After completing their studies at Garrett, the four will go on to enroll at Bucknell to finish work toward their bachelor degrees. Pictured above in the front are GC students Kelsey Birmingham of Columbia and Amy Skidmore of Oakland. In the second row are students Cassondra Hoffman, Mountain Lake Park, and Elaine Marple, Oakland. In the back are Mark Davies, retired assistant vice president for enrollment management and director of partnerships at Bucknell, and Ashley Ruby, coordinator of the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program and academic success advisor at Garrett College. See story.

According to Ruby, the primary purpose of the program is to be able to provide access to a higher (private) education to students that, under normal circumstances, they may never be able to achieve.

"It is more than just a transfer scholarship," she said. "The program is designed for high-achieving, low- to moderate-income community college students who aim to earn their associate degree and wish to take their education further."

Ruby said that the summer conference focused on increasing awareness among students about the Bucknell program and what the opportunities could do for their future. Participants also discussed how the college community as a whole can come together and embrace the program for potential students.

"In the past 11 years, nearly 150 Garrett students have gone through the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program, achieving a 98% graduation rate at Bucknell University," Ruby said. "These students have access to valuable undergraduate research in every field, some of the nation's most competitive and successful STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) programs, developing meaningful relationships with senior faculty, and academic and social capitol that may not be afforded to them elsewhere."

Recruitment efforts for the Bucknell University Summer 2017 Community College Scholars Program Cohort are currently underway, beginning with summer registration of new entering students to the college for this fall. In addition to providing information on the college website, resources are readily available around campus.

"A program like this can only exist with the support, advocacy, and informative nature of an enthusiastic student support team – our faculty and staff," Ruby said.

Guidelines for entry into the 2017 program are as follows: Potential students must achieve at least a 3.5 cumulative GPA in the first semester and beyond (mid-term grades can be a good indicator of this), have a low to moderate family income, complete at least 12 college level credits by the end of fall semester, be primarily enrolled in college-level coursework, and declare an associate of arts degree program of study.

Ruby will be holding informational sessions regarding the Bucknell scholars program at the McHenry campus in November. Interested students will have the opportunity to visit the Bucknell University campus in February 2017. After meeting the academic and financial criteria, potential scholars must apply and attend the summer program immediately prior to community college graduation. Students then return to the community college to complete the associate degree, and are eligible to apply for the Two-Year Transfer Scholarship to Bucknell University.

For more information about the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program, in addition to other transfer opportunities available at Garrett College, persons are invited to contact Ruby at Garrett College at 301-387-3733 or ashley.ruby@garrettcollege.edu.

MOUNTAIN MAKER FEST SET FOR SATURDAY – The second annual Mountain Maker Fest will be held this Saturday, Aug. 13, at the Garrett College Career Technology Training Center in Accident. The all-ages, free event is intended to celebrate and enhance the region's colorful history and activities relative to creating, making, and innovating, as hobbyists, students, do-it-yourselfers, and entrepreneurs will be featured. More than 400 attendees went to last year's inaugural fest, including Payton and Lilly Reese, pictured above as they took part in creating a screen painting mural featuring birds. Similar hands-on activities and interactive demonstrations are once again planned. The fest will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and more Information can be found online at www.4ruralsuccess.com or by contacting Sarah Myers at 301-387-3771 or sarah.myers01@garrettcollege.edu, or Mike Tumbarello at 301-387-3167 or mike.tumbarello@garrettcollege.edu.

Volunteers Sought For Deep Creek Art & Wine Fest

The 2016 Deep Creek Lake Art & Wine Festival will be taking place on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, in McHenry. The event will feature more than 200 wines available for tasting and purchasing and artwork from 40 artisans. The proceeds of the festival will benefit HART for Animals and the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

This year, the planning committee has determined a need for additional volunteers at the festival. People are needed on Friday, Sept. 9, to help with set-up and pre-festival activities. On the day of the festival, volunteers are being recruited to help during 3½-hour shifts for a variety of tasks, including wine pouring, front gate attending, wine store stocking and inventory, security, customer assistance, and other duties. Then on Sunday, Sept. 11, additional volunteers are needed to assist with tear-down work.

All volunteers will receive a free non-tasting admission to the festival, a wine tasting ticket at a reduced cost, a festival T-shirt, and food and beverages during the time they are volunteering. Registration in advance is required for all those who wish to volunteer.

To register to volunteer at the Deep Creek Art & Wine Festival, persons should visit the festival website at www.deepcreekwinefest.com and click on the "Volunteer!" icon at the bottom of the home page.

For additional information, persons may call Judy Carbone, volunteer coordinator with HART for Animals, at 301-387-7729 or email her at judy@hartforanimals.org.

Launched in 2004, the Art & Wine Festival has been the largest fundraising event of the year for HART and GLAF.

"Its success over the years can only be attributed to the hard work and dedication of an all-volunteer planning committee and hundreds of volunteers who contribute their time and energy to the event," Carbone said. She noted that approximately 300 volunteers, including student athletes from Garrett College and high school ROTC students, participated at last year's event, donating more than 1,000 hours.

HART for Animals and Garrett Lakes Arts Festival are both 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations under the Internal Revenue Code.

Essential Oils 101 To Be Offered At Garrett College

The Continuing Education and Workforce Development Divisionat Garrett College will offer Essential Oils 101 at the main campus in McHenry on Monday, Aug. 22, from 6 to 8 p.m. The course is being instructed by local resident Kearstin Hinebaugh, a doTERRA Wellness advocate, working for the largest essential oils company in the world.

Participants will learn how to empower themselves with pure and customizable natural solutions in order to find a health, wellness, and beauty routine that's right for them. A follow-up to this course is a variety of make-and-take workshops.

In Hinebaugh's quest to reduce the toxic load for herself and her family, she began researching various natural solutions. That research quickly led her to essential oils. Since uncovering their diverse applications and uses, she says she has become an essential oil enthusiast, learning everything she can about these "gifts of the earth."

"These days, I'm admittedly a bit obsessed with transforming my routines and making over my medicine, beauty, and cleaning cabinets with oil-based products, and want to assist others in doing the same," said Hinebaugh.

For more information on this course, persons may contact Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu. To register for this course, contact Continuing Education and Workforce Development at 301-387-3069. Those interested in more information on this topic or Garrett College may contact Stacy Holler at 301-387-3045 or stacy.holler@garrettcollege.edu.

Anderes To Speak At Special Service Set For Aug. 21

Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman and the congregation of Loch Lynn Church of God invite all to a special service scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 21, at 6 p.m., with guest speaker Marilyn N. Anderes of Oakland.

Married for 51 years to John Anderes, a retired aerospace engineer, Anderes is the mother of three and the grandmother of eight. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has taught Bible studies and led seminars and retreats, both nationally and internationally, for the last 36 years. She has served as a mentor and Bible teacher for the wives of NBA players in the Washington, D.C., area.

Anderes has also been a contributing editor at Good News Magazine, writing the column "From the Heart" from 1993 to 2008. Her articles have appeared in such periodicals as Decision Magazine and the Navigators Discipleship Journal. She has also authored the following books: A Workshop on Self-Giving, The Great Encourager, From the Heart of the Word, MORE: The Four Dimensions of Intimacy With God, both in English and Korean, and The Adventure of Surrender: A Fruitful Life, which is due for a fall 2016 release.

"Marilyn yearns to live the longings of God's heart and to help others see more of Him," said a church spokesperson. "On any given day, you can find her worshiping God at the piano, applauding Him over yet another wonder in His Word, and offering laughter and love to those with whom she shares His message of transformation."

The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road, Loch Lynn (beside of WKHJ radio station). For more information, persons are invited to call the church office at 301-334-3221 or visit the church website, www.llcog.org.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

METEOR SHOWER
by Dr. Thomas Sheahen

Q. What is a meteor shower, and why is it happening now?

A. A "shooting star" is when an object in space comes into the Earth's atmosphere at high speed. Collisions with air molecules generate a lot of heat, and the object burns up as it penetrates lower into the atmosphere. The very hot object glows enough to give off light, just like the filament in a light bulb. When this happens on a dark, clear night, the light it gives off is intense enough to be visible as a brief streak across the sky.

A meteor shower is a whole bunch of shooting stars in a short time period.

There is all kinds of debris floating in outer space all the time – dust, grains of sand, pebbles, small rocks, etc. It was produced by exploding stars a very long time ago. Over a couple billion years, that debris can accumulate into a planet. But in the short run, it's just out there drifting around and going nowhere. In various parts of space, there are patches where a greater amount of such debris has gathered.

As the Earth orbits the sun, it plows through mostly-empty space, but if a little pebble is in the way, the Earth's atmosphere burns it up when they come together – the familiar shooting star. The path of the Earth's orbit is very predictable, and at certain times of the year, it goes through some patches in space where debris is plentiful. It takes several days to traverse the patch, and during that time there are so many "shooting star" events that we call it a meteor shower.

The Earth encounters one such patch in August, and another in November. In August, the debris seem to be coming from the direction of the constellation Perseus, and so the resulting meteor shower is called the "Perseid shower." In November, the debris is seen in the direction of the constellation Leo, and that event is named the "Leonid shower."

Of course, a meteor shower can only be seen on a clear night. The peak date in 2016 is this Friday, Aug. 12, but on adjacent nights there will still be many visible events. So don't give up just because it's cloudy one night.

Centuries ago, when astrology was widely believed, shooting stars were considered omens of good luck or bad; and, of course, a meteor shower was even more of the same. The Leonid shower would "predict" that winter is coming. Nowadays you could say that the Perseid shower "predicts" that the Dow-Jones stock index will fall, because it usually declines in late summer.

SPLASH ISLAND OPENING – The grand opening of the Splash Island Inflatable Water Park was celebrated with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Thursday, July 28, at Will O' the Wisp. Splash Island is the first inflatable water park on Deep Creek Lake. The new attraction aims to combine fitness and fun with its waterborne obstacle course. Garrett County Chamber of Commerce Chairman Shane Grady presented Splash Island General Manger Jordan Smith with a First Dollar of Profit certificate. Pictured from left to right are: Patty Manown Mash, Karen Myers, Adrian Spiker, Jen Peiora, Shane Grady, Brenda McDonnell, Jordan Smith, Commissioner Paul Edwards, Commissioner Larry Tichnell, Delegate Wendell Beitzel, Commissioner Jim Hinebaugh, Alex McCoy, and Mike Kennedy.

SWANTON NEWS

Otterbein United Methodist Church News

The annual Sunday School picnic will be held on Sunday, Aug. 28, beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the Swanton Community Center. No services will be held at the church that day. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish to share. All are welcome to attend.

Bible study on the book of Revelation is held at the church on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 7 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m., and the worship service begins at 11 a.m. at Otterbein. The worship service in Kitzmiller begins at 9:30 a.m. All are welcome. The United Methodist Women continually accept Rada Cutlery orders throughout the year. The coordinator for this, Joni Wilson, can be contacted at 301-387-6332 to place an order.

Swanton Community Center

There will be no dinner in August because of the annual community picnic.

Aug. 13 – Yard sale. Persons are invited to bring their own tables, set up outside, and sell at no charge. The center will be open at approximately 8 a.m. that morning.

Aug. 15 – Monthly Community Center meeting, 7 p.m. All are welcome and encouraged to attend, even if not a member.

Aug. 18 – Community picnic, 6 p.m.. All families invited to attend and bring a covered dish to share. The center will provide the meat, tea, water, and coffee.

Buckwheat cake dinners will start in September, the dates of which have been changed from the second Saturday to the first Saturday of every month to help resolve conflicts with other area fundraising dinners. The dates scheduled for the remainder of this year are Sept. 3, Oct. 1, and Nov. 5.

The annual Swanton Days event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 17. There will be a Lions Club chicken dinner. Readers are advised to check the Swanton News section or the center's Facebook page for details.

St. John's Lutheran Church/Meadow Mountain

The Sunday worship service at St. John's begins at 9 a.m. All are invited to worship and also to a coffee hour following the service.

The church is located at 5214 Bittinger Road north of Swanton. Interim pastor Don Thomas may be contacted by calling 814-395-3845.

Birthdays

Among those in the community celebrating a birthday recently are Kurt Winegardner on Aug. 9, Eddie Friend on Aug. 10, and Randy Sweitzer on Aug 13.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Michael D. Caudill and Eric E. Lane, dated January 26, 2007 and recorded in Liber 1284, folio 305 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., auction to be held at the 317 Alder St. entrance, Oakland, MD 21550, on

AUGUST 31, 2016 AT 1:14 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., Maryland and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, easements, encumbrances and agreements of record affecting the subject property, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit in the form of cashier's or certified check, or in such other form as the Substitute Trustees may determine, at their sole discretion, for $22,000 at the time of sale. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. Balance of the purchase price is to be paid within fifteen (15) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., Maryland. Interest is to be paid on the unpaid purchase price at the rate of 6.75% per annum from date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees, if the property is purchased by an entity other than the noteholder and/or servicer. If payment of the balance does not occur within fifteen days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event settlement is delayed for any reason. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, and all other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, and front foot benefit charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale, and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Condominium fees and/or homeowners association dues, if any, shall be assumed by the purchaser from the date of sale. The purchaser shall be responsible for the payment of the ground rent escrow, if required. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, and all settlement charges shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale. SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Richard Perron a/k/a Richard F. Perron, dated February 22, 2005 and recorded in Liber 1107, folio 350 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., auction to be held at the 317 Alder St. entrance, Oakland, MD 21550, on

AUGUST 31, 2016 AT 1:20 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and described as Tax Id #06-008909 & Tax ID #06-033385 and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $9,000 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. There will be no abatement of interest in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. The noteholder shall not be obligated to pay interest if it is the purchaser. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of all real property taxes, including agricultural taxes, if applicable, and any and all public and/or private charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges and ground rent, to be adjusted to date of sale and thereafter assumed by purchaser. Condominium fees and/or homeowners association dues, if any, shall be assumed by the purchaser from the date of sale forward. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Additional terms to be announced at the time of sale.

If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without interest. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited, to the Trustees for application against all expenses, attorney's fees and the full commission on the sale price of the above-scheduled foreclosure sale. In the event of default, all expenses of this sale (including attorney's fees and the full commission on the gross sale price of this sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. The Trustees may then re-advertise and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser or may avail themselves of any legal or equitable remedies against the defaulting purchaser without re-selling the property. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to receive the surplus, if any, even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulting purchaser and the defaulting purchaser shall be liable to the Trustees and secured party for reasonable attorney's fees and expenses incurred in connection with all litigation involving the Property or the proceeds of the resale. SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
CASE NUMBER 11-C-16-014342

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Christy Y. Pagano, Kennith W. Pagano, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1675, folio 1, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Mark S. Devan, Thomas P. Dore, Christine Drexel, Brian McNair, and Angela Nasuta as Substituted Trustees, the Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse Door-Alder Street Entrance, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, 21550 on

Monday, August 22, 2016 at 03:20 PM:

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, as described in the Deed of Trust recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, in Liber 1675, folio 1, also being further described in a Deed recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 1674, folio 497. The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, subject to any existing building violations, restrictions and agreements of record. The purchaser assumes all risks of loss for the property as of the date of sale. Neither the Substituted Trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representations or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property. The Substituted Trustees shall convey insurable title.

TERMS OF THE SALE: A deposit in a form acceptable to the Substituted Trustee in the amount of $23,000.00 will be required of the purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, at the time and place of sale. Any amount tendered at sale in excess of the required deposit will be refunded and not applied to the purchase price. Unless the purchaser is the Holder of the Note or its assigns, the balance of the purchase price shall be paid immediately with available funds within ten (10) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence. The purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note or its assigns, shall pay interest at the rate of 3.75000% per annum on the unpaid portion of the purchase price from the date of sale to date of settlement. Real property taxes and assessments shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Ground rent, water and/or sewer charges public or private, if any, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be paid by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property.

In the event settlement is delayed for any reason , there shall be no abatement of interest. If the purchaser defaults, the entire deposit is forfeited. The Substituted Trustees shall resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees, all other charges due, and incidental and consequential damages. Defaulting purchaser also agrees to pay the Substituted Trustees' attorney a fee of $250.00 in connection with the filing of a motion to resell.

In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of the deposit. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the Holder or its Servicer has entered into any agreement with, or accepted funds from, the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract, Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit.

White, who is the daughter of Aaron and Sherry White of Blue Goose Road, Friendsville, was chosen through application and questioning by three judges. She will be a senior this year at Northern High School, where she is a member of the volleyball team and track and field, and has participated in three theatre productions, having also won the Leading Lady Award. She is the founder and leader of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Club at NHS, where she has also been on the distinguished honor roll for the past three years. White is also secretary of the National Honor Society and served as an ambassador to the O'Brien Youth Leadership Conference. She hopes to get a bachelor's degree in digital media and work in animation, story layout, and character design. Her duties as Miss Friendsville Days will be to participate in activities in Friendsville throughout the coming year, such as the Woodmen of the World 09/11 ceremony, the Autumn Glory parade, and more until the crowning of Miss Friendsville Days 2017. This contest is open to Friendsville area junior and senior girls.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Air Force Airman Zakary T. Lee has graduated from basic military training at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training also earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Lee is the son of Justin C. Lee, Shady Side, and Renee Y. Walker, Frostburg, and step-son of Glenn W. Walker, also of Frostburg, and Elizabeth J. Lee of Shady Side.

He is a 2013 graduate of Northern Garrett High School.

Authors To Speak At Rush Baptist Women's Event

Rush Baptist Church, 1985 Old Morgantown Road, Friendsville, will be hosting a women's conference at the church on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The theme of the conference is Fully Rely On God (F.R.O.G). There will be three breakout sessions in the morning, with authors Clara Hinton, Deborah Caffey Heath, and Rita Wengerd speaking.

Hinton, a grief specialist, has 10 years of experience helping people learn to cope with grief and build resiliency. Heath is the wife of Kenny Heath, the Western Maryland Baptist Association missionary, and she will be speaking about stress and the Christian life. Wengerd, who is a pastor's wife and active in area missions, will be giving her testimony of how God has helped her overcome the grief and stress in her own life.

The featured speaker will be Dr. Rose Ihedigbo-Franklin, who is from Nigeria and currently residing in Abingdon. She is the author of Sandals in the Snow and Why the Turtle Has a Broken Patterned Shell. She will tell about her life and journey from Africa to America, describing how God has helped her along her journey.

There will be special music by Arlene Bock and Terrie Mosako. Lunch will be provided. To register for the conference, persons are invited to call Pastor John Wyrick at 304-480-1969 or Darlene Schmidt at 301-616-0885.

RAISING, LOWERING, setting the spinnaker pole, and – trickiest of all – jibing the spinnaker. These were among the many skills taught to and learned by 37 women of all ages and sailing abilities who participated in a three-day sailing clinic at Deep Creek Lake last week. The clinic was an all-volunteer effort, led by Joni Palmer Gauthier of the Turkey Neck Yacht Club and director of basic sail training at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. See sailing column on the sports pages for details.

Finzel Rd. Bridge Slated To Reopen This Weekend

After a 10-week construction closure, the Maryland Department of Transportation's State Highway Administration (SHA) will reopen the Rt. 546 (Finzel Road) bridge over I-68 this Saturday or Sunday, depending on the weather.

Crews repaired the bridge to improve the ride, enhance safety, and prolong the "life" of the structure.

"This Finzel Road bridge deck replacement project was a tremendous success and was completed ahead of schedule," said SHA District 6 engineer Anthony Crawford. "We appreciate drivers' and residents' patience and partnership during the closure, which cut the project duration in half."

Crews were able to work extended hours to replace the deteriorated concrete bridge deck (riding surface), side walls, and supports, as well as clean and paint the steel. SHA also resurfaced the roadway approaches to provide a smooth transition onto the new bridge lanes, Crawford noted.

Forum Held To Discuss Need For Dredging Of Sediment From DCL

A community forum on sediment removal from Deep Creek Lake, promoted and hosted by the Friends of Deep Creek Lake (FoDCL), was described by the organization leaders as "the most important DCL meeting in 91 years."

For the first time in nine decades, policy makers and citizens gathered last Saturday to discuss how to implement and fund the dredging of sediment from the lake. Previously, according to an FoDCL spokesperson, lake owners either ignored the threats from sediment accumulation as a threat to the lake or chose to not act, as noted in the 2014 statement by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources: "It is not in the best interest of the state to undertake dredging at this time."

Presentations from three lake-dredging experts provided support for the need for dredging as a lake best-management practice, based on their work in over 100 other lakes. All three noted that, if not dredged, lakes will decline and eventually fill in.

Among those present were Sen. George Edwards and Del. Wendell Beitzel, who shared with attendees what they have already achieved in Annapolis. The state delegation made a commitment to those attending that dredging of DCL will be a high priority for their work in the 2017 General Assembly session, and they invited concerned citizens to work with them.

Over 90 people crowded into one of the yurts at the Wisp Resort in McHenry to hear from the experts about their work on dredging and lake management elsewhere. Reflecting a history-making tone of the forum, the program started with a surprise presentation by Mark Widmyer, Gov. Larry Hogan's representative for western Maryland, of a Governor's Citation to Friends of Deep Creek Lake, recognizing the organization for its work and noting the importance of the community forum.

Barbara Beelar, FoDCL director, accepted the citation and stated, "The support from Gov. Hogan, DNR Secretary Belton, Sen. Edwards, Del. Beitzel, the Garrett County commissioners, and the town of Friendsville has opened the door to dredging at Deep Creek Lake, enabling us all to now work to achieve this necessary restoration of the lake for future generations."

Beelar provided an overview on sediment accumulation in the 91-year-old lake, no areas of which have ever been dredged. She noted that sediment accumulation is a natural process, with sources coming from shoreline erosion, impacts of boat wake and wind on unprotect state-owned buffer strip, tributaries, runoff from roads and other hard surfaces, and the channeling of road culverts and swales into the lake, along with decay of vegetative debris from submerged aquatic vegetation beds in the lake.

"Why should we care about sediment accumulation?" Beelar said. "It is more than just the loss of water depth in the 10 sediment-impaired coves. Pollutants and nutrients are attached to sediment, reducing water quality."

GC Commissioners Extend "Pathway To Homeownership" Prog. For Another Year

The Garrett County commissioners have extended their Pathway to Homeownership program for another year. The decision was unanimous and took place Tuesday evening during the commissioners' public meeting at the Avilton Community Center. Ten people attended the 45-minute session.

"We are very happy to say that in the past year we have helped 25 different families purchase a home through this program," commission chair Paul Edwards said about Pathway "Almost every single one of them are under the age of 35. Many of them have school-age children."

In cooperation with the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (MDHCD) and GC Community Action, the Pathway to Homeownership program was implemented last year by the commissioners in an effort to increase the county's population.

"We're one of only three counties in the state of Maryland to lose total population over the last three years," Edwards said. "The other two are Dorchester and Allegany counties."

The county now has fewer than 30,000 residents, and the population could decrease even more.

"Last year there were more deaths than births in the county," Commissioner Jim Hinebaugh noted. "We're also aging."

He said the county's median age is increasing. In 1970, the median age was 27, compared to 43 in 2010.

"So, if we're going to be able to maintain a business base and create jobs, we have to have working-age people who live here," Hinebaugh said.

He described the movement of bright, young people from rural areas to cities as a "brain drain."

"This is one of several

HAPPY 106TH BIRTHDAY! – Helena (Bridges) Robinette recently celebrated her 106th birthday at the Goodwill Retirement Community in Grantsville. According to Rodney Durst, Area Agency on Aging spokesperson, she is Garrett County's oldest resident. She was born on Aug. 10, 1910, in Mount Savage. The oldest of nine children, she left school when she was in the eighth grade to help raise her brothers and sisters. The centenarian worked as a dress shop helper in Cumberland for over 40 years. In addition to being an active member of the Mount Savage Methodist Church, Robinette was the church clerk and sang in the choir. "She was a wonderful cookie maker and baked many different kinds of cookies for the holidays," noted a family spokesperson. Robinette has three children, nine grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Celebration Of Grantsville's Arts District, GLAF's 30th Set Sunday

Blue Jeans, Boots, and Blue Grass, a celebratory festival, is slated at the Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville on Sunday, Aug. 21, to recognize the town's recent designation as a Maryland Arts and Entertainment District, and to mark the 30th anniversary of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF).

Among the activities of the day will be two 30-minute tours of the Casselman Bridge, one of the county's oldest landmarks and engineering feats, led by Park Ranger Brian White at 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. Parking is available at the small state park beside the bridge, or in the Penn Alps/Spruce Forest lots next door.

The artisan village is located along the historic National Road (Route 40), which was key in westward expansion and economic development of the region. This area is known as Little Crossings during the time of General Braddock's march to Fort Duquesne/Pittsburgh during the French and Indian War era.

The Penn Alps Restaurant is an original inn, dating back to 1818, and the area's historic features include the Casselman Bridge and 13 restored cabins moved from other locations in the region, including Compton's one-room schoolhouse.

Some of the Spruce Forest Village resident and visiting artisans will be working throughout the afternoon. Visitors have the opportunity to interact with artisans inside their studios, as they share their creative processes. Artisans' work is also available for purchase in the studios and in the Penn Alps Restaurant gift shop.

The artisan program is part of the Village's larger mission to preserve the heritage of the region. Through a storytelling program in the Miller House Peace Center, visitors "experience the words and wisdom of the settlers who came to the area almost 200 years ago," a spokesperson said. Visitors may also tour Stanton's Mill, built in 1797.

During the day in the one-room schoolhouse, Garrett

Mexico-Bound Monarchs Given A Boost At Discovery Center, Schools

by Mary Sincell McEwen

These August days have been hot and bright, but the geese are beginning their fly-overs, and the harvest of summer crops is in high gear. All these things point to the inevitable change of seasons, which is not far off, and that means it is soon time for the monarch butterfly to begin its important work in Garrett County.

"This is just the most fascinating and amazing thing," said Caroline Blizzard, director of the Discovery Center of Deep Creek Lake State Park, as she discussed a process that has been a focus of her work at the center for several years: the life-cycle and migration of the mystical monarch butterfly. The center has become a veritable mecca for the creature, offering food, shelter, and a safe haven for its fascinating metamorphoses. As a result, thousands of monarch butterflies have had a strong and healthy start at the center as they head off for their amazing journey across the country and into Mexico.

So far this summer, there is little sign of the creatures just yet, but the process of assisting them can most certainly begin now.

"Don't cut down that milkweed," Blizzard said. "If you have milkweed plants on your property and you don't want them, please bring them to the center, or contact us."

The milkweed is currently nearing the end of its blooming period and will soon begin producing the characteristic seed pods. The monarch butterflies will come in to lay their eggs on the undersides of the plant's broad leaves. The eggs are tiny, yellowish white pods.

The butterflies that lay the eggs in Garrett County are third generation butterflies. The cycle began last September. Born in Mexico, the butterflies overwinter there until about February. In that month, they leave Mexico and come to Texas, where they lay their eggs on Company Awarded Preliminary License To Grow Medical Cannabis In Garrett Co.

The Natalie M. LaPrade Maryland Medical Cannabis Commission announced on Monday the initial 15 firms to be fully vetted for consideration to receive a growing and/or processing license for medical cannabis in Maryland. One of those firms, Grow West MD LLC, plans to locate a facility in Garrett County.

"We've been working with a number of perspective applicants," said Alex McCoy, Garrett County Department of Economic Development director. "One of them now may be seeing the light at the end of the tunnel. The firm that's moving forward had approached us about locating on 15 acres within Keyser's Ridge Business Park. They really liked how close it was to I-68."

The indoor facility would employ about 40 people, according to the Garrett County commissioners.

Grow West is a Frederick-based, family-owned business with 40 years of horticulture and landscaping experience.

"We have a lot of work to do and look forward to working hand-in-hand with the Garrett County community," said Alison Valois, Grow West MD co-owner. "Our goal is to provide the best and safest product available to those in need of alternative medical treatments, and to cultivate strong community relations with outreach programs and support for local patients."

She said production is slated to begin immediately after the licensing and inspections are completed by the Maryland Medical Cannabis Commission. The family has also applied to open a dispensary in Garrett County upon award by the commission.

Once operating, the company intends to hold an open house so that members of the community have a chance to meet with Grow West owners and employees to learn more about the medical cannabis industry.

"We recognize that this is a new industry for the region and a new option for patients," said Valois. "We're committed to working with members of the Garrett County community to ensure that this transition is a smooth one."

To help facilitate this process, several members of the Valois family plan to relocate from Frederick to Garrett County. Once established, Grow West plans to donate a portion of its revenues to local cancer-related charities.

In a press release announcing the selected companies, the Medical Cannabis Com-

SHA Reopens Rt. 135 Bridge Near Altamont

The Maryland Department of Transportation's State Highway Administration (SHA) reopened state Rt. 135 over the CSX Railroad near Altamont Road last Friday, Aug. 12.

The project to replace the deteriorated concrete bridge deck (riding surface) of the bridge, replace the walls of the bridge (parapets), repair concrete supports, clean and paint the structural steel, and pave the roadway began on June 13.

Although the bridge is reopen to traffic, a flagging operation will be used while crews complete final stages of the project.

Those who have questions about SHA projects in Garrett County may call the SHA District 6 office at 301-729-8400, or send email to shadistrict6@sha.state.md.us.

Man Sentenced To Six Months For Fleeing MSP

A 32-year-old Yorkville, Ill., man recently pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court to one count of fleeing and eluding. Related charges against Christopher Michael Broccolo were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge J. Frederick Sharer then sentenced Broccolo to six months in the Garrett County Jail, which was all suspended. He will be on probation for one year and must pay fines and costs of $395.

Broccolo was arrested in October 2015 and charged by a Maryland State Police trooper who observed a pick-up truck operated by Broccolo as it traveled on Garrett Highway, north of the Deep Creek Bridge. After noting traffic violations, the trooper turned on his lights to stop the truck, at which time, the driver accelerated, pulled into a driveway behind a business ,and ran from the vehicle. The trooper apprehended Broccolo a short distance away, according to the state's attorney.

In an unrelated case, James Virgil Everhart, 50, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol per se. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea. Sharer then imposed a sentence of 90 days in the Garrett County Jail, which was suspended. Everhart was placed on probation and ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $645.

In February, Everhart was charged by a Natural Resources Police officer, who was driving on Maryland Highway near Deer Park when she observed a vehicle pull from a parking lot and travel west in the eastbound lane, causing her to have to pull to the shoulder to avoid a collision. After failing field sobriety tests, Everhart was arrested and later took a breath test, with the results exceeding .08.

In another recent court proceeding, Michael Joseph Hills, 49, Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty to operating a vessel while under the influence of alcohol with a blood alcohol content reading over .08. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea. Judge Sharer then sentenced Hills to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail, which was all suspended in favor of probation. Fines and costs totaling $645 were also imposed.

Hills was arrested and charged by Maryland Natural Resources Police last September after he was observed driving a boat on Deep Creek Lake in a negligent manner and subsequently failing field sobriety tests.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES ARE "IN THE BAG" – The Garrett County Board of Realtors recently held a drive among its members to collect school supplies. They collected 278 bags of supplies for local children through the Garrett County "It's In the Bag" program. More information about the GCBR can be found online at gcbr.org.

Info Sought On Burglary At DCL Home

Maryland State Police are seeking information concerning a burglary of a McHenry home last week.

Sometime between Sunday, Aug. 7, and Friday, Aug. 12, a large amount of cash was taken from a home in the area of Westward Way in the Deep Creek Highlands Development.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the MSP McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Oakland Driver Arrested After Vehicle Accident

An Oakland man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on traffic charges last Thursday afternoon.

Deputies responded to a motor vehicle accident with property damage in the 1900 block of Silver Knob Road at approximately 5:15 p.m. Investigation revealed that Jeffery Wayne Jones, 30, had been operating a vehicle without a valid license, for which he was charged. He was also cited for failure to display registration card on demand, displaying expired registration plates, and displaying registration plates issued to another vehicle.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Judge Moylan Hears Variety Of District Court Cases

A number of cases have been processed in Garrett County District Court in Oakland over the past week, with sentences handed down by Judge Stephan M. Moylan for a variety of offenses.

Brandon Jacob Cress, 29, Buckhannon, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance/not marijuana.

Cress was charged by the Maryland State Police on March 17, when Ofc. Lyons pulled over a vehicle after he saw that the passenger was not wearing a seat belt.

According to the report, the K9 unit "Bak" alerted for illegal drugs. After a search, Lyons had found eight hypodermic syringes located in the driver-side door, one blue plastic spoon containing heroin residue, and one black folding mirror with heroin residue, all of which belonged to Cress.

Moylan found the defendant guilty on Aug. 2, and sentenced Cress to four years in the Garrett County Detention Center, three years and 11 months of which was suspended, and ordered two years of probation to be supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation. Moylan also ordered a criminal fine of $500, which was suspended.

Jeffrey David Baker, 49, Frostburg, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failure to register as an offender/false information.

Baker was charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on May 26 after Sgt. Wilson pulled over Baker's truck for speeding.

According to the report, Wilson was assigned to investigate a possible sex offender registration violation on May 12. Baker had several registered vehicles and a residence that he wasn't supposed to have.

After two weeks of surveillance, it was determined that Baker had been staying at a place which was not his registered residence, and he was placed under arrest after being pulled over on May 26, according to the report.

Moylan found the defendant guilty on July 13, and sentenced Baker to one year in the GCDC, 10 months and 17 days of which was suspended, and ordered 18 months of unsupervised probation.

Mark Anthony Kelley, 30, Greensboro, Pa., held an "other" plea for a charge of CDS possession/not marijuana.

Kelley was charged by the MSP on May 20 when Ofc. Lyons pulled over a 2001 Jeep Cherokee which had the registration plates for a 1998 Ford Escort.

According to the report, there were eight packets of buprenorphine in Kelley's wallet which was sitting on the left rear seat. There was probable cause for a search.

Moylan ruled a "stet" verdict on Aug. 2, with the conditions that the defendant must obey all laws and complete 40 hours of community service within six months.

Jamie Mersing Upton, 35, Oakland, held an "other" plea for charges of second-degree assault and contributing to the condition of a child.

Upton was charged by the GCSO on June 10 when Det. Bittinger and a social service agent responded to a possible child abuse complaint which included CDS abuse.

According to the report, the defendant had caused several injuries to the victim and had reportedly given marijuana to the victim. Bittinger also found packages named "Psycho," "Xtreme," and "Crazy Jack," which reportedly contained addictive contents that caused similar effects as marijuana.

Moylan ruled a "stet" verdict for both charges on Aug. 10. The conditions were not included in the report.

"BE FIT FOR FUN, Be Fit for Life" was the name of a program presented by Lakyn Bernard, associate instructor at Jazzercise Garrett County, at the final session of the summer reading club at the Accident Library. Bernard showed the children how to engage in fun stretching and exercise routines in a safe way, and held a contest to see who could "hold the plank" for the longest time. A total of 30 children and 20 adults participated.

impacts of sediment decline in water quality by blocking sunlight, reducing photosynthesis, decreasing plant growth, destroying bottom dwelling species' habitat. It also states that boat wake, wind, and actions of water withdrawals stir the sediment and pollutants, uploading them into the water, creating turbid conditions and odors.

When the state purchased the lake, a section of the Code of Maryland was added to guide lake management. The COMAR principles state the lake must be managed "for preservation of the natural sources, ecological balance, and furtherance of its highest use as a recreational resource." (COMAR 08.08.01)

"Sediment accumulation diminishes the ability of the state to meet these management principles," said Beelar. "And beyond impairment of the natural and recreational resource, sediment creates a range of negative economic impacts, from reduction in property valuation to loss of property tax revenues to reduced investments in lake properties, as well as threatening tourism and lake related businesses and jobs."

Cecelia Donovan from Maryland Environmental Services shared that agency's efforts to develop a sediment removal plan for Lake Liganore, owned by the city and county of Frederick and a home owners association.

Martin Firth, president of Lake Services, shared experiences from dredging over 100 lakes. He talked about the recent dredging at Reston Lakes.

The third expert presenter, John McCoy, watershed manager from the Columbia Association, covered dredging and restoration projects at three lakes in Columbia.

Unable to attend in person, Andrew Frank, an engineer with the Montgomery County Parks Department, provided a PowerPoint presentation covering the dredging and restoration work at Lake Needwood.

"From what we learned from dredging experts, we know dredging is the best management practice to restore lakes," Beelar said. "The lack of dredging of DCL in 91 years means today we must deal with the serious consequences of lake management neglect and lack of investment for the last nine decades.

"Further, each day we delay dredging, the more sediment accumulates and the greater the costs will be," she continued. "An alliance of homeowner associations, neighbor groups, and various individuals is being formed to do the necessary political lobbying to ensure that funds for dredging and lake restoration are secured from the state of Maryland as soon as possible. Politics is the process of allocation of scarce public financial resources. We need to engage in politics and make our voices heard in order to ensure that future generations will have a Deep Creek Lake to enjoy."

Discussions followed, with various attendees urging the state delegation to do whatever they can to move forward as quickly as possible to secure full funding for sediment removal and restoration.

IT WAS A PACKED HOUSE – a packed yurt, that is – at the Wisp Resort in McHenry on Saturday, where over 90 persons attended a community forum on the need for and prospects of removing sediment from Deep Creek Lake via dredging. The forum was hosted by the Friends of Deep Creek Lake (FoDCL) and featured three presenters who are experts in lake management. In the front row above, from left, are Martin Firth, president of Lake Services (one of the presenters); Ellen Williams, chair of the FoDCL board; Mike and Peggy Alexander from Penn Cove; and Judy and Jim Yoakum from Waterfront Greens. A surprise presentation was that of a citation awarded to FoDCL from the Hogan administration in recognition of the organization's various efforts toward protection and restoration of the lake. Making the presentation (below) to Barbara Beelar, FoDCL director, was Mark Widmyer, Gov. Larry Hogan's western Maryland representative. See story for details.

Third Showing Of Fracking Film Set At Garrett Cinemas

A third public showing of the documentary film Fracking Western Maryland? will be presented at the Garrett 8 Cinemas, Deep Creek Lake, on Saturday, Aug. 27, at 9 a.m.

Tickets will be $8, available for purchase at the box office that morning. Of that amount, $3 will go to help fund production costs of the film. Some have asked for additional showings of the film, and this is intended to help inform people before a local public meeting of the House Environment and Transportation Committee. Fracking will be the topic of that meeting, which is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 30, at Garrett College.

Elected officials and members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce leadership are being invited to view the film and participate in a conversation about fracking immediately after the showing. DVDs will be available for purchase at the theatre.

"Ride For The Override" Publicizing Gov. Hogan's Veto Of Clean Energy Jobs Act

A group of bike riders began a cross-state "Ride For the Override" this morning from the Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) Conference in Ocean City. They plan to arrive at Deep Creek Lake on Monday, Aug. 22.

Led by public health advocate Vinny DeMarco (who is doing this on his own personal time) and his son, Jamie DeMarco, the riders will bike over 350 miles to build public support for overriding Gov. Larry Hogan's recent veto of the Clean Energy Jobs Act.

The Chesapeake Climate Action Network, the main advocacy group supporting this renewable energy legislation, supports the DeMarcos' efforts to help create jobs and "save the planet."

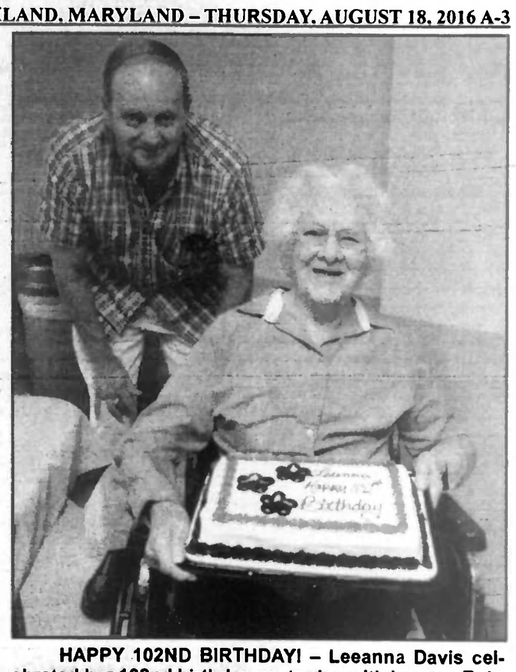
"The Chesapeake Climate Action Network strongly supports the Ride for the Override," said Mike Tidwell, CCAN executive director. "We know that this kind of commitment will help mobilize public support to override the governor's veto of the renewable energy bill and will help convince the governor to drop his opposition to critically needed climate measures."

A kickoff was held this morning at 10 a.m. at the Roland E. Powell Convention Center. Other events will be held at the Rawlings Conservatory at Druid Hill Park at 10 a.m. in Baltimore and at Café Nola in Frederick at about 3 p.m. this Saturday, Aug. 20. The riders will be greeted at the Deep Creek Lake State Park boat landing on Monday at about noon.

"All of us who work on public health issues know that we must do all we can to protect our planet from climate change, " said Vinny DeMarco. "That is why Jamie and I and our colleagues are riding across the state to let people know how important it is that the General Assembly override the governor's veto of the planet-saving renewable energy legislation. We urge Governor Hogan to reconsider his opposition to measures such as this which can do so much to make sure our planet is safe and healthy."

According to the elder DeMarco, the Clean Energy Jobs Act would increase Maryland's Renewable Portfolio Standard (RPS), committing Maryland to receiving 25 percent of its electricity from renewable sources by 2020, an increase from the current goal of 20 percent by 2022.

"By creating incentives for roughly 1,300 megawatts of new clean energy, the bill would support nearly 1,000 new high-paying Maryland jobs during construction and reduce climate pollution by the equivalent of taking 563,000 passenger vehicles off the road every year," DeMarco said. "The legislation also creates a task force to identify funding opportunities for clean energy job training and to remove barriers to entry for minority- and women-owned clean energy businesses. while making small minority- and women-owned businesses in Maryland eligible to receive dedicated state funding in order to unlock the full talent of our state's clean energy entrepreneurs."



HAPPY 102ND BIRTHDAY! – Leeanna Davis celebrated her 102nd birthday yesterday with her son Robert, pictured with her, and residents and staff members of Oakland Nursing and Rehabilitation Center. She was born on Aug. 17, 1914, in Kitzmiller. In 1936, she married Charles W. Davis when she was 22. She said their son Robert blessed them with two grandchildren, Curtis and Sandra. Mrs. Davis also has a great-granddaughter, Shana, and a great-great-granddaughter, Amara. She said she worked hard all of her life, most notably as a domestic engineer/housewife. Mrs. Davis continues to enjoy folding laundry, playing bingo, making crafts, watching TV, reading her newspaper, listening to gospel music, and attending church functions. She also likes solving puzzles and loves pets. On warm sunny days, Mrs. Davis can be found outside on the center's deck enjoying nature and the scenery. Photo by Lindsay Mulliken.

Local Printing Business Under New Ownership

Master Craft Printers LLC, a business established in Oakland over 30 years ago, is now under new ownership.

As of Aug. 1, April Hebden became the new owner of the company following the retirement of former owner Robert Ekholm. Hebden has worked at Master Craft for over 11 years as the graphic designer/office manager.

The company, which produces a variety of printed products, was founded by Ed and Linda Henn in 1985. Ekholm purchased the business in 1997.

Hebden, a native of Garrett County, holds a degree in graphic design and has a background in fine arts. She will host a customer appreciation day/open house next Tuesday, Aug. 23.

Celebrating our 30th Anniversary

Nu-Finish Collision Center would like to thank all the participants and everyone who attended our 5th Annual Cruise-In on Sunday, August 14, 2016.

Nu-finish is also celebrating its 30th Anniversary. Owner Steve Davis was presented an anniversary cake that was shared by all.

This year's event was held at Long Branch Saloon's parking lot. A huge thank-you to Becky and Autumn Williams! We honored their husband and father, Dick Williams, by having his Corvette on display.

This was the 4th year that we honored Art Beckman by having his Dodge Challenger on display. His wife, Louise Beckman, and daughters Donna Beckman, Connie Murray, Patty Plessinger, and Tracy Glotfelty were all present.

We would also like to thank Naomi DeWitt & Jeannie Noland for preparing the food and bake sale items, and Sheila Shaffer for organizing the event and gathering raffle items.

A dirt track race car owned by John "Grover" Groves was on display for all to see; thank you!! It was a big hit, especially for the kids!!

Donations were received from the following: Fisher Auto Parts, Southern Auto Supply, I-79 Honda, Freedom Ford, Snap-On Tools. All your generous donations were greatly appreciated. A big thank-you to DJ Matthew Waligorski, Sounds Fun Entertainment, for providing the music for the day!

Several raffles were held for the participants, and five $50 cash prizes were given away. The 2 winners of the big raffles were Kelsey Jo Durst and Steve Friend.

We had 88 vehicles on display and raised $1,485 with the food & bake sale, raffles, and donations. All proceeds were donated to Hospice of Garrett County.

Thanks, Gentlemen...

Among the top good-news stories in today's issue of this newspaper is the announcement that one of the 15 firms that have been selected to be awarded a preliminary license to grow and process marijuana in Maryland plans to locate its facility in Garrett County. Grow West MD LLC, which is based in Frederick, intends to place its facility on 15 acres in the county-owned Keyser's Ridge Business Park. The operation will initially employ an estimated 40 persons, with more jobs anticipated in the future. The company will grow marijuana plants, from which they will then produce pills, oils, extracts, and other products to treat a range of illnesses.

Garrett County has long needed new industry and new job opportunities, and the Grow West MD facility fits the bill perfectly. The growth potential of the company appears to be promising and the production process is, at least from all indications, environmentally friendly – exponentially more so than drilling and hydraulically fracturing the Marcellus shale layer for natural gas.

While an employer offering 500 or more jobs would be most welcome in Garrett County, a potential downside to such a large operation is that if it suddenly moves away or ceases to exist, the resulting impact on the local economy and local employees is devastating. (Remember Bausch & Lomb.) Ideally, it would be wonderful to have a dozen or more companies similar to Grow West MD that employ, say, 40 to 150 people. Then if one of several such operations does not survive, the impact would not be nearly as severe. Perhaps the arrival of the Grow West MD facility will light a fire under some of the other recruiting efforts that are ongoing.

Besides the jobs that will be created by the Grow West facility, this will be a multi-million dollar investment in the county, which obviously will mean a nice boost in annual local tax revenue.

The Garrett County commissioners, county economic director, and our elected state officials deserve credit for aiding in the establishment of this business in the county. Growing marijuana is certainly not without controversy, as doing so for medical purposes has been legal in Maryland for only about one year. Many folks also sit in jail because of this particular product. While the aforementioned officials would be unable legally to bar this particular industry from coming into the county, they did not have to offer a county-owned facility to house it. But they took a bit of a political risk and did it anyway. ("How dare you commissioners support growing pot!"). So a vacant space that was intended for economic development, but has been sitting empty for a long time and thus not generating a dime of tax revenue, will now be utilized for that purpose. Thank you for your courage, gentlemen.

To the Editor:

The Cumberland Times-News covered the most recent Garrett County Marcellus Shale Gas Advisory Group meeting: "Companies being sought for Garrett fracking impact study." As reported in this 8/13/16 article, there is hope that this Garrett County economic study will be completed by the 2018 legislative session

This is my question for the Garrett County commissioners and the Appalachian Regional Commission, funders of this potential study: If the 2017 legislative session yields a ban on fracking in the state of Maryland, will you get your money back and be able to cancel the study?

Might the $60,000 you save be put into an economic development plan for Garrett County food growers, supporting their capacity to keep their land in farming and toward providing an incentive for those farmers currently applying toxic chemicals to the land and crops to adopt more sustainable agricultural practices that could feed our communities healthy, chemical-free food?

The food they raise for all of us should be valued by all of us. One of the Garrett County commissioners is a full-time farmer, another gardens organically, and there are Garrett County Farm Bureau members knowledgeable about regenerative agricultural practices.

Wouldn't it be better for all of western Maryland if we banned fracking, and the state and county allocated funds to support farmers in saving our soil? Our food and water are becoming more and more valuable by the day. We need to start acting on this truth.

To the Editor:

The Deep Creek Art & Wine Festival is one of the biggest events of the year here in Garrett County. It is certainly the largest fundraiser for the two nonprofits it benefits: HART for Animals and the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF). Last year, over $30,000 went to each charity, much needed funds to help support homeless animals in our community and bring top-quality performances and arts education to Garrett County citizens. In addition, the Art & Wine Festival brings visitors to Garrett County from around the region who spend thousands of dollars on accommodations, food, shopping, and other forms of entertainment. This event is definitely one that benefits us all in many ways.

The success of the Art & Wine Festival could not happen without the many volunteers who give generously of their time and effort. Last year, approximately 300 volunteers donated more than 1,000 hours on the festival weekend. In addition, the planning committee consists of co-chairs Mary Callis, executive director of GLAF, and Paula Yudelevit, executive director of HART, and volunteers, including HART and GLAF board members and representatives from other area organizations. Truly, this is an event that is only possible because of the dedication, kindness, and love of community that characterize these volunteers.

We are in great need of volunteers this year to see that the 2016 Festival is also a success. We are in need of help with set-up and tear-down on the day before and after the festival. On Saturday, Sept. 10, the day of the festival, we need about 100 more volunteers than are currently registered to help with tasks such as wine pouring, front-gate attending, security, wine store stocking, and guest relations. To register to volunteer, go to www.deepcreekwinefest.com and click on "Volunteer!" at the bottom of the page.

In closing, the planning committee thanks the many volunteers who have made the Art & Wine Festival such a success and work tirelessly to see that each year is more successful than the year before. Without our volunteers, the festival would not have the regional reputation as a quality event that it has. And without our volunteers, the two organizations would not be able to do what they do so well for our community. Thank you, volunteers!

Please volunteer at the Deep Creek Art & Wine Festival! For more information, call HART for Animals at 301-387-7729.

To the Editor:

Reaching 65 years of age meant many changes, not the least of which is a noticeable dip in the learning curve, which had served me well for most of a career. First there was dealing with a Royal typewriter from which snaked a newsroom full of newsprint on which to type stories. The editor of the daily paper would sometimes stand over a reporter's desk, waiting to tear the completed story from the typewriter and rush it to the news desk.

Next, as a radio talk show host was the learning of how a complex console worked while talking and answering callers from throughout the Delmarva Peninsula. No problem. Then, being hired by PBS to write scripts and host a daily news program was readily learned, as was taking on the role of a producer/director for international film productions. No sign of a dip in the old learning curve there.

But very recently there is reason to be concerned. People (especially young people) began carrying around these small hand-held devices that seemed to do everything there is in the world of communications. They were phones that when someone asked about their children, pets, and even landscapes, photos of all could be shown with only a few manipulations of the device. Further, any of those photographs could be sent to almost any place in the world.

Naturally, this aging reporter had to have one. After trying and trying to make it work, friends were called in to help to make sense of a small screen covered by many symbols. This is when it was obvious that there was a serious dip in the learning curve. It took the patience of many friends to show me how it all worked. With much persistence, it seemed that the incredibilities of this small plastic item were beginning to be realized. This week a photo was taken at the Garrett County Airport, and "send" was pressed. There was a chiming and the notice that the photo of a model airplane was now in the computer of a friend who may use it in his (this) newspaper.

I'll never forget the moment. After going through a career involving everything from working in a darkroom processing black and white film to manipulating a multi-gauged radio console, here was something that did pretty much everything. The trick for this old man is to be ready to utilize whatever comes next, despite the fact that at an even older age, the learning curve will probably be even greater.

To the Editor:

The majority of Garrett County people are always willing to help those in need, but sometimes aren't sure how to go about it. One excellent way to help is to attend area fundraising dinners that always seem to be happening. Besides getting a delicious meal, the money that you would be spending at a restaurant goes to assisting someone with medical or living expenses. It's a win-win situation for everyone.

One of our local residents, Edith Virts, is battling vocal chord cancer and had to quit her job at the hospital, a job she held for many years. She is in desperate need of financial assistance.

There will be a turkey/beef dinner to raise money for her and her family on Saturday, Aug. 27, from noon to 6 p.m. at the Southern Rescue Squad hall in Mountain Lake Park. The food is all homemade and will include turkey, beef, mashed potatoes, gravy, stuffing, corn, green beans, rolls, coleslaw, beverages, and desserts. The cost is a donation. Please consider attending the dinner, getting a delicious meal, and helping someone in need.

Also, thank you to Cindy's Fund for all the help you've given her.

Community Action Awarded Funding From Rural Devel.

The Maryland Agricultural Education and Rural Development Assistance Fund (MAERDAF) has announced that Garrett County Community Action has been awarded $19,160 for fiscal year 2017.

A total of 95 applications were submitted, with more than $2 million requested. A total of 42 grants totaling $555,917.00 were distributed to 42 organizations in Maryland.

The MAERDAF was established in 2000 to offer financial assistance to rural nonprofit organizations that promote statewide and regional planning, economic and community development, and agricultural and forestry education.

In addition, MAERDAF offers grants to community colleges that support small and agricultural businesses with enhanced training and technical assistance.

Between 2001 and 2016, the MAERDAF program has awarded more than $3 million in grants to 79 rural-serving nonprofit organizations.

Founded in 1994, the Rural Maryland Council operates under the direction of a 40-member executive board in a nonpartisan and nondiscriminatory manner. It serves as the state's federally designated rural development council and functions as a voice for rural Maryland, advocating for and helping rural communities and businesses across the state to flourish and to gain equity to its suburban and urban counterparts.

The vision for RMC is the ultimate realization that citizens living in rural communities are achieving success in education and employment, have access to affordable, quality health care and other vital public services, and live in an environment where natural and cultural resources are being sustained for future generations.

For more information, persons can visit the RMC website: www.rural.maryland.gov.

Record Number Of Students To Enter Public Systems This Fall

Maryland public school systems began re-opening this week, as another new record number of students are expected for the 2016-17 academic year.

By the time all schools open their doors on Sept. 6, more than 880,000 K-12 students are expected to fill classrooms and another 250,000 children will be involved in some form of pre-kindergarten, Head Start, or licensed childcare program.

"Maryland schools are some of the best in the nation, and this time of year is an exciting time for both students and teachers," said Gov. Larry Hogan. "We wish Maryland's students, educators, and parents a safe, productive, and successful school year."

Schools this fall begin the fourth full year of implementation of the stronger academic standards designed to better prepare students for both college and career.

"Our goal is to provide students with a foundation for what lies ahead, be it college or career," said Dr. Karen B. Salmon, state superintendent of schools. "We need Maryland high school graduates to be prepared for the jobs of tomorrow."

Enrollment in Maryland public schools appears primed to surpass its record of 879,601 students, set last year. Maryland school enrollment has been steadily increasing since 2009, when the student population stood at 843,861.

Maryland's student population also has experienced major demographic changes over the past 20 years. Maryland has educated a majority-minority student population for a decade. White students represent nearly 40 percent of the student population, followed by African-American students, who make up 34 percent of the student population. Both the white and African-American student populations have been in decline as a percentage of the student body in recent years.

Hispanic students represent 15 percent of the student body, while Asian students account for approximately 6 percent. Percentages of Hispanic and Asian students have been steadily rising. Also increasing is the percentage of students identifying themselves as two or more races, which is at 4 percent.

Also on the rise in the state's schools is the percentage of students coming from circumstances of poverty. Last year, for example, 51.1 percent of Maryland elementary students were eligible for free- or reduced-price meals. Ten years earlier that

PAIN-MANAGEMENT RESEARCH

by Dr. Thomas Sheahen

Q. The heroin epidemic has ruined so many lives. What, if anything, are scientists able to do about it?

A. At the root of the heroin epidemic is the matter of pain. Alleviating pain is the goal of a substantial fraction of medicines today. Trying to bring pain down to an acceptable threshold is called pain management.

Some pain medicines, like aspirin, are sold over the counter, while more powerful painkillers require a prescription. There is a class of medicines called NSAIDs [non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs] that are stronger than aspirin, but still sold over the counter. Examples are ibuprofen (brand names Advil and Motrin) and naproxen (brand name Aleve).

For pain caused by a minor sports injury, such self-administered treatment is usually sufficient. But for serious injuries like broken bones, a stronger painkiller is necessary, and that requires a doctor's prescription. An elderly person having a knee replaced will likewise need stronger pain medicine. Depending on how that pain-management regimen proceeds, the outcome can run anywhere from good health to chronic pain to dependency to addiction.

The class of drugs known as opioids are the big-league pain killers; codeine, demerol, and oxycontin are examples, but there are many more. Unfortunately, along with their pain-killing properties, the opioids also have the side effect of inducing dependency, leading to addiction. The body builds up a level of tolerance, so that more and more of the drug is needed to reduce pain. Doctors usually closely monitor patients taking opioids, but there is risk of developing dependency. Cutting back (reducing the dosage level) is a delicate medical art.

The magazine Technology Review reports: "The consequences have been devastating. In 2014, the number of deaths from opioid overdoses in the United States topped 18,000, about 50 a day – more than three times the number in 2001. And that doesn't even take into account painkiller addicts who have turned to heroin to soothe their cravings. Officials at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently compared the scale of the problem to the HIV epidemic of the 1980s."

It's an interesting story how heroin was invented in the first place. In the mid-19th century, scientists at the Bayer company discovered that acetyl salicylic acid was a good pain killer, and named it aspirin. Clearly, the acetyl chemical group had some advantageous properties. Some years later, they reasoned that if some acetyl groups could be attached to morphine, it might be an even better pain killer. It sure was. Di-acetyl morphine was so good, they said, "This drug is super! It's a hero! Let's call it heroin." By around 1895, you could buy it over the counter in apothecary shops. (There's a Sherlock Holmes novel that features it.) It wasn't until about 1910 that the terrible addictive properties of heroin were realized, and it was taken off the market. To this day, Bayer is proud of its aspirin, but doesn't mention its invention of heroin.

We understand that "pain" is nerve signals being sent to the brain. Eliminate those signals and pain is eliminated. That's what opioids do. Simple, right? Afraid not. There are genes that turn on or off, channels for sodium that makes electrical pulses fire, nerve receptors, and many more complexities.

Again, quoting Technology Review: "... pain takes complex pathways in our bodies. The signals that reach the brain and are interpreted as pain sometimes come from a problem on the periphery, or the surface, of our bodies, like when you get a cut. Other times the source of the pain signals is deeper: from damage to our nerves, which can happen with a really bad wound or, say, a back injury. ... [some] pain comes from a third type of situation: misfiring in the brain. However, the presence of these different pain mechanisms also means there are a few different ways to try to solve the opioid problem."

Research in the 21st century has taken a new direction: trying to separate the pain-killing aspects from the adverse side effects. Blocking one particular sodium channel looks promising. Another avenue strives to simulate endogenous opioids, natural signaling agents in our bodies – like the endorphins released during exercise, which produce the familiar "runner's high." A synthetic variety of endomorphin looks very promising, as trials on laboratory rats have achieved the pain-reduction level of morphine without addictive side effects.

When pain is caused by misfiring in the brain (rather than at the site of injury), understanding that process is a preliminary step to success. With so much complexity. the pace of research is finite, but promising. Someday, we hope to have a pain-management pill that substitutes for opioids without promoting addiction. When that day arrives, no one will have to turn to heroin for relief.

For more information, see the Technology Review article cited at https://www.technologyreview.com/s/602141/the-painkillers-that-could-end-the-opioid-crisis/

To Frack or Not to Frack—What do you think?

To: Lake Property Owners and Garrett County residents

On August 30, Delegates from the Maryland General Assembly Committee on Environmental and Transportation will hold a Public Hearing at the College starting at 6:30 pm. This hearing provides us with our one chance locally to tell these Delegates what we think about fracking. There will be no announcement of the results of a vote or referendum on the issue, nor professional polling profile. To give the Delegates some "sense of the community," we have developed the following informal poll and urge you to complete it and share with your family, friends, and broader community. To be tabulated for the hearing, the surveys need to be mailed in no later than Friday, August 26.

Your Background:

Answer: Your back must be toward the sun

Weather History

Aug. 19, 1788 - A small but powerful hurricane inflicted great havoc upon forests along a narrow track from New Jersey to Maine. A similar storm track today would cause extreme disaster in the now populated area.

Aug. 20, 1910 - The "big blow up" of forest fires finally came to an end in Idaho. A record dry August fueled 1,736 fires which burned three million acres and destroyed six billion board feet of timber. The fires claimed the lives of 85 people, 78 of whom were fire fighters.

Detailed Local Forecast

Today we will see mostly sunny skies with a high temperature of 80°, humidity of 49%. The record high temperature for today is 87° set in 1983. Expect partly cloudy skies tonight with an overnight low of 62°. The record low for tonight is 38° set in 1953. Saturday, skies will be mostly sunny with a 40% chance of showers and thunderstorms, high temperature of 79°, humidity of 62%. Skies will be mostly cloudy Saturday night with a 40% chance of showers and thunderstorms, overnight low of 64°.

tally stood at 38.1 percent – a dramatic increase over the decade.

Strengthening Achievement, Accountability

•Maryland's College and Career Ready Standards have been in place in all public schools for three years or more, and already there are signs that the new core curriculum is having a positive effect, according to Dr. Salmon. Reviews from publications, including Education Week and the National Review, found the new standards more challenging than previous state standards.

Results from the second year of the new state assessments will be released for grades 3-8 later this month. The PARCC state assessments, aligned to the Maryland College and Career Ready Standards, replaced the math and English MSAs in 2014-15. As expected, results from the initial administration found PARCC to be significantly more rigorous.

The latest revision of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act was signed by President Obama late last year. The new law, the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), provides a long-term, stable federal policy that gives states additional flexibility and encourages states, local school systems, and schools to innovate, while at the same time holding all accountable for results. The Maryland State Department of Education is working with the broad-based ESSA Stakeholder Committee in the review of the new law and development of Maryland's ESSA Plan. That final plan will be completed in 2017.

Positive trends in graduation continue. Maryland's graduation rate remains at an all-time high, bumping up again in 2015.

Maryland's cohort graduation rate reached 86.39 percent in 2014 – more than 4 percentage points higher than the 81.97 rate registered in 2010.

At the same time, dropout rates have fallen to new lows. While gaps in graduation rates remain between student groups, the improvement in graduation has been across the board. African-American, Asian, Hispanic, and white student subgroups have all experienced improvement in graduation.

The graduation rate for special education students jumped 3 percentage points in just one year.

Maryland law was changed in 2015 to require that students be 17 years of age before being allowed to withdraw from school. The former law allowed for withdrawals at age 16. The law is scheduled to change again in July 2017, raising the age of compulsory attendance to 18.

Maryland has made the expansion of career oriented programs a priority, according to Salmon. For example, Frederick and Washington county public school systems are piloting the new "Apprenticeship Maryland" program with the goal of expanding the model throughout the state. The goal of the program is to prepare juniors and seniors to enter employment and further education in high-skill, high-growth sector science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM)-related careers, such as healthcare, biotechnology, information technology, construction and design, banking and finance, and advanced manufacturing.

IBM, Johns Hopkins University, Kaiser Permanente, University of Maryland/ Baltimore, Baltimore City Community College, and the state of Maryland are partnering to open two P-TECH schools in Baltimore City this school year. P-TECH schools are designed to create clear pathways from high school to college to career for young people from all academic backgrounds. Carver Vocational-Technical High School and Dunbar High School will be the first schools in the state to offer a six-year program to students that includes early college, CTE, and real-world experience for students to prepare them for careers in the health and technology industries. Graduates of Maryland's P-TECH – which stands for Pathways in Technology Early College High School – can earn both a high school diploma and an associate degree in a STEM field. More P-TECH schools are planned for Prince George's County, the Eastern Shore, and Allegany County.

From FY2012 to FY2016, Maryland invested $4.2 million dollars in the Project Lead The Way (PLTW) Biomedical Science CTE Program of Study. The PLTW Biomedical Sciences program is one of Maryland's leading STEM-focused CTE programs of study and includes a sequence of courses that covers topics such as physiology, genetics, microbiology, and public health. The infusion of state funds increased the number of high schools offering the PLTW BMS across the state from 22 high schools and 181 students in 2012 to 54 high schools and over 2,800 students.

Maryland is home to more than 500 core bioscience companies, representing approximately 8% of the U.S. industry. The PLTW BMS program is designed to prepare students for careers in this field by giving them the tools they need to compete and win in a rapidly changing 21st century economy.

There is one new charter school scheduled to open this fall, bringing the total to 49 statewide.

This year's new school is Brehms Lane Elementary School in Baltimore City, an existing school converting to charter status. It will be operated by Afya Baltimore, which operates two other charter schools in the city.

Charter schools are projected to enroll 20,700 students throughout the state in 2016-17.

Maryland's Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) is requiring new immunizations for children entering kindergarten/ first/second grades and seventh/eighth/ninth grades. Specifically:

All students entering kindergarten, first, and second grade must have had two varicella vaccinations before the first day of school.

All students entering seventh, eighth, and ninth grades must have had one Tdap vaccination and one meningococcal (MCV4) vaccination before the first day of school.

Garrett County public schools will begin the 2016-17 academic year on Monday, Aug. 29.

Loch Lynn Church Of God To Hold 2016 Women's Conference Sept. 9–10

JENNIFER PORTER-COX

CHARLOTTE MUSIC

Loch Lynn Church of God hold its 2016 Women's Conference on Friday, Sept. 9, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 10, at 9 a.m. This year's theme is "Refreshed."

"In a world filled with uncertainty, Psalm 118:14 (NLT) reminds us that 'The Lord is my strength and my song, he has given me victory,'" said a church spokeswoman. "Join us in worship with guest speakers evangelist Jennifer Porter-Cox and Charlotte Music."

A native of Jamaica, Porter-Cox is an ordained minister with the Church of God and an "accomplished steward of the word," according to the spokeswoman.

Answering the call to full time ministry, she had her early training at the Bethel Bible College in Jamaica, and preached throughout the island until her arrival in the U.S.A., where she furthered her studies and continued ministry. Porter-Cox attended the National Bible College in Ft. Washington and the Logos Christian College and Graduate School in Jacksonville, Fla.

"Evangelist Porter-Cox has dedicated her life to the building up of the kingdom of God through the faithful proclamation of the word," the spokeswoman said. "She has an unwavering passion for God and a consuming desire to see souls born for the Kingdom. She is a much sought-after preacher and conference speaker who has shared the word of God extensively throughout the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, and England, and as a yielded vessel, is committed to taking the gospel to a dying world until all have heard."

Along with preaching the gospel, she is a lecturer at the Ebenezer Bible Institute in Landover Hills, a missionary partner with Harvest Ministries, and a partner in ministry with Victory Place International Worship Center in Sunrise, Fla.

"From growing up in a pastor's home until now, the life of Charlotte Music has been centered in ministry," the spokeswoman said. "As a child, Charlotte was shaped through being exposed to a wide variety of cultural, economic, and geographical areas of the United States. From Southern towns to northeast urban communities, these experiences have helped prepare her to connect with women from differing backgrounds."

Music and her husband Chris have reared their family while serving the Church of God as youth pastors, pastors, and youth and discipleship directors. She currently serves alongside her husband, pastor of Lansdowne Worship Center, Baltimore. They have two children: Carter, a sophomore at Lee University, and Randyl, a high school senior.

"Serving in these various roles has allowed Charlotte to understand the issues faced by ministry-minded women and their families," the spokeswoman said.

Music ministers to men and women alike in churches, conferences, retreats, and special events throughout the country.

"Through a unique blend of real-life humor, transparency, and understanding of the word of God, Charlotte challenges women to live holy lifestyles and grow in the grace and knowledge of Jesus Christ," the spokeswoman said.

There is no charge to attend the 2016 Women's Conference. Those planning to attend, however, are asked to register by calling the church office at 301-334-3221 or visiting www.llcog.org by Sunday, Sept. 4.

The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road.

DRUG USE MAY BE IN PLAIN SIGHT – The Action Teams of the Garrett County Drug Free Communities Coalition (DFCC) created a teen bedroom display at the Garrett County Fair last week to help educate parents and other adults about the telltale signs of drug use among young people. Open communication is the key, according to the team members. See story. Pictured from left are Action Team members Debbe Owston, Penny Proudfoot, Leslie Stone, Brenda Sisler, and Linda Meyers.

"Hidden In Plain Sight" Display Set Up At GC Fair

A mock teen bedroom display was on exhibit at the Garrett County Agriculture Fair last week, set up and manned by the Action Teams of the Garrett County Drug Free Communities Coalition (DFCC). The display allowed parents and other adults to get a glimpse into the life of a teenage drug user.

The "Hidden in Plain Sight" display gave tips about what parents should watch for, including common hiding spots for drugs, and tricks to disguise drug use.

"Some youth may start experimenting with drugs and alcohol as early as the fourth grade," said Kendra McLaughlin, director of Health Education and Outreach at the Garrett County Health Department. "The 2014 Youth Risk Behavior Survey showed that 4 in 10 Garrett County high school students drank alcohol in the previous 30 days. 3 in 10 have tried marijuana in their lifetime, and anywhere from 5% to 16% have at least experimented with other drugs like cocaine, narcotics, steroids, methamphetamines, heroin, or ecstasy."

Research shows that when youth get involved with drugs and alcohol before the age of 16, they are five times more likely to develop a drug dependency later in life, McLaughlin reported.

"The battle against underage drinking and drug use is a team effort," said Brenda Sisler, prevention coordinator at the health department and facilitator for the DFCC Action Teams. "I believe the most important piece of prevention is for parents to start talking early to their children about their views on drug use and its dangers and consequences. Communication is key. Talk early, talk often. Parents have the greatest influence on their child's choice to not use alcohol and drugs."

The storage building for the Hidden in Plain Sight display was provided by Casselman River Sheds of Grantsville.

For more information about this program or about the DFCC Action Teams, persons may call McLaughlin or Sisler at the health department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

In Loving Memory of

on the 24th anniversary of his death.

1-17-66 – 8-22-92

It is just a cluster of memories,
Sprayed with a million tears
Wishing God could have spared you
For many, many more years.

We often sit and think of you,
And think of how you died.
To think you could not say goodbye,
before you closed your eyes

Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be.
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.

So looking back in tenderness
Along the path we trod,
We cherish the years we had with you
And leave the rest to God.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you.
Life has never been the same.

A million times we've needed you
A million times we've cried,
If love alone could have saved you,
You never would have died.

In life we loved you dearly.
In death we love you still
In our hearts you hold a place
No one can ever fill.

Town News

We have recently experienced some vandalism in the community park. Anyone who witnesses vandalism in the park or around town is call the Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101 or the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911. The park belongs to the entire community, and resident help is needed.

No new pavilion rentals will be accepted for the remaining 2016 summer season. The town will be having electrical upgrades made throughout the park.

The Honor and Remembrance Ceremony held by the Friendsville Woodmen Life, Chapter 45, that is normally held in Friendsville Community Park will be held at the Friendsville fire hall on Sunday, Sept. 11, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the mayor and town council is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. There will be only one meeting during the month of September.

Moors Memorial GC Scholarship Is Established

The Marilyn Moors AAUW (American Association of University Women) "Second Chances" Memorial Scholarship was recently established by the Garrett County branch of the American Association of University Women through the Garrett College Foundation. The purpose of the scholarship shall be to provide support and benefit for Garrett College students.

According to Cherie Krug, executive director of the Garrett College Foundation, the scholarship is designed to assist students who are returning to college after an interruption in their education, or may include those who have not attended college before. Applicants must be enrolling at Garrett College as a degree-seeking student or in a non-credit certification program or program leading to another credential, including a GED program.

Moors was president of AAUW-Garrett Branch from 2004 until her death this past January.

"Marilyn was the heart and soul of our branch," said Judy A. Carbone, current president of the local organization. "It wasn't until we tried to pick up the pieces of all that she did that we truly realized how much she did for the branch and our community."

Among Moors' achievements as branch president was the founding of the End-of-the-Line Bookstore, the establishment of several AAUW-sponsored scholarships for local women, and a mentoring program for middle school girls. Additionally, she was a mentor to a number of young women who credit her with helping them choose their career and educational directions.

Known as an inspirational anthropologist and human rights activist, Moors held degrees from Tufts University and George Washington University. She was professor emerita of Montgomery College and Frostburg State University.

"She saw her calling as one of educating for justice, both within and well beyond the classroom," said Carbone. "She was generous, encouraging, and upbeat, and at the same time determined and never content if the status quo implied harm to people or the planet."

Carbone said that Moors' long-term involvement with Guatemala, and especially with Maya communities, was evident in how she brought people together to work as partners for liberation and justice. As one of the founders of the Guatemala Scholars Network (GSN), Moors was both instrumental and fundamental to the continued growth of the organization.

Subsequently, she was heavily involved in the formation and success of the Maya Educational Foundation (MEF), which has provided scholarships to enable dozens of young women and men to pursue higher education and careers of service to their communities.

Moors retired as president of the MEF in 2012, when travel became more difficult for her. Besides her writing and speaking about rights issues, Moors co-edited The Maya Diaspora (2000), which documented the roots and significance of exodus of Maya from Mesoamerica and their resettlement across North America.

"She was essential as well to the publication of Guatemalan Indians and the State (1990), and to the scholarship and effectiveness of countless colleagues and students with whom she worked," said Carbone. "She brought astounding leadership qualities and keen insights to everything she did, inspiring everyone with whom she worked and crossed paths, as well as keeping them focused on the task in hand."

For more information on AAUW-Garrett Branch, including membership and serving as a mentor, persons are invited to contact Carbone at judy@corgi-cottage.com. More information on making a gift to any fund held by the Garrett College Foundation can be found online at www.garrettcollegefoundation.org or by calling the GC Foundation office at 301-387-3131.

LAKER NATION WELCOMES FERGUSON – Skylar Ferguson, a 2016 graduate of Greensville County High School, Emporia, Va., has decided to continue her academic and athletic career at Garrett College, as she signed a national letter of intent as a duel-sport athlete (volleyball and softball). "I speak for both Coach Terry Chapman and myself when I say that we are very excited to welcome Skylar to Laker Nation," said Coach Kim Windstein. "She is very passionate about both volleyball and softball, and we believe she will make a positive impact on both teams right away." Ferguson plans to major in nursing at GC. Pictured from left, seated, are Coach Windstein, head women's volleyball coach and athletic trainer at GC; Ferguson; and Coach Chapman, head women's softball coach. Standing are Skylar's mother, Angie; her sister, Kassidy; and her father, Craig.

GC Volleyball Alumni Match Set For Sept. 11

The Garrett College women's volleyball team will hold an alumni match on Sunday, Sept. 11, at noon in the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Complex (CARC) gymnasium. All participants must be alumni of Garrett College.

Those interested in participating are asked to contact Coach Kim Windstein at kim.windstein@garrettcollege.edu or 301-387-3053.

Garrett To Host Seminar On New OSHA Regulations

The Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division will host a regulations professional seminar, which will provide an update on new OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) regulations, on Friday, Sept. 9, from 9 a.m. until noon in Room 205 of the Continuing Education building at the McHenry campus.

OSHA injury and illness records help identify unsafe patterns and trends in the workplace, according to a college spokesperson.

This seminar will provide an overview of 29CFR Part 1904 of the OSHA Recordkeeping Regulation, presenting the basics of the regulation step-by-step through major sections in the rule. Included will be an activity involving injury and illness case scenarios, determining if each case should be recorded on the OSHA log based on the principles presented.

Steve Bisson, presenter of this seminar, is an administrator with the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation, Division of Labor and Industry. He has been working with occupational safety and health statistics, including providing training for the OSHA recordkeeping regulation, for over 26 years. He is the program manager for the Maryland Division of Labor and Industry's Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Injury and Illness Statistics Programs, and functions as a principal adviser to the Maryland OSHA agency on the recordkeeping regulation. Bisson is currently part of a work group tasked by federal OSHA to develop a new injury-tracking web application.

For more information or to register for the seminar, persons are invited to contact Connie Meyers, GC director of professional development and contract training, at 301-387-3084 or connie.meyers@garrettcollege.edu.

GC Foundation Awards Scholarships

The Garrett College Foundation annually presents scholarships to Garrett College students. Following are the names of some of the scholarship recipients for the 2016-2017 academic year.

lo Flute Duo To Give Final Show Of Music At Penn Alps '16 Season

Music at Penn Alps will present the lo Ensemble – a flute duo with piano accompaniment – for its final concert of the 2016 season this Saturday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Spruce Forest in Grantsville.

lo highlights the flute through the performance of a wide variety of repertoire using historical and modern instruments, a spokesperson said. The ensemble was founded by Amara Guitry and Keith Hanlon in 2015 to showcase less commonly performed repertoire for flute that includes solo, duo, and mixed ensemble pieces.

"The duo further pushes the initiative by including period instruments, widening the tonal palette of their performances," the spokesperson said. "Their roster of instruments include copies of 18th century flutes, original instruments from the turn of the 20th century, modern instruments, and other members of the flute family."

The ensemble varies its program depending on the concert space and the availability of local collaborative musicians. The musicians offer the works of the following composers: George Philipp Telemann, Robert Maggio, David Loeb, Carey Blyton, Fredrich Kuhlau, and Ian Clarke, among others.

Tickets are $20, with those 19 and younger admitted for free. Tickets may be purchased by credit card online at musicatpennalps.org or at the gift shop at Penn Alps. Cash and checks may be used at the door. For more information or directions, persons may go to musicatpennalps.org or call 443-414-3955.

Celebration Set

County's high school FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Robotics Competition (FRC) Team 1629 will give a presentation.

Musicians will begin performing at 4:30 p.m. at various venues in the complex. Local guitarist and vocalist Bob Stephens will be in the outdoor seating area of the Cornucopia Cafe, playing classic light rock from the 1970s.

At Penn Alps Restaurant, guitarist Tom Cummings from Hedgesville, W.Va., will offer music of the 1960s, also starting at 4:30.

The Terah Crawford Band will perform from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on the back porch of the last cabin in the Artisan Village, adjacent to the Casselman Bridge. Crawford, a Garrett County native, will be accompanied by acoustic and electric guitars, banjo, and mandolin. Starting at 7 p.m. at the same location, Steve Smith from Uniontown, Pa., will perform country music on acoustic guitar and banjo.

"Come out to enjoy the day, and support and celebrate Grantsville and the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival," said Mary Callis, GLAF executive director. She noted that GLAF wished to thank Somerset Trust, event sponsor.

The Arts and Entertainment District designation provides opportunities for artists and art organizations through the state of Maryland. Obtaining the designation required months of work by town volunteers and staff, and was also aided by the Garrett County Arts Council.

GLAF was founded 30 years ago when violinist Erick Friedman and coordinator Kathryn Sincell-Corwell organized the Symphony at Deep Creek, a two-week workshop and performance festival that brought musicians from around the country to Garrett County. A board of directors was organized that year. Over the past three decades, the organization has become a regular presenter of a variety of arts in the county, now with a focus on arts in education.

AURORA/EGLON

Stemple Ridge Festival

The annual Stemple Ridge Festival will be held on Saturday, Sept. 3, beginning at 4 p.m. at the church pavilion, located along Stemple Ridge Road near the church. Featured foods will be handmade ice cream, pies, cakes, steak hoagies, hot dogs, sloppy joes, and pork BBQ. A silent auction will be held, and machine-quilted and hand- knotted quilts will be for sale.

Aurora VFD Gun Bash

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual Gun Bash this Saturday, Aug. 20. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m., with the first drawing to be held at noon. There will be a chance to win 22 guns and a 5500W Generac generator with every ticket purchased, plus additional floor guns will be given away the day of the bash.

Each ticket is $25, with one additional guest adding an additional $10. Tickets for children 12 and under are $5. The ticket includes all the food one can eat. Tickets may be purchased from any fireman, or by calling Harold George at 304-851-6727 or Mike Gallagher at 304-698-9807.

According to a spokesperson, the VFD appreciates all the support of the community.

Aurora Project Presents

A free historical presentation will be given this Sunday, Aug. 21, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Aurora Community Building. It will consist of "The Deakins Line: How West Virginia Put a Whuppin' on Maryland" and "W Va. History Alive: Living History Portrayal of Henry David Strother, aka Porte Crayon."

The presentation explains that most people are familiar with the Mason-Dixon Line, the famous boundary between the North and the South, but there is also another line in Preston County – the straight-line boundary with Garrett County.

This boundary is called the Deakins Line, and was supposed to extend north from the headwaters of the Potomac. However, there were arguments for over 100 years about where exactly that was. Don Teter, a historical surveyor from Randolph County, will share the history of this boundary line.

For the second half, Teter will portray Henry David Strothers, who was born in Martinsburg and traveled throughout the world in the late 1800s writing about travel for Harper's magazine.

Harsh Reunion

The annual Harsh reunion will be held on Sunday, Aug. 28, at 1 p.m. at the Farmers' Wildlife Park in Horse Shoe Run. Family members are asked to bring a family story and memories to share, along with a covered dish. Persons may call Leah at 304-698-2944 for more information.

The reunion will be begin at noon, with lunch at 1 p.m. Guests should bring a covered dish to share. The church will be open to visitors, as well as the Aurora Cemetery and the old Pioneer Cemetery across the road from the church. Persons should also bring photos, stories, and genealogy research to share.

News Submisson

To report family and class reunions, as well as other news and events, persons may contact Linda Lewis at 304-735-6931, or P.O. Box 25, Eglon, WV 26716.

Terra Alta Church Slates Community Revival Aug. 21-24

Terra Alta Church of the Nazarene will hold a community revival beginning this Sunday, Aug. 21. The event will feature Dr. Steve Nestor, a pastor, songwriter, and evangelist.

"Come see what God can do," said Rev. G. David Turner. "Bring a friend and join us for each service."

Services will begin at the church, located along Brandonville Pike, on Sunday at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Services will then be held Monday, Aug. 22, through Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m. in the open pavilion at Terra Alta Community Park. Attendees are asked to bring their own lawn chairs.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Maryland Department Of Agriculture Announces Record Cover Crop Signup

The Maryland Department of Agriculture announced this week another record-breaking sign-up by Maryland farmers for its highly touted Cover Crop Program. During the program's three-week signup period held earlier this summer, 1,853 farmers visited the state's network of local soil conservation district offices to apply for grants to plant 691,743 acres of protective cover crops on their fields this fall. Cover crops have been shown to reduce nutrient runoff, control soil erosion, and protect water quality in streams, rivers, and the Chesapeake Bay.

"Maryland's cover crop program has the potential to do more for the bay than ever before," said Gov. Larry Hogan. "We commend and thank all farmers who continue to voluntarily take strong conservation actions on their farms, diversify their operations, and use new technologies as they become available."

Maryland farmers have exceeded every Chesapeake Bay milestone goal for cover crops since the Environmental Protection Agency established nutrient and sediment limits for the bay in 2010, known as the Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL). Based on the newly released 2016-2017 Cover Crop Program sign-up figures, farmers are on track to exceed the next two-year milestone commitment to be completed by June 2017.

In addition, cover crops are considered one of the most cost-effective means of helping to restore the Chesapeake Bay. The state has allocated $22.5 million for the 2016/2017 Cover Crop Program.

"Year after year, our farmers demonstrate their commitment to clean water and healthy natural resources by planting cover crops on their fields," said Maryland agriculture secretary Joe Bartenfelder. "The 2016-2017 signup represents an increase of 35,000 acres over last year, which is remarkable when you stop to consider that the signup last year was the largest in our state's history."

The environmental and agronomic benefits of planting cover crops are well documented. As they grow, cover crops protect water quality by recycling unused plant nutrients remaining in the soil from the preceding summer crop. Once established, cold-hardy cover crops work all winter to shield fields from erosion caused by wind, rain, snow and ice. Cover crops improve soil health by increasing organic matter in the soil, reducing weeds and pests, and providing habitat for beneficial insects.

Maryland's Cover Crop Program provides farmers with grants to plant small grains such as wheat, rye, or barley, and certain other crops on their fields immediately following the summer crop harvest of corn, soybeans, and vegetables. Grants help offset seed, labor, and equipment costs associated with planting cover crops. Farmers may sign up to plant traditional cover crops, which are not eligible for harvest, or commodity cover crops, which may be harvested.

Incentives are available for planting cover crops early; however, all cover crops must be planted by Nov. 5, 2016, and certified with the soil conservation district by Nov. 14 to qualify for payment. Other conditions and restrictions apply.

Top counties ranked by highest acreage of cover crop signup were Queen Anne's with 76,369 acres, Kent with 71,520, Caroline with 58,703, and Frederick with 56,613. Garrett County filed 32 applications for a total of 2,757 acres.

Southern Rams Fall Sports Media Day Announced

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association has announced that the SGAA Fall Media and Meet the Squad Day will take place on Saturday, Aug. 27, at 3 p.m. on the Southern High School softball field.

The event aims to bring a sense of community and camaraderie between the athletes, their families, and supporters of Southern Ram athletics.

Athletes are asked to wear their respective uniform or attire chosen by each coach.

Local photographers Trish Wilt and Alex Flanigan will be available at that time to take team photographs. Coaches are responsible to make arrangements with a photographer if they choose to have a team picture.

Other media personnel will also be in attendance.

Southern Ram apparel, window clings, concessions, memberships, season passes, and various raffle tickets will be available for purchase.

All senior athletes will be asked to gather together for a photograph to capture some final memories as Southern Ram athletes.

The event is open to any family, friends, and community members who would like to attend as the Rams begin to kick off the 2016-2017 fall sports season.

Oakland Oaks Sweep Orioles To Win PenMar-WV Championship

The Oakland Oaks (20-2) took home the PenMar-WV Baseball League Championship after sweeping the regular-season runner-up Cumberland Orioles in two games this past weekend.

Game one needed extra innings, as the Oaks finally pulled away from the Orioles in the top of the eighth to win 5-3 on Saturday at Legion Field.

Oakland scored the first run of the series in the top of the first inning, but the Orioles limited further damage and tied the game in the bottom of the third.

The Oaks seemed to have control of the game after regaining the lead by scoring a run in both the fifth and sixth innings.

However, the Orioles answered with two runs of their own in the bottom of the sixth to make the score 3-3 heading into the final inning.

After neither team managed to bring home the game-clinching run, both teams prepared for extra innings. The Oaks only needed one extra inning, as the team scored two runs in the top of the eighth to close out game one.

Nathan King pitched a complete-game victory for the Oaks. Despite giving up 10 hits, King kept the Orioles from taking the lead and forced several clutch outs throughout the game.

Alex Banko led the Oaks at the plate, lacing three singles, while Korey Reed also smacked a double.

Game two began with a rain delay, but that couldn't stop the Oaks from sprinting out of the gate with seven first-inning runs on their way to a 10-2 win to clinch the championship.

James Bolander cleared the bases with a double to underline the Oaks' seven-run first inning, which featured 12 players at the plate, five hits, and five walks.

"There was a pretty good rain shower that showed up in the first inning, and they [Orioles] never seemed to get their timing back until it was too late," said Craig Bosley, Oakland's manager. "We put some big hits together with the walks and it turned into a really big inning for us."

The Oaks added a run in the second, third, and fifth innings while the Orioles were unable to string enough hits together to begin a rally.

Ross Conley took the mound and handed out seven strikeouts while holding the Orioles to just five hits and one earned run.

Bolander had four RBIs off two doubles, driving in Brazier Brown in the fifth with his second double.

Cody Humberson went 2-for-4, highlighted by a double and two RBIs.

Banko knocked in two runs off a single while Matt Jeffrey brought in a run off a single. Brown blasted a double and scored three runs to round out Oakland's offensive effort.

The Oaks have advanced to play in the Maryland Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament, which will begin on Aug. 27 at the Hot Stove Complex.

Southern Defeats Northern In Inaugural Alumni Football Game

Fans nearly filled the stands in the rainy conditions to enjoy an early start to the football season, as the Southern Rams took down the Northern Huskies 12-6 in the inaugural alumni football game between the two rivals on Sunday at Northern High School.

Players ranged from the class of 2014 to as early as the class of 1981 to participate in a hard-hitting game, which came down to the final possession.

Not only did the former gridders get to relive their high school days, the cheerleading squads for both teams were also filled with alumni.

The game also featured former West Virginia University tight end Brad Palmer, who graduated from Southern in 2002. Palmer played for the Sugar-Bowl winning Mountaineers in 2005 and scored a touchdown during his senior season in 2006.

Scott Kisner ('14) and Zach Fratz ('09) were named the captains for the game for Southern and Northern respectively.

Trailing 6-0, Rams-quarterback CJ Getson ('93) threw a long touchdown pass to tie the game right before halftime. However, the extra point attempt was blocked.

The third quarter was an old-fashioned battle of field position, as both defenses held strong against each team's running game.

The quarter's biggest highlight occurred when Northern's Kyle Rosenberger ('12) delivered arguably the hardest hit of the game to prevent a Southern receiver from catching a pass near the red zone.

The Rams received a punt late in the third quarter and began a long drive, which would last for almost the remainder of the game.

With 2:39 to go in the fourth quarter, the Huskies forced the Rams into a third-and-four, but an offsides penalty gave Southern a first-and-goal.

Then Kisner took the handoff and ran up the middle into the endzone to give the Rams a 12-6 lead with 1:26 remaining in the game.

Southern looked to wrap the game up on the ensuing drive after the defense secured an interception, but the Huskies used all three time outs while forcing a three-and-out to give the offense one final drive to at least tie the game.

The Huskies completed a pass to their own 40-yard line with 22 seconds remaining. Two plays later, an incomplete "hail mary" pass ended the game and secured Southern's victory.

The Rams' Kisner and the Huskies' Corey Carr ('07) were named as the game's MVPs.

Proceeds from the game concessions will go to the Northern Mad Dogs' youth league football team.

The game was organized and scheduled by Alumni Football USA. Fans can visit the website at www.alumnifootballusa.com for a full schedule of alumni games around the country and the organization's nationwide fundraising efforts.

Sailboat Racing

PUFFS!
by Dan Muss

Sailboat racing on a mountain lake has its own conditions; it changes direction as it swirls around the hills and the stronger, higher altitude winds dip down every once in a while, producing momentary puffs that can capsize a small sailboat if the crew is not skilled, heavy, and fast enough to react.

Saturday was a perfect sailing day that we have once in a while on Deep Creek Lake – sun and wind. The puffs looked a bit much for us, so we corralled Dan Spohn to sail with us. We got a good start, and, for several legs we battled Gregory for the lead in our Masters race. But, on the second windward leg, we tacked for the lay-line too soon, and when we got badly knocked, we were almost in "irons" while most of the fleet passed us. It didn't matter; it was a glorious race day.

In the Silver Fleet, Eric Von Eckartsberg picked up Roger Ballentine as crew; Roger had never been in a Flying Scot before. As Von Eckartsberg crossed the finish line in the first Saturday race, he was expecting a horn for first place, but the committee explained that Connor Lothrop had finished several minutes before. But in the second race, Von Eckartsberg lost his crew and picked up my son Andrew. On one downwind leg they rode a puff onto a plane with spinnaker flying, and this time Von Eckartsberg did get the first-place horn.

Sunday was another nice day, but, while the wind looked manageable at 5–10 knots, there were puffs that looked like 20 ... so this old guy decided to stay on shore ... and so did all the other old guys.

Joan and Lee Coraor did go out in the Gold Fleet, and this is their account:

"Sunday's race for us was an adventure. There were eight boats out in the Gold Fleet, but there was a big collision between two boats and they both dropped out. It was very windy, and most of those who sailed had three people in the boat. We, unfortunately, did not, and found ourselves falling back farther and farther. On the last windward leg to the finish, we caught a big puff that knocked us over! We were both familiar with the capsize drill and were able to right the boat and sail on. We finished, the last boat in the entire race, but our sixth place finish was better than we had done in earlier races!"

WOMEN'S SAILING CLINIC 2016
by Louise Schaefer

Thirty-seven women of all ages and sailing abilities gathered at the Deep Creek Yacht Club at Turkey Neck last week for a three-day sailing clinic for women of both yacht clubs. This was a volunteer effort led by Joni Palmer Gauthier of the Turkey Neck Yacht Club and also the director of basic sail training at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. Joining Joni were seven other experienced women sailors from both local yacht clubs. The event could not have happened without the 15 men, experienced sailors, who supported the event. The volunteers gave their time and expertise to help in class and on the water with hands-on instruction. They helped each day on safety patrol, moving boats to and from moorings, and any other task necessary to ensure a successful sailing clinic.

Special guest speaker Geri Meehan, a member of Deerhaven Yacht Club, shared the history of women's sailing on Deep Creek Lake, and the efforts to establish sailing for women on DCL. She also recognized the accomplishments of women in national sailing regattas. She brought the perpetual trophy won by women sailors from both clubs to share with great pride. There is the hope that more women will continue to learn to sail, not only because it is a nationally recognized sport for women, but also because it is a fun social sport and great lifetime hobby for women.

Joni's passion for sailing resonated through the class, as she talked about basic sailing instruction. She worked to build student sailing confidence, eliminate any anxieties or misconceptions about sailing, and to instill a greater appreciation for the sport and pleasure of sailing. Lessons included learning wind awarness, rigging, knot tying, skippering, crewing, rescue and capsize drills, spinnaker flying, hat overboard recovery, and leaving and returning to the dock safely. Each class member got to experience hands-on sailing each day with an experienced instructor on board.

The sailing week ended with a fun rally and destination game around the lake, designed and planned by Joni's husband, Ray Gauthier.

The sailing clinic concluded with each student expressing something she learned about sailing from the week. Everyone agreed the class was very helpful, and all learned something new. The women expressed more confidence in their sailing abilities, and all agreed to get on a sailboat and practice more, and to just have a great time sailing on our beautiful Deep Creek Lake! Sailing is truly a great way to relax, meet other sailors, and develop life-long friendships with them.

SHS Golfers Begin Season, Aims For Fourth-Straight AMAC Title

The Southern High School golf team, coached by Ryan Wolf, teed off its 2016 season with the hopes of obtaining a fourth-straight Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference title, and if the results of the early matches are any indication, the Rams are well on their way toward that goal.

The Rams have enjoyed an 8-0 start after winning their first three tournaments of the season in comfortable fashion.

Southern's first outing featured wins over Preston and Bishop Walsh on Thursday, Aug. 11, at the Oakland Golf Club.

The Rams carded four of the top six individual scores en route to a first-place tally of 169 strokes, winning comfortably over second-place Preston (183) and third-place Bishop Walsh (202).

Kulen Flanigan and Christian Jordan tied for the best individual score with 41 strokes each.

Zach Wesolowski tied for the second-best score with 43 alongside Preston's Jake Livengood and Luke Livengood.

Brady Merrick rounded out the Rams' scorecard with the third-best individual total on the team and of the entire meet by scoring a 44.

Brandon Hill and Paige Smith finished just outside the team's top four with scores of 45 and 48, respectively. Their scores would have been good enough for top four finishes on any of the other teams at the meet.

The Rams cruised to a first-place finish over Mountain Ridge, Allegany, and Keyser, in Oakland's second tournament on Tuesday.

Zach Harvey shot a tournament-low 37 to highlight Southern's team score of 157, which was 64 strokes better than second-place Mountain Ridge (221).

Allegany followed in third with 224, just barely trailing Mountain Ridge, and Keyser finished fourth with a score of 230.

Southern's top four scores were also the tournament's top four totals.

Flanigan, Wesolowski, and Jordan followed Harvey with scores of 39, 40, and 41 respectively.

Merrick and CJ Davis rounded out the Rams' scorecard with scores of 43 and 49, and both would have finished in the top four for the other three teams at the tournament.

The other teams' individual high scores include Mountain Ridge's Jacob Blank who shot a 46, Keyser's Jacob Stanislawczyk who scored a 48, and Allegany's Tim Stern who tallied a 51.

Fort Hill brought Trevor Rice as an individual to the tournament who finished with a 50.

The Rams completed the week's sweep with a first-place finish yesterday over Moorefield, Petersburg, and Tucker high schools at the Oakland Golf Club.

Flanigan and Harvey led the Rams with a team-best tally of 38 strokes, while Jordan and Wesolowski rounded out the top four with 40 and 42 respectively.

Southern's total score of 158 was good enough for a 21-stroke spot over second-place Petersburg (179). Moorefield (195) and Tucker (196) finished third and fourth.

Petersburg's Nick Fleming (35) and Lucas Berg (36) finished with the best individual scores at the meet.

Union High School brought three individual golfers, but they did not compete as a team.

Extend Program

things that we're doing to try to help address that," Hinebaugh said about Pathway. "It's a good program. I feel good about it."

Pathway allows people to receive down-payment assistance from the county and the state to purchase or construct a home. Edwards noted that many young professionals, have good paying jobs and can make monthly mortgage payments, but they cannot come up with down-payments because of large amounts of student debt. For example, he said, new teachers in Garrett County might make $42,000 a year, but they also might have $40,000 in student loans.

"So, what they do is end up renting in Allegany County, Somerset County in Pennsylvania, or Preston County in West Virginia, and commute [to Garrett County] because it's cheaper," Edwards said. "Then, eventually they get married, they have kids, and they live where they settled down in the first place. And we never have them [living] here."

He explained the county puts up $7,500, which the state matches, to everyone who qualifies for the Pathways program. Participants have to take classes at Community Action to learn about credit/mortgage issues.

"They don't get a free home or anything like that," Edwards noted about the participants. "They have to pay taxes."

He noted there is an income limit to qualify for the program, but it is high enough that young professionals can participate.

"The [state's] First-Time Homeowners Program was geared toward lower income families, and we were losing that middle-level professional class that was going to other places," Edwards said.

He added that Pathway has no restrictions as to where a participant can buy or build a home. It just has to be in Garrett County. Last year's participants bought homes in Oakland, Grantsville, Accident, McHenry, and other areas.

Community Action president Duane Yoder noted that 30 people have already signed up to take the required mortgage classes for the fiscal year 2017 Pathway program.

MDHCD will hold a homeownership "Lunch and Learn" session on Wednesday, Aug. 24, from noon to 1 p.m. in the commissioners' meeting room, Room 207, at the courthouse in Oakland. The public is invited to bring a lunch and learn about the Maryland Mortgage and the Garrett County Pathway to Homeownership programs.

The commissioners' next public session is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 4 p.m. at the courthouse.

mission's executive director, Patrick Jameson, stated;

"Now that the [Cannibis Commission members] have made their selections, the real work begins for these companies. We will implement a rigorous stage two background and financial-due-diligence process for these entities prior to issuing a license. A pre-approval is not a license. I truly look forward to facilitating this nascent statewide industry and working with local, city, and county jurisdictions, and with the principals of these organizations."

The Medical Cannabis Commission will vote for licensure, once compliance with the regulatory requirements is complete.

The commission received 145 grower applications, 124 processor applications, and 811 dispensary license applications, according to Jameson.

Now that preliminary licenses have been awarded, Grow West MD LLC is working to meet all requirements needed for licensing approval, according to Valois.

Grow West is one of three LLCs established to create a comprehensive medical cannabis operation: Grow West MD, Grow West MD Processing, and the Apothecary. Investment opportunities are available. Interested parties may contact the company directly.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the website: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.asp. The center also has a Facebook page.

Friday, Aug. 19

• 11 a.m. – Creating an Owl. Guests can join the naturalist and discuss the adaptations and secrets of owls. Then meet one of the Discovery Center's owls up close and create a model of it. Develop nature journaling skills through observation and drawing or just come for fun.

• 1 p.m. – Deep Creek Loop Hike. All may meet at the park headquarters (898 State Park Rd., Swanton) to join Ranger Tillett on an invigorating 2.5 hour, 5-mile hike through the northern hardwoods forest at Deep Creek Lake. Walkers will go past blooming wildflowers on this moderate trail, up to the Thayerville fire tower, past the Brant Mine, and then back down through the Indian Turnip Trail. Sturdy hiking boots and water are recommended.

• 2 p.m. – Tie Dye on the Beach. Meet on the beach to make a personal tie-dyed shirt with an original conservation message. Cost is $12 per shirt. (1 hour)

• 11 a.m. – Hungry Critters. Guests are invited to meet the naturalists inside the Discovery Center as they feed the center's animals. Participants may be able to touch a live reptile or amphibian. Free.

• 2 p.m. – Little Guard. Children ages 5 to 12 years old are invited to meet at the beach and learn the skills of a lifeguard. Kids will run a relay, practice throwing a lifesaving device, learn how to recognize a troubled swimmer, and more. No swimming required. Free.

• 8 p.m. – Vultures with Author Katie Fallon. Special guest, author, and rehab specialist Katie Fallon will be talking about her work and her new book about the misunderstood and often stereotyped turkey vulture. She will be assisted by education ambassador Lew the vulture. This program will be held downstairs in the Discovery Room.

Sunday, Aug. 21

• 2 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to learn about the center's birds Sunday, August 14

Monday, Aug. 22

• 10 a.m. – Fishing with the Naturalist. Guests age 7 and older are invited to join the park naturalist for a course on fishing basics. Poles, bait, and tackle are provided. The cost is $4 per person, and adults (16+) must have their license. Preregistration is required, as space is limited.

• 2 p.m. – Aquatic Adventures. Guests are invited to join the naturalist in the Discovery Room of the center for this activity. The group will head to the docks to use the aqua scopes and dip nets into Deep Creek Lake to catch fish and other animals that live there.

Tuesday, Aug. 23

• 10 a.m. – What's That Reptile? Guests are invited to come to the Discovery Center to learn about the reptiles and amphibians that reside there, and perhaps have a chance to touch the cold-blooded creatures.

• 2 p.m. – Butterflies and Flowers. All are invited to join the naturalist for a walk around the Discovery Center grounds observing the butterflies that use native plants. The difference between native and non-native plants and their effects on the environment will be discussed.

Wednesday, Aug. 24

• 2 p.m. – Buzz Into Pollination. Guests may come "see what all the buzz is about." There are more pollinators than just bees, and there would be no crops without them. There will be a sweet treat to sample.

Thursday, Aug. 25

• 9:30 a.m. – Brant Mine Hike. Guests can join a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. The hike begins in the center's mine room. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that was operated in the 1920s, as well as possibly some wildlife along the way. Moderate walking. (Approx. 2 hours)

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

The following activities have been scheduled at New Germany State Park, located along Rt. 495 near Grantsville. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. Further information can be obtained by calling the park office at 301-895-5453, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/newgermany.asp. The park also has a Facebook page.

Thursday, Aug. 18

• 6 p.m. – Encountering Nature. This weekly event features a variety of activities and experiences for participants of all ages and skill levels. Activities may include hiking, working with field guides, making bird houses, learning survival skills, or other projects. Participants should meet at the New Germany Lake House (403 McAndrews Hill Road, Grantsville).

Friday, Aug. 19

• 6:30 p.m. – Old Time Jam. Musicians and listeners of all ages are invited to share traditional "old-timey" Appalachian music. The jam is held at the New Germany Lake House. Admission is free, and snacks and gift items will be available for purchase.

Sunday, Aug. 21

• 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. – Two Casselman River Bridge Walking Tours. Ranger Brian White will lead these two informal 30-minute history talks at the Casselman River Bridge. All are invited to meet at the gazebo on the west side of the bridge (10240 National Pike, Grantsville) and be prepared for a brief walking tour.

Tuesday, Aug. 23

• 6 p.m. – Yoga in the Woods. All are invited to join the Maryland Park Service and local certified Yogafit instructor Leslee Wigfield for a free yoga class at the park. From beginners to experts, all are welcome to join the 45-minute class. Each participant is encouraged to bring a blanket, mat, or towel, and to meet at parking lot #5, near the volleyball court.

NURSE EXTERNS COMPLETE PROGRAM – The Garrett Regional Medical Center Nurse Extern Program welcomed two participants this summer: Jordan DelSignore (left) and Traci Gilpin (right). DelSignore attends Alderson-Broaddus University in Philippi, W.Va., and Gilpin attends Allegany College of Maryland. The program allows nursing students to work in the hospital under the direction of an experienced registered nurse between their junior and senior year of college. "Throughout this program, nurse externs obtain valuable experience and skills," said a GRMC spokesperson. "Participants spend eight weeks rotating through the Medical/Surgical Unit, Operating Room, Emergency Department, and the Family Centered Maternity Suite. The extern performs all aspects of nursing duties, with the exception of administering medications and starting IVs." Upon completion of the program, GRMC presented DelSignore and Gilpin with $500 scholarships. The program accepts two externs each year. Among other requirements, applicants to the program must be currently enrolled in a program approved by a state board of nursing to prepare candidates for registered nurse licensure. For more information on the GRMC Nursing Extern Program, persons can contact Amanda Simmons at 301-533-4318.

Mural Dedication Date Changed; Letters Sought

The date for the dedication of a mural in Oakland that pays tribute to the area's emergency first responders has been changed from Sept. 24 to Sunday, Sept. 25. The change was announced this week by the Oakland Main Street office, who explained that there was a conflict with a local fundraising event.

The mural, created by professional graphic artist Mark Stutzman, is located on the south wall of the Oakland Town Hall.

There will be demonstrations and special units on display from 1 to 5 p.m., according to Michelle Ross, Main Street manager, and the dedication event will take place at 1 p.m.

Organizers are asking members of the public to write letters of appreciation to the first responders of the area, and some of the letters will be shared as part of the dedication ceremony. People may submit thank-yous for acts of heroism, compassion, caring, and protection.

They should be sent to Ross's attention at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550. They also may be sent via email to Ross at mainstreetgoba@gmail.com. They must be received in her office by Friday, Sept. 16.

The eggs being laid on the milkweed now are the ones that are gathered, studied, and protected by the Discovery Center staff and by hundreds of Garrett County school students. With these volunteers, at least 1,000 monarch butterflies will be tagged locally, with a careful technique that Blizzard teaches, and they will head back to Mexico.

Oddly, this generation has a much longer life than its predecessors. While the butterflies making their way north all year have about one-month life spans, the butterflies that leave the mountaintop will live for an average of nine months. This gives them the ability to get all the way back to Mexico and Southern California, all together, in bright orange, fluttering masses. There they enter a dormant stage for the winter, not eating for months.

Early next year they will lay eggs, and then die on the forest floor, where local residents will search for their finished bodies and remove the tags placed there by thousands of Americans, many from Garrett County. The tags are turned in, with the finders each receiving $5 per tag, which is a boost to their local economy. And the information is then recorded and studied.

Throughout the years that Blizzard has conducted the monarch care-taking program at the center, there has never been more than one tag per year reported as having come from Garrett County. She was excited this spring to find out that this year so far there have been eight Garrett County tags found, including one from Swan Meadow and three from Crellin elementary schools.

"That is a huge increase," she said. "We are so excited about that, and I know the school kids will be, too. It's an all-time high for us."

Blizzard has forged a solid relationship with the local school system, engaging the students and staff in the effort to protect the monarchs by giving them safe haven for the metamorphosis process, and making sure they have plenty to eat once they hatch. The effort usually results in the hatching of about 1,000 local butterflies – 400 from the Discovery Center and the rest from Garrett County schools.

The children have great passion for fostering the caterpillars through their change into butterflies, Blizzard said. The youngsters have become quite knowledgeable about the whole cycle, and the need to protect the now endangered insect. The numbers of monarchs have dropped significantly over the past decade, and a petition has been issued to have them placed on the endangered species list. The culprits in the butterfly's decline include the overuse of pesticides, changing weather patterns, and the destruction of milkweed, which is the only plant that the insect eats for its transformation.

Locally, Blizzard has worked with the county roads department and together they devised plans to avoid cutting milkweed that grows along roadways.

"They have been so helpful with that," Blizzard said. "Paul Harvey [the roads division chief] in particular was very receptive to the project, and has done a lot to support it."

Volunteers at the park have also created signs to place at various milkweed patches along roadways, asking for them to be preserved. Local teachers are aware of the urgent need for monarch fostering as well, and many encourage their students to go out and find the eggs or tiny caterpillars, and bring them into the classrooms for safekeeping and observation.

Blizzard and the Discovery Center staff built a large pen for the caterpillars, and in it, the insects are provided with all the milkweed they can eat. The caterpillars safety move through their progressive stages, protected and well-fed. After 10 to 14 days of gorging on the plant, a caterpillar will hang in the shape of a question mark, head down. Slowly the creature writhes and squirms, and its antennae appear to wilt and hang limply from its upsidedown head.

If an observer is patient, he can perhaps catch the moment of transition, when the skin splits down the center of the creature's back and falls, leaving a green, wiggling glob. The glob writhes for a bit, and then tightens into the classic chrysalis shape, finally appearing to be "buttoned up" with the tiny gold points along the upper ridge. There the creature will stay for another 10 to 14 days.

The chrysalis will remain its opaque green color for several days. As the time of transition nears, the outside shell will thin, and become translucent, revealing the black and orange marking on the brand new butterfly inside. In another transition that is difficult to catch, the butterfly will suddenly emerge, leaving the spent chrysalis – now a clear, flimsy, torn shell – behind.

The butterfly hangs quietly for a while, as its wings appear to "inflate." In some hours, the wings come to full size, and the insect gives flying a try. It is at this time that it needs flowers on which to feed.

A monarch butterfly has a straw-like tongue, called proboscis, that it uses to suck up food. This suction tube tongue allows the creature to eat only fluids, as no solid food can be brought up through. They find nourishment by drinking the liquids found in fruits, plants, and flowers. Plants such as red clover, alfalfa, thistle, and wild carrot are good sources of food for the monarch butterfly. They are also attracted to the nectar from flowers like asters and goldenrod.

"Goldenrod gets a bad rap as an allergy flower," Blizzard said. "But it is not the culprit for most allergy sufferers – people get it confused with ragweed, which is much more of a problem. So please let the goldenrod grow."

In fact, residents should try to let all flowering plants grow where possible, without mowing. They offer sustenance not only to butterflies, but to bees and other pollinators as well, all of which have decreased in numbers over the last several years.

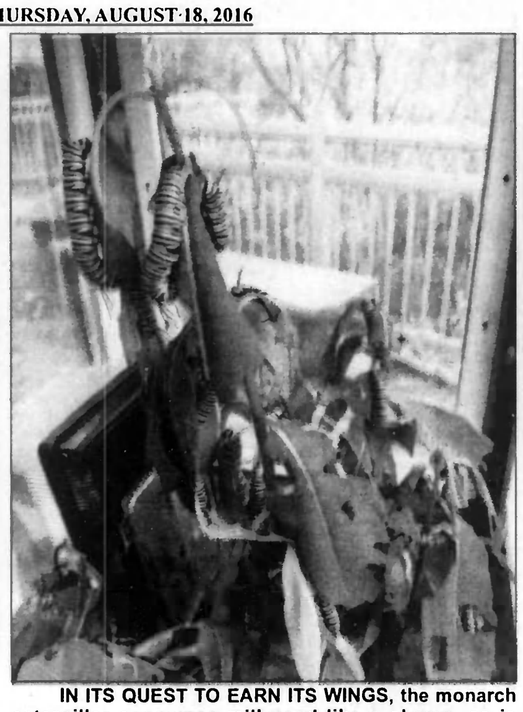
CHILDREN ARE ADVISED with all care about to react when the butterflies are allowed to crawl on them, according to Discovery Center director Caroline Blizzard. "We tell them how it will feel, and we are right there watching every second. If we see a flinch, we gently take the butterfly off," she said. "The kids love it."



IN ITS QUEST TO EARN ITS WINGS, the monarch caterpillar consumes milkweed like a champ, as is evidenced above. The consumption of this particular plant renders the butterfly distasteful to predators.

DON'T CUT THAT MILKWEED! As people learn how to protect the monarch, they also learn to protect the milkweed. All residents are urged to let the plants grow from now through November, and to keep asters, goldenrod, and other flowers blooming to feed the hatched butterflies.

"The monarchs that leave here eat their way south," Blizzard said. "And once they get to Mexico, they don't eat again until February or March. So plump butterflies are what we want."

Over the years, Blizzard has also built a relationship between the local schools and those in the area of Mexico where the butterflies go every year, called El Rosario. She has traveled there herself, and has arranged to have an online connection between Garrett County and the monarch butterfly reserve.

She noted that the butterflies arrive en masse, and that always coincides with the 3-day celebration among the people there called "El Dio de los Muertos," which translates to "The Day of the Dead." This is the collective term for the Christian holy days of All Hallow's Eve, All Saints Day, and All Souls Day, observed from Oct. 31 to Nov 2.

In the language of the native Purepecha Indians, the monarch butterfly is called the harvester, because monarchs appear when it's time to harvest the corn. Since pre-Hispanic times, the Purepecha recorded the arrival of the cloud of orange that annually pours into the Sierra Madre hills at precisely the same time each year.

They believed that souls did not die but continued living in Mictlan, a place for spirits to rest until the day they could return to their homes to visit their relatives. Later, as Catholic traditions intermingled with indigenous cultures, the monarchs came to be regarded as the souls of departed ancestors returning to earth for their annual visit.

The effort to save the dwindling monarch butterfly population spans across Canada, the U.S.A., and Mexico. Those who wish to help may to go www.monarchwatch.org to find tips on growing more milkweed, keeping caterpillars safe through the hatching, and how to donate money to help.

Of course local persons may always take the short trip to the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake and witness the entire process at every step, as soon as it begins, which should be within a month or two. Blizzard and her staff are happy to offer their help and experience, all with the mission of protecting one more butterfly.

"It doesn't matter if you're 8 or 85, the life cycle of the monarch is always amazing," she said. "And we want it to continue."

ROYALTY HAVING FUN AT THE FAIR – Sara Carr (left), granted the 2016 Garrett County Farm Queen crown this year, is shown with her friend Alana Harman, who was named first runner-up in the contest. Both will be juniors at Northern Garrett High School this year, and both are 16 years old. (See story). The two had a number of duties throughout the fair week, presiding over awards ceremonies, attending events, and taking care of their own fair entries. Photographer Lisa Broadwater caught them in this photo as they shared a fun moment.

2016 Garrett County Farm Queen Title, Crown Given To Sara Carr

Sara Carr was crowned the 2016 Garrett County Farm Queen during a ceremony at the Garrett County Fair. Alana Harman was the first runner-up.

Carr is the 16-year-old daughter of Rodney and Stacy Carr, Accident. She and her family own a small, but growing farm in Accident, where they focus on egg, produce, and livestock production.

She is entering her junior year at Northern Garrett High School, where she is an active member of the Northern Garrett FFA Chapter. She has successfully competed in various FFA activities on local, state, and regional levels.

She is also a member of the Bear Creek 4-H Club.

Carr noted that she looks forward to seeing her family's farming operation grow in the near future. She plans to attend West Vringia University.

Harman is the 16-year-old daughter of Ben and Michelle Harman, Frostburg. She and her family own and operate a small, diverse farming operation where they raise beef, horses, turkeys, chickens, and goats.

She has been a member of the Finzel 4-H Club for 9 years, and is entering her junior year at Northern Garrett High School. She is a member of the Northern Garrett FFA Chapter.

She plans to further her education in the field of agriculture.

Other farm queen court members are Dori Jenkins, niece of Sharon Coomes, Friendsville; Michaela McCrobie, daugher of Michelle Prohonic and Robert McCrobie, Oakland; and Laura Pritts, daughter of Junior and Connie Pritts, Oakland.

Princesses were Leah Fratz, daughter of Jackie Wright, Swanton, and Dwayne Fratz, Accident; Samantha Keller, daughter of Luke and Cara Keller, Accident, and Chrissy Steyer, Oakland; Bailey Schmidt, daughter of Bobby Schmidt and Pam Robinette, Oakland; Jaylyn Wilt, daughter of Sarah Wilt and Jason Wilt, Grantsville; Mara Evans, daughter of Craig and Caroline Evans, Oakland; and Cheyenne Bagley, daughter of Christopher and Robin Bagley, Grantsville.

Escorts were Adam Diehl, Michael Friend, Jordon Grove, Zach Pritts, and Wyatt Wright.

Sweet Rewards Winner Named

The Sweet Rewards Scholarship was presented to Alana Harman for a score of 76 out of 80. The award has been given by Don and Pam Adams of McHenry for the last 14 years.

A total of five 4-H members applied for the scholarship this year. The requirements are that the student must be 18 years old or under, must have participated in a 4-H or FFA goat program, and must submit an essay.

Each 4-H and FFA member who participated received a framed certificate of achievement, and the winner received a framed certificate of excellence and a check for $500.

Other applicants were Ronnie Schrock, Emily Durst, Logan Mason, and Russell Fazenbaker.

All 4-H and FFA members involved in a goat program are encouraged to participate next year. Persons may see a 4-H or FFA leader or contact Wanda Guard at the Extension office for an applicant letter.

Past winners of the scholarship are Catlin Carrico, Lacie Berkebile, Katelyn Gnegy, Samantha Rose Schoenian, Levi Lantz, Amanda Beitzel, J.B. Gnegy, Aaron Lantz, Warren Wright, Kenya Rinker, Sheyenne Tichnell, Ryan Weimer, and Dalton Jefferies.

4-H Robotics Teams Compete In LEGO Event

The 4-H LEGO Challenge was held Tuesday afternoon at the Garrett County Fair. The team has been practicing since February to prepare for this event.

This year's theme was "4-H²O." The teams conducted research to find ways to improve water usage for "Conservation-Transportation-Agriculture-Drinking Water-Power."

The Country Explorers 4-H Steel LEGO Team visited the Deep Creek Hydro Power Plant and learned how water generates electricity.

Through this challenge, the 4-H members also created and programmed LEGO robots that completed tasks related to water on a 4' x 4' board. Their NXT based LEGO robot repaired a water pipeline, collected and delivered hydrogen cells, irrigated crops, and repaired a dam.

The teams had a technical judging interview, with judges explaining how their robot worked, and also presented their research to another set of judges. The third scoring component was the best score of three robot rounds on the table.

The Steel LEGO Team received the Champion Award and will advance to the Maryland State Fair 4-H Challenge Contest on Sunday, Aug. 28.

The team members are Evan Lewis, Serena Lewis, Mason Qualls, Noah Tasker, and Eve Beard, and the coaches are Jeff and Melinda Lewis.

Special Thanks Extended By The Republican

Several people donated their time and talents to the production of this year's fair section. Republican staff Lisa Broadwater, Linsey Mulliken, and Brenda Ruggerio all spent countless hours tracking, recording, and photographing at the fair, as well as checking and re-checking photo IDs and competition results.

Additional photographs were provided by Lisa Rook, Trisha Wilt, Marvin Beckmen, Linda Bittinger, Kista Wilt, and Ethan Broadwater. Numerous parents and participants assisted with identifying pictures.

Special thanks is also extended to the Garrett County Extension Office, the Garrett County Fair Board, and the Garrett County Livestock Association.

Read. Then Recycle.

Garrett County's 4-H & FFA Exhibitors extend a big thank-you to the following buyers for their generous support this year!

Special thanks to the Garrett County Fair and the Garrett County Livestock Association for their extra support.

Thank you to our auctioneers: Dale Broadwater, Bob Custer, Leonard Custer, Brent Fratz, and to all of the volunteers whose hard work made this sale possible!

THROWBACK – Pictured above is county commissioner Larry Tichnell as a proud 4-H member. This and several other pictures were provided to celebrate the Garrett COunty Fair's 60th anniversary this year. He also currently serves on the GC fair board and volunteers with 4-H. In the 1950s and 60s, many girls who were in the 4-H program made themselves a 4-H uniform. Kira Rinker is pictured below modeling one of these uniforms, borrowed from LInda Freyman. Uniforms such as this one were common all across the country. There were official 4-H patterns for members to use that came in a variety of styles and sizes. This particular dress features a hidden side zipper and a gathered waistline. The puffed sleeves are finished with a button trim. All uniforms were constructed using light green fabric and were decorated with a sewn-on 4-H emblem patch.

4-H Recognizes GC Fair's Anniversary In Vintage Display

To celebrate this year's event as the Garrett County Fair's 60th anniversary, the 4-H program displayed several special exhibits featuring photos from the past 60 fairs. The pictures collected showed 4-H members with indoor exhibits and livestock shows.

A slide show highlighted many 4-H traditions, which have stayed the same through the years, while also showing many new 4-H options. Several generations were pictured participating in their respective fairs. One example was county commissioner Larry Tichnell shown in a show as a young 4-H member. He now serves as a member of the Garrett County Fair Board and a 50-year 4-H volunteer.

"Our current 4-H members really enjoyed seeing photos from past years," said 4-H educator Ann Sherrard. "They were surprised to see that early livestock shows were held in the field with snow fencing for a barrier."

The newly-remodeled 4-H exhibit building also featured historical items including lists of 4-H clubs from the past, vintage 4-H uniform, and the names of 4-H members who were the top fair exhibitors for the past 60 years.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 60 YEARS, Nigerian dwarf goats were featured at the Garrett County Fair. They were entered by Ellie Stolzenfels, and are a miniature dairy goat breed of West African ancestry. They are popular as pets and family milkers, and are used by some dairies to make cheese because of their milk's high butterfat content.

Back-To-School Night Slated At Southern High

Southern Garrett High School has scheduled a back-to-school night for parents, students, and staff on Monday, Aug. 29, from 5 to 7 p.m. Parents and students will have the opportunity to visit student advisors and each teacher assigned for the first semester. An abbreviated bell schedule will be utilized.

The cafeteria staff will also be available to take lunch-money deposits.

REFRESH YOUR SOUL

Wherever you are, whatever you thirst for, when your spirit is parched, God can refresh you with His mercy and love. Our Heavenly Father promises, "The poor and needy search for water... their tongues are parched with thirst. But I the Lord will answer them...I will make rivers flow on barren heights, and springs within the valleys." (Isaiah 41:17-18) Visit His House this week and revive your thirst for God who is good.

Comfort and Belief

Recently, I heard a preacher at a funeral remark that "we don't believe because it's comforting, but we are comforted because we believe." This was a nice turn of phrase and certainly comforting words for a funeral, where we are all hoping that we will see our dearly departed again. But this turn of phrase is also good advice for those of us who don't want to be lazy about what we believe, and want to believe things because they are true rather than simply because they are comforting. It's easy to fall into the trap of believing things either because we want them to be true or because we fear the alternative, and it's tempting to view a lot of religious beliefs as falling squarely into one or the other of these cases. So the real question becomes what we are justified in believing, and in the realm of religion, where the subject matter clearly transcends the realm of experience, we must rely on faith. As Saint Paul rightly noted, "faith is confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see." (Hebrews 11:1 NIV) Many areas of life require this leap of faith. Every friendship and every marriage starts with a leap of faith which hopes, but cannot know in advance, that things will work out well. Likewise, when we invest our money or invest our time and effort in studying, we are hoping that those investments will pay off. When it comes to believing in God and the afterlife, we cannot know with certainty, but our faith gives us confidence, and in that there is great comfort.

— Christopher Simon

"Though you have not seen him, you love him; and even though you do not see him now, you believe in him and are filled with an inexpressible and glorious joy, for you are receiving the end result of your faith, the salvation of your souls."

— 1 Peter 1:8-9 NIV

Strange BUT TRUE

* It was English Victorian author Samuel Butler who made the following sage observation: "Words are like money; there is nothing so useless, unless when in actual use."

* Martha Jane Canary -- better known as Calamity Jane -- was a noted frontierswoman in the late 19th century. She defied expectations of women by refusing to wear dresses, becoming a scout and fighting against Indians in the West. As one contemporary commenter observed, "She swore, she drank, she wore men's clothing. She was 50 years ahead of her time."* Those who study such things say that two-thirds of a shark's brain is dedicated to detecting and sorting out odors.

* In his 1510 book "The Adventures of Esplandian," Spanish author Garci Rodriguez de Montalvo wrote of an island peopled entirely by Amazon-like women, and he called it California. When Spaniard Francisco de Ulloa was exploring the west coast of North America, his initial surveys of the Baja Peninsula led him to believe the land was an island, so the region was given the name of the mythical place: California.

* In Mongolia, it's common to put salt in one's tea before drinking it.

* If you're a fan of nature documentaries, you've doubtiess seen footage of Africa's Serengeti, site of the world's largest terrestrial mammal migration. If you've see images of the place, you won't be surprised to learn that in Maasai, the word "Serengeti" means "the place where the land runs on forever."

* You've probably heard of John Steinbeck's celebrated novel "Of Mice and Men," but you probably didn't know that it was almost titled "Something That Happened." ***

Thought for the Day: "Do you wish the world were happy? / Then remember day by day, / Just to scatter seeds of kindness / As you pass along the way."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Aug. 24, 79 A.D., Mount Vesuvius erupts in southern Italy, devastating the prosperous Roman cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum, and entombing thousands under a thick layer of volcanic material and mud. In the 18th century, the cities were rediscovered and excavated.

* On Aug. 22, 1864, the International Red Cross is founded in Geneva after being advocated by Swiss humanitarian Jean-Henri Dunant. The international emblem, a red cross on a white background, is the Swiss flag in reverse.

* On Aug. 25, 1875, Matthew Webb, a 27-year-old merchant navy captain, becomes the first known person to successfully swim the English Channel. Webb accomplished the 21-mile crossing, which really entailed 39 miles of swimming because of tidal currents, in just under 22 hours.

* On Aug. 27, 1883, the most powerful volcanic eruption in recorded history occurs on Krakatau, a small volcanic island in Indonesia. Heard 3,000 miles away, the explosions threw 5 cubic miles of earth 50 miles into the air, created 120-foot tsunamis and killed 36,000 people.

* On Aug. 23, 1926, the death of silent-screen idol Rudolph Valentino at age 31 sends his fans into a hysterical state of mass mourning. Some 100,000 mourners lined the streets outside the New York City church where funeral services were held.

* On Aug. 26, 1957, the Soviet Union announces that it has successfully tested an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) capable of being fired "into any part of the world." Following his election in 1960, President John F. Kennedy made missile development and the space program priorities.

* On Aug. 28, 1968, at the Democratic National Convention, tens of thousands of protesters against the Vietnam War battle thousands of police in the streets of Chicago. Fights also broke out on the convention floor, and delegates and reporters were beaten and knocked to the ground.

Preparing Pets for Disasters

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I live in a part of the country that rarely sees extreme weather events like tornadoes, hurricanes, floods or blizzards. So I never gave much thought to having a disaster-preparedness kit. However, a couple of weeks ago my neighbor's house caught fire and burned down. Thankfully no one was injured, and they did not own pets, but it got me thinking about how I would care for my cat and dog in an unforeseen disaster. I put together a small disaster kit that I keep in the trunk of my car, stowed out of the way. It has copies of my pets' medical records, two extra leashes and collars with extra ID tags attached, a few single-meal pouches of dog and cat food, a gallon of water and a couple of old T-shirts for emergency bedding (which hopefully have a familiar scent to help them feel at home). If we have to leave very quickly -- and in a fire there is no time to try and grab anything, except family -- I have a little less to worry about afterward. -- Sara in Washington

DEAR SARA: That's a great idea, and a very important point about priorities in a disaster -- natural or otherwise, like a house fire. Time is essential, so first, get to safety, and worry about paperwork much later. Preparing a pet-care kit is an important part of disaster planning. Sit down with your family to discuss how you will handle events like house fires, evacuation orders or other emergencies. You also should put together a list of local and federal agencies and organizations that can help you during and after a disaster. Send your tips, questions or comments to ask@pawscorner.com.

Collecting

Q: I have a Parker fountain pen that was used by my uncle during the 1930s. He was a banker and considered it his favorite writing instrument. It is the "Thrift Time" model in brown. What is it worth? -- Stan, Kent, Washington

A: The first fountain pen was invented in 1830, but they were not really manufactured commercially until the 1880s, when a suitable metal for the tips was perfected. The first successful commercial fountain pen producers were Waterman (1884) and Parker (1888). Parker entered the market with a fountain pen named "Lucky Curve."

Vintage fountain pens are collectible, and some have become quite pricey. I found your pen referenced in "Collecting Pens" by Edward Kiersh and published by House of Collectibles. According to Kiersh, your Parker Thrift Time was produced in 1932 and is worth about $150. The Pen Collectors of America can be contacted at www.pencollectorsofamerica.com.

Q: I have a Mickey Mouse Club projector with films and in its original box. The box is falling apart. It is model 488, and I am curious if it has much value. -- Erna, Falls City, Texas

A: Your projector was manufactured during the eariy 1950s by Stephens Products, a company based in Middletown, Connecticut. I found several of these projectors on eBay, most priced in the $75-$100 range. One featured the hand-cranked projector in its original box with 14 film strips, including ones featuring Hopalong Cassidy, Chip On Dale and Pluto. It had a requested opening bid of $69. As this column was being written, no bids had been submitted.

Q: I have my dad's pocketwatch. It was made by Elgin. My problem is I would like to have it cleaned and don't know how to go about this. -- Norma, Decatur, Illinois

A The Elgin National Watch Company was founded in 1864 in Elgin, Illinois, and produced more jeweled watches than any other company during its more than 90-year history. The company made many low-end watches, all the way up to its famous high-quality railroad grade. The railroad watches are especially collectible. Although you didn't specify the model or grade of your watch, it is

Birding BITS

Add a Tray

Try adding a tray to the bottom of a tube feeder if you want more birds. The benefits are twofold: 1) It catches seed hulls, keeping the ground underneath clean, and 2) It creates more "sitting" room for birds like cardinals, finches, wrens and woodpeckers. More sitting room means more birds!

Lil' Roy Shoot Nets $1,815 In Shriner's Funds

The third annual Lil' Roy Memorial Shoot was held on July 16 at the Casselman Valley Sportsman Club in Grantsville. This year's shoot raised $1,815 for Shriner's Children's Hospital.

A new feature this year was Lil' Roy's Young Guns for children 15 and under. Participants shot from the 16-yard line and had 25 birds to shoot at. There were 15 participants. Logan Rounds won first place with 23. He received a plaque donated by Roy and Debbie Holliday in memory of Lil' Roy. Second place went to Colby Clark with 22, third to Jacob Gilpin with 21, fourth to Logan Miller with 20, and fifth to Madysen Gilpin with 19.

In the Adult Lil' Roy Shoot, there were a total of 50 shooters. Winning with 49/50 birds were Tyler Gilpin and Mac Thrasher. Each received a plaque, and Troy Buckel (Lil' Roy's childhood friend) donated a handmade turkey call and engraved it with "Lil' Roy Shoot 2016."

Many items were donated and raffled off. Delmas Wilt won a 50/50 and donated it back to be given to Shriner's Children's Hospital. Carrie Witt won a card shoot and also donated her money back. Tyler Gilpin donated his winning money for first place.

Kendall Holliday (Lil' Roy's daughter) made and sold keychains and raised $42 and donated this to Shriner's.

The fourth annual Lil' Roy Shoot will be held next July, and a new organization will be picked to be the recipient of the benefit.

"Everyone is welcome to come and honor Lil' Roy Holliday's memory and support another great cause," a spokesperson said.

ACCIDENT

Accident's August meeting was held on Thursday, Aug 11, at the town hall.

Jack Faulkner discussed the preservation of the Drane House.

The town recently met with the Maryland Department of the Environment about the Wastewater Treatment Plant project. The state is still concerned about the amount of groundwater that is filtrating into the treatment plant. The town residents are reminded that it is illegal to connect downspouts and footer drains to the public sewer system.

The county will smoke test the laterals sometime during the fall months. Residents will be advised when the smoking will take place so as not to alarm anyone.

The council approved Resolution 2016-3 Support of the Garrett County Circuit Rider Program.

The Accident Concert Band will hold its annual concert on Sunday, Sept. 11, at 5 p.m. at Accident Town Park West

Accident's next meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept 1, at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

Asia welcomes four aging icons in 'Better Late Than Never'

By Jacqueline Spendlove
TV Media

What do a Super Bowl champion, a starship captain, a boxing star and the Fonz have in common? Not much, until you add a few decades, a rising young standup comic and the trip of a lifetime.

"Better Late Than Never" mixes comedy, travel and reality TV as four huge stars don their backpacks and take on the world's biggest continent. Terry Bradshaw ("Fox NFL Sunday"), William Shatner ("Star Trek"), George Foreman and Henry Winkler ("Happy Days") form an unlikely quartet as they spend 35 days traveling through Asia without luxuries or assistants, accompanied by their intrepid young guide, Jeff Dye ("Money From Strangers"). The series makes its debut Tuesday, Aug. 23, on NBC.

If you're familiar with South Korean TV, the premise for "Better Late Than Never" may sound familiar. The show is adapted from "Grandpas Over Flowers," a popular South Korean series that has enjoyed a four-season run and spawned two successful spinoffs. The series was a ratings hit that has been credited with renewing popularity and recognition for its aging cast and, according to Korean Air and Asiana Airlines, an increase in occupancy rates on flights to cities that were visited in the show.

"Better Late Than Never" kicks off in Japan, with stops in Tokyo and Kyoto, before moving on to South Korea, Hong Kong, Bangkok and Chiang Mai. With "help" from the ever-witty Dye — who doesn't hesitate to lead them way off track to his own ends — the brave explorers meet the locals, eat some weird and wonderful food, and take in all that each stop on the map has to offer. It's one heck of an adventure, and just the latest accomplishment on four long and impressive lists.

At 67 years old, Bradshaw has packed a lot into his life thus far. In his 14-year career as quarterback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, he won four Super Bowls, the first QB to do so. He's also a two-time Super Bowl MVP and Pro Football Hall of Famer.

After retiring from the NFL, Bradshaw brought his football know-how to his job as a sports analyst, ending up at "Fox NFL Sunday," where he's spent more than 20 years and earned three Sports Emmys for Outstanding Sports Personality — Studio Analyst.

As if that isn't enough, he also launched an acting career — appearing on both the big screen and the small — is a New York Times best-selling author, has recorded six country and gospel albums, and boasts the distinction of being the only NFL player with a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

His traveling companion Shatner is instantly recognizable for his long and storied acting career, having starred in series such as "T.J. Hooker" and "Boston Legal," as well as more than 50 roles in movies and TV. It's his portrayal of James T. Kirk, the original — and arguably dreamiest — captain of the starship Enterprise in the Star Trek franchise, however, that won him true fame.

Shatner is a two-time Emmy winner, a Golden Globe winner and has stars on both the Hollywood Walk of Fame and Canada's Walk of Fame, and has written a best-selling autobiography as well as a slew of novels. And let's not omit a widely parodied music and spoken-word career that includes very special renditions of "Rocket Man," "Mr. Tambourine Man" and "Lucy in the Sky With Diamonds," which will no doubt forever remain in our collective memory. At 85, Shatner is the oldest of the "Better Late Than Never" bunch by 15 years, and his humor and spot-on delivery are sure to be a welcome addition to the trip.

Sixty-seven-year-old boxing legend Foreman took home the gold medal at the 1968 Summer Olympics, and from there, his star just continued to rise. Within two years of going pro, he became the No. 1 heavyweight challenger in the world, going on to wow the world as half of one of the most famous fights in history: Rumble in the Jungle against Muhammad Ali.

The fighter turned his hand to sales in the '90s, and meat lovers everywhere credit Foreman with the Lean Mean Grilling Machine — a line of grills that have sold more than 100 million worldwide and made him even more of a household name.

Last but not least of the brave travelers is the original shark-jumper himself, Winkler. The 70-year-old Yale graduate and Golden Globe winner spent a decade as one of TV's most iconic characters, Arthur Fonzarelli in "Happy Days," going on to appear in, direct and produce countless other series and films. He's an executive producer for "Better Late Than Never" as well as a cast member and all-around good sport — watch for him contending with a meal of live octopus as its suction cups fasten to the inside of his cheek.

Follow along as these four highly accomplished senior citizens and their witty young helper prove that age is just a number as they add another feather to their already heavily laden caps. The journey begins Tuesday, Aug. 23, when "Better Late Than Never" premieres on NBC.

Homeward bound: Tyler Perry brings drama to TLC

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Homeward bound: TLC is getting into the scripted drama business. The lifestyle cable channel is better known for its reality and family life shows, but the upcoming "Too Close to Home," from the mind of prominent actor/producer Tyler Peny ("House of Payne"), is aiming to change that perception.

Set to premiere Monday, Aug. 22, the eight-part series is set in small-town Alabama and tells a story of family, redemption and ambition.

Headlining the cast is Danielle Savre ("Heroes") as Anna, a young woman who can't wait to get out of the trailer park that she lives in with her family. When she gets the chance to take a job in the fast-paced political world of Washington, D.C., she jumps at it and leaves everything and everyone she's ever known in her dust, alienating a whole lot of people in the process.

When she gets caught up in a political scandal that makes national headlines, though, Anna is forced to leave D.C. in disgrace and head back to her roots, where she learns that those she's slighted are not quick to forgive and forget.

Six-time Golden Globe nominee Heather Locklear ("Melrose Place") scores a guest-starring credit, along with Matt Battaglia ("Thor," 2011).

Other main cast members include Kelly Sullivan ("General Hospital"), Brooke Anne Smith ("Awkward"), Brad Benedict ("The Shift," 2013), Trisha Rae Stahl ("Glee"), Robert Craighead ("Tomb Raider," 2013), Curran Walters ("Game of Silence") and Brock O'Hurn in his first role.

"Too Close to Home" is a definite change of pace for a network better known for its reality shows such as "Toddlers and Tiaras," "Sister Wives" and "Long Island Medium," but it fits right in with the lifestyle brand for which the network is known. The eight-part drama premieres Monday, Aug. 22, on TLC.

IN THE MATTER OF:
Charles Hunter Blaine Hockman
FOR CHANGE OF NAME TO:
Hunter Blaine Hockman
BY AND THROUGH HIS MOTHER:
Terri Collette

(Minor)
(DOM REL 65)

The above Petitioner has filed a Petition for Change of Name in which she seeks to change the name of a minor child from Charles Hunter Blaine Hockman to Hunter Blaine Hockman. The petitioner is seeking this name change for the child for the following reason: "The child goes by Hunter, not Charles."

Any person may file an objection to the Petition on or before the 9th day of September 2016. The objection must be supported by an affidavit and served upon the Petitioner in accordance with Maryland Rule 1-321. Failure to file an objection or affidavit within the time allowed may result in a judgment by default or the granting of the relief sought.

A copy of this notice shall be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county at least fifteen (15) days before the deadline to file an objection.

MCHENRY, MD 21541

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Michael D. Caudill and Eric E. Lane, dated January 26, 2007 and recorded in Liber 1284, folio 305 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., auction to be held at the 317 Alder St. entrance, Oakland, MD 21550, on

AUGUST 31, 2016 AT 1:14 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., Maryland and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, easements, encumbrances and agreements of record affecting the subject property, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit in the form of cashier's or certified check, or in such other form as the Substitute Trustees may determine, at their sole discretion, for $22,000 at the time of sale. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. Balance of the purchase price is to be paid within fifteen (15) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., Maryland. Interest is to be paid on the unpaid purchase price at the rate of 6.75% per annum from date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees, if the property is purchased by an entity other than the noteholder and/or servicer. If payment of the balance does not occur within fifteen days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event settlement is delayed for any reason. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, and all other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, and front foot benefit charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale, and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Condominium fees and/or homeowners association dues, if any, shall be assumed by the purchaser from the date of sale. The purchaser shall be responsible for the payment of the ground rent escrow, if required. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, and all settlement charges shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale. OF REAL PROPERTY AND
ANY IMPROVEMENTS THEREON
GRANTSVILLE, MD 21536

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated November 21, 2007 and recorded in Liber 1343, Folio 59 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $119,013.98 and a current interest rate of 11.25000% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., auction to be held at the 317 Alder St. entrance, Oakland, MD 21550, on

SEPTEMBER 7, 2016 AT 1:30 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with any buildings or improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, and any improvements thereon, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of certified check, cashier's check or money order will be required of the purchaser at time and place of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Sub. Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year's real property taxes are adjusted as of the date of sale, and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Taxes due for prior years including costs of any tax sale are payable by the purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for any recapture of homestead tax credit. All other public and/or private charges or assessments, to the extent such amounts survive foreclosure sale, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, whether incurred prior to or after the sale to be paid by the purchaser. All costs of deed recordation including but not limited to all transfer, recordation, agricultural or other taxes or charges assessed by any governmental entity as a condition to recordation, are payable by purchaser, whether or not purchaser is a Maryland First Time Home Buyer. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, subject to order of court, purchaser agrees that property will be resold and entire deposit retained by Sub Trustees as liquidated damages for all losses occasioned by the purchaser's default and purchaser shall have no further liability. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Sub. Trustees are unable to convey either Insurable or marketable title, or if ratification of the sale is denied by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest.

"Essential Oils" Class Scheduled At Southern Ctr.

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division has scheduled a course titled "Essential Oils 101" for Monday, Aug. 22, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Southern Outreach Center, Oakland.

"Through this class participants will learn how to empower themselves with pure and customizable natural solutions in order to find a health, wellness, and beauty routine that's right for them," said a GC spokesperson.

The course is being instructed by local resident Kearstin Hinebaugh, a doTERRA wellness advocate. In her quest to "reduce the toxic load" for her and her family, she began researching various natural solutions. That research quickly led her to essential oils.

"Since uncovering their diverse applications and uses, she has become an essential oil enthusiast, learning everything she can about these gifts of the Earth," the spokesperson said. "These days, she's, admittedly, a bit obsessed with transforming her routines and making over her medicine, beauty, and cleaning cabinets with oil-based products, and wants to assist others in doing the same."

For more information on this course, persons may contact Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Anyone interested in registering for this course can contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development office at 301-387-3069.

COUNTRY FEST, AUCTION SET – The 2016 Country Fest and Auction will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Saturday, Aug 27, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. This family event is held annually on the fourth Saturday of August. Parking and admission are free. The auction will begin at 10 a.m. and will feature wood and outdoor furniture, home décor, craft items, in-home dinners (tickets for a meal with a Mennonite family), and many other items. Selected antiques will be sold at 11 a.m. Hand-quilted quilts, like the one being quilted by Martha Yoder and Miriam Bender in the above photo, will be on display until 1 p.m., and then auctioned at 1:30 p.m. There will be a wide variety of food available for purchase throughout the day, including homemade donuts like those being prepared by Leona Bender and her granddaughter Rachel Morgan in the photo above right, and barbecued chicken, being prepared in the photo below left by Herman Yoder. Among the activities for children will be a pedal tractor pull (below right) at 11 a.m., pony and barrel rides, and an aerial candy drop at 1 p.m. (if weather conditions allow). There will also be hayrides, "cow" milking, a petting zoo, gospel music, and demonstrations of chair caning, soap making, apple cider pressing, quilting, horse shoeing, and forging. Other items available for purchase will be breakfast foods, soft pretzels, ice cream, smoothies, and taco salad, plus homemade baked goods, jams, snacks, fresh produce, homemade noodles, gifts, cards, and Choice Books. ACTION ON THE PITCH is now underway across the county, as the summer wanes and fall sports begin. The Mountaintop Soccer Association's season will open this Saturday, Aug. 27, and coach Betsy Nickel, pictured, looks to be having a good time getting her team fired up, especially the booter in pink. High school soccer, football, cross country, and golf will get rolling over the next two weeks, as well as the marching band competitive season, and volleyball matches. Time to get out the bleacher cushions, cowbells, and Huskies and Rams pennants to settle in for another season of competition and school pride. Photo by Lindsay Mulliken.

Applications Now Being Accepted For Mini-Grant Prog.

The Mountain Maryland Gateway to the West Heritage Area's mini-grant program is now accepting applications. The program is a matching grant up to $2,000 designed to provide funding for innovative exhibits, tours, events, planning, and projects which build upon interpretive themes identified in the Heritage Area's management plan.

These include: transportation, man and nature, historic recreation, and cultural uniqueness. Projects must seek to attract cultural and heritage tourists to the region. Non-profit organizations and local jurisdictions are eligible. Individuals and business with proposals fitting the guidelines may apply in partnership with non-profit organizations.

Applications are due Monday, Sept. 19, 2016, by 4 p.m. Applications and guidelines are available online at www.garrettheritage.com. Readers are encouraged to take advantage of this funding opportunity.

GCAC Honors McCloskys, Clear Mtn. Bank As Friends Of The Arts

Since 1995 the Garrett County Arts Council board of directors has annually honored individuals and organizations for contributions made toward the promotion of local arts by presenting them with the Friend of the Arts award. The award honors those who demonstrate exemplary and long-standing advocacy and support of the arts.

The 2016 Friends of the Arts are June and Charlie McCloskey, founders of Samantha Funding the Arts, an organization named in memory of their daughter Samantha Gibson, who died at age 21 in a December 2012 car wreck. She had passion for the visual arts, photography, and music, her mother said, and the foundation was created to honor her and to keep her memory alive, and to keep the arts alive in the Garrett County schools and community.

Since the foundation's inception, it has provided funding in excess of $48,000 to supplement numerous arts-related programs and activities in Garrett County's schools, including band instruments, music books, art supplies, field trips, special performances, and more.

"The McCloskys turned a devastating personal tragedy into a passionate commitment to support and build the arts and other creative opportunities for Garrett County students," said Joan Lyon, president of the GCAC board of directors, as she presented the award. "June and Charlie's commitment and support of the arts in Garrett County has improved the quality of life for us all – but especially for our young people."

June was elected to the GCAC board of directors this summer, and is now serving in that capacity. She was presented with the award at a recent meeting.

The 2016 Business Friend of the Arts recipient is Clear Mountain Bank of Oakland.

Soon after the Gallery Shop of the arts council was damaged by a waterline break last summer, the bank offered temporary office space to the arts council. Karen Reckner, GCAC executive director, and Cory Stieringer, gallery manager, established a two-room office for the council in the bank located along Rt. 219 just north of downtown

MCCLOSKYS, CLEAR MTN. BANK ARE FRIENDS OF THE ARTS 2016 – Each year, the Garrett County Arts Council honors local people and businesses for being particularly helpful in the promotion of the arts in the county. This year the organization named June and Charlie McClosky as the 2016 Friends of the Arts, and Clear Mountain Bank as the Business Friend of the Arts. June McClosky is pictured directly above center, with Joan Lyon, president of the arts council, on the left, and Karen Reckner, executive director, at right. Friendsville Man Sentenced To 10 Years For Burglary

A 31-year-old Friendsville man was sentenced last week by Judge Ray Strubin, Garrett County Circuit Court, to 10 years in the Division of Correction for a burglary charge.

Strubin then suspended two years of Kevin Everett Hoover's sentence. He will be on probation after he is released from prison. Conditions of probation include remaining away from the victim's residence and paying over $9,300 in restitution.

Last July, Maryland State Police responded to a burglary complaint at a McHenry-area residence. The owner reported that, while the family was away from the residence during the day, someone had entered and stolen a number of firearms, numerous containers of coins, an LG tablet and a lockbox containing various documents, and two rings.

During interviews with investigators, Hoover denied knowing the homeowner and said he had no reason to have been at the house. However, Hoover was named as the perpetrator when the Maryland State Police Forensic Sciences Division identified Hoover's palm print from evidence collected at the scene.

Hoover had entered an Alford plea to the charge in May, and sentencing was delayed until a presentence investigation report was completed.

In another court proceeding from last week, Zachary Ellis Campbell, 20, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to assault and theft. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Strubin then sentenced Campbell to five years in the Division of Correction for the assault charge and suspended all but 18 months, to be served in the Garrett County Detention Center. A one-year sentence for theft was also suspended.

These sentences run consecutively to a sentence Campbell is currently serving for another assault charge. Once he is released, Campbell will be on supervised probation.

He was arrested by Maryland State Police after they identified him as the person who entered a gas station in the Friendsville area in September 2015, displayed what was determined to be a BB gun, and demanded cash. He fled the area on foot and was

Driver Ejected In Single-Vehicle Wreck Saturday

An Oakland woman sustained unspecified injuries after she was ejected from her vehicle in a single-vehicle accident late last Saturday night. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 10:45 p.m. scene.

Ashley Ann Gregg, 28, had been traveling south along Gorman Road near Doc Tolson Road, when she reportedly lost control of the vehicle before crossing the centerline onto the northbound embankment of the roadway. The vehicle then traveled on the embankment and struck several trees and a utility pole.

Gregg was ejected several feet from the vehicle and came to rest on the embankment. After she was ejected, the vehicle traveled back onto the roadway and overturned. Gregg was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to the Garrett Regional Medical Center, Oakland, for treatment of her injuries.

Oakland and Gorman volunteer fire departments also responded to the scene. The accident remains under investigation.

Girl Is Severely Injured In DCL Tubing Accident

A Baltimore family's tubing outing on Deep Creek Lake resulted in severe injuries to a 7-year-old girl, who was airlifted to Ruby Memorial, according to reports.

Natural Resources Police Lt. Art Windemuth reported that the family was operating a motor boat and pulling a tube with riders. Around noon, the child's left foot and arm became entangled in the tow rope just as another family member was to be pulled on the tube. The child sustained severe injuries to her foot and was flown by a HealthNet helicopter to the Morgantown hospital for treatment.

The Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company and rescue unit responded to the scene at the Deep Creek Marina, the report stated.

Elected Officials To Visit County To Gather Opinions On Fracking

Delegates Kumar Barve and David Fraser-Hidalgo and other members of the Maryland House of Delegates Environment and Transportation Committee will be traveling to Garrett County next Tuesday, Aug. 30, to examine the topic of hydraulic fracturing, commonly known as fracking.

Their visit will include several meetings with local residents to listen to their opinions about the practice, and then on Wednesday they are invited to tour potential fracking sites in the county.

Barve is the committee chair, and Fraser-Hidalgo is the chair of the hydraulic fracturing work group.

The committee members will meet with two groups at Garrett College during the afternoon – persons generally in support of hydraulic fracturing from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and with those generally opposed from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Specific persons have been invited to participate in those sessions; however, they are open to the public to observe and will be held in the GC auditorium. The general public is invited to attend a forum that evening, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., also in the auditorium.

In January 2015, the Maryland Department of the Environment proposed oil and gas regulations for "the safe and responsible extraction of natural gas by means of hydraulic fracturing." Since then, MDE has met with individual stakeholder groups and reviewed public comments on the proposal. MDE then issued revisions to the original set of regulations, most of which drew strong criticism from various anti-fracking groups and individuals.

During the 2015 legislative session, SB409/HB449 was enacted, requiring MDE to finalize regulations for hydraulic fracturing on or before Oct. 1, 2016. Those regulations would not become effective until Oct. 1, 2017, at which point the first permits for fracking in Maryland could be issued.

The department produced a series of issue papers this past June summarizing the 2015 proposed regulations and with the aforementioned recommended changes. These will be among the subjects of the public forum.

Police Seeking Any Leads On Suspects In Recent Burglary

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating a recent burglary that occurred at the Lakeside Creamery, located at Deep Creek Lake.

Two suspects entered the business during the early morning hours of Sunday, Aug. 21, and stole an undisclosed amount of U.S. currency. One suspect is a white male with very short, possible crew cut, hair, and the other is a white male with short hair and a tattoo on the right side of his neck. A video of these individuals is available for viewing on Garrett County Public Safety's Facebook page.

The GCSO is seeking any information leading to the identity of these individuals. Anyone with information is asked to contact the GCSO at 301-334-1911.

BRING ON THE KIDS – The staff of Broad Ford Elementary School is all revved up and ready to welcome the students, who will come through the doors next week. All the faculties and staffs of Garrett County Public Schools are in anticipation mode, waiting for Monday, Aug. 29, when the tots to teens will return to the classroom and begin another year of study, friendship, fun, and hard work. Back-to-school nights are underway, with Broad Ford's set for this evening, Aug. 25, along with several other schools. Parents may contact their children's school for schedules. All drivers should be aware that the students will be back at the bus stops next week, and some of the children are new at it. Therefore, caution and patience for all are strongly advised.

Some Sisterly Advice: Schedule A Colonoscopy As Soon As Possible

by Sandy Bell,
Cindy's Fund

Her sister's constant nagging about getting a colonoscopy might have saved Evie Fike's life.

"I did it to shut her up," Evie said about Ramona, her sister.

Ramona had a colonoscopy during which several polyps were found and later removed. Her doctors recommended that her siblings also have colonoscopies. It took three months of nagging before Evie finally gave in and scheduled her procedure. With all the responsibilities of running her business, Fox's Pizza Den in Oakland, she just didn't have time and didn't want to be bothered.

EVIE FIKE

On Evie's father's side of the family, there was no history of cancer. Since her mother was adopted, she could not find out about any cancer history on her side of the family.

Evie did not have weight loss, fatigue, or any sign of a health problem. She did not indulge in such risky behaviors as smoking, drinking, or use of drugs. She always had her mammograms and bone scans, and felt great. As far as Evie was concerned, she was the picture of good health.

Evie finally scheduled her colonscopy and says its was the "best nap" she ever had. Imagine her shock when the doctor who performed the colonscopy informed her that she did not have any polyps, but she did have a rectal tumor. Her nightmare of cancer was about to begin. It was September 2015.

The next step was radiation. Even though she was burned and "torn up" by the treatments, Evie did everything the doctors instructed her to do. She would walk four flights of steps and drink 64 ounces of water each day, even through she felt horrible. The next step was surgery.

Because of her excellent health, Evie was the perfect candidate for a new surgical technique invented by a top German surgeon who was working at the Cleveland Clinic, a leading hospital for the treatment of rectal cancer. The doctor, an oncology plastic surgeon, was anxious to get a patient who was a nonsmoker and healthy. He would be using his new technique on Evie, using part of her leg to fill in where the tumor was removed. He took pictures during her surgery, which he now displays at symposiums to teach the new procedure to other doctors.

Evie lay flat for 10 days after her surgery. A physical therapist came in after the 10th day and got Evie up and out of bed. She took steps on day 13 and was anxious to go home on day 14. She was discharged and sent home to heal.

A large part of Evie's healing has been attributed to maintaining a positive attitude. She is mentally strong and determined to climb back on top. A cancer diagnosis is often thought of as a death sentence. That is not always the case, and the direction is now toward treating cancer as a chronic illness.

Evie has focused on getting well and following instructions the doctors give. She doesn't understand why some people with cancer don't follow the doctors' orders.

"It doesn't benefit the doctor to follow their orders, it benefits the person," she said.

The doctors have told her that patients seldom do what they are advised. Evie currently gets chemotherapy treatments at the new Garrett Regional Cancer Center.

"They are wonderful!" Evie said about the doctors and staff members. "They are empathetic and want to make things as smooth as possible. It's all about the patient."

After her first treatment, they called her at home to check about her fluids.

"They actually came after me," Evie said. "I didn't want to go back to the cancer center because I was feeling horrible, but, they insisted and had Andy (her significant other) bring me in because I was dehydrated."

Evie speaks highly of the cancer center, saying charge nurse Kelly Fitzwater and her staff are "absolutely wonderful."

Cindy's Fund has assisted Evie through her cancer ordeal.

"I never reached out to them for help," she said. "I didn't want to ask for help. Brenda Reckner called me and said, 'Let us help you.' I started crying because it moved me that Cindy's Fund wanted to take care of me."

For over five weeks, Evie didn't worry about anything but taking care of herself, because Cindy's Fund took over.

"It was hard for me to step back and let people help me in my time of need," she said.

So, what has Evie learned through all this? She has learned that she lives in a community where there is wonderful access for assistance such as the cancer center, Cindy's Fund, the home health program through the Garrett County Health Department, and great physical therapists.

She's also learned that there are so many people who care and have reached out to her with love and caring, more than she ever imagined. She continues to get cards and kind comments from friends and customers at the restaurant.

"I want to put cancer behind me, but, I also want to teach people to be proactive about their health," Evie said. "When you get cancer, all your best laid plans mean nothing. I haven't been to work in nine months."

Andy and her children have stepped up to take charge of the store. As much of a "control freak" as she is, she has learned to let people help in time of need and to step back.

Her message to others is: "Maybe you're not in as good of shape as you think you are. Be proactive and don't be too proud to get a colonoscopy. It might save your life."

One message she didn't offer is to always listen to your sister!

C. Weaver Named Nat'l Aquarium's Media Coordinator

The National Aquarium in Baltimore has announced that Corinne Weaver has been named media relations coordinator. Weaver makes this move after serving as the organization's advertising and promotions coordinator.

Weaver is a 2012 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and the daughter of Terry and Mary Lou Weaver, Mountain Lake Park.

In her new role as media relations coordinator, Weaver will assist the marketing team with several key efforts, including developing communications materials and content, organizing and executing media relations plans, and identifying and proposing stories to promote awareness of the National Aquarium to media and the general public.

In 2014, Weaver served as a media relations intern with the aquarium, during which time she worked closely with the director of media relations, writing and editing press materials, engaging with media, and assisting with social media efforts. She joined the organization full time in January as the advertising and promotions coordinator and was responsible for promoting aquatic conservation awareness, driving attendance, and coordinating aquarium events.

"Corinne has shown tremendous dedication to promoting the National Aquarium and its conservation efforts," said Amanda Forr, vice president of brand communications at the National Aquarium. "She is a vital member of the marketing and communications team, and we are looking forward to seeing what she accomplishes in her new role."

Weaver graduated summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in public relations from West Virginia Wesleyan College (WVWC) in 2015. While pursuing her degree, she gained public relations and social media experience working for the online magazine Her Campus WVWC, WVWC's Greek Life Department, and the Lakeside Creamery at Deep Creek Lake.

The National Aquarium is a nonprofit organization focused on changing the way humanity cares for the ocean. What began over 35 years ago as a visitor attraction has evolved into a conservation organization the operates a world-class aquarium that offers exhibits, science-based education programs, and hands-on field initiatives. More information is available at aqua.org.

THANK YOU Thank You THANK YOU Thank You THANK YOU

To all of my dear friends and customers from the Winner's Circle:

I wish I could have said goodbye to each one of you in person, but things happened very quickly, so please allow me to say thank you now. I am so grateful for the support I have received over the last 13 amazing years. I have loved seeing and greeting everyone of you on a daily basis, the stories we have shared, being able to watch your families grow, and all of the pictures on my "wall of kids." I was fortunate enough to share so many great memories, both good and bad, through the years and moving forward with each other's support. THANK YOU!!! I truly loved my job and all of my extraordinary customers and staff along the way!

A special thank you to Bruce and CRAIG for believing in me! And a special thanks to all of my fantastic "Winner's Circle Chicks," past and present. April Paugh (my life coach), Barb Perando, Chris Elsey, Cell Sisler, Jenn Dalton, Melissa Keener, Jessica Wilson, Beth Clemons, Toad and Brandy — without your great work ethic, dependability, trust and friendship our store wouldn't have been so spectacular! I am positive that your skill sets and abilities will carry you to your next big adventure. A huge thank you to everyone who has made the last 13 years so memorable!

So please, if you would like to still hear my stories and share some with me, be sure to stop by and see me at my new amazing store 'RITE PRICE... I will be starting my next big adventure in September. I hope to see everyone very soon, so be sure to stop by for a cup of coffee and see me!

Thanks again, Kimmy

Moylan, Malloy Hear Variety Of District Court Cases

A number of cases have been processed in Garrett County District Court in Oakland over the past week, with sentences handed down by Judges Stephan M. Moylan and Edward A. Malloy Jr. for a variety of offenses.

Jackie Garland Friend Jr., 58, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree assault.

Friend was charged on April 26 by the Oakland Police Department when Chief William Thomas responded to the emergency room of Garrett County Regional Medical Center in reference to an assault.

According to the report, the victim was helping someone carry items into a house when the defendant showed up and ran toward the victim carrying an iron pipe. The victim was struck with the angle iron by Friend.

Malloy found the defendant guilty on Aug. 9 and sentenced Friend to two years in the Garrett County Detention Center, 18 months of which was suspended. Malloy also ordered 18 months of unsupervised probation.

Amy Savage, 36, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree assault.

Savage was charged on June 25 after a statement from the victim was filed about a report of an assault.

According to the report, Savage arrived at the victim's house carrying a wooden rod and verbally threatened the victim. The defendant proceeded to break in and strike the victim across the chest.

Savage had also posted online that she "was out for blood," according to the report.

Moylan found the defendant guilty on Aug. 8 and sentenced Savage to nine months in the GCDC, eight months of which was suspended. The defendant was also placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation and handed a criminal fine of $500, all suspended.

Michael Anthony Saunders, 25, New Freedom, Pa., pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree assault.

Saunders was charged by the Maryland State Police on Sept. 11, 2014, after the Department of Social Services of Garrett County received a report of unwanted sexual acts between the defendant and a minor.

According to the report, Saunders admitted to the crime during proceedings held on June 5, 2015.

Moylan ruled the defendant guilty on Aug. 8 and sentenced Saunders to one year in the GCDC, 11 months and 28 days of which was suspended, and ordered two years of probation to be supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation. Moylan also issued a criminal fine of $500, $400 of which was suspended.

Shane Matthew Davis, 24, Mountain Lake Park, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of less than $100.

Davis was charged after a uniform criminal citation was filed at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

According to the report, Davis stole a bottle of Pepto Bismol from Browning's Shop'n Save.

Moylan found the defendant guilty and sentenced Davis to 90 days in the GCDC, 88 of which was suspended. Moylan also ordered one year of unsupervised probation and handed down a criminal fine of $500, all suspended.

John Glen Wiland Jr., 28, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of less than $100.

Wiland was charged by the MSP on May 25, when Ofc. Angermeir responded to a report of a stolen beverage from a convenience store.

According to the report, Wiland was seen stealing a bottle of Jim Beam Maple on video. The defendant claimed that he did not drink anything and left the bottle on the side of the road.

The bottle was later recovered on the side of the road near a bridge.

Malloy found the defendant guilty on Aug. 9 and sentenced Wiland to five days in the GCDC.

Cody Lee Atta, 31, Oakland, entered an "other" plea for a charge of contributing to the condition of a child.

Atta was charged by the GCSO on July 10 when Ofc. Meyers responded to a juvenile complaint.

According to the report, Latta had purchased Fireball Whiskey and delivered it to a minor.

Moylan ruled a "stet" verdict with the conditions that the defendant must complete a CDS program at the health department, and 50 hours of community service.

MSP Investigate Tractor Trailer Accident On I-68

Maryland State Police responded to a single-vehicle accident along I-68 last Tuesday that involved a tractor trailer overturned in the median.

Troopers arrived at the 29 mile-marker of I-68E at approximately 12:30 a.m. and observed a white 2015 Kenworth tractor and trailer turned onto its driver's side in the center median. It was determined that Mack A. Monroe, 65, Centerpoint, Ala., had been operating the Kenworth.

While passing a white Volkswagon passenger vehicle, Monroe's truck struck the Volkswagon which was traveling in the second lane. Monroe lost control of the tractor trailer, which traveled into the center median, struck a guardrail, and overturned on its side. Monroe was entrapped until fire and EMT personnel were able to free him from the cab.

Monroe was transported to the Western Maryland Regional Medical Center, Cumberland, for treatment of his injuries. Eastbound I-68 was closed temporarily while the tractor trailer was removed from the median.

Drivers Injured In Separate Single-Vehicle Accidents

Garrett County sheriff's deputies investigated two single-venicle accidents this past week, both resulting in the drivers being transported to a nearby hospital for treatment of injuries sustained.

Deputies responded to Garrett Highway in the area of Jasper Riley Road at approximately 11:15 p.m. last Friday night. Investigation revealed that Ricky Nelson Ward, 53, Aurora, W.Va., had been traveling south on Garrett Highway when he either fell asleep or fainted while driving. Ward was taken to the Garrett Regional Medical Center, Oakland, by Southern Rescue Squad. There were no charges.

In an unrelated incident, deputies responded to the 1800 block of Garrett Highway at approximately 7:45 a.m. Saturday. Investigation revealed that Brenda Maffett, 51, Oakland, had been operating a 2007 Mitsubichi SUV north along Garrett Highway, when the vehicle left the roadway and rolled over. Maffett was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to the Garrett Regional Medical Center. There were no charges.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department responded to both accident scenes, and Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company responded to the Saturday morning accident.

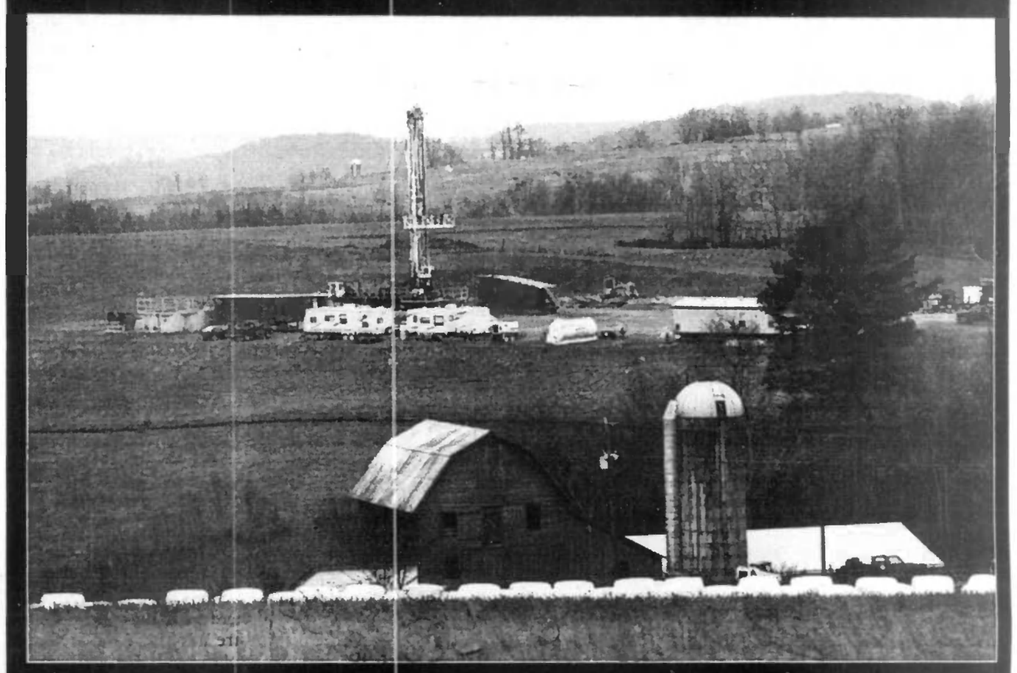
GARRETT COUNTY'S FUTURE?



Let the Decision-Makers Know What You Think!

Members of the Maryland House of Delegates Committee on Environment and Transportation are coming to Garrett County next week to hear first-hand the opinions of Garrett County residents, second-home owners, and frequent visitors regarding the proposal to allow hydraulic fracturing for natural gas (fracking) in the state of Maryland. It is EXTREMELY IMPORTANT that these Delegates hear directly from us the truth about where most people in Garrett County stand on this issue.

The public session will be held in the auditorium of

from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Those planning to make comments must sign up, and may do so beginning at 5:30.

PLEASE, BE THERE!

BE HEARB!

SPEAK OUT!

Persons unable to attend my send their comments via email (pdf format) to AA_ENV@mlis.state.md.us or via the USPS to Chairman Kumar Barve, Environment and Transportation Committee, 6 Bladen Street, Room 251, Annapolis, MD 21401.

We cannot allow our beautiful county to be transformed into an industrial wasteland, with poisoned water supplies, polluted air, devalued properties, destroyed roadways, noise and light pollution, loss of tourism, a major reduction in property tax revenue, and the many threats to the health of our people.

The Feds Must Act...

One of the greatest financial burdens both for business owners and individual citizens, one that seems to worsen on an annual basis, is the cost of health insurance. There is a variety of reasons that the rates continue to climb, among the most glaring of which made national news this week.

The EpiPen, a creation of Mylan Corporation, is a lifesaving treatment for millions of people whose allergies can send them into severe shock, including many schoolchildren who are advised to keep an injector handy at all times. Mylan began selling the EpiPen in 2007, when a pack of two cost about $100. Today, that same two-pack sells for over $600, a price jump of 548%, most of which occurred just in the past several months. The cost now puts the product out of financial reach of thousands of families whose insurance does not cover the cost.

The enormous increase in price has little or nothing to do with Mylan's cost in producing it. In fact, the dose of the drug contained in one EpiPen costs about $1. The container and other manufacturing costs amounts to pennies per device. The primary ingredient in the drug is epinephrine, a generic product that has been used for decades, meaning that the company does not have ongoing research and development costs.

So while Mylan was racking up overall sales of $9.4 billion last year – $1 billion alone for the EpiPen – and reported a profit of $847 million, thousands of people, many of them young children with serious allergy problems, are living without this drug which can mean the difference between life and death. Meanwhile, the CEO of the company, Heather Bresch, daughter of U.S. Senator Joe Manchin, has become a multi-millionaire in company bonuses alone.

Bresch and other company officials are lamely trying to blame the Affordable Care Act, known as Obamacare, for making the purchase of the EpiPen more difficult because of the high-deductible plans that have been issued. In other words, it is the government's fault that people are having trouble paying $600 for two EpiPens, not the fault of the company that is price gouging patients!

This is downright immoral, despicable behavior on the part of this corporation, which is also known for dodging paying federal taxes by acquiring a foreign firm in the Netherlands and moving its tax domicile there.

And the outrageous over-pricing of all medicines has a huge, adverse domino effect. Reflecting back to the burden described in the first paragraph of this column, even though one may not ever need to be prescribed or to purchase an EpiPen, the soaring cost of such drugs is directly proportionate to the cost of health insurance for everyone in the country.

The federal government must act decisively in this area to prevent companies like Mylan from gouging, a practice that in this case is literally going to result in the deaths of many innocent people. (Sen. Manchin should abstain.)

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous. All letters must be type written or submitted via e-mail.

To the Editor:

With regard to the use of tax dollars for private marijuana growing, our taxpayers should not, in any way, be obligated to pay for, or subsidized from our tax dollars, the land, infrastructure, tax breaks, or any other support for marijuana growing in Garrett County.

Prostitution and gambling may one day become legal here (as in other parts of our country). Those also should not be supported by our tax dollars.

Even though a business may bring jobs or money to our county, there should be some instances where the answer is "no," as far as entitlements are concerned. There are other consequences to consider. The county commissioners should refrain from extending any kind of subsidy for these types of business ventures.

I urge other taxpayers to contact our commissioners before our money, land, or other incentives are offered for these types of private enterprise.

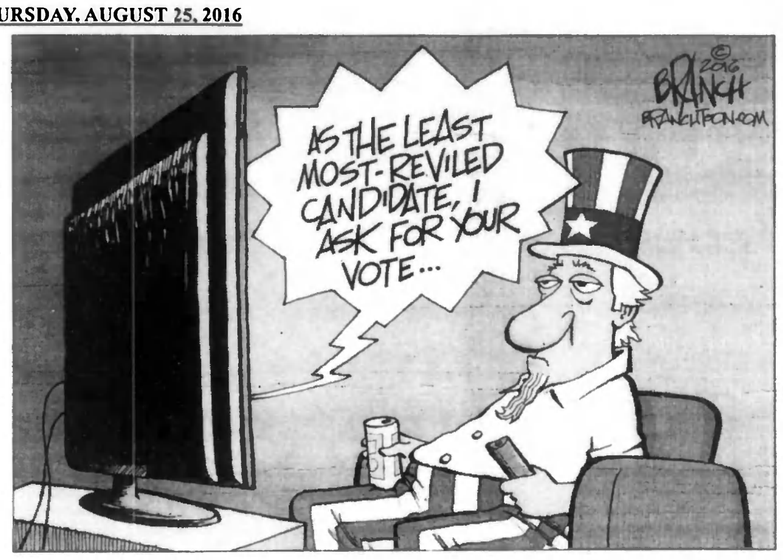
To the Editor:

Thank you for publishing the article regarding the community meeting on Aug. 13 hosted by Friends of Deep Creek Lake. It was a very informative meeting regarding the significant sediment problems facing all of us who enjoy the lake.

I own a home on the lake near the end of Green Glade, which is severely impacted by sediment. The impact of sediment is obvious to those of us who experience it every year, but I have a photo that further supports the need for action.

I want to describe in words a picture I recently took of my 9-year-old daughter standing near the middle of Green Glade in front of my dock. My dock is 100 feet long, and she is pictured in the water at least another 100 feet out from the end of my dock. She is only 4 feet tall, standing well over 200 feet out into the lake, in less than three feet of water – and it was only August 13!

The engine on my boat, which can also be seen in the photo, is trimmed up because I am afraid it will be on mud the next time I come to the lake during Labor Day.



Also in the photo one can note how cloudy the water is this time of year when the lake is low.

Finally, it is difficult to describe how it smells around my dock right now as a result of the exposed muddy bank, churn from boats that carries the sediment to shore, and the droppings from all the geese that frequent our cove.

Please continue to cover this critical issue facing the future of our lake.

Tony G. Fuller
Tysons, Va.

Editor's note: We decided to publish Mr. Fuller's afore-described photograph in this section of today's issue.

To the Editor:

Wendell Berry is an agrarian philosopher living in Kentucky. Berry argues that "we can only become what we truly are by acknowledging that we do not exist by, from, and for ourselves. Our lives are rooted in a natural and cultural community. A community has to do with belonging; it is a group of people who belong to one another and to their place." Garrett County is a community.

Freedom is an important ideal in our community. We have freedom of speech, of religion, to own guns, and not to be subject to unreasonable searches. These freedoms are considered individual freedoms.

Two issues arise. First, if freedoms are abused and if a significant segment of the public becomes resentful of the abuses, freedoms will be revoked or limited. For example, one cannot yell "fire" in a crowded movie theater; that is not protected free speech.

The second issue is the tension between individual rights and their consequences for community rights. Berry argues from an agrarian perspective that individual freedom and freedom of the community are at odds, and he believes that the unconstrained pursuit of individual freedom "operates invariably to the detriment of community life and community values."

This tension is playing out in Garrett County today regarding fracking. Individual rights of property owners are not unlimited if they adversely impact the community. If individual rights are pushed too far, many may feel they are being abused by the land owner because of their unacceptable consequences for other members of the community. This could lead to efforts to restrain those individual rights.

Zoning, for example, is the typical tool used to limit activities by one or more individuals that adversely impact the rest of the community. For example, previous commissioners implemented zoning in the Deep Creek Lake watershed to protect the lake and the related jobs and economic activities. Nearly all municipalities in the county have zoning laws that identify land uses permitted in the municipality. A majority of citizens in the county already live in areas with zoning that works to protect property rights of everyone, not just a privileged few.

Unfortunately, our commissioners have not taken any steps to protect landowners and businesses in the county from the potential adverse consequences of fracking. Perhaps it is time for citizens in the county to address, through countywide zoning, unconstrained individual rights that negatively impact the rest of the county.

Sincerely,
Michael Bell
Oakland

To the Editor:

Do any readers believe the groundless claim by "The Donald" that if he loses, the white working class will be victims of genocide? So y'all make sure you have enough guns and ammo.

But we heard a similar caution before Obama was elected. "He will take your guns!" But did he? No. That is just a favorite fear tactic, and it always works like a charm. Their target audience goes into full panic mode – as if the Donald will welcome a mass fleeing working class into the safe harbor of Trump Tower. That is truly a false hope as any vague over-the-top prognosis he will find to speak about. Then he adds words like "amazing" and "great." And Trump Tower is not built with real gold; it only has a thin layer of gilt paint.

Does anyone believe the USA will be better with more hate and division? If so, they are seriously confused. We could see how many kinds of people competed in the Olympics – Hispanics, African-Americans, and even a Muslim on our fencing team. The only real disgrace was our lily-white swimming star Lochte. (We could call it the Lochte Mess, referring to the monster in Loch Ness.) He certainly did not spread goodwill for Americans.

If we get President Trump, we will see a sad chapter of anti-America across the globe; except from his favorites, Russia and China. He gave lots of money to Chinese banks, and received direct campaign contributions from Russia. Who knows what those patrons expect in return? I doubt it will "Make America Great Again," any more than his lines of luxury clothes made in many poor nations with very low wages.

Please think hard before cast a vote that gives a boost to his monster ego.

Sincerely,
Joan Sussman
Bittinger

To the Editor:

Last Sunday, a group of 30 lake sailors gathered to learn about Marcellus shale drilling, viewing Wicklein's film, Fracking Western Maryland? Some were well informed, but most were new to the swirl of fracking information and debate.

This group is similar to dozens of other groups we have met with over the years. Property owners come to get away from work and other demands at home. They want to de-stress, watch a sunset, enjoy lake recreational activities, explore the county and be spirituality restored. They use their lake homes to entertain friends from back home or for multi-generational gatherings. They do not want to hear about problems or attend informational meetings.

They also do not receive basic information on fracking and notice about events via local media.

Who are "lake property owners?" No one knows. There is not definitive list. So we cannot provide hard data on what they think about fracking.

Most lake property owners are not Garrett County residents and thus do not vote locally for those representing the county. There is no channel of communication to overcome this lack of connection.

We do know they are investors and make economic contributions to the county. Their property taxes total over 60% of the total property tax revenue for the county, plus they contribute financially in so many other ways. What would happen if their properties are devalued? If they chose to leave? We don't know, but should.

The county is moving forward on a study on impacts of fracking on our resort-based economy. Included in this work will be a "public perception and potential impactions survey." When completed, this survey will provide the needed data. Unfortunately, it is unlikely the survey results will be available for consideration by the General Assembly for the upcoming session and debate on whether to allow fracking in Maryland.

So, if you are a lake property owner, I urge you to come to the Aug. 30 public hearing at Garrett College. If you do attend, please introduce yourself as a lake property owner to the delegates. If you cannot attend, send your comments to the committee by email (only in pdf format) to: AA_ENV@mlis.state.md.us; or snail mail to Chairman Kumar Barve, Environment and Transportation Committee, 6 Bladen Street, Annapolis, MD, 21401. We would also appreciate receiving your comments in order to guide our work in the coming months; send to contact@friendsofdcl.org.

"LOWE'S HEROES" SPRUCE UP OAKLAND – The Oakland Mayor and Town Council have expressed their appreciation to Lowe's for selecting Oakland as the recipient of its Heroes Project. Employees landscaped the town's "Welcome to Oakland" sign (above) and two planters along Liberty Street (below), plus painted the interior of the gym at the Oakland Community Center (right). "Lowe's embraces teamwork as a core value and a key ingredient in maintaining an engaged work force," the company's website notes. "We believe that by working together we can build something better – for our company, our customers, and our communities. Transforming lives one community at a time – that's been the mission of Lowe's Heroes since the volunteer program began in our stores more than 10 years ago. The program encourages employees in a location to team together, adopt a volunteer project with a local nonprofit organization or K–12 public school, and make a difference." Michelle Ross, Oakland business coordinator, and Lisa Rodeheaver, Oakland Lowe's store, coordinated the project.

LINDA BROADWATER

Beloved mother and loving grandmother Linda Broadwater, age 70, peacefully passed away on Aug. 22, 2016, in Annapolis.

Linda's heart was full of love for her children and grandchildren. Spending time with them were the most joyful moments of her life. She loved her coffee, black no cream and sugar, "just a little one." Christmas and holidays were her favorite times of year, and she never missed anyone's birthday. Thoughtful, caring, remarkable, loving, and beautiful are words to best describe her. She loved her family and lived her life for us.

She is survived by her daughter, Michelle Schoff; son, Jason Broadwater; son, Adam Broadwater; husband, Leonard Broadwater; granddaughter, Kaitlyn Schoff; grandson, Jordan Broadwater; grandson, Nathan Schoff; brother, Mike Upole; sister, Donna Davis; and sister, Carolyn Coffman.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to: American Kidney Fund, 11921 Rockville Pike, Suite 300, Rockville, MD 20852; www.kidneyfund.org.

Private funeral services were provided by Gary L. Kaufman Funeral Homes at Meadowridge Memorial Park, Elkridge.

A graveside gathering will be held on Friday, Aug. 26, at 2:30 p.m. at 7250 Washington Blvd., Elkridge.

GLENN P. TOLBERT

Glenn Patrick Tolbert, Oakland, passed away due to complications from surgery on Aug. 19, 2016, with Susan Peterson, his long-time close friend and partner, by his side.

Born April 15, 1951, Glenn was pre-deceased by his parents, Curtis T. and Margaret Schyma Tolbert, El Paso, Texas. He leaves behind, in addition to Susan, his son, Eric Kratz Tolbert Kilchenstein, Esq.; and his daughter, Meghan Tolbert; his sisters, Dr. Natalie Tolbert Booker and Josette Tolbert Odle; his former Maryland Public Television colleague and longtime friend, Donald Thoms; Don Sincell, conversation partner, friend and editor of The Republican newspaper; his ex-spouse and longtime friend of 41 years, Lynn Kilchenstein; and many nieces and nephews, as well as countless friends in all parts of the world from the rich and interesting life that he led.

The son of a World War II veteran and his spouse who met overseas, Glenn was born in Ft. Benning, Ga., and grew up on military bases all over Europe and the U.S. before graduating from Cathedral High School in El Paso. Known then for his love of both basketball and long hikes and camping in the mountains of West Texas, he went on to graduate from the University of Texas at El Paso with a degree in journalism.

After college, Glenn moved to the Eastern Shore of Maryland with his first wife, beginning his career as a photojournalist for the Daily Times in Salisbury, where he soon became the farm editor and a radio show host in the mostly rural community. His work quickly attracted the attention of Maryland Public Television, where he was invited to write and serve as the anchorman for the then nationally televised show "Farm Day." A widely viewed show for its eclectic approach to presenting environmental and farming issues, "Farm Day" was on the air for several years, after which Glenn continued to write and produce at MPT and on his own.

He went on to originate the Emmy-award winning and now replicated series "Outdoors Maryland," and later in conjunction with the BBC and Discovery Networks, wrote and produced several award winning documentaries including "Sea Power" and "After the Warming."

After he moved to western Maryland, Glenn continued to use his considerable photographic and writing talents, publishing work in local and national papers including the Washington Post, the New York Times, the Baltimore Sun and the local paper, the Republican. Glen fell in love with western Maryland and enjoyed the beautiful mountains and lakes and the warmth of the people of the community of Oakland and surrounding towns.

With a deep sense of the absurd and a sharp wit, Glenn was a fine raconteur. He loved the natural world, and spent many hours throughout his life hiking and taking pictures in the rugged mountains of west Texas in his youth and in the green hills of western Maryland in his later years. He planted gardens, fished, and walked. He photographed exquisitely much of what he observed throughout his life. He would be surprised but delighted to know how many people he positively affected and how much they will miss him.

A memorial service will be held on Friday, Sept. 2, at St. Mark's Lutheran Church at 11 a.m., with Rev. Dr. C. Scott Robinson officiating. Friends may call at the church one hour prior to the services at the church.

As a state-certified heritage area, effort is made to create public and private partnerships to preserve historical, cultural, and natural resources focusing on underutilized resources fostering a greater sense of community pride.

UNITED WAY, WALMART, VOLUNTEERS "STUFF THE BUS" – United Way of Garrett County, along with Walmart, recently sponsored the annual "Stuff the Bus" school supply drive to benefit Garrett County students. A school bus was donated for the day by Bertha and Kevin Green, who have supported the event from the beginning, and it was "stuffed" with supplies while parked in the Walmart lot. First United Bank and Clear Mountain Bank offered their locations as drop-off sites as well. Dr. Jane Wildesen, assistant superintendent, with help from administrative assistant Karen Brewer and the Garrett County Board of Education faculty and staff, served as key partners in supporting this event, a spokesperson said. United Way executive committee members and other community partners also volunteered for the day. "Education is one of the focus areas of United Way, and we want all children to have the tools to learn," said Phil Rodeheaver, executive committee member for United Way of Garrett County, who organized the additional drop-off sites. "We truly appreciate the partnership with Walmart again this year." The collected items will be distributed to all of the local schools in the county, and to first-generation students at Garrett College. Monetary donations collected will also be given to the local schools to buy needed materials. In the photo above, from left, are Richard Wesolowski, BOE transportation; Bertha and Kevin Green, bus owners; and Michele Harmon, Penny Proudfoot, and Jeff Gank, all volunteers from Garrett County Public Schools. In the photo below, from left, are Wildesen; Tracie Ellis, Angle Cooper, and Gena Ferguson from Garrett College; Frank Shap, United Way executive committee member; and Dave Crawford, assistant manager at Walmart.

Gov. Hogan Delivers Closing Address At MACo's Summer Conference In OC

Gov. Larry Hogan delivered the closing address of the 2016 Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) summer conference in Ocean City on Saturday. After spending the past 19 months traveling across the state and meeting with local governments, constituents, and business owners, the governor highlighted the "significant progress" already made and discussed new initiatives to continue moving the state forward.

"The Maryland Association of Counties has been an incredible partner for our administration, and we will continue to do everything we can to foster that partnership," said Hogan. "We have spent much of the past year traveling from one end of the state to the other to hear the concerns of all Marylanders, and I'm pleased to update you on some of the progress our team has been making to ensure that our counties can continue to thrive."

Hogan discussed "real solutions" that the administration has promoted to protect and restore the Chesapeake Bay. In 2015, the Hogan administration established enhanced Phosphorus Management Tool regulations, bringing the agricultural and environmental communities together with a "fair and balanced plan" for limiting phosphorus levels.

This year, the administration invested $53 million in the Chesapeake and Atlantic Coastal Bays Trust Fund, the highest level of funding since the fund was established. Hogan's fiscal year 17 budget was also the first in state history that did not divert fimding dedicated specifically for the restoration of the Chesapeake Bay to the general fund.

"We have been focused on finding real solutions to protect our most treasured natural asset – the Chesapeake Bay," said Hogan. "We brought all the stakeholders together and negotiated a compromise phosphorus management solution; we pushed for and enacted legislation that protects against any further raids of program open space; and we are finally doing something about the problem of sediment from the Conowingo Dam."

Based on feedback from Maryland jurisdictions and constituents, Hogan discussed two actions that are designed to provide relief to Maryland citizens. In 2012, a mandate to require BAT septic systems outside the 'Critical Area" created a cost-prohibitive burden on Maryland homeowners and businesses. During his address, the governor announced that the Maryland Department of the Environment has revisited these regulations and eliminated the requirements outside the Critical Area, "ensuring that environmental safeguards remain in place while reducing an unnecessary regulatory burden."

The governor also updated local officials about a decision made earlier last week at the Board of Public Works to split the cost of new voting machines between the state and counties, funding which had been requested by MACo in a recent letter to the Hogan administration.

"We heard your calls loud and clear to take action on these issues and will deliver this much needed relief," said Hogan. "Looking ahead, our administration will continue to fight to eliminate those taxes and regulations that stifle the economy in our counties."

In addition, Hogan reiterated the administration's commitment to improving transportation infrastructure across the state, including restoring Highway User Revenues and repealing a new law that threatens the long-standing tradition of local governments deciding transportation project priorities.

The Hogan administration has invested $2 billion in new transportation projects across the state. He said he has fought to return Highway User Revenues to past levels after being severely reduced by the previous administration. The governor stressed that this new law, passed by the legislature over his veto, has the potential to "erode this progress and kill many of the counties' priority transportation projects."

"We have heard your concerns regarding transportation infrastructure, and invested an historic and unprecedented $2 billion in new transportation projects to fix every single structurally deficient bridge in the state and to finally move forward on your top priority road projects," said Hogan. "Regrettably, the legislature overrode a veto to push a bill forward that has the potential to kill nearly all of these priority road and bridge improvements. On your behalf, our administration will continue to push for the repeal of this terrible legislation."

Finally, the governor called for continued partnership between state and local governments to sustain the progress that has been made since January 2015.

"We have made amazing progress since January 2015, but to continue on this new path we will need the help of everyone in this room," said Hogan. "You have my commitment that with our administration you will always find a sympathetic ear and a seat at the table, and we will continue to fight on behalf of your citizens each and every day."

Hogan spent on the Eastern Shore, where he has attended MACo events, met with county officials, toured local businesses, and visited with Maryland citizens.

Appalachian Festival Symposium To Highlight Obstacles, Opportunities

A discussion of the region's most serious obstacle – opioid addition – will lead off Frostburg State University's symposium on "Appalachia: Obstacles and Opportunities" on Friday, Sept. 16, as part of the annual Appalachian Festival. The symposium will provide the community with an opportunity to engage in productive and positive discussions about the region's obstacles as well as its opportunities.

The emergent cannabis industry, efforts by the region's youth to combat the Appalachian "brain drain," economic development focused on the Great Allegheny Passage, cultural and environmental sustainability, and regenerative agriculture will be other topics at the symposium from 1 to 8 p.m. on FSU's Upper Quad. The symposium is free and open to the public.

The symposium will begin at 1 p.m. with a keynote presentation by John Temple, a professor of journalism at West Virginia University and the author of three nonfiction books. Temple will discuss his latest work, American Pain: How a Young Felon and His Ring of Doctors Unleashed America's Deadliest Drug Epidemic, which chronicles the rise and fall of this game-changing pill mill, and how it helped tip the nation into its current opioid crisis, the deadliest drug epidemic in American history.

The narrative is populated by a gaudy and diverse cast of characters, including the wealthy bad boys, thugs,and physicians who built American Pain, as well as penniless Kentucky clans who transformed themselves into painkiller trafficking rings. It includes addicts whose lives were devastated, and the federal agents and grieving mothers who labored for years to bring the clinic's crew to justice.

At 1:40 p.m. there will be a discussion titled "Addressing the Opioid Epidemic in Our Community" led by health department staff from Allegany and Garrett counties. After reviewing local and state overdose data, the presenters will discuss the Overdose Response Program, Prescribe Change Allegany Campaign treatment resources, the lack of inpatient substance abuse programs and access to halfway houses in rural areas, the Addiction Happens Campaign, and the Prescription Drug Action Team.

The next part of the symposium will focus on a varied series of solutions for combatting the brain drain from Appalachia and building a sustainable future. "Growing Medical Cannabis in Appalachia" will begin at 2:30 p.m. and focus on how those vying for permits believe the medical cannabis industry can positively impact economic development in the region.

Next, at 3:10 p.m., Doug Riegner, director of Community Relations and Sales at Allegheny Trail Alliance, will present "Growing the Economy With the Great Allegheny Passage, Allegheny Trail Alliance" and explain how the trail is revitalizing communities and stimulating the local economy along the way.

At 3:50 p.m., members of Stay Together Appalachian Youth, a diverse regional network of young people, will explain how their project encourages youth to stay and work in their home communities by connecting them with the resources and skills they need to make their visions for central Appalachia come true.

The last part of the symposium will focus on food security in an uncertain future. At 4:40 p.m., Dr. Gina Angiola, a retired physician and lifelong advocate for healthy environments, will present "The Planet Has a Fever, It's Rapidly Rising ... Time for a Second Opinion?"

As a climate activist for more than 12 years, Angiola has focused her advocacy and actions on reducing emissions from the energy sector and conventional food production, but she now recognizes the urgent need to add ecological restoration to the agenda if a stable climate system and a livable planet for future generations are to be re-established.

In a discussion on regenerative agriculture at 5:20 p.m., farmers from western Maryland will share their experiences engaging in a combination of traditional and cutting-edge farming techniques to create more sustainable food systems in the region.

"Land-of-Plenty Deliberation Session: How Can We Assure That People Have the Food They Need?" will follow at 6 p.m. By participating in this session, community members will have the opportunity to contribute to the final version of the National Issues Forum guide to be published by the Kettering Foundation and used nationally as a discussion tool for citizens passionate about creating workable solutions for their communities.

Communication Studies faculty Dr. Elesha L. Ruminski and Christine Willingham, participants in a Kettering Foundation learning exchange to support creation of the FSU communication leadership lab, will convene and moderate the discussion.

The final event of the symposium will be dinner on the grounds and evening entertainment with Dr. Doug Hendren. Using what he calls his "musical scalpel," Hendren, a retired orthopedic surgeon in Virginia, writes songs and blogs about the broken political and economic systems that are driving everyone to liquidate the natural world "to pay bills." His songs ask, "Exactly where are we?" "How did we get here?" and "How can we recover a world worth passing on to our children?"

The symposium will lead up to the free festival on Saturday on FSU's Upper Quad from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be live music, games, food, and various activites.

More information can be found online at www.frostburg.edu/events/afestival or by contacting Kara Rogers Thomas at 240-522-7635 or krogersthomas@frostburg.edu.

DO ALL PRAYERS REACH HEAVEN?

This is an excellent question, and the direct answer is "No." You may then ask, "Why?" The Bible is clear that we must be a believer in order for our prayers to reach heaven. It is not necessary to be a Bible scholar in order to find Biblical answers, but we must read the Bible and search for answers.

II Chronicles 30, verse 27, says, "The priests and Levites stood to bless the people, and God heard them, for their prayer reached heaven, His holy dwelling place.".

In Jeremiah 11, verse 11, we read, "This is what the LORD says – although they [who served other gods] will cry out to Me, I will not listen... ." Therefore, we must be a believer in order for God to listen to your prayers.

If you are a believer, and further believe that God has not answered your prayer, take time to examine your motives. There are many verses which explain why God does not always answer our prayers in the manner we desire [such as selfish motives, our heart is not right with God, or it is not God's will for our life, etc.], but our first concern should be: Am I a believer; have I prayed for His will to be done in my life and stepped into His kingdom? God does answer the prayers of sinners seeking forgiveness of sin.

Choosing to the accept Jesus Christ as our LORD and Savior is the most important decision we will ever make. Knowing we will spend eternity in heaven is the ultimate gratification.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE STATE PARK/ DISCOVERY CENTER

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the website: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.asp. The center also has a Facebook page.

Friday, Aug. 26

• 8 a.m. – Birding at Sang Run. Guest are invited to come learn tips to birding by ear and to listen for distinctive songs on a stroll through Friend's Delight. All should meet at the kayak launch with binoculars and waterproof hiking boots. This walk is of medium difficulty and will last approximately 2 ½ hours.

• 11 a.m. – Creating an Owl. Guests can join the naturalist and discuss the adaptations and secrets of owls. Then meet one of the Discovery Center's owls up close and create a model of it. Develop nature journaling skills through observation and drawing or just come for fun.

• 2 p.m. – Tie Dye on the Beach. Meet on the beach to make a personal tie-dyed shirt with an original conservation message. Cost is $12 per shirt. (1 hour)

Saturday, Aug. 27

• 11 a.m. – Hungry Critters. Guests are invited to meet the naturalists inside the Discovery Center as they feed the center's animals. Participants may be able to touch a live reptile or amphibian. Free.

• 8 p.m. – Magical Monarch Butterflies Campfire. All are invited to join the naturalist for a look at the life of a monarch butterfly. The monarch migrates 1,880 miles from the local area to Mexico each year, and that the butterfly that returns has never been there. Guests will learn about the center's tagging program with a hands-on demonstration.

Sunday, Aug. 28

• 11 a.m. – First Impressions. Some animals are born with a bad reputation. This interactive program shows that all animals, even "creepy crawlies," have their own important role in nature. Designed for all ages.

• 2 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to learn about the center's birds, and watch the raptors eat.

Monday, Aug. 29

• 10 a.m. – Fishing with the Naturalist. Guests age 7 and older are invited to join the park naturalist for a course on fishing basics. Poles, bait, and tackle are provided. The cost is $4 per person, and adults (16+) must have their license. Preregistration is required, as space is limited.

• 2 p.m. – Aquatic Adventures. Guests are invited to join the naturalist in the Discovery Room of the center for this activity. The group will head to the docks to use the aqua scopes and dip nets into Deep Creek Lake to catch fish and other animals that live there.

Tuesday, Aug. 30

• 10 a.m. – What's That Reptile? Guests are invited to come to the Discovery Center to learn about the reptiles and amphibians that reside there, and perhaps have a chance to touch the cold-blooded creatures.

• 2 p.m. – Butterflies and Flowers. All are invited to join the naturalist for a walk around the Discovery Center grounds observing the butterflies that use native plants. The difference between native and non-native plants and their effects on the environment will be discussed.

Wednesday, Aug. 31

• 2 p.m. – Buzz Into Pollination. Guests may come "see what all the buzz is about." There are more pollinators than just bees, and there would be no crops without them. There will be a sweet treat to sample.

LABOR DAY WEEKEND AT THE DISCOVERY CENTER

Thursday, Sept. 1

• 10 a.m. – Brant Mine Hike. Guests can join a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. The hike begins in the center's mine room. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that was operated in the 1920s, as well as possibly some wildlife along the way. Moderate walking. (Approx. 2 hours)

Friday, Sept. 2

• 8 a.m. – Birding at Sang Run. See info on Aug. 26 listing above.

• 11 a.m. – Creating an Owl. Guests can join the naturalist and discuss the adaptations and secrets of owls. Then meet one of the Discovery Center's owls up close and create a model of it. Develop nature journaling skills through observation and drawing or just come for fun.

• 2:30 p.m. – Magical Monarch Butterflies. All may join the naturalist on the deck to learn about this fascinating insect and its habitat. If possible, some butterflies may be tagged and released.

Saturday, Sept. 3

• 11 a.m. – Hungry Critters. Guests are invited to meet the naturalists inside the Discovery Center as they feed the center's animals. Participants may be able to touch a live reptile or amphibian. Free.

• 2 p.m. – Tie Dye on the Beach. Meet on the beach to make a personal tie-dyed shirt with an original conservation message. Cost is $12 per shirt. (1 hour)

• 8 p.m. – Scales & Tales Campfire Program. Guests may join the naturalist to meet a few of the resident animals, hear their stories, learn facts, and snap pictures. Afterwards there will be free marshmallows for roasting.

Sunday, Sept. 4

• 11 a.m. – Aquatic Adventures. Guests are invited to join the naturalist in the Discovery Room of the center for this activity. The group will head to the docks to use the aqua scopes and dip nets into Deep Creek Lake to catch fish and other animals that live there.

• 1 p.m. – Story, Craft, and Animal Meet and Greet. Local author Deborah Brenneman will read to guests from the book "Fidget's Foley" about peregrine falcons, and then help them make a craft and introduce them to a falcon in person. Free.

• 3 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to learn about the center's birds, and watch the raptors eat.

Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5

• All-Day Scavenger Hunts. Guests may to to the front desk for instructions.

• 2:30 p.m. – Magical Monarch Butterflies. All may join the naturalist on the deck to learn about this fascinating insect and its habitat. If possible, some butterflies may be tagged and released.

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

The following activities have been scheduled at New Germany State Park, located along Rt. 495 near Grantsville. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. Further information can be obtained by calling the park office at 301-895-5453, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/newgermany.asp. The park also has a Facebook page.

Tuesday, Aug. 23

• 6 p.m. – Yoga in the Woods. All are invited to join the Maryland Park Service and local certified Yogafit instructor Leslee Wigfield for a free yoga class at the park. From beginners to experts, all are welcome to join the 45-minute class. Each participant is encouraged to bring a blanket, mat, or towel, and to meet at parking lot #5, near the volleyball court.

Friday, Aug. 26

• 7:30 p.m. – Twilight Hike. During this easy, one-mile hike, a ranger will lead participants on an evening venture into the forest. The hike will begin at the New Germany Lake House, and participants are encouraged to wear hiking boots and bring flashlights.

GC Republicans Announce Locale For Headquarters

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee has announced the location of Republican Headquarters for this election season. The site is at 13219 Garrett Highway, Oakland, within the Genus Center complex, across from the Oakland Wal-Mart.

The grand opening of the headquarters will be Monday, Sept. 12, at noon, according to Tom Sheahen, committee chairperson. All Republican elected officials and candidates, as well as supporters of the candidates and the Republican Party, are invited to attend.

The headquarters will be staffed by central committee members and volunteers on Mondays through Fridays from 3 to 6 p.m., and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Extended hours will be added as election day nears.

Information and campaign materials for all Republican candidates will be available for distribution. In an effort to increase voter turn-out for the general election, volunteers will be calling Republican voters, Sheahen noted.

For information about Republican Headquarters or to volunteer, persons should contact Ruth Umbel at 301-387-5035.

FSU ON THE EDGE SERIES TO OPEN WITH COVER DRIVE – The underground club series On the Edge, featuring a wide range of performers throughout the fall and spring at Frostburg State University, will open next Thursday, Sept. 1, with a free performance by Cover Drive, a Barbados Carib-pop band, in Delaney Plaza at the FSU clock tower. The show will start at 8:15 p.m. See story for the offerings of the entire season.

FSU Announces Second Season Of "On The Edge"

Frostburg State University Student Activities, in collaboration with the Cultural Events Series (CES) at FSU, will once again offer the underground club series On the Edge, featuring a wide range of performers throughout the fall and spring.

All shows are held on Thursdays, beginning at 8:15 p.m. and featuring informal table seating, couch and armchair seating, and food and beverage options.

Direct from Barbados, the Carib-pop band Cover Drive will open the series with a free performance next Thursday, Sept. 1, in an outdoor show in Delaney Plaza at the FSU clock tower. The group first achieved recognition while supporting Rihanna's 2011 "Loud" tour and Kelly Clarkson's 2012 "Stronger" tour. The group's sound blends elements of pop, Caribbean, and hip-hop. The U.K. online magazine The Upcoming said "As soon as they arrived, Bajan quartet Cover Drive completely took over the main stage, exuding a magnificent energy."

The funkadelic musicians of Mexico's Troker will play on Thursday, Oct. 6, in the Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall in the Lane University Center. The Huffington Post stated that "Troker's ready mix of tree jazz, rock, funk and mariachi music is entirely instrumental, meaning there is no language barrier for foreign audiences to overcome."

Local musicians can experience the band's style and the techniques of collective composition and improvisation in a free workshop led by Troker percussionist Frankie Mares. The workshop is limited to 20 participants, prior registration is required.

On Thursday, Nov. 10, the step dancers of Molodi Live will present an interactive performance in Lane Manicur Hall. Using their bodies as instruments, Molodi blends collegiate stepping, tap, gumboots, beatbox, and poetry. Interactive rhythms and crowd participation bridge the gap between the artists and the audience, who become essential participants in the performance, a spokesperson said.

Thursday, March 2, 2017, will bring contemporary violinist Daniel Davis for a performance in Lane Manicur Hall. Davis and his band offer a performance that takes the violin into the modern musical landscape by fusing elements of hip-hop, R&B, jazz and pop.

A cappella singing group the Filharmonic will perform on Thursday, April 6, fin Lane Manicur Hall. The group of young Filipino-Americans first gained national attention in the semi-finals of NBC's competition show, The Sing-Off, and through its appearance in Pitch Perfect 2 as Team Philippines/Manila Envy.

The performance of Cover Drive is free. Other On the Edge tickets are $15 and will be available beginning Sept. 1. Tickets may be ordered by calling 1-866-849-9237 or 301-687-3137 or by visiting http://ces.frostburg.edu.

This engagement of Troker is funded in part by a Southern Exposure grant from the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation and the National Endowment for the Arts. CES is supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. The CES 60th anniversary season is supported in part by the city of Frostburg and the FSU Foundation Inc.

"Build-A-Play" Planning Mtg. Slated At OTT

Our Town Theatre in Oakland will hold a planning meeting on Friday, Aug. 26, from 6 to 8 p.m., for children from age 5 to 15 who are interested in being in a play

This is an expansion of the theatre's "Build-A-Play" workshops held over the past year, as well as Barter Camp, although children who did not attend those events are welcome to come to the meeting, as newcomers are always welcome, a spokesperson said.

The resulting play will be given at the theatre on Oct. 1 and 2 in the afternoon. A rehearsal schedule for the show will be built around the actors' availability.

Funding for this endeavor was provided by the Civic Club of Oakland, the Garrett County Arts Council, and the Maryland State Arts Council.

The theatre is located at 121 Center Street, Oakland, and can be reached by phone at 301-334-5640. More information can also be at ourtowntheatreblog.wordpress.com.

Benefit Concert To Help Flood Victims In WV

A benefit concert for flood victims will be given at the Preston Community Arts Center, located at 123 S. Price Street, Kingwood, W.Va., on Sunday, Aug. 28, from 12:30 to 8 p.m. Admission will be by donation, with all proceeds going to help those affected by the devastating summer floods.

Those slated to perform, and the tentative stage times, are as follows: Michael Frederick, 12:30-1 p.m.; Tomorrow to Forever, 1:05-1:35; Matthew and Karen Bright, 1:40-2:10; Holly Turkovich, 2:15-3:05; Nino Mancino, 3:10-4; Stephanie Harmon, 4:05-5; Janice Ray, 5:05-6; Floyd Cowger, 6:05-7; and Paul Burger, 7:05-8.

Michael Frederick, Tomorrow to Forever, Matthew and Karen Bright, Holly Turkovich, Nino Mancino, Stephanie Harmon, Janice Ray, Floyd Cowger, and Paul Burger.

"I would personally like to reach out and extend my gratitude to all those who have done so much for the people of West Virginia recently affected by flooding. Your continued efforts have restored my faith in humanity and inspired me to action," said Paul Burger, organizer of the concert. "I was reminded by one close to me who survived the 1985 flood that their need of much help will not end in a month or a year and beyond."

Proceeds will be distributed by the St. James Episcopal Church in Lewisburg, W.Va., in the form of gift cards, such as for Lowes and Wal-Mart, to be given to those impacted by the floods since families may have different needs. The church will act as a clearing house for the funds, Burger said.

GCAC Honors

Oakland, next to the Dairy Queen Grill & Chill.

"We are so appreciative to the team at Clear Mountain Bank for providing the space for us to reestablish our administrative offices," said Reckner. "It was crucial for us to have the ability to continue all of our other varied services to the community as we search for a permanent home for our retail gallery. Clear Mountain Bank is truly a great community partner for GCAC and many other local organizations."

The award was given recognizing Brian Thomas, president, and the entire management team, and was presented to Gene Flinn, manager of the local branch, at the arts council's annual membership meeting held at Will O' the Wisp at Deep Creek Lake this summer.

THE LONELY HEARTSTRING BAND is scheduled to perform this Friday, Aug. 26, at 7 p.m. at the Little Yough Summer Music Festival in the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. This multi-talented, classically trained group of bluegrass musicians features singer/songwriter George Clements, Boston, Mass., on guitar; Patrick M'Gonigle, Victoria, British Columbia, on fiddle; Gabe Hirshfeld, Newton, Mass., on banjo; Matt Witler, Los Angeles, Calif., on mandolin; and Charles Clements, Boston, on bass. "Combining soulful instrumental virtuosity with soaring three-part harmonies, their growing repertoire of original songs and compositions showcases not only their considerable talents, but a dedication to meaningful roots-conscious music," a Little Yough spokesperson noted. Western Pennsylvania native Steve Smith (below) will also present gospel music at 6 p.m. Smith has opened for such artists as Darryl Worley, Lee Brice, David Nail, and David Allen Coe. His song "Wishing Well" spent three weeks at #1 on Indie Charts, while another original, "Another Beer," charted at #12 in Australia in 2012. Admission to both performances is free. Food vendors will be available beginning at 6 p.m.

Brass Quintet To Play At Alpine Lake Resort

The West Virginia Brass Quintet will present selections from five centuries of music – from Renaissance and Baroque to contemporary to Dixieland jazz with an emphasis on traditional American music – on Saturday, Sept. 3, in the Boathouse at Alpine Lake Resort, near Terra Alta, W.Va. The show will begin at 7:30 p.m.

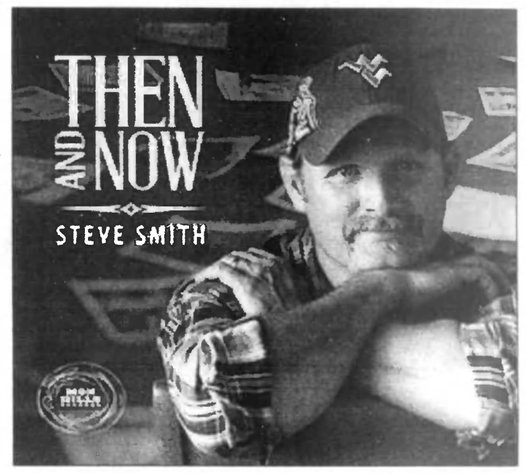
From an annual holiday residency at the Greenbrier Resort to artist series concerts at the Tamarack Center in Beckley and Carnegie Hall in Lewisburg, W.Va., to church services, weddings, and civic functions, the West Virginia Brass Quintet has performed extensively throughout the Mountain State and surrounding areas. The five professional musicians are West Virginia residents who came together in 2009 to form the quintet.

For more information about the group and a sampling of their music, persons may go to www.wvbrassquintet.com.

This program is a special event of the Alpine Learning Program (ALP) with an admission fee of $10 for adults, and $5 for children 12 and younger, payable at the door. The boathouse doors will open at 7 p.m. Wine and water will be available for purchase.

Alpine Lake Resort is located at 700 W. Alpine Drive, Terra Alta, off Rt. 7 just east of Terra Alta, less than 1/2 hour east of Kingwood or 20 minutes west of Oakland.

For more information, persons should contact Norleen at 304-789-6600 or Alpine Lake Lodge at 304-789-2481, ext. 1.



Mini Film Fest Slated Saturday

The Aurora Project will host an Art History Mini Film Festival at the Aurora Community Center this Saturday, Aug. 27, from 6 to 9 p.m. Two short films will be shown.

The first film, Paris 1928, explores a post-WWI world of art and surrealism in Paris. The second film, New York 1951, explores a post-WWII world of art, media, and a growing counterculture in New York City

This event is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be available. A post-film discussion will be led by Dr. Peter Wentzel.

The mini film festival has been made possible in part by a grant from the West Virginia Humanities Council.

First-Ever Leadership Garrett County Program Is Announced

Garrett College recently announced the formation of the inaugural year for Leadership Garrett County, a new program designed to train and retain the next generation of leaders in Garrett County. The program is open to all Garrett County residents in the early stages of their careers who are seeking to expand their leadership skill-sets and learn more about the key components of the county, including government, criminal justice, healthcare, agriculture, education, and more.

All those interested must apply for admission by completing a simple application, enclosing a $25 application fee, and submitting for consideration by Oct. 10, 2016. Applications will be reviewed by a panel of local leaders from areas in business, government, and education. Leadership program members will meet once each month for a full day to hear about leadership techniques, hear from local leaders, and tour local facilities to enhance program members' awareness and understanding of local institutions.

"For years, Garrett County leaders have considered starting a leadership program for early-career professionals, and this new program is the culmination of those conversations and efforts," stated Julie Yoder, dean of Continuing Education and Workforce Development at Garrett College. "This program represents a partnership between Garrett College and Garrett County Economic Development, and is not an academic program, but is instead a practical program for us to build the next generation of leaders in our county."

One of the key reasons for starting Leadership Garrett County, Yoder said, is to ensure the sustainability of the county as both "a great place to live and a great place to work and build a business."

"To be competitive as a business location and community, Garrett County needs continuous rejuvenation of our human capital," she said.

"Garrett County has been blessed with many strong leaders who got us to where we are today," said Alex McCoy, director of Garrett County Economic Deevlopment. "To continue on our path to even more success, we must develop the various skills and traits common to good leaders throughout all of Garrett County. No community can have too many good leaders, be they elders in our churches, students in our schools, elected officials, or members in our civic clubs. Leaders make a difference."

Mike Tumbarello, director of the Garrett College Center for Entrepreneurship & Innovation and the director of this new program, added, "While many other counties in the state have their own leadership programs, Garrett County, until now, has not had one. This program is designed to engage county residents from the millennial generation (those born in the late 70's through though the early 00's). In partnership with Garrett County Economic Development, we are hoping to expose this next generation of county leaders to the skills and experiences needed to help ensure Garrett County's future success."

The program, open to any Garrett County resident, costs $350 for the year, which includes group meals and transportation to various sites during the monthly all-day meetings. Any county organization may nominate and sponsor a prospective member of this inaugural class.

More information and an application can be found online at www.4ruralsuccess.com. Interested organizations and individuals are also invited to contact Tumbarello at 301-387-3167 or mike.tumbarello@garrettcollege.edu for more information.

MBIA Provides Grant To Support Entrepreneur Expo

As a result of a recent grant awarded to the Maryland Business Incubation Association (MBIA), rural entrepreneurs will play an increasingly more active role in the statewide startup and innovation ecosystem. Awarded $11,496 by the Maryland Agricultural Education and Rural Development Assistance Fund (MAERDAF) administered by the Rural Maryland Council, MBIA will execute an initiative aimed at increasing the attendance of rural entrepreneurs and students at Entrepreneur Expo. This event is an annual one-day statewide entrepreneur conference hosted by Maryland Technology Development Corporation (TEDCO). This year's expo event will be held in Baltimore on Nov. 14.

The funds awarded to MBIA will be targeted to benefit the rural members of the association, which consists of incubators, including the Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC), co-working spaces, and accelerators throughout Maryland. Included in the initiative is bus transportation from the outlying rural areas of Maryland to downtown Baltimore, the site of the 2016 Expo. Additional aspects include entrepreneurship presentations during the bus trips, as well as activities during expo on topics having special interest to rural attendees.

"This is a great opportunity for a few dozen Garrett County entrepreneurs, want-to-be entrepreneurs, and students, to come and experience this amazing event filled with tech entrepreneurs and other small business owners and managers," said Mike Tumbarello, director of the Garrett College Center for Entrepreneurship & Innovation, manager of the GIEC incubator, MBIA vice president, and co-author of the grant request, stated. "There will be a speaker on the bus and a special session during the day on rural entrepreneurship. Plus, we plan a casual meet-up for all those on the bus Sunday evening. Please reach out to me if you wish to be a part of this first-ever effort."

The MBIA was founded in 2002 to advance business incubation in Maryland. MBIA's 30 incubator members have nearly 550 companies across the state in both urban and rural areas, with more than 1,600 jobs. Incubators and their companies generate over $600 million in economic activity.

MAERDAF was established in 2000 to offer financial assistance to rural nonprofit organizations that promote statewide and regional planning, economic and community development, and agricultural and forestry education. In addition, MAERDAF offers grants to community colleges that support small and agricultural businesses with enhanced training and technical assistance.

For more information, persons are invited to contact Tumbarello at 301-387-3167 or mike.tumbarello@garrettcollege.edu.

Gieselman, Shepherd-Johnson Win Open Titles In 95th WM Tournament

The 95th Western Maryland Tennis Championships were played on the historic red clay courts of the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club August 4-7, at which Bryan Gieselman and Katya Shepherd-Johnson claimed the men's and women's open titles.

David DeGrafft, tournament referee, certified that players from Florida, Massachusetts, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and Saudi Arabia participated in eight divisions of competition.

Nadia Abuelsaud of Saudi Arabia, who is featured in an accompanying article, played in both the Women's Singles and Mixed 45 Doubles.

The Men's Open Singles Championship was won by Gieselman, a resident of Westminster and the #1 player for Stevenson University. He was declared the champion when his opponent failed to arrive for the title match.

Shepherd-Johnson, the Women's Open Singles champion and a resident of Takoma Park, defeated Abuelsaud of Dubai, 6-0, 6-2, in the championship match.

Rick Workman, Osmond Beach, Fla, a perennial participant, won the Men's 45 Singles championship by defeating Maurice Evans, Baltimore, in the title match, 6-3, 6-0.

In a hard-fought Men's 75 Singles final, William "Brit" Kirwan, Rockville, prevailed over Harvey Ratner, Silver Spring, 6-3, 7-6 (4).

In the Men's Open Doubles, the father-son team of David and Daniel McNair, Annapolis, faced their son/brother Matthew McNair, who had partnered with Trent Billups, Stafford, Va. Billups and McNair were declared champions after winning the final match, 6-1, 6-3.

A round-robin was played in the Men's 70 Doubles. Hugh Cole, Owings Mills, and Kirwan were declared champions, while the team of David DeGrafft, Mountain Lake Park, and William Tritt, New Tripoli, Pa., finished in the runner-up spot.

In a close Mixed Open Doubles final, the team of Keawe Shepherd-Johnson, Takoma Park, and his mother, Helen Shepherd, also Takoma Park, edged Amanda Fletcher, Westminster, and Gieselman, 6-4, 3-6, 7-6 (5).

Husband and wife Tim Johnson and Helen Shepherd, Takoma Park, were declared champions after a round-robin format was completed in the Mixed 45 Open Doubles. Brendan Mattingly and Abuelsaud were the runners-up.

Tournament sponsors were Stuck Enterprises, Pepsi Corporation, Oakland Oil & Propane, and C&S Fredlock Funeral Home.

DeGrafft noted that there were many people who "worked behind the scenes" to ensure the tournament was a success. He expressed appreciation to the mayor and town council and the residents of Mountain Lake Park for their continued support of the tournament.

Resident Of Saudi Arabia Among Participants In Tennis Tournament

by Kathie Smith

Participating in this year's 2016 Western Maryland Tennis Championships in the women's open division was Nadia Mohammed Abuelsaud from Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.

As a Saudi female from the Makkah Province, Nadia has always believed that getting to know and meet different people is very important to learn life's lessons. The sport of tennis has been one of her vehicles in helping her achieve this goal.

Whether in her medical occupation serving leukemia and kidney transplant patients or in her event management work, she has fulfilled her passionate desire to meet people and touch hearts while making friendships all around the world. Seeing unfair and inaccurate presentations of Saudi women in the media, Nadia likes to see herself representing Saudi women in the best way possible. Through her travels around the world, attending medical conferences or executing her events, she has been determined to break the stereotype of the Saudi female, typically characterized as being controlled and suppressed.

Nadia took up tennis at the age of 35 – a later stage in her life than most players – and following the birth of her four children. Two obstacles immediately presented themselves: finding a coach and finding a venue in a gender-segregated society.

Nadia overcame the first by finding a venue at a hotel. She began her lessons in the heat of the day, clad in the traditional robes that women are forced to wear in public in her country. Eventually, a male lodged a complaint that a woman was playing tennis at the hotel. The result was that women were thereafter banned from playing at the hotel where she had been taking lessons.

Despite this setback, Nadia persisted in her desire to play tennis in Saudi Arabia, and joined various residential compound tennis groups and local Jeddah tennis tournaments. She had immediate success and soon began to collect trophies, competing on a local Jeddah ladies' singles ladder and on ladies' doubles teams.

In 2008, she enlisted the help of a Jeddah-based professional, Morris (Mo) Melotti, a certified member of the United States Professional Tennis Association since 1991 and a life-time member of the USTA.

Mo Melotti, son of well-known western Maryland sports car racing driver Herman Melotti, and Peggy Melotti, career Veterans Administration counselor, was born in Frostburg and grew up between LaVale and Cumberland. He graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1973, and was awarded a master's degree in 1976 from Virginia Tech, where he also taught for three years.

In August 1976, Mo went to Iran to work on his first defense contract, which kept him there through the Iranian revolution and then into Benghazi, Libya, where he worked for an additional three years. The Middle East would continue to be the center of Mo's career, with stays in Turkey, Turkish Cyprus, Bahrain, and, for the past 13 years, Saudi Arabia.

Mo is currently a senior consultant with Raytheon, a technology and innovation leader specializing in defense, civil, and cybersecurity markets throughout the world. It was in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, that Nadia and Mo met through the world of tennis.

With continued instruction, Nadia also joined the American Businessmen of Jeddah (ABJ) and became a member of the association's tennis team, playing women's doubles and mixed doubles over six seasons, never losing a match and helping ABJ to four Jeddah city titles.

As a participant in the Western Maryland Tennis Championships, her first USTA tennis event and a runner-up in the women's division, Nadia has taken another step in fulfilling her dream of showcasing Saudi women in sports in an international way.

MIXED 45 DOUBLES – Helen Shepherd and Tim Johnson, winners. (Nadia Abuelsaud and Brendan Mattingly, runners-up, were unavailable for the photo.)

MEN'S 70 DOUBLES – Hugh Cole, winner; Kathie Smith, tournament secretary; and Brit Kirwan, winner.

Oakland Oaks To Play In Maryland Semi-Pro Playoffs

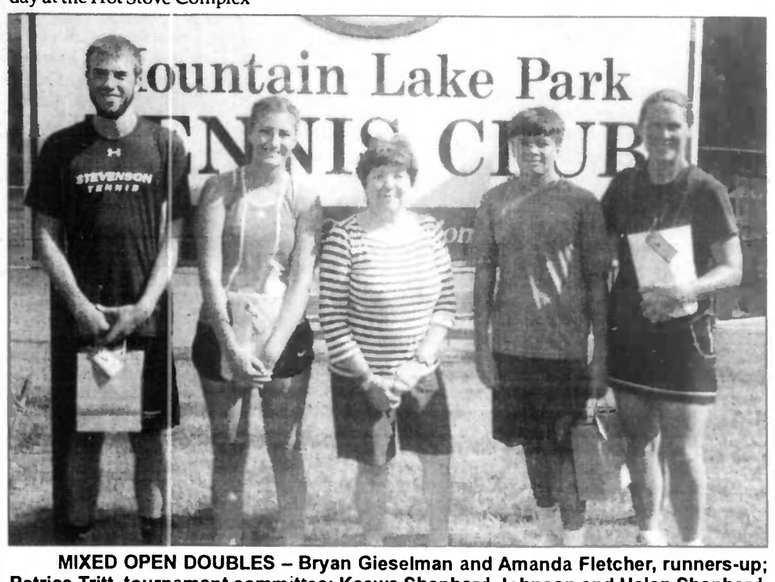
The Oakland Oaks (20-2), coming off a PenMar-WV championship season, will represent the league and play in the Maryland Semi-Pro Baseball Playoffs this Saturday at the Hot Stove Complex in Cumberland.

The third-seeded Oaks will take on the second-seeded Susquehanna Assault from the Susquehanna League at 2 p.m. in the semifinals.

A live, lottery-style drawing on WBAL-TV Channel 11 determined the teams' seeding on Aug. 23.

The winner will take on the top-seeded Hagerstown Braves from the West Shore League in a 5 p.m. showdown for the 2016 Maryland Semi-Pro Baseball State Championship.

The state championship will take place on the lighted Memorial Field. All rounds in this tournament are single elimination.



MIXED OPEN DOUBLES – Bryan Gieselman and Amanda Fletcher, runners-up; Patrice Tritt, tournament committee; Keawe Shepherd-Johnson and Helen Shepherd, winners.

MEN'S OPEN DOUBLES – David and Daniel McNair, runners-up; Barbara Chesley, tournament secretary; and Matthew McNair and Trent McNair, champions.

MEN'S 55 SINGLES – Maurice Evans, runner-up; Patrice Tritt, tournament committee; and Rick Workman, champion.

MEN'S 75 SINGLES – Harvey Ratner, runner-up; David DeGrafft, tournament referee; and Brit Kirwan, winner.

Undefeated Southern Golfers Continue Sweeping Tournaments

The Southern High School golf team cruised to 16-0 after topping tournaments at Maplehurst Country Club in Frostburg last Thursday , Valley View Golf Club in Moorefield, W.Va. on Tuesday, and Polish Pines in Keyser, W.Va. on Wednesday.

The Rams finished with a 162 at Maplehurst, good enough for a 42-stroke spot over second-place Mt. Ridge (204), who finished just ahead of Bishop Walsh (208).

Southern's top four golfers also carded the best four scores in the tournament.

Zack Harvey scored a 37 for the Rams, which was his second tournament-high score of the season.

Zach Wesolowski (39), Christian Jordan (43), and Brady Merrick (43), rounded out Southern's top four.

Kulen Flanigan (44) had the fifth-best tally of the event, just missmg Southern's top four. CJ Davis (47) completed the scorecard at Maplehurst.

The same four Rams continued their impressive run of form by carding the four best scores of the tournament at Valley View, where Southern tapped in a score of 154 to top Petersburg (180), Moorefield (188), and Union (243) high schools.

Harvey's tally of 35 strokes allowed him to enjoy the tournament-best score in three of the last four events.

Merrick knocked in his season-best tally of 39 strokes, good enough for the event's second-best score.

Wesolowski and Jordan each carded a 40, and have finished in the top four for the Rams in every tournament this season.

Although Flanigan (41) and Davis (45) did not make Southern's top four, they each had the fifth and ninth-best scores of the tournament in Valley View

The Rams extended their undefeated campaign at Polish Pines behind Flanigan's tournament-best score of 41.

Jordan (42) and Merrick (44) followed up with the second and third-best scores on the card. Brandon Hill achieved his first top-four finish of the season by shooting 46 strokes.

The Rams (173) carded ahead of Allegany (195), Frankfort (212), and Keyser (231) at Polish Pines.

Lance Smith represented Northern High School as an individual golfer and finished with 51 strokes at Maplehurst and 44 strokes at Valley View. Smith's score at Valley View was good enough for the eighth-best score among 23 golfers.

Southern Fall Sports Season Ticket Packages Available

The Southern High School athletic department has several season ticket packages available for the upcoming athletic season.

An all-sport season pass is now on sale for $100. Reserved-seat season tickets for football are also on sale for $25.

Students can also purchase an all-season, student-athletic season pass for $40.

Persons may contact Penny McLaughlin at 301-616-0560 or the SHS main office at 301-334-9447 for more information on purchasing season tickets

Lions Golf Event Fundraiser Slated Sept. 24 In F'burg

Teams are needed for a benefit golf tournament on Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Golf Club at Maplehurst in Frostburg. The Lions Clubs of Region I of District 22W will host the tournament, with the proceeds going to the Lions Vision Research Foundation at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.

Region 1 Lions Clubs are Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park, Kitzmiller, Deep Creek Lake, Friendsville, Grantsville, LaVale, Cumberland, Mason Dixon, North Branch, Potomac Valley, Frostburg, Frostburg University Campus, Frostburg Village, Lonaconing, and Oldtown.

The Lions foundation works to help blind and visually impaired patients, and to find ways to prevent and cure many forms of blindness, according to a spokesperson.

"Lions Clubs International Foundation has awarded many grants throughout the world to cure blindness caused by cataracts or other curable causes in third world countries," the spokesperson said. "Often called 'Knights of the Blind,' the title was given to the Lions by Helen Keller, who herself was deaf and blind, at a Lions conference at Cedar Point Ohio in 1925. Ever since her request, Lions have raised funds to prevent blindness."

The tournament will be a scramble format, with registration starting at 8 a.m. There will be a putting contest and prizes for the longest drive, longest putt, and closest to the pin.

Drinks will be available on the course, and a light luncheon and prizes will follow the tournament.

Hole and pin sponsors are also being requested.

The deadline for sponsors and team signup is Saturday, Sept. 10.

For more information, persons may contact Gerry Beachy, tournament chair, at gbeachy@comcast.net or 301-707-7200.

Final Round Of Western Maryland Amateur Cancelled

The 53rd Western Maryland Amateur golf tournament held at the Oakland Golf Club had to cancel its final round on Sunday due to wet conditions for only the second time in the event's history.

Despite the cancellation, the champion was decided by virtue of a sudden-death playoff between the four golfers tied in first place, which were Tyler Boulware, Dean Daniels, Jason Hale, and John Kingora, who all scored a 141 after two days.

The sudden-death round took place on the par-3 ninth hole to break the deadlock.

It took seven rounds of sudden-death golf to determine the winner, but Boulware made birdie to pull ahead and claim the 2016 championship, giving him back-to-back Western Maryland Amateur titles.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

PUT HIM IN IRONS!
by Dan Muss

Both the Weather Underground and Sailflo weather websites predicted 4–6 knots of wind SE by race time on Saturday. This is a very unusual direction for Deep Creek Lake and, when it came up, it was even flukier than normal. Our PRO, Stephanie Mahan, postponed for 30 minutes and then called out the fleets as the wind came up. Stephanie set a good windward-leeward course, avoiding the wind shadow off Turkey Neck Point.

As we sailed along the starting line timing our transit, it looked like the wind was alternating between making the committee boat favored and then the pin. We decided on the pin and, at the starting horn, we were able to tack onto port, clearing the rest of the starboard tack fleet by several boat-lengths. So we were in first place ... but not for long. I did a poor job timing our tacks with the wind shifts and I was slow on the tacks, so we were last going around the first windward mark.

On the first downwind leg, three boats were neck and neck, with Kemp asking us for room at the mark as we asked Meehan for room. We all got around in good order, as Kemp took a long tack to the south, which paid off as he passed a number of boats. Unhappily, he misjudged the "lay line" (the course to the mark), and while "pinching" up to clear the mark, he got into "irons." That is, he was in the grip of the wind without being able to steer. The only way to get out of it is to go backward, so Kemp lost a bit doing that!

We finished next to last but, as usual, it was great racing.

Sunday morning brought us rain but, by race time, it had stopped and conditions looked very nice, with a steady breeze blowing from the west. But the radar showed a mass of storms coming with very high wind, and we were intimidated. The Master Fleet voted not to race. Safety in a sailboat is mostly being aware of the weather, and half of our skippers are in their 80s, so it's understandable that we chickened out. But this time the dire warnings were wrong ... I wish we had sailed!

Garrett Health Officials Answer Common Questions About Zika

The Zika virus continues to make headlines across the world as it spreads to different locations. According to information received from the Garrett County Health Department this week, Zika is a relatively new infection, now occurring in hundreds of thousands of persons, and science is only slowly learning of many details of its biology and long-term effects.

"The main concern in Garrett County remains the danger to the unborn of those traveling to areas with active Zika transmission," said William Pope, MD, Garrett County deputy health officer.

Pope offered the following answers to common questions being asked about the virus:

What do I need to know about Zika, travel, and pregnancy?

Women who are pregnant should not go to areas of active Zika transmission because the unborn could be crippled or lost to miscarriage or stillbirth by infection with this virus. The risk of infection may be very low, and varies greatly over time, from area to area, and with environmental conditions and precautions, but if the pregnant woman has alternative travel choices, she should strongly consider them.

I don't think I'm pregnant, so is there still a risk?

Many women depend on the timing of their monthly menstrual cycles to know if they are pregnant. However, using this timing can be unreliable in determining pregnancy, because of irregular or absent periods, especially if the health of the unborn could be affected by a woman not knowing if she is pregnant. Some of the earliest signs of pregnancy include fatigue, breast tenderness, and nausea, but some women don't have any symptoms at all. A pregnancy test may give a result after the first period is missed, but if the test is taken too early, there is a risk that it could show a negative result even if the woman is in early pregnancy. While a woman waits for weeks for the test to become positive, the unborn could acquire the Zika infection through the mother and suffer the complications of the disease.

I understand the risk, but what do I do if I still want to travel?

Those who wish to travel anyway are advised to talk with their health care providers and decide on a plan to prevent pregnancy for several months before traveling, and continue to be sure not to get pregnant while in an area with active transmission. Women should continue with effective contraception for some months after returning to an area free of Zika.

If a woman or her partner get Zika while she is protected from pregnancy, whether with symptoms or not, both people will probably develop immunity to the disease within this period and will not get it again at another time. A few cases have been identified in which the virus has been found to persist in some body fluids for several months, but this risk has not yet been well studied or quantified.

What is the best way to prevent a pregnancy so I don't have to worry about a Zika infection affecting my unborn?

The effectiveness of any contraceptive method depends mostly on the correct use of that method. Each couple must consider the risk of Zika infection to the unborn, choose the method that works best for them, and then use that method correctly during each sexual contact in the time periods described above. Some methods of birth control are more effective at preventing pregnancy than others: the most effective (100%) is total abstinence; highly effective (>99%) methods include a subcutaneous hormonal implant or intrauterine device; moderately effective (90%) methods are hormonal pills, injections, or rings; and less effective (80%) methods include condom, sponge, or withdrawal.

I am sure I'm not pregnant, but are there other risks of catching Zika or other mosquito-borne diseases?

For otherwise healthy adults, Zika is a relatively mild disease a person can get from mosquitoes in the tropics. When visiting or living in these areas, the traveler also needs be prepared to prevent/treat malaria and yellow fever. Traditional mosquito-avoidance measures are necessary to prevent Dengue fever and Chikungunya fever because there are not any medications or vaccines to lessen their possibly severe symptoms. However, none of these diseases can cause birth defects in an unborn if infected from their mother or father. Zika has been also been connected to Guillan-Barre Syndrome about once per 100 to 1,000 cases of Zika, but most persons with this condition do fully recover.

For more information about Zika, persons may visit garretthealth.org or call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7777 or 301-895-3111.

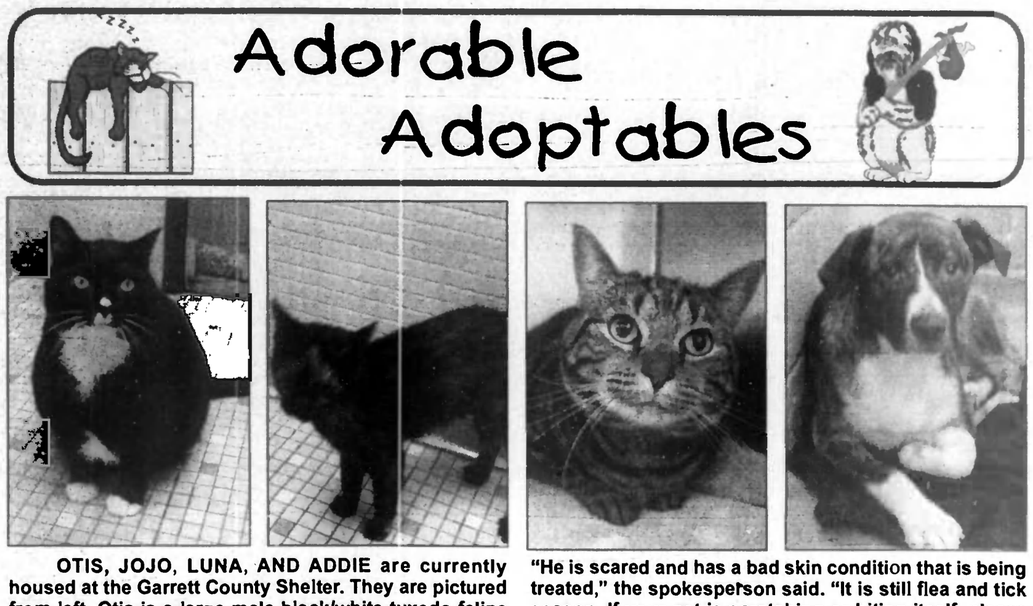
Special Events

The birth of two babies were announced this week, one boy and one girl.

A son, Jacob, was born to Aron and Kayla (Evans) Dolly, Gormania, W.Va., on Aug. 10 at the Garrett Regional Medical Center, Oakland.

A daughter, Faith Elizabeth, was born to Chad and Lori (Armstrong) Judy, Oakland, on Aug. 24 at the Garrett Regional Medical Center.

Adorable Adoptables



OTIS, JOJO, LUNA, AND ADDIE are currently housed at the Garrett County Shelter. They are pictured from left. Otis is a large male black/white tuxedo feline who was given up by his owner. "Otis would like to be the solo cat in your house," noted a Garrett County Humane Society spokesperson. "JoJo is a young tortiseshell who didn't get the vet care that she needed. She had a litter of kittens too early, now she needs to have a loving home." Luna is a lovely brown tabby who was given up by her owner because of allergies, and Addie is a male boxer mix who was found along Friendsville Addison Road. "He is scared and has a bad skin condition that is being treated," the spokesperson said. "It is still flea and tick season. If your pet is scratching or biting itself, please get it checked out." Two kittens were adopted at the shelter last week, and one dog was returned to its owner. More information about these pets can be obtained by calling the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Photos courtesy of the Garrett County Humane Society, a nonprofit volunteer organization.

GRANTSVILLE RESIDENT IS KILLED WHEN HIT BY CAR

FUNERAL IS HELD MONDAY

Artemus Ward Beachy, 68, of Grantsville, was killed almost instantly late last Friday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile at a point on the National Highway, two and a half miles east of Grantsville. His skull was crushed and one leg was broken, in addition to other injuries. He died before a physician arrived.

The accident occurred in front of Hill Top Inn, located on the south side of the highway, and according to eye-witnesses, Beachy, in attempting to cross the road stepped between two eastbound cars and in front of a westbound machine, driven by Henry F. Durst, of Grantsville.

Officer Calvin F. Schleuter, State police, at that time termed the accident unavoidable, and a coroner's jury conducting an inquest on Monday afternoon also decided that Mr. Baachy came to his death through accidental means.

The inquest was held before Magistrate Charles S. Zeller, acting coroner, with the following as members of the jury: Joseph F. Fahey, foreman; O. H. Yoder, Harry C. Edwards, L. E. Schaefer, Hobart Speicher, G. J. Gnagey, John C. Miller, Milton Rodamer, James Johnson, George W. Dieffenbach, Daniel Klotz and Henry Yommer. Others present at the inquest were State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley, Sheriff Clarence Spear and Officer Thomas Currie.

Funeral services for Mr. Beachy were conducted Monday afternoon at the home of his son, Charles Lee Beachy, Grantsville, with Rev. C. J. Allender, pastor of the M. E. church, in charge. Interment was in the cemetery at Grantsville.

Mr. Beachy, a son of the late Samuel J. and Rehammah Knepper Beachy was the last surviving member of a family of eleven children. His wife, the former Miss Minerva Inks, of Salisbury, Pa., died in 1920. Surviving are three sons, Charles Lee, Grantsville; Forrest, of Akron, O., and Samuel, of Los Angeles, Calif., and one daughter, Miss Mabel Beachy, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Beachy was a brother of the late Mrs. David Durst, of Oakland, and of Dr. Beachy, of Grantsville, both of whom died in recent years.

Commerce Representative Interviews Local Truckers

Claude Burton of the Baltimore office of the Inter-State Commerce Commission was in Oakland this week interviewing truck drivers and owners who have applied for a Federal permit to engage in interstate trucking. The law requiring a Federal license was enacted in 1935 and it is stated that after the Commission determines how many truckers are entitled to permits Federal license tags will be issued to them. Hereafter those who engage in interstate trucking without a Federal permit will be prosecuted by the commission, which body, according to Mr. Burton, is empowered to enforce the act.

Approximately twenty owners of trucking concerns operating in this county applied for the Federal license and were granted hearings before Mr. Burton this week. In order to obtain this permit the trucking company must show that it has been in business since June 1, 1935. It is stated that some exceptions have been made to this ruling.

Stolen Automobile Found At Gormania

The automobile owned by William Stewart, which was stolen from his garage August 15 in Frostburg, was recovered Sunday at Gormania, West Va.

Lester Beeman, 37, of Frostburg, was taken into custody by West Virginia State police and is being held for a hearing. Beeman, police said, was seen with the stolen car Saturday night near Kitzmiller by Mr. Stewart and a party of friends, who notified West Virginia authorities.

The automobile was not damaged, except for some scratches on the body, Mr. Stewart said, indicating that it had been driven in the woods. Beeman, according to officers, spent most of his time during the week around Kitzmiller and Gormania, where he has a number of acquaintances.

MISS EVELYN BOSLEY AND MR. BRUCE JENKINS WED

Ceremony Performed Yesterday Morning in St. Peter's Church

Miss Evelyn Bosley became the bride of Mr. Bruce Jenkins, Friendsville, at a nuptial mass which was celebrated at nine o'clock yesterday morning, August 25, in St. Peter's Catholic church. Rev. William F. Sauer performed the ceremony.

Mr. Jenkins is a graduate of the Friendsville High school and the State Teachers' college at Frostburg, and is now on the faculty of the Oakland Elementary school.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Julia Bosley and the late Charles D. Bosley, of Oakland. Mrs. Jenkins is a graduate of Oakland High school, Notre Dame college of Maryland, in Baltimore, and did special work at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. She has been engaged as a senior social worker of the Garrett County Welfare Board.

Miss Mary Louise Helbig was the bride's maid, while Mr. William Johnson was the groom's best man.

The bride wore a dress of ivory satin and carried yellow roses. The bride's maid was attired in a chiffon velvet and carried talisman roses.

Ushers were Mr. Bernard Faherty and Mr. Robert Stanton. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Thomas Cain, of Taneytown, Md. Mrs. James Treacy presided at the organ and Mrs. Russell Brown sang a number of solos during the mass.

A reception was held at the Manhattan Hotel immediately after the ceremony and the couple left early for New York City.

PYTHIANS ANTICIPATE A LARGE PARADE LABOR DAY

Announcement of Prizes Causes Many To Plan To Take Part

Following the announcement in The Republican last Thursday of a list comprising fifty-two prizes to be awarded following the annual Labor Day parade in Oakland, it has been reported by officials of the picnic committee that many are planning to book their entries and take part in the parade which will officially open the eighteenth annual picnic to be held under the auspices of the local Knights of Pythias lodge. During the past two years greater emphasis has been placed on the parade and as a result there has been more interest displayed than formerly, it was stated.

Last year, although there were no prizes given, the parade was larger and more varied than it had been for several years. This year, with prizes offered for various exhibits, costumes, attractions and farm showings, the parade is expected to surpass that of 1936. A. R. Martin is again in charge of the parade with Emroy Bolden and Carl Frazee assisting.

The parade will disband at the picnic grounds, in Helbig's Grove, at the north edge of town, where the festivities will be held.

There will be the Keystone shows and rides, band concerts, speaking and other attractions throughout the entire day and evening. An automobile will be given away at the conclusion of the program.

Three-Day Rainfall Beneficial To Farms and Gardens

Farms and gardens throughout this entire area have been greatly benefited by the large amount of rainfall of the past few days.

There has been practically no letup in the gentle downpour and the rate at which the rain has been falling has permitted most of it to penetrate the earth.

Three and seven-tenths inches of moisture has been recorded at the Government station at the Weber garden during three days, the heaviest fall coming yesterday, when 1.62 inches was measured.

The rain this week is said to be worth thousands of dollars to farmers and gardeners, the crops benefiting the most being corn and potatoes.

Maryland Bankers To Meet This Evening At Oakland

The annual meeting of Group One of the Maryland Bankers Association, which was to have been held Tuesday, will be held this evening at the William-James Hotel, Oakland. Approximately sixty-five members of the association are expected to be present at the meeting and dinner, which is scheduled at six o'clock. A boat trip on the lake is also planned prior to the dinner.

FRIENDSVILLE-ACCIDENT WANT TELEPHONE SERVICE

Commissioners Make Request To Public Service Commission

The Garrett County Commissioners have asked the State Public Service Commission to aid in procuring telephone service for District Two and District Five of the county.

The Commissioners wrote that the town of Accident, 22 miles from Oakland, and the town of Friendsville, 24 miles from Oakland, have had no telephone service "to speak of" and are "practically isolated."

The Board estimated there are 100 prospective telephone subscribers in the areas and requested the Public Service Company to contact the C. and P. Telephone officials in the matter.

The telephone service to those two communities has been cut off since last winter when the snow and accumulated ice broke down a number of poles and wires. The telephone company serving the two communities up to that time is a local one with a membership of thirteen stockholders and subscribers and was known as the Garrett County Telephone Company as an incorporated and original company, and ceased to exist a number of years ago, at which time it was taken over by private interests and none but the thirteen members of the company succeeding the old line could have telephones in their homes or places of business. Providing the C. & P. Telephone Company would take over the territory service could be provided for all who apply.

According to a member of the local company the company property was offered to the C. and P. Company several months ago, and it is understood that officials had made a survey of the territory several weeks prior to the writing of the letter to the Commission by the Commissioners of the county.

Drunken Driver Given Jail Term At Kingwood

Asa Stewart, 21, driver of an automobile in which his sister, Mrs. James Sypolt, was killed near Corinth, six miles west of Oakland, recently, was sentenced to serve six months in the Kingwood (W. Va.) jail and fined $25.

Justice of the Peace Grant Whitehair, of Terra Alta, sentenced Stewart on a charge of drunken driving. M. C. Snyder, prosecuting attorney for Preston county, said he would ask for a manslaughter indictment against Stewart at the next session of the grand jury. Mrs. Sypolt was killed on Saturday night, August 14.

Work On Building For Coca Cola Company Is Begun

Material entering into the construction of the new Coca Cola building being erected on Third street, is arriving on the site and the actual work of rearing the structure will begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

The laying of a four-inch water main from the corner of Center street and Third street, to serve the requirements of the plant, will likely be completed Saturday.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARN OF O. S. FIKE AT AVILTON

Resultant Fire In Loss of Structure and Livestock Placed Between $6,000 And $7,000

The large barn on the farm of Otho S. Fike, former County Commissioner and former Assemblyman from this county, near Avilton in District No. 15, burned to the ground about five o'clock last Thursday afternoon when it was struck by lightning. A colt, a calf and a number of chickens were destroyed along with 40 tons of hay, a large amount of oats and other grain. In addition all of the farming equipment and machinery was lost in the fire that did between $6,000 and $7,000 damage.

Mrs. Fike, who was in her home at the time the bolt came, said the lightning struck the building and in a few moments the structure was a mass of flames. Her daughter, Miss Rose Fike, entering the building through smoke and flames untied the horses that had been stabled, and these escaped, the girl getting out of the barn just in time to save her life.

The flames spread to the chicken house, but some of the chickens were saved, while others perished. Neighbors of the Fike family fought the fire with buckets of water for over an hour before the arrival of the Frostburg Fire Department, which was able to keep the fire from the residence located nearby. The fire department responded immediately upon receiving word, but because of the severe electrical storm, the telephone service was crippled, delaying the arrival of the message calling for help.

Insurance of $1100 on the building and contents was carried by Mr. Fike.

Executive Committee of Lake Association Is Named

An executive committee for the Deep Creek Lake Association was named Sunday at a meeting of the Board of Directors, in the Lake Baptist church, opposite Rainbow Inn.

Those named included Frederick P. Clayter, Pittsburgh; Delbert M. Davis, Walter W. Dawson, Raymond D. Houck, Oakland; Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, Cumberland; Enoch B. Garey, of the Lake; Robert Hazlett, Wheeling, W. Va.; Robert S. Merrick, Annapolis; Rev. William B. Orndorff, Mountain Lake Park; William J. Torrington, Cumberland and G. Gale Townshend, Frostburg.

At a meeting to be held Sunday, August 29, the president of the association will be selected by the executive committee.

At the preliminary meeting held in the Lake Baptist church, resolutions were adopted, urging such an association for safety, health, policing, property and social protection as well as the entertainment and pleasure of those living or visiting in the lake community.

Ten committees have been named to diirect the various activities of the association and will meet at the home of William J. Torrington, at the Lake
